This (Thursday) afternoon, a writing contest for a $10 gold piece, presented by Mayor Stevenson, takes place, in which Mr. Bansell Sawyer is judge.

The Unfortunate Brakesman.

The remains of Samuel Pinkerton, the young brakesman killed at Norwood Monday afternoon, were taken to Toronto that night, where the body was met by George, deceased's brother, and conveyed thence to Greenock, county of Bruce, the home of the unfortunate man, for interment. The World says he was a single man, 25 years of age, much respected and wellknown amongst baseball players. He contemplated an engagement for the rest of the season with the Buffalo club.

Town Council, for Charles Portsmouth, $9.66. Miss Roger, $2; Charles Connors, for father, $2; Meldrum and Davidson, $2; Mrs. Tom Rutledge, $5; Mrs. Weller, for D. Burgess, $5; Mr. John McKee, package of combs; Mr. Barnhart, 2 bushels of wheat; Mr. Robert Walsh, 2 bushels of wheat; Mr. Wallis, bag potatoes; Mrs. John Cameron, jelly; Mrs. Innes, preserves and pickles; a Friend, dozen bread tickets; Mrs. G. A. Cox, rice, raisins, and sugar; Mrs. J. B. McWilliams, fruit cake; Mrs. Wm. Hamilton, cakes and lemonade; Rev. V. Clementi, strawberries; Mr. Mason, $3 worth flowers; Mrs. Davidson, bread; Mrs. Wright, parcel reading matter; Mrs. Gilmour, parcel clothing.

Sudden Demise.

On Tuesday Jacob Wansold, a farm laborer in the township of Smith, was found dead in his bed. He had been to town the evening before making some purchases, and retired in his usual health. A medical man was summoned and a hasty post mortem examination showed that death resulted from affection of the heart intensified by violent emotion. The cause of his emotion can only be conjectured. Crushed in his left hand, in the death grip, was a fragment of the Peterborough EXAMINER, on which was the advertisement of Gough's sale of $18,500 stock of ready-made clothing at 40 cents on the dollar. Wansold had, when in town, bought a high priced suit, and it is supposed that when he read in the paper what he had missed by not going to Gough's the shock acting on an enfeebled heart brought on the fatal attack. Go always to Gough's, where the most magnificent bargains on earth are to be had—George street.

Farmers, Beware.

Judging by cautionary notices by farmers, appearing in this and last week's Weekly EXAMINER, against purchasing promissory notes "obtained by fraud," the swindler is abroad in the land. Farmers have been warned time and again, both through the press and by costly experence, yet they persist in wandering into the jaws of the shark, laboring, doubtless, under the delusion that they are sharp enough to see that this affair is no swindle. The only way for farmers to escape—for they can't hope to cope with men who make swindling a study—is to fish for bargains only in legitimate channels—patronize only men who advertise in your local papers and you are sure of honest treatment by men who have a standing in the community, and who have everything to lose and nothing to gain by playing sharp tricks that will make them marked men and men to be avoided. The "short cut" to wealth is full of pitfalls and—promissory notes, obtained by fraud.

Decoration Day Notes.

Among the contributions of flowers on Tuesday, was that of Miss Watt, who sent a fine lot of boutonnieres for Otonabee Lodge, and Mrs. Frances Sanderson, a sickle of flowers and sheaf for the Oddfellows.

The Oddfellows, who numbered between 130 and 140, presented a splendid appearance in procession yesterday. Their excellent marching elicited the commendation of military men. A nice feature of the procession was the encampment banner, the gift and artistic work of Miss Errett, daughter of Patriarch R. W. Errett, of Mount Hebron Encampment.

The proofs of the views taken of the Oddfellows on Tuesday, and of the band, by Mr. R. M. Roy, show that very successful negatives were secured, which are capable of being developed into fine pictures.

The I. O. O. F. lot was gorgeous with flowers on Tuesday. It was one of the most attractive spots in the cemetery.

The Golden Eye and the cabs did a rushing business on Tuesday. The day was so intensely warm that very few cared to walk back to town.

Thousand of people were in the cemetery. The well at care-taker Kelly's house was kept pumping incessantly for two or three hours. Tubs of ice-water were placed about the grounds, around which there was always a crowd waiting for "next."

The Jubilee Celebration

WILL be Held Dominion Day. Unless Another Rainstorm Interferes.

A full meeting of the General Jubilee Committee was held last evening in the civic committee room, and it was decided finally to go ahead with a view with the postponed celebration of June 21st on Dominion Day. The programme prepared will be interesting as well as free to all, and those who do not attend the Sons of England excursion to Sturgeon Point on that day need not leave town to seek enjoyment elsewhere, as Peterborough intends to celebrate in grand style Her Majesty's Jubilee on Dominion Day.

One feature of the programme has however been dropped—the procession in the forenoon. The fire brigade band is engaged for that day to open the camp ground at Grimsby, and it would be useless to attempt a procession of military and firemen without proper music. Though we will be deprived of the services of the band on that day, they are to be congratulated upon having received the Grimsby engagement over the applications of several famous western bands.

At Tuesday night's committee meeting votes of thanks were passed to the councils of Peterborough and Ashburnham for their substantial grants to the committee; to Mayor Stevenson, President of the Gas Company, for the erection of a gas arch; to T.G. Hazlitt, Esq., manager of the Electric Light Company, for the lighting of the jubilee tower and the erection of lights on George Street; the directors of the Horticultural Society, for their kindness in granting the use of the Court House Park; Mr. H. Grundy, for illuminating the address to the Queen; to the merchants for their donations of prizes; the Societies for their erection of arches, and decorations; the citizens in general for the decoration and illumination of their premises; to the band, for their efficient services on Jubilee Day; the friends for their assistance as marshals of the procession; and to Messrs. Millar and Galletly, for their labor and trouble in training the children.

THE PROGRAMME

as it is at present intended to carry out, will be as follows:—

At 9 a.m. the children will assemble at the drill shed and after order of procession has been formed, march to the Court House Park, where their songs will be rendered, led by Mr. Galletly and a cornet. The children are requested to meet for a final practice on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock, in the Court House. Friday forenoon they will be arranged in rows on the rising grounds of the Park, and after singing, refreshments will be served out as before. The children are also asked to save their programmes and flags for Friday morning.

After the singing an adjournment will be made to Riverside Park, where the sports will begin at 11 o'clock sharp. The games committee will do all in their power to render the sports a success. No entrance fee will be charged to the Park, or no entry fee to the races. Everything will be free.

In the afternoon on Little Lake a regatta will be held under the auspices of the Otonabee Canoe Club. The programme comprises eleven events, all of which will be keenly contested. The club intends pushing the regatta for all it is worth, and it cannot fail of being a great success.

Citizens are requested to illuminate and decorate their premises as much as possible, and aid the committee in making Dominion Day what Jubilee Day should have been. There is no need of going to Port Hope, Lindsay, Bobcaygeon, Toronto or other outside places to spend Dominion Day. Patronize home celebrations or home excursions. That is the way to make them brilliant successes.

Teachers' Institute.

After the opening of the Friday morning session of the Teachers' Institute in the Court House, the President read a circular from the Minister of Education relating to the teaching of music in the public schools, and to the formation of classes during the holidays at Toronto to qualify teachers to teach the subject.

Messrs. Hutchison, Sykes, Stewart, Stone, Mark and Brown and Misses Moreland and Cummings were formed a committee to make arrangements to hold conventions in their several townships. Messrs. Whittington Sykes and Reanie and Misses Duff and Wright were appointed a committee to appoint officers.

The discussion on the College of Preceptors was postponed till the meeting of the township convention in the fall.

Dr. McLellan then took up the subject of "Literature in the Schools," and dealt with it in a very masterly style. He said that literature, properly taught, cultivated, in the best possible manner, the highest faculties of the mind, both mental and moral. One of the great purposes of the teaching of literature was to cultivate in the pupils a taste for good literature. Any teaching that did not accomplish this object was not good teaching. The subject, he said, should be commenced in the very lowest classes by the memorizing of poetical gems of which the English language was full. The lecture cannot fail to be of great assistance to teachers in showing them the very best way to teach the subject in order to get the best results.

Miss Beckett followed with a class of small children and showed her method of teaching drawing. It is quite evident from her method of dealing with the subject that it can be made both interesting and profitable in all classes of the school.

This closed the morning session.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The committee on appointment reported as follows—the report being unanimously adopted:—

PRESIDENT—Mr. Bean, of Peterborough.

VICE-PRESIDENT—Mr. Hutchison, of Norwood.

SECRETARY-TREASURER—Mr. Rooney, of Ashburnham.

COMMITTEE—Messrs. McIlmoyle, Rennie, and Stirling, and Misses McDonald, Munro, and Beckett.

Dr. McLellan took up the subject "The Beginning of Knowledge", making it a very interesting one.

Votes of thanks were tendered the President, Secretary, and Dr. McLellan, after which the Convention was brought to a close. —Cest.

An Official Commendation.

At the meeting of the Quarterly Board of the George street Methodist church, on May 16th, 1887, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:—

Moved by Geo. Hilliard, seconded by R. Shortly—Whereas our beloved pastor, the Rev. L. Tovell, having been with us three years, the allotted time allowed by the Methodist Church for a pastor to remain on one circuit, must now necessarily leave us, we cannot allow him to do so without expressing our high appreciation of his ministerial character, abilities and services. It is therefore resolved, that in the judgment of this board, the Rev. Mr. Tovell has discharged among us his duties as a pastor with the greatest assiduity and tenderness of affection, thereby securing the general good will and affection of his people. And, at the same time, by his eminent and acceptable services in the pulpit he has succeeded in contributing greatly to the present prosperity and the harmony of the church. We shall part with him with reluctance, but cheered with the assurance that we may yet continue to enjoy his pulpit ministration, as is contemplated in the arrangement with the Charlotte street church.

A Peddler in Trouble.

Tuesday evening on the market square a vendor of corn cure, tooth paste and other commodities came to grief. He opened out his stand by announcing that his first feat would be to swallow a sword. Before doing so, however, he would make a few remarks on the merits of the stuff he sold, but his "few remarks" spinning out to an apparently interminable length, the crowd assembled became impatient, angrily demanding of the peddler to swallow the sword at once. He heeded them not, but continued lauding his wares amid jeers and interruptions from the crowd, which became more restless still, surging back and forth and threatening instant destruction to the peddler's stand. It came at last—the stand was knocked endways, corn cure and tooth-paste flying in every direction, the vendor himself narrowly escaping being mobbed. He had a stick in his hand with which he laid about him vigorously, whacking heads and shoulders and drawing blood indiscriminately until he cleared an open space about him. Then a policeman appeared and escorted him safely through the crowd, which hurled threats of dire vengeance after him. Had the peddler not had the constable's assistance it would have gone hard with him, as those who received the clubbing were intent upon having revenge.

AFFAIRS AT THE CAPITAL.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER AND THE FINANCE MINISTERSHIP.

Mr. Hardisty, of the Hudson Bay Company, Spoken of for a Senatorship—The Country West of Lake Superior Wants Representation in the Cabinet.

OTTAWA, June 29.—The rumor telegraphed last night that it was not likely that any Cabinet changes would be made immediately is strengthened by the statement that Sir Charles Tupper, who leaves here for Halifax to-morrow, will not resign the position of Finance Minister, but will return to Canada after he has concluded the diplomatic and other business on which he visits England. Mr. Colmer will act as Government agent in London, under the supervision of Sir Charles Tupper, while the latter is in England.

Dr. Peter Ayles, Junior Assistant Surgeon, Northwest Mounted Police, has been promoted to be Assistant Surgeon, vice Kennedy resigned; Dr. Pare of Lachine, and Dr. Stevenson of Coaticoke have been appointed Assistant Surgeons, and Veterinary Staff Surgeon Bousquet has been promoted to Assistant Veterinary Surgeon.

There is no foundation for the statement made in La Minerve to-day that Hon. Mr. Royal has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories. The matter has not been considered in council yet.

Dr. Ollie and Mr. S. Neelon of St. Catharines are in the city to-day endeavoring to get from the Dominion Government the right of way for the Niagara Central Railway over some ordnance lands along the line of the Welland Canal.

The Free Press to-night says that "a private telegram from Montreal intimates that Hon. George Duhamel, Solicitor-General in the Mercier Government, will resign his seat for Iberville County and contest Laprairie at the coming election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Charlebois." Mr. Duhamel was defeated in Laprairie by Mr. Charlebois in October last by 25 majority.

Between 450 and 500 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have arrived in the city. They held the first of their union meetings this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The wives and daughters of some of the visiting brethren, as well as the ladies resident in Ottawa, visited some of the charitable institutions this afternoon, winding up with a strawberry festival on Nepean Point. To-night at 8 o'clock the brotherhood marched in a body from their hall, Sparks-street, to the City Hall, where they were publicly welcomed by Mayor Stewart. A number of addresses were delivered. To-night a grand banquet is being held in the roller rink.

The jubilee craze has struck the police force here. At a meeting of the commissioners to-day Dr. Hill presented the board with a state baton for the Chief of Police, which the board accepted gratefully. The baton in question is a very ornamental affair, and the top of it is surmounted with an imitation of a crown.

The Ayer case was continued to-day, the evidence still going to show the unsatisfactory female was committed for a number of years.

The haberdashers of the city have agreed to close their places of business every night at 6 o'clock during the months of July and August. This regulation goes into effect on Monday.

To-day being the feast of St. Peter and St. Paul the public buildings were closed.

At a meeting of the Board of Health last night it was decided to ask the Council to request the Local Legislature to pass such a measure as would enable the Board of Health to enforce the drainage system when required for sanitary purposes under the Local Improvement Bylaw.

The contractor for the new central fire station commenced work yesterday morning. One of the first things to be done was to remove the old health office, and accordingly Dr. Robillard was asked to remove across to his new quarters in the basement of the City Hall. This he refused to do, on the ground that the room was not painted or ready for occupation. The contractor was pushed for time by his agreement, and his men proceeded to strip the roof from the old building and commenced to tear away the brick work. The Doctor worked quietly in his shirtsleeve office until driven out by dust.

The Jubilee Will be Loyally Observed at the Capital.

OTTAWA, June 29.—The preparations for the two days' jubilee to-morrow and on Friday are nearly completed and the affair promises to be a success. By a vigorous effort the committee has collected enough funds to guarantee expenses and the indications are that there will be an enormous influx of visitors, the Canadian Pacific Railway alone having made arrangements for carrying over 2000 people.

To-morrow there will be a military review in the morning on Cartier-square by General Middleton. In the afternoon the Governor-General's Body-guards match the Ottawa Hussars, and Ottawa juniors the Rideau Rifles at 4 o'clock, and at 5 the singing of national songs by the school children, which promises to be a success, at the Lansdowne rink, which will be reopened. Rustic arbors are erecting for the accommodation of 5000 children. In the evening there will be a grand pyrotechnic display. The 6th Royal Scots will arrive from Montreal about midnight and be escorted by the 43rd, who will march down to the depot and there they will be entertained.

On Friday morning they will parade on Cartier-square together with the Canada at 10.30. The championship lacrosse match between the Toronto and Capitals will be played and in the afternoon there will be races and sports at Lansdowne Park. Should the weather be fine the whole affair promises to be a great success.

Evictions in Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURGH, June 29.—Sheriff Gray and nineteen deputies left for Natrona, Pa., this morning to evict twenty-four families of the striking employees of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company.

Rochester Miners Arrested.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., June 29.—Thirteen rioters are now under arrest and others will be jailed to-day. They are all Hunkahunkers, Bohemians and Italians. All is quiet to-day. The wounded officers are all doing well.

ANGERED BY THE FRENCH

THE SULTAN INDIGNANT AT THE THREATS MADE BY FRANCE.

It is Believed that in Consequence of the Insolence of France in the Matter the Porte Will Sign the Egyptian Convention.

LONDON, June 29.—It is reported that M. Waddington, the French ambassador here has informed Lord Salisbury that no French Cabinet could sign a document giving England a preponderance in Egypt even for a limited time.

The impression prevails in diplomatic circles that the Sultan will not sign the Egyptian convention. It is said England will gain more by its failure than by its adoption.

The Sultan Blasphemed.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 29.—The threats of France in connection with the Anglo-Turkish convention have exasperated the Porte, and it is believed the Sultan will finally sign the convention. The Porte has declined to grant a concession for the construction of railways to a number of Frenchmen.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 29.—Sir Henry Drummond Wolff, British envoy, spent three hours to-day with the Ottoman Commission in discussion of the modifications proposed by the Porte in the Egyptian convention. The Commission will hold another conference on Thursday.

It is stated that England will not accede to Turkey's demands.

CARDINAL MANNING'S DENIAL.

Neither He nor Bishop Walsh is an Intriguer or Separatist.

LONDON, June 29.—Cardinal Manning writes to The Times protesting against the circulation of the statement from Rome that the Irish ministers of Mgr. Persico and Mgr. Gualdi had been received at the instance of Cardinal Manning and Archbishop Walsh of Dublin, and branding the latter two as the active promoters of Separatists' intrigues. The Cardinal says: "I gladly unite myself with Archbishop Walsh. He is but slightly known in England, except in the descriptions of those who are fanning the flames of animosity between England and Ireland. I am known in England both to Ministers of the Crown and to the leaders of the Opposition, and I leave it to them, who well know my mind, to answer for me, and I, who know the mind of Archbishop Walsh, will answer for him. We are neither intriguers nor Separatists."

In conclusion the Cardinal says: "If, sir, I have written with unusual warmth, I confess that I hold that resentment is sometimes a duty, and this is such a time when your words touch our highest responsibility and influence more and more the heated condition between two people whom justice and truth would still bind in peace and unity. I ask you, sir, as an act of justice to give this as prominent a place in The Times as you have given to the unhappy imputations."

The Reply of The Times.

The Times in an editorial excuses the first charge which Cardinal Manning complains of by stating it had simply reproduced a Renter Telegram Co.'s despatch from Rome. It assures the Cardinal that it has no desire to meet the other charge by either gloss or evasion. It would judge Archbishop Walsh by his own written and spoken words. He was in a very strict sense of the word a Separatist. It was sorry if it had wrongly been led to believe that Cardinal Manning was a warm supporter of Mr. Gladstone's separatist policy, but if the facts were so, no peculiar interpretation of language could alter them.

THE PRINCE IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, June 29.—Prince Albert Victor of Wales has thanked the people of Dublin for the loyal addresses presented to him on the occasion of the visit of himself and his brother, Prince George. He says he is pleased with the reception and is glad at the efforts to materially advance Ireland, which he hopes will meet with complete success.

Prince Albert Victor of Wales to-day laid the foundation stone of the new wing of the Hospital for Incurables at Donnybrook. He was fairly well received, and but few hostile cheers greeted him.

Gen. Boulanger's Appointment.

PARIS, June 29.—The newspapers assert that Gen. Boulanger was unaware of the Government intention to appoint him to the command of the 13th Army Corps until he saw the announcement of the actual appointment in the press.

The police have confiscated the entire issue of a picture representing Boulanger as the "Savior of France" prepared for distribution during the fetes.

A Girl's Attempt at Suicide—The Exiles' Return—The Governor in Town.

TORONTO, June 29.

Dr. Grasett has been appointed to the chair of surgery in Trinity Medical College, rendered vacant by the death of Dr. Fulton. Dr. Coverton, sr., takes medical jurisprudence, and Dr. Coverton, jr., sanitary science.

A scheme is now on foot for establishing in the city of Toronto a medical reference library. Practitioners in the city and throughout the province have long felt the necessity for such an institution. Medical authorities have frequently compelled to go to Philadelphia or New York to consult medical works which cannot be procured here. One of the plans which is now under consideration is to form a library. The name of the institution is to be the Ontario Medical Library Association. It shall be composed of stockholders who shall also be members, and resident and non-resident members. The stock, in shares of $5 each, will be issued to the amount of $20,000.

A sub-committee of the Exhibition and Parks Committee met in the Mayor's office yesterday, when a report was handed in recommending an outlay of $[illegible] on the erection of certain parts and some masonry of new stand on also the making of a carriage drive connecting all the park. One [illegible] was arrested in Queen-street yesterday morning by order of "Murder No. 127, complied by Mary Archibald [illegible] Archibald, a woman Archibald in an excited state. She alleged that she had been robbed of a sum of $20, that the money had been taken by Patrick Donoghue, Patrick McCormack, or Annie Bell (three parties who had spent the night in her house), and that when she accosted them of the robbery they "murdered" her. At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Dr. Powell was called to attend Mary McBride, residing at 49 Agnes-street. The Toronto Field Battery will parade in review order at the Old Fort at 7.30 a.m. on Friday, and will take part in the day's celebration.

County Attorney Badgerow denies that he has expressed an opinion as to which of the two Philadelphia detectives is entitled to receive Wilson, the forger, from the authorities, when the present extradition proceedings are completed. It has been learned that there is a reward of, $680, and this is the cause of the strenuous efforts made by both detectives to secure Wilson. They should pool their issues and divide the spoils.

His Honor Lieut.-Governor Sir Alexander Campbell arrived from Ottawa last night. He is registered at the Queen's where he will stay till he takes up his permanent residence at Government House.

A Rise in Wheat.

NEW YORK, June 29.—June option of wheat advanced this afternoon to $1.05½, at which it closed, showing a gain of 1½c. per bushel as compared with the current figures of yesterday. The rise is due wholly to the squeezing of the "shorts," but the market is devoid of excitement.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, croup, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung distresses, all are that. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Ramsay's Guinness Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

THURSDAY, JUNE 30, 1887.

DOMINION DAY.

With the dawn of Friday, July 1st, 1887, begins the twentieth year of Canada as a confederated Dominion. The most superficial observer is struck with the great progress in every material condition, which the past fifth of a century has witnessed. Within that time there have been great development of our natural resources and additions to our area. Two provinces, Prince Edward Island and Manitoba, have joined the sisterhood of colonies, and the unity of the Dominion has been intensified by building a great line of trans-continental railway. Canada has made great advances in the development of her natural resources, and her industrial condition has shared to a considerable extent in the general improvement which is noted with much patriotic pride. Our literature and our art have also felt the general impulse of progress, and in many ways the position of the country is far ahead of that of 1867. While recognizing this and rejoicing in all matters which are legitimate subjects of felicitation, it would hardly be wise to close our eyes to the conditions which have retarded the progress of the country. Religious, moral and mental culture have had their triumphs and advances, but it is a melancholy fact that retrogression and deterioration have marked our political history for the larger part of the past twenty years. The prosperity and progress of the country have obtained in spite of and not because of the rule which our so called statesmen have meted out to us. There is a class of politicians who to cover the misdeeds of themselves or their party, decry, as rank disloyalty, any attempt to base a key-note of alarm upon their misgovernment—rank disloyalty to point out the inevitable terminus of the road upon which our rulers have started us. The dominant political party take great credit for the building of a great trans-continental line of railway and while they may be awarded their due meed of credit in this relation, it is not forbidden to point out the great and unique share they have had in projecting and largely constructing another road—the road to national ruin. Confederation began under conditions which demanded the wisest and most prudent statesmanship to effect, on a permanent basis, a consolidation and integral unity which the confederation lacked at its inception. The supreme requirement was an united effort, with a view of strengthening the bonds of the federated state. But, unfortunately, while hypocritically posing as the father of Confederation, after having done his best to prevent its consummation, Sir John Macdonald's efforts have been directed, insidiously or openly, towards making, to the several units of the federated dominion, the bonds of union so galling that they would be thrown off. He has persistently invaded the provincial rights guaranteed by the federal pact, and the result has been a portentious degree of friction, which in several of the provinces, has engendered restive discontent and, in one notable case at present, is engendering the germs of revolt. Three quarters of the life of Confederation have been passed under Tory rule, and with what result? The debt of the country has increased from ninety-three millions in 1867 to two hundred and eighty-five millions in 1887. The annual expenditure has grown from $13,486,000 in 1867 to $46,291,614 in 1887. During the same twenty years in which our public debt and annual expenditure have each more than trebled, our population has only increased 1,200,000. These facts are not very pleasant subjects for birthday meditation, but it is well not to sit always with folded arms in smug satisfaction, and to join in fatuous felicitation, while things are going so gigantically wrong. It is not wise for the crew of the ship to close their eyes and indulge in jollification while the captain and his mate are running the vessel on the rocks. It is due to the wondrous elasticity of our constitution, and the unbounded extent of our natural resources, that more moral and material mischief have not been wrought through the misrule we have suffered. It is due to the contented industry of our people to their peaceful proclivities and to their patriotic hopefulness, that they have, to a certain extent, ignored the conditions under which they have labored as occasions of taking decided action, with unpleasant results to the ruling powers, and that they have looked to time relieve them from the consequences of trusting to blind guides. These circumstances give cause for congratulation, and there indication that the people are waking up to a realization of their position, which once done, will relieve the country from the tyranny of the rule of corruption, venality, selfishness and greed, which now dominates us politically. Apart from indications of this character, it would require faith of the most phenomenal exaltation to pray with any degree of confident fervour for the future prosperity of the Dominion of Canada.

Let There be no Law Suit.

Corporation Going to Law With Corporation.

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

DEAR SIR.—I am informed that the Corporation of the County of Peterborough are going to law with the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough, to compel them to pay to the county a portion of the money collected from Scott Act fines. Now, Sir, as a ratepayer of the town I emphatically say no, and let every ratepayer say no too. Our taxes are high enough now without paying law costs. It appears to be a legal question, and, if so, let it at once be referred to one of our judges, without any special pleading. He can read over the Scott Act and also the changes of the Minister of Justice in reference to the fines and, if he decides that Peterborough shall pay half or more, let them do so at once and no law about it. For this corporation law suit the gander is as fat as the goose, and fine picking for our legal gentlemen. Now no law suit, Mr. Mayor and gentlemen of the Council.

Keene.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The anniversary services of the Keene Presbyterian church was held last Sunday. The Rev. D. McRae, of Cobourg, preached both morning and evening, two most excellent sermons. The collections for this season were good, amounting to over $170.

The Free Masons held an excursion, per "Dora", on the lake last Friday.

A large drive of logs is at present passing here; over 30,000 pieces.

The trustees have not been able to make arrangements so far, with Mr. Short about school grounds. We trust there will eventually be no hitch in the matter, as grounds are much needed somewhere.

Haymaking is being actively carried on in many places. Last Saturday we noticed a whole field in cock at Mr. Redmond's.

Mr. James Scully, of Otonabee, is very ill with traumatic erysipelas arising from a bruise of a finger.

Cartwright.

(From a Correspondent.)

The Shiloh Sunday School Anniversary took place 12th and 13th of June, quite a number from this place attending both days; everything passed off very pleasantly.

Our school picnic came off on Saturday, 11th June, and proved to be a success in every particular. The weather was fine, the programme good, which showed that our teacher, Miss Gibbs, had taken a great deal of paine to have her pupils so well trained for the occasion. In the afternoon Mr. Ball brought down his new yacht, the "Express," and very kindly took all the children for a sail.

The Janetville Temperance Lodge held their picnic on Washburn Island on June 15th inst., also the Hampton people had a picnic at Frost's Landing the same day; and Pontypool was not to be behind. Out they came in full force, and spent a very pleasant day at Wilson's Landing.

PERSONAL.—Mr. and Mrs. Kemp, of Lindsay, are staying for a time at Mr. Bartlett's. Mr. W. Wilson was calling on his old friends a few days last week. Mr. John Veale has had to give up his school for a time on account of ill health. Mr. Gervin, of Amherst Island, is visiting at his daughter's. Mrs. J. Devitt's. Miss Williamson, of Pontypool, was visiting Miss Jennie Richardson last week.

Bridgenorth.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The many friends of Mrs. Greg, who has been a couple of months in the Nicholls hospital, will be glad to learn that she is quite recovered from her serious illness and able to be at home once more with her little family.

An accident happened on the floating bridge the other day; while Mr. James Harrington was crossing with a loaded wagon, one of the front wheels ran into a joint where the planks are laid lengthwise over a break in the bridge. The wheel broke, and had the pole not given way too, Mr. Harrington's horses would have been thrown into the lake. There is no railing at this dangerous place. The bridge is in bad repair.

Mr. N. Taylor has made a wonderful improvement on his farm. He will soon have a new picket fence all across the front of his farm and a row of nice maples, besides some other good improvements.

The Methodist church would not hold all the people that assembled to hear the late Mr. Millburn's funeral sermon. There were a large number of friends present.

Mount Pleasant.

(From our own Correspondent.)

PIC-NIC.—The annual picnic held by the Public School of this place came off on Saturday, 25th, and was a grand success. The Mt. Pleasant brass band furnished the music for the afternoon. The baseball match arranged between the teams of this school and the Cavanville school, resulted in favor of the home team, the score being 15 to 45 runs.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. J. C. Murdoch, F. Greer, and D. W. Best, go to Lindsay on Saturday, 2nd inst., to write on the teachers' examinations, 2nd class; Mr. L. Thurston goes the following week to write for 3rd class certificate. We wish the boys every success.

Ennismore.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Saturday last, the 25th inst., while Michael Garmon, of this township, was assisting Patrick C. Galvin stumping a field on lot 5, concession 10, had his leg broken by the rolling of a stump. A messenger was sent to Peterborough for medical assistance Dr. Collins arrived as soon as possible, setting the broken bone. Under his care he is progressing as favourably as can be expected, considering the circumstances, but it will be some time before he can again attend to his work.

Sandy of the Turf.

The North European Derby, which was run at Hamburg on Monday, was won by Rothschild's Sappho.

The races meet at the Niagara Falls meeting will no doubt be very interesting. Among the horses that will probably contest are Cyclone, Brambleton, Brambroker, Chandos, Silver King and Handaway.

Ormonde has been entered for the Imperial Gold Cup to be run at Newmarket in July over the last six furlongs of the Bentley mile.

The Dwyer Brothers announce that they will have a wrestling set-to on to-day at their park, Sheepshead Bay, between Joe Acton, of Kentucky, champion Tramon, Bendigo, Tommy Lake and Hudson.

The Dwyer Brothers' coach 3-year-old Hanover, the winner of Hamburg last year and the other stakes of importance, Mr. Carlton Stables' bay gelding Brookdale Handsel, Chief William, Blair Salmon, Sandy, also the Hamburg, Derby, Swift, Tidal and Coney Island Derby, the annual values of which have not yet been published.

On the first day of the Coney Island Jockey Club meeting Campbell & Co.'s bay gelding Berlin won the stake for 3-year-olds and upward at a mile and furlong. At the time it was alleged he did not carry the proper weight. Since then the matter has been investigated and the claim made proven, that the horse did not carry by seven pounds the proper weight. The purse has therefore been taken from him and given to R. C. Reid's Argyle, with the second money to Mr. A. J. Cassatt's Lottery.

Some of the English papers are still discussing Ormonde's winning the Hardwick Stakes at Ascot. "Pendragon," in the Referee, does not believe that Ormonde is a roarer. He says: "It was no disgrace for Minting to be beaten after such a struggle by what may be regarded even in this age of giants as the one and only horse of the century. That Minting has come on wonderfully there can be no doubt, and he must be a great horse indeed to have got nearer to defeating Ormonde than any other horse has done. Having had Minting's great show earlier in the week—the winning of the Jubilee Cup from Bendigo—we now know what sort of horse it takes to beat him, and thus how grossly Ormonde's ailment must have been exaggerated. No roarer could beat Minting, as Minting is now, at a mile and a half."

Yachting in England.

LONDON, June 28.—The Mudhook regatta took place on the Clyde to-day. In the race for the Thistle and the Iroz were the contestants. There was a good many wins until the conclusion of the first round, when the Commodore stopped the race and awarded the prize to the Thistle, which was then 12 min. 19 sec. ahead of the Iroz.

It is understood that the Fortuna will compete with the Thistle and Iroz in the regatta on July 6, and will challenge the Iroz for the Brenton Reef Cup.

The Ottawa Lacrosse Match.

OTTAWA, June 29.—The lacrosse match between the Torontos and Capitals on Dominion Day promises to be one of the most interesting of the season, and will be witnessed by an immense crowd. An addition has been made to the grand stand to accommodate an extra thousand people. The Capitals have been practising steadily, and will have the strongest team they have played this year, so that the Torontos will have to hustle or they will get left.

Cassimere Wins the Great Midland.

LONDON, June 29.—The race for The Great Midland Plate, 500 sovs., was run at Four Oaks Park to-day. It was won by Mr. R. Sherrard's chestnut filly Cassimere, by Cambaslo, dam Cashmere. Lord Bradford's filly Fairness 2d, Mr. Brydges Willyams' Saucy Lass 3d. There were five starters.

Subear Defeats Ten Eyck.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 29.—Geo. Subear, champion oarsman of England, beat James A. Ten Eyck 13 seconds in a 2-mile race for $500 a side. Subear's time was 20 min. 16 1-5 sec.

An Earthquake in Ecuador.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, June 28.—The most violent earthquake experienced here since 1868 occurred this morning at 3.30 o'clock, causing great alarm among the population and lasting 2 minutes and 3 seconds. It had a northeast, southwest direction. All the clocks of the towns stopped at the hour named. The ceilings of several buildings fell. It is feared that much damage has been done to cities in the interior. No casualties have been reported yet.

A Dangerous Plaything.

MONTREAL, June 28.—Wm. Butler, aged 21, residing at Sault au Recollet, was amusing himself yesterday with a dynamite cartridge when it exploded, shattering his left hand and closing up both his eyes. He was conveyed to the general hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate his hand. His eyes were found to be very badly swollen, but the surgeon has no fear but that they will be soon all right.

Mining Accident in Michigan.

MARQUETTE, Mich., June 28.—Four Englishmen named Wm. Kellow, Wm. Pengilly, Jas. Vanderslyus and Paul Hastings were instantly killed at the Vulcan mine at Norway yesterday. They were coming out of the mine in the cage when some men above allowed the train car to get away and go thundering down the shaft, striking the cage. Kellow was a single man aged 18. The others leave families.

A Living Miracle.

"My infant daughter was taken ill with cholera infantum, the doctor said she could not live. The Rev. Wm. McWilliams would not allow her head to be lifted when he baptised her, she was so weak. Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry gave immediate relief. She is a living miracle, hale and hearty. A Word to the Children.

The children who intend to participate in the concert Dominion Day are requested to attend a last practice in the court room at the Court House Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Programmes and flags should also be carefully preserved as no more will be distributed. Rain spoiled the effect of the last exhibition of enthusiasm on the part of the rising generation and future hope of Peterborough; it is to be hoped fine weather will reward the second attempt to do honor to Her Majesty.

A Wonderful Well.

A most phenomenal condition of affairs in relation to the present hot weather was discovered in Mr. Wm. Yelland's well yesterday afternoon. It seems that the well had frozen up solid during the winter, and in the spring it was thawed out, or apparently so, and used. It worked very unsatisfactorily though, and, becoming no better, on Saturday Mr. Yelland determined to find out the cause of the trouble. Messrs. Wright and Clayton pulled up the pump and found the well to be filled with ice, with a narrow passage through it sufficiently large to admit of a small quantity of water being pumped up. The well is about 30 feet deep. This is a wonderful state of affairs truly, at this late season, and probably never heard of before.

A Choice Selection of Heavy Double and Twisted Cottonades, just the thing for Harvesting, now in Stock at Turnbull's.

Red-Eyed Dysentery.

With the thermometer at 90 degrees in the shade from day to day, it is no wonder that there is dulness in every branch of commercial life. The people do not seem to have enough energy to buy goods nor the merchants enough energy to sell them. There is general stagnation in everything except the pop, soda water and ice cream trade, and that is brisk. There has not been an idle hour this summer at the store of Gough, the wonderful cheap man. His magnificent cheap stock of $18,000 worth of prime ready-made clothing, bought at 40 cents on the dollar, has brought a steady stream of customers, who buy extensively and go away delighted with bargains. Remember, the most wonderful bargains in ready-made clothing at Gough's.

Married in Haste.

Mr. Walter Wood, manager of Mr. Jno. Bertram's farm, was considerably surprised yesterday afternoon when on being called down town he was informed that he was to be married right away. But so it was, and within a few minutes Rev. E. F. Torrance had tied the knot which bound together for life Mr. Wood and Esther, youngest daughter of Mr. John Stewart. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's father, Murray Street. Mr. Stewart has been very ill of late, and his physician is holding out no hope of his recovery. Yesterday the sick man suddenly conceived the idea that he would like to see his daughter married before his death. The wedding was to have taken place in a month or two anyway, but the parties being eagerly "willin'," it was effected in haste and without any preparation whatever, according to Mr. Stewart's wish. While rejoicing over the happy event all will bear with intense regret Mr. Stewart's illness, from which it is feared he cannot recover.

Baseball Strikes.

Both the baseball matches the Peterborough club were arranging for Dominion Day with Port Hope and Cobourg have fallen through.

Secretary Clarke yesterday received a letter from the Kingston club, asking for a match here next week. A reply was sent that they could be accommodated any day.

The First Nine outplayed Lindsay, at Kingston, on Tuesday, to the tune of 17 to 6. The game was a long, weary one.

The Belleville club plays Kingston City nine at the Limestone City to-day, the return match at Belleville to-morrow.

A match between Peterborough and Belleville clubs would excite much interest, and it is to be hoped an endeavor will be made to arrange a game.

Dominion Day.

The Different Events in Town To-morrow.

To-morrow, Friday, the 1st day of July, is the twentieth anniversary of the Confederation of our Dominion.

Peterborough will have a field day[illegible] and the programme under which Dominion Day will be observed this year is as follows:

She will celebrate in different ways.

First comes the grand 5:30 demonstration, including the children's procession and escort, athletic sports and regatta. These will begin at 2 o'clock. Everything will be free. Programmes and flags will be distributed about town and will be scattered on the day of celebration among the people.

The Sons of England have an excursion and picnic to that beautiful summer resort, Sturgeon Point. A train leaves the G.T.R. station at 7:15 a.m., sharp. Tickets 50c.; children half-price. This will be a delightful trip.

A grand cricket match, Toronto vs. Peterborough, will begin on the Ashburnham grounds at 10 a.m.

At Hyi Wyld a regatta will be held. The "Golden Eye" will leave Peterborough at 7 a.m., calling at all intermediate ports. Valuable prizes are offered to the regatta. A rowing machine will be drawn for by every holder of a Golden Eye ticket.

Personal.

Mrs. Spencer and Miss Maggie Metheral left for Chicago this morning. They went via C.P.R.

Mr. Samuel Sawyer left this morning for a few days' sojourn in Utica, N. Y.

Incendiaries at Work.

Two attempts, fortunately unsuccessful, have been made this week, to set fire to a house on Albert Street, in Englishtown. A couple of mornings ago the occupants of the house found evidences of the presence of an incendiary, but fortunately their scheme had failed and the house was saved. Last night they were awakened by the furious barking of the house-dog, just in time to see the dark form of a man receding in the distance and a bright little blaze burning under the house, which would soon have developed into an uncontrollable fire had it not been discovered just when it was. After two such deliberate attempts, the fire-bug can expect no mercy if caught, as he certainly will be if he persists in his incendiary efforts.

A Monster Picnic.

Tweed had a big day yesterday. The R. C. picnic at that place was one of the greatest events in the history of the village. Thousands of people attended from within a radius of twenty miles, the proceeds amounting to nearly $2,000, which goes towards building a new church. Four young ladies went about the grounds soliciting aid, their collections netting $936. The one that collected the largest amount was given a handsome gold watch, but the others did so well that they too were similarly rewarded. About a dozen attended from Peterborough, among them being Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McIntyre, Messrs. Jas. Dolan, H. LeBrun, W. Dixon, J. Mercer and others. Messrs. McIntyre and Mercer won the double scull race, and at a concert in the evening Mrs. McIntyre sang and Mr. Dixon gave an exhibition of ventriloquism. An amusing incident happened which the genial Harry relates with great gusto. As three or four of the party were leaving the grounds, their hats off and mopping their heads vigorously—a necessary operation on such a hot day—one of the wicket-keepers, speaking in French to a companion and not thinking he would be understood by the objects of his remarks, said with a voice full of astonishment: "I wonder where these men come from. See, they're all bald-headed." Their heads were closely cropped, not bald, but the Frenchman making the mistake never "twigged" the difference. The boys have many a hearty laugh over the joke.

Death of Mr. Charlebois, M.P.P.

MONTREAL, June 27.—The late L. D. Charlebois, M.P.P. for Laprairie, whose death was announced to-day, was born in Laprairie Feb. 18, 1842, and was married in 1866 to a daughter of J. B. Varin, M.P. Mr. Charlebois has been since 1875 a member of the Provincial Legislature, and at the last election defeated Mr. George Duhamel, now Solicitor-General, by 23 votes.

A Robbery at Elora.

ELORA, June 27.—The house of Rev. Dr. Middlemiss, of this place, was entered by two tramps yesterday morning while the family were at church. They got away with $30 in money and a silver-handled dirk, which, being very old, was greatly valued by its owner. Four men started out in the country in search of the robbers, but having little clue as to the direction they had taken failed to find any trace of them.

Drowned in Detroit River.

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., June 27:—Four shipcarpenters from Gibraltar, Mich., came over here yesterday afternoon in a sail boat and filled up with Canada whiskey. When returning about 4 o'clock they capsized about one mile from the lighthouse on Bois Blanc Island, and one of the number, named H. A. Lester, was drowned. The remaining three were rescued by Andrew Hacket and his son, of Bois Blanc Lighthouse.

Runaway Accident at Waterdown.

HAMILTON, June 27.—In a runaway at Waterdown yesterday Miss Annie Organ was so seriously injured that her life is despaired of; Mrs. McCormick was badly hurt and Mrs. Bauer sustained painful bruises. The party was returning from church when the horses bolted, smashing the rig and throwing the occupants to the road.

Discovery of Ovid's Tomb.

LONDON, June 27.—It is announced that Ovid's tomb has been discovered. The location is at Anadolkiof, near Kustendanni. The stone marking the tomb represents Ovid's arrival at the Island of Somi when he was banished there by Augustus, A.D., 8, on account of the poet's intrigue with the Emperor's daughter Julia and Apollo's reception of him. Ovid's Isle is a few miles from Kustendami.

A Fire at Acton.

ACTON, June 28.—Mrs. S. A. Secord's store and dwelling, corner of Mill and Main-streets, and occupied by G. Andrews & Co., was destroyed by fire this morning together with part of the stock and furniture. The fire was first discovered about 1 a.m., and was supposed to have been extinguished then. About 4 o'clock the alarm sounded for the same building; this time the fire broke out in the upper flats, and had made such headway that the building could not be saved. The building and stock were covered by insurance.

The Fisheries in Behring Sea.

VICTORIA, B.C., June 28.—Senator Voorhees of Indiana arrived here on Saturday en route to Alaska. He said that it was a mistaken idea that the American Government would close Behring Sea to foreign governments. The whole trouble, in his opinion, was engendered by the Alaska Commercial Company, and President Cleveland was aware of this fact. A commission would be appointed to enquire into the fisheries question. Senator Voorhees thought the question would form an issue in the next Presidential campaign.

The Case Must be Heard Again.

HAMILTON, June 28.—The suit of the Hamilton Road Company against the Township of East Flamboro, to test the right of the plaintiffs to collect toll at York-street, will have to be tried over again on account of the death of Sir M. C. Cameron. At the trial his lordship intimated that he would give judgment for the plaintiffs, but he reserved his decision as to the amount of damages sustained by the plaintiffs by reason of the defendants passing a by-law assuming possession of the roads.

The Twelfth at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, June 28.—The Twelfth of July will be adequately celebrated in Hamilton this year. A great demonstration is being prepared. Orangemen from a dozen neighboring counties will take part in it. A procession will march from the Gore to Dundurn Park, where there will be music from two bands, a league baseball match by the Hamiltons and Buffalos, a drawing for prizes aggregating $300, dancing and numerous other attractions.

Revolution Threatening in Hawaii.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—A letter received from the Mexican Minister at Honolulu by Gen. Salomon yesterday, says: The outlook on the Sandwich Islands is very serious, and reports of bloodshed may be expected by the next steamer. He says a revolution is in progress and the overthrow of Kalakaua is a certainty.

A GREAT DAY OF JUBILEE.

TORONTO THE SCENE OF AN IMPOSING DEMONSTRATION.

Ten Thousand Processionists in Line—Immense Crowds on the Streets and at Exhibition Park—Patriotic Speechifying—No Accidents.

TORONTO, July 2.

"The biggest thing of the kind ever seen in Toronto" was the unanimous verdict of the tens of thousands who participated in and witnessed the Queen's jubilee demonstration yesterday. And so it was. The procession was immense and imposing, the crowds innumerable and enthusiastic, the weather sultry, but fine and the affair a grand success, passing off without serious accident.

The celebration was of a dual nature, in honor of Her Majesty's jubilee and the Dominion's twentieth birthday. All Toronto took a holiday, and the buildings and streets wore a gala appearance. While thousands of old and young left by boat and train for a day's pleasure abroad, thousands upon thousands remained at home to jubilate, and jubilate they did in great style. The heat was intense, the thermometer scoring as high as 86 at 4 in the afternoon, but the people's enthusiasm and spirits seemed to rise with the mercury and the enjoyment was general. Flushed and perspiring faces were seen on every side and cooling drinks were in universal demand.

Formation of the Procession.

The different bodies who took part in the procession met at their respective headquarters good and early, and marched to their place of assignment on the side streets running off Jarvis-street from the City Hall as far north as Shuter. By 11 o'clock this region was a crowded mass of humanity, and music and the sound of many voices filled the air. Ald. Piper, well mounted and with a heavy pink silk sash flung across his manly bosom, was grand marshal, and he had Capt. J. Edward Hughes of England for his aide. A start was effected precisely at 11 o'clock, and was announced to the waiting multitude by the pealing of the neighboring bells. Mounted police led off and kept the route clear. Then came the Mayor and aldermen in carriages. Hon. Oliver Mowat rode with His Worship. Following were cabs containing trustees of the Public and Separate Schools, the Industrial Exhibition directors and Public Library trustees. The horses drawing the carriages were gaily plumed. Walker's band was the first in the procession. Then came the following societies, military corps and organizations in the order mentioned, heads being freely sandwiched in, and banners and flags as thick as the proverbial leaves in Valambrosia:

Retired officers, Army, Navy and Militia, in uniform; Veterans, Army and Navy; Veterans, Volunteer; Governor-General's Body Guard; Toronto Field Battery; Garrison Artillery; Queen's Own Rifles; Tenth Royal Grenadiers; Irish Protestant Benevolent Society and Sons of Iceland; Sons of Canada; St. David's Society; Sons of England; St. George's Society; Young Men's Protestant Benevolent Association; Orangemen; Foresters; Knights of Pythias; A. O. United Workmen; Manchester Unity Oddfellows; Knights of the Maccabees; Poter Ogden Lodge Oddfellows; Toronto Butchers' Association; The Toronto Fire Brigade.

EXHIBITION PARK.

Immense Gathering of Processionists—Numerous Scenes and Incidents.

It was considerably after one o'clock before the first part of the procession reached the Park. Long before this hour, however, there were hundreds of people on the grounds—made up of those folk who will ever persist in taking time by the forelock, on the principle that it is better to be an hour early than a minute late. Many, fearful lest they could not secure a good place, had occupied positions before noon, for themselves, the children, and that cumbersome though useful article—well stocked with palatable morsels—the family basket. They found, however, that their precaution was unnecessary, as although the cry was "Still they come," there was room and to spare for all

The Funny Part of It.

The humorous incidents of the day were many. Some of the bandsmen and society men were got up in such a gaudy fashion that their most intimate friends did not know them until introduced. Then there were those who were mounted, and for, perhaps, the first time in their lives threw their legs over a horse's back. A crowded park is not the place for an amateur equestrian. Perhaps it was the horse that was to blame, but saddles were emptied at awkward times, and to the fear of those in the immediate neighborhood. It was originally intended to have Mayor Howland and a number of other gentlemen address the people from the grand stand in the enclosure, but the grand stand was almost empty at the appointed time, and the addresses were delivered from the front of the main building to a small audience.

The Army and Navy Veterans.

The veterans formed quite a party in themselves on the grassy slope in front of the main building. Both branches of the service were represented—a hardy Son of Neptune supporting the British ensign, and an army veteran holding the staff from which floated the Union Jack. Although almost every person wore the silver-washed jubilee medal retailed at 25 cents, there could be no mistaking that the medals which adorned the breasts of those who composed the little crowd formed round the flagstaffs were not so easily procured. Most of them have, it is true, the impress of Queen Victoria, many of them were originally pinned on the breasts of the wearers with her own royal hand, but with the impression of the image there was also an inscription setting forth that the honor had been won on the battlefield or on the shattered deck.

The veterans had a small party of Highland pipers with them, in the plaids and kilts of their native heath, and in the centre of the square, which was readily formed, stood a carriage and pair, containing the father of veterans of the province. Mr. John Bright was the occupant of the carriage, a veteran of 95 years of age, and one—perhaps the only living one—who fought under Gen. Brock in 1812. The old warrior was enthusiastically cheered, but was so overpowered by emotion that he could not address "his comrades," as he called them. His son, Mr. Thomas Bright, spoke for him, and said that the old man felt young again on seeing the grand demonstration of that day in honor of the Queen and Canada.

Lieut. Wickham, R.N., addressing the veterans, said it was seldom in the history of the world that people were called upon to celebrate the fiftieth year of a monarch's reign. It was their privilege that day to participate in the jubilee celebrations of the best queen that ever reigned (cheers), and although many of them were no doubt far away from their homes in the old country, they could still feel their loyal devotion to their beloved Queen, and join in with and admire the loyalty of Her Majesty's subjects in this Dominion. [Cheers.] Most of them had seen active service and had fought and bled for their country. This was happily a time of peace, but should there be occasion for their services again they would be found at their post. [Cheers.]

Sergt.-Major Turner spoke on behalf of the army veterans, expressing pleasure at seeing so many of them present to celebrate Her Majesty's Jubilee.

Three-times-three in hearty cheers were given for the Queen and the old veterans separated.

SOME OF THE SPEECHES.

Hon. Oliver Mowat's Patriotic Outburst—School Trustees and Society Presidents.

Mayor Howland was the first speaker. He dwelt at considerable length upon the several live issues of the day. Upon the question of Commercial Union he spoke as follows:

We never can afford to have this question of commercial union made a party question. It must be discussed fairly and squarely, so that the people can see what it is. We cannot risk our future by yielding to the pride and ambition of any section of the country. The whole country must do this thing, if it is done at all. We have to make our trade with the United States on the basis of giving them quid pro quo. Let them know that we do not want to be part of their Union, and that we do not want to have any bonds put on us that we would fear to remove. Then we will be glad to get reciprocity and to give all we can for it. Let us in everything we do remember our loyalty to the great nation that God has entrusted to us, which is going to be a great country on this continent yet. That is my faith in Canada. I hope I may never have a lesser or a lighter one; and I want to die when I lose faith in Canadian nationality. [Great applause.]

The Hon. the Premier of Ontario was then called upon by Mayor Howland to address the meeting. Mr. Mowat said that he had no intimation on coming there that day that he should be called upon to make a speech, but nevertheless he could devote the few minutes allotted to him without going into the question of commercial union, on which the Mayor had said so much. He would not say that he agreed or disagreed with those who advocated that question, but of this he felt assured, that if commercial union meant annexation with the United States or the severance of their loyalty and attachment to the Mother Country, he would not go for commercial union, nor would the people of Canada. [Cheers.]

A Strong Sentiment of Loyalty.

He was glad to hear and see the strong sentiments of loyalty manifested by the people of Toronto that day. He had the same faith in the progress of this fair Dominion as had the Mayor, and he hoped they all shared in it. People might complain that they had not got enough for their money—complain that the public moneys were wasted; but if this were so the public themselves were responsible for it. The country could stand it, and more than that. He was happy to say that the people of the capital of his native province were fully in accord with those of Ontario, and indeed the whole Dominion, in their genuine loyalty to their Queen and to their country. [Cheers.]

He had never witnessed a more magnificent procession, or greater enthusiasm than that displayed in Toronto that day. They had there that day the sons and daughters of old England, the sons and daughters of dear Scotland, and the sons and daughters of the beautiful Emerald Isle (whose troubles he trusted would soon be at an end), all joining with Canada in celebrating the jubilee of their beloved Queen, and their enthusiasm was but the outcome of their loyalty. In all ages men were found willing to make great sacrifices at the shrine of loyalty, and even to face death itself. This, however, was a time of peace and jubilee, but should the time come again when the people of Canada might be called upon to make sacrifices in the cause of loyalty, they would, he felt sure, be as willing to do it as they were in the past. [Cheers.] They loved the dear Old Country and her Queen, but they loved Canada too.

If they compared their Dominion with the United States, they would find that they had nothing to be ashamed of. [Hear, hear.] A comparison of the statistics of both countries for the past half century would show that the percentage in every department was greater in Canada than it is, on the aggregate, in the United States; and as Canada had prospered in the past, so she would in the future. [Cheers.]

In speaking of the representation of the people, he held that the President of the United States was elected by a voice of not more than one-half of the people, and the other half might be adverse; but the Queen of Britain was the unanimous choice of a free and loyal people. [Cheers.]

The C. J. Professor Absent.

Professor Goldwin Smith was next called upon for an address, but the Professor was not to be found.

School Trustees Heard From.

Mr. C. A. B. Brown, Chairman of the Public School Board, said a few words at the request of the Mayor. He spoke of the department with which he is connected, stating that the children's demonstration of the previous day—in which about twelve thousand little ones took part—showed that the trustees were inculcating the principles of loyalty in the schools. He spoke of the progress made in the matter of education, and hoped more money would be placed at the disposal of the board to meet the increasing demands for schools and teachers.

Addresses From Patriotic Presidents.

Mr. Beardmore, President of St. George's Society, spoke next, dwelling upon the loyalty and attachment due to the Queen.

Mr. Hughes, County Master of the Orange Order, also addressed the meeting. He thought it a pity that more of the national sentiment was not worked up in Canada, and that July 1 was not always observed as that day was. He had no fear for the future of Canada as long as she was loyal and true and held to the Bible. Mr. R. Caldbeck spoke for the Sons of England, and Mr. Evans on behalf of the Irish Protestant Benevolent So-

DEBATING THE LAND BILL.

THE HOUSE OF LORDS GIVES A FEW HOURS TO IRISH MATTERS.

Earl Spencer Says the Bill is not Worth Considering, as it Would Not Relieve the Tenants, nor Settle the Difficulties Now Existing.

LONDON, July 1.—In the House of Lords this evening, on the report stage of the Irish Land Bill, the Earl of Dunraven said that there were 300 amendments waiting which might almost recast the bill, many of the provisions of which derogated from the main object of the measure.

Earl Spencer declared that the bill would fail to bring about a settlement of the Irish question and was not worth considering, as it would not relieve the tenants. He did not think that the Government understood some of the clauses, because in some cases the clauses would injure tenants, and in other cases they would injure landlords. Tenants might be ordered to pay arrears in small instalments, but the payment of rent was not provided for. Therefore the tenant might continue paying instalments and allow the rents to accumulate. Directly the bill passed the courts would be crowded with applicants, whose cases would not be settled for years.

Lord Ashbourne, Lord Chancellor of Ireland, said that after the bill passed necessary evictions would not be open to harsh criticism. The bankruptcy clauses of the bill were fair to reasonable.

Baron Herschell said that the clauses dealing with evictions, in which power is given to lessees to go to court, were the only clauses worth anything.

Lord Salisbury said it was because the Liberals had tried to apply an impossible system to the relations between landlord and tenant that the Government was obliged to introduce the present bill. It was a pity that the Liberals had not foreseen these evils, so that the Government would not have to undertake the impossible task of introducing sanity into a landed policy, which was absolutely insane. [Cheers.] He did not regard the bill as a final measure, but he believed it would be an element in restoring peace and good-will.

Earl Kimberly asserted that the bill of 1881 violated the rights of contract less than the present bill, which broke the contracts of 150,000 lessees.

HARROWING SCENES IN CHINA.

The People in the Flooded Districts in Utter Destitution.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—J. F. Baudinet, U.S. Vice-Consul at New Chivang, China, sends to the State Department a harrowing account of a trip made by him through the flooded districts of China. He was distributing food and necessaries of life to the starving people, and relieved 396 people. He says he found the people generally living on bran or the chaff of a large grass grown for feeding cattle. Some were reduced to eating chopped grass, either moistened with hot water or baked in cakes, while others fed on the leaves and seeds of weeds gathered in the fields.

In some of the villages half of the dwelling places had been washed away, and the inhabitants were huddled together in the remaining ones. The deaths from starvation had been very numerous, and the sights he saw in some of the villages were pitiable.

THE HEAT IN NEW YORK.

The Mortality Yesterday Greater Than Any Day This Year.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Five cases of [illegible] prostration occurred to-day in Brooklyn. There is a marked increase in the mortality in that city, attendant upon the advent of warm weather. Cholera infantum is working havoc among the infants.

The mortality in this city has been greater than on any other day this year. One hundred and seventy persons died, the greater number from cholera infantum. The mercury reached 95 in the shade yesterday, and 94 this afternoon.

HEAVY DAMAGES FOR LIBEL.

A British Columbia Judge Gets a Verdict Against a Newspaper.

VICTORIA, B.C., June 30.—In the libel suit, Walkem v. Higgins, the plaintiff being the late Premier and now Judge of the Supreme Court in British Columbia, and the defendant the late publisher and proprietor of The Colonist newspaper, the jury to-day awarded $2500 damages.

The case will be appealed to the Divisional Court and, if necessary, carried to the Supreme Court of Canada. The libel consisted in reproducing certain sworn evidence which was commented on unfavorably to the plaintiff.

The New German Loan.

BERLIN, July 1.—Subscriptions for the first 1,000,000 marks to the new Imperial loan will be opened on July 5 at all the great banks of the Empire. It is expected there will be a rush of applicants for the loan as the rate of issue, 96, is about 70 pfennigs under the present quotations.

Fire at Orangeville.

ORANGEVILLE, July 1.—To-day at noon a fire broke out in the premises of The Advertiser printing office. The flames spread rapidly and totally destroyed The Advertiser office and the office of the Great North Western Telegraph Company next door. The origin of the fire is unknown. No insurance.

Killed by a Sky Rocket.

KINGSTON, July 1.—A sad accident occurred on the cricket field last night in connection with the fireworks display. A printer, named Joseph Thompson, was hit by a rocket, which swept down upon him, and instantly killed. The head was almost severed from the body.

Heavy Deliveries of Wheat at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 1.—The deliveries of wheat on the Board of Trade to-day were very heavy. One firm is reported to have put out 500,000 bushels of bank wheat, and another one to have disposed of 750,000. The amount tied up in the courts is an unknown quantity.

In Brief, And To The Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

The intense tropical heat of the last few days to-day culminated in a hurricane and thunderstorm such as is common to tropical climates. The earth was deluged with rain, accompanied by wind and hail. The lawn social at St. John's Church Thursday evening was one of the pleasantest affairs of the kind ever held. There was a large attendance of visitors, who strolled about the nicely illuminated lawn and supplied themselves with refreshments procured at a couple of tents. The 57th Batt. band returned to town last night thoroughly pleased with their engagement at Grimsby, Dominion Day. An excursion was run from Toronto to Grimsby, and the Mail says upon this occasion the enterprising director of services, Rev. The several numbers were splendidly executed, eliciting the most hearty applause.

Hot Weather and Sunstroke.

With the advent of this broiling, blistering hot weather, comes the frequent occurrence of sunstroke, an evil most frequently fatal in its character, and when not so, leaving serious injury to the brain. It, therefore, becomes prudent to consider precautions, leaving the matter of treatment to the medical man. The first indication is the avoidance of violent exertion, as far as possible; the second is keeping the head cool. This may be done in a variety of ways, but the easiest is to fill the hat with succulent green leaves; the drying of the leaves produces a sort of evaporation in which the sensible heat becomes latent and the head and brain are kept cool. The third and most effective and cheapest way is to procure suitable clothing, which may be done by patronizing the great gough's wonderful cheap sale of $18,500 worth of clothing, bought at 40 cents on the $ and sold on the same generous plan of reduction. The chance of such gigantic bargains must cool the head, lower the pulse, and conduce to the prevention of sunstroke.

Obituary.

The veteran settlers of this district are rapidly passing away. To-day Mr. Henry Moore's name was added to the long death roll of the pioneer settlers of this district, he having passed to his rest at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Valentine Best, Brock street. The deceased gentleman was a native of Cavan county, Ireland, from whence he removed sixty-five years ago to Canada, settling in the township of Emily, where he lived till about ten years ago, when he took up residence in Peterborough. Five years ago Mr. Moore's life was left desolate by the death of his wife—since that time he has longed to lay aside the burden of life and join her in the spirit world. Mr. Moore leaves behind him one son and five daughters. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and a staunch Liberal in politics. He was honored with the high respect of the hundreds that knew him, and no doubt a long line of friends will follow his remains to the Little Lake Cemetery on next Monday afternoon at one o'clock.

THE HALFBREEDS' COMMISSION.

An Action Against the Minister of Finance for $550.

OTTAWA, June 30.—The Secretary of the Interior Department has received information from the Halfbreeds' Commission to the effect that Commissioners Goulet and Cote had reached Prince Albert, whence they will descend the Saskatchewan River by steamer to Lake Winnipeg, visiting the various settlements and adjusting claims at the various settlements en route. The places to be visited are Fort A'Lacorne the Pas, Cumberland House and Grand Rapids. They will also visit Norway House, Beren's River and Fort Alexander on Lake Winnipeg.

The Northwest Central Railway meeting to have been held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of awarding contracts, was postponed.

The Free Press to-night states that Mrs. R. B. Bell, wife of an employe of the House of Commons, has brought an action against Sir Charles Tupper personally for $550 for alleged services as a private detective on the Intercolonial Railway in 1881. It is stated that Bell was employed as a sort of detective and spent some months on the line of the Intercolonial, being accompanied by his wife. Bell was paid for his services, and now Mrs. Bell claims that she did something for which she wants to be paid.

THE LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS.

The G.T.R. to be Interviewed Regarding the Present Mileage Rate.

OTTAWA, June 30.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers held their final secret session to-day, over three hundred members being in attendance. Grand Chief Arthur presided. The business was concluded at noon, the Grand Chief being given a farewell send-off a half an hour later, when he started for Fargo, Dak., where another meeting of engineers will be held next week. Mr. Arthur will then proceed to another session of railway engineers to be held in Florida next month.

Matters of a private nature were discussed at to-day's meeting, but it is understood that the Grievance Committee, after sitting here for a few days for the purpose of adjusting one or two local issues, will proceed to Montreal. In the latter city the Grand Trunk Railway authorities will be interviewed with the view of a better arrangement regarding the present mileage rate allowed the engineers. Any representations made will be in the direction of an application for an increase in wages.

What is a cold in the head? Medical authorities say it is due to atmospheric germs, uneven clothing of the body, rapid cooling when in perspiration, &c. The important point is, that a cold in the head is a genuine rhinitis, an inflamation of the lining membrane of the nose which, when unchecked, is certain to produce a catarrhal condition—for catarrh is essentially a "cold" which nature is no longer able to "resolve" or throw off. Ely's Cream Balm has proved its superiority, and and sufferers from cold in the head should resort to it before that common ailment becomes seated and ends in obstinate catarrh.,eodw26

TO BE TAKEN FROM BUFFALO TO CHICAGO ON A REQUISITION.

As He Cannot be Taken Back to Canada the State of Illinois Will Prosecute Him for Bringing Stolen Money Into That State.

CHICAGO, July 1.—A criminal prosecution of a peculiar character is about to be begun in Chicago. A. D. SATURDAY, JULY 2, 1887.

DOMINION DAY SPORTS.

How Canada's Twentieth Birthday was Celebrated.

Peterborough's Portion of the Celebration.—How the Day was Observed Elsewhere.—Fine, Warm, Queen's Weather.

Notwithstanding the large crowds which attended the Sons of England excursion to Sturgeon Point, or the probably still larger numbers which took advantage of the cheap railway rates to visit Toronto, Port Hope and other places where demonstrations were being held, enough people were left in town to make Peterborough's celebration a decided success, though the programme was what is commonly called a "warmed up" one. That, however, was no fault of the committee having the celebration in hand, and had June 21st been graced with such "Queen's" weather as was Dominion Day, our Jubilee demonstration would have outshone any in the Midland District.

On Friday, however, the original programme had to be considerably curtailed and altered, various adverse circumstances combining to neutralize the effects of the labors of the energetic committee; hence the celebration was not nearly so effective as it should have been.

The town presented a gala appearance. Besides the arches of the Societies, flags and bunting were liberally distributed on George street, making a gorgeous effect. These, though, have been fully described before and have been seen by all our people. The Sons of England arch was however, re-dressed for the occasion. The society mottoes being replaced by the legend. "Canada our Home—True to the Old Land Faithful to the New."

The Children's Concert.

At nine o'clock the children began to assemble at the drill shed, and at ten o'clock order of procession was formed, the route being from the drill shed down George to Simcoe street, across Simcoe to Water, and up Water to the Park. There were about five or six hundred children in the procession, all bearing Union Jacks and maple leaves. It was a pretty sight. At the park, led by Mr. Gallotly (to whom is largely due the success of the children's concert) and Mr. Arch. Freeman, of Norwood, with his cornet, the children sang their jubilee and patriotic songs under the shade of the large oak trees and surrounded by hundreds of the townspeople. Then the youngsters were sent to the Court House, where a barrelful and tubful of lemonade were dispensed to them. The little folks were overheard saying to each other, heaving sighs denoting a full stomach: "I don't want any more lemonade for a month." The morning's portion of the programme passed off most satisfactorily indeed, and to several gentlemen members of the general committee, is due much praise for their indefatigable efforts on that behalf.

The Sports.

By the time the children had been served with refreshments it lacked only a few minutes of noon, so the athletic sports, which were to have begun at 11 o'clock, were postponed till afternoon.

At 2 o'clock the sports began on Riverside Park, conducted by the chairman, Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Mr. Gallotly and Mr. Weir. The children were there in full force and the games were well contested. Following is the prize list:—

THREE LEGGED RACE—Won by Bert. Craig and Charles Young. Prize, dozen teaspoons presented by McKee and Davidson; a cigar case, presented by J. D. Tully.

The Regatta.

A sun beating down upon an unprotested Point at the rate of 125° and the counter attractions of sports at the Riverside Park, deterred many from attending the regatta who would have wished to do so. There was a fair attendance of people, but a better one of canoeists. All the events were closely contested, and were exciting indeed. A strong wind was blowing, which, though having an adverse effect upon the paddling races, proved the right thing for sailing. The judges were Messrs. Jno. McClelland and J. B. McWilliams. Following are the events:—

SAILING RACE, 2 MILES.—1st, B. Odette—prize, a fine hat, presented by G. C. Clark; 2nd, H. Stock—prize, umbrella, presented by T. Kelly; 3rd, J. Carveth.

SINGLE SCULL RACE.—There being only one entry, Mr. Gus Lech, the course was gone over by him and first prize claimed, the Daily Review for one year.

EVERY SCURRY RACE.—This race consisted of a fifty yards run, a leap of 15 feet down a sandy embankment, a swim of fifty yards to a canoe at anchor, then a hundred yards paddle to finish. Entries—Messrs. Stock, Carveth and Mason. 1st, J. Carveth, daily EXAMINER for one year; 2nd, H. Stock, ham in canvas by Matthews & Co.

DOUBLE CANOE RACE (boys).—Entries—Heap and Cassels, Nesbitt and Lasher, Galley and Connors. 1st, Heap and Cassels, plate glass mirror by John Nugent and bottle perfume by John McKee.

SINGLE CANOE RACE.—Entries, Messrs. W. Green, B. Odette, J. Connal, H. Stock and —. Howard. 1st, B. Odette, hat presented by W. Lech; 2nd, H. Stock, prize presented by Breese & Bain.

In the evening the streets and park were promenaded by hundreds of the people, who enjoyed the cool of the evening immensely after the intense heat of the day. The electric lights were, as before, the principal illumination of the evening.

The Sons of England Excursion to Sturgeon Point was one of the features of the day. There was not a very large attendance of excursionists compared with that of last year, but six or seven well filled coaches joined the jaunt. The party was conveyed by rail to Lindsay where they embarked on board the palace scow, Paloma, in tow of the steamer Mary Ellen. The terrible heat which marked the day began to develop on board the boat as she floated leisurely and languidly amongst the varying and beautiful scenery of Sougog's snags. On the way up Doucet's Orchestra furnished music for dancing which was industriously indulged in by the youngsters. The Point was reached about eleven o'clock After luncheon, which was partaken of under the shade of the oaks, the people seemed to devote all their energies to the moral impossibility of keeping cool. Still the heat did not take the dance out of the heels of the young folks, and dancing was kept up with intense industry all the afternoon. The melting misery of the elements precluded all idea of working off the programme of sports and games, but during the afternoon a welcome thunder shower cooled the air and admitted of the programme being carried out though hurriedly and under difficulties, which was done with the following results:

BOYS' RACE—Under 18; 100 yards. 1st, H. Jones, pair fancy slippers, by Foot & McWhinnie; 2nd, F. Saunders, bottle perfume, J. D. Tully.

BOYS' THREE LEGGED RACE—1st, J. Russell and W. Chapman, straw hat, by Fair, weather & Co.; 2nd, H. Walters and B Roberts, hair brush, by Geo. Schofield.

RACE ON ALL FOURS—Boys under 12; fifty yards and return. 1st, W. Brundrett, jr., money; 2nd, S. Chapman, money.

MENS' SMOKING RACE—Fifty yards and return. Pipe or cigar to be lighted while racing. W. Chapman, pipe, by George Rubidge.

HALF MILE RACE—1st, M. Bird, pair of vases, by China Hall; 2nd, W. Logan, fancy album, by Dawson Bros.; 3rd, J. Flannery, fruit dish, by W. J. Mason.

HUNDRED YARD RACE—1st, W. Holland, basket of tea, by F. J. R. Mitchell; 2nd, M. Dobson, set (3 Japan trays), by Mat. Carton.

OLDEST MARRIED COUPLE on the grounds—Wm. Chapman, bag flour (25 lbs.), by W. J. Brisbin, and one pound baking powder, by Hawley Bros.

YOUNGEST MARRIED COUPLE on the grounds—Felix Brownscombe, child's high chair, by M. T. Butcher.

The return trip began about five o'clock a large number going down on the Esturion, and the remainder following in the Paloma. Dancing also formed a part of the recreation on the downward trip of the latter, but the exhiliration of a free fight prevented monotony. Some young roughs who had availed themselves liberally of the free access to whisky and beer at Sturgeon Point, and on the boat got into a fight, in which one man had his head badly cut with a bottle, and in the melee the cowardly rascals beat and maltreated a woman who was trying to shield her son from their attacks. On arrival at Lindsay the attack on the lad who had used the bottle was renewed, and for a few minutes a howling pandemonium prevailed, but the coveted victim was got out of the way and quiet prevailed. The home run was safely made, the party arriving at the Midland station at 9 o'clock. The committee did everything in their power for the comfort of the excursionists, but the weather and the stimulants were sometimes too much for them to contend against.

Cricket Match.

The match between Toronto and Peterborough, was played in the forenoon. Peterborough, though minus the service of Logan and Max Hamilton, managed to make a good fight, in spite of the fact that two of the bowlers left them—Rutherford and Rogers were disabled during the match. Toronto batted first and scored 164. Boyd heading the list with a well played 47, Cooper coming next with a somewhat lucky 34. J. H. Senkler played a fine defensive game for 19, while Brown and E. C. Senkler hit merrily for their scores. Stratton bowled well, securing five wickets for 46 runs.

Peterborough started badly, Sam. Ray's wicket falling in the first over, to the great disappointment of the numerous spectators and the delight of the Torontos. Thomas and Stratton played well, Thomas punishing every loose ball along the ground most effectually. His 25 was made up of 7 threes and 2 twos. Stratton was a long time at the wickets and seemed well set when run out through a misunderstanding. Hugh Ray kept up the family reputation by his fine innings of 14, and Rutherford, in spite of his injured thumb, played excellent cricket for his 18 which included 2 fours. The tail pulled the score up well, Newbald getting his 25 in good form. The Toronto fielding, though not brilliant, was far ahead of that of Peterborough. In this department catches made by McCulloch, for Toronto, and Rutherford, for Peterborough, deserves special notice.

In playing to time Toronto lost six wickets for 124. The two top scorers of the first innings were got rid of cheaply; but J. H. Senkler and McCulloch made a great stand, both coming within one of the coveted half century. Senkler's 49 was without doubt the best innings of the day, his defence being very fine.

The match drew the largest number of spectators seen on the cricket ground for a long time, the ladies being out in great force. An excellent lunch was provided by the ladies, to whom the thanks of the club are due.

Lacrosse Match.

An event not down on the programme took place on Riverside Park in the forenoon. The Ætnas and Young Shamrocks played a lacrosse match, resulting in a victory for the former. The boys did some excellent playing, and give promise of future greatness in lacrosse annals. The first goal was scored by the Ætnas in 2 minutes; second by the Ætnas in 10 minutes; third by the Shamrocks in about three-quarters of an hour. No more goals were scored before time was called. Port Hope's Day.

Yesterday was about the biggest day Port Hope ever saw. The little town was literally jammed with people, who poured in from Peterborough, Lindsay, Bowmanville, Cobourg and other surrounding towns, while the town and country people turned out en masse. The streets were prettily decorated and illuminated, though not equalling that of Peterborough on June 21st. In the forenoon there was a regatta, which did not amount to much, interest centreing upon the sports in the driving park in the afternoon. Fully 4,000 people were in the park, where foot, bicycle, and horse races were held. In the trotting races three Peterborough horses, "Fanny B.," "Grey Ned," and "Black Diamond" contested, the only other entry being a horse from Napanee, which was awarded first prize. The race was really "Grey Ned's," and the decision of the judges was not a correct one. Dissatisfied with the result of the races, a match race for $200 was made between Ed. Brown's "Fanny B." and the Napanee horse, to take place in Peterborough July 15th. Ned feels confident that his horse will win. The proceedings closed with a nice display of fireworks. The special train bearing the Peterborough and Lindsay contingents arrived in town about 2 o'clock a.m.

Idyl Wyld.

A good number patronized the excursion to Idyl Wyle, per str. Golden Eye, where a regatta was announced to be held. The excursionists enjoyed themselves on the cool water, though the regatta did not take place. It was postponed till the opening of the Jubilee park at the mouth of the river, which will be opened by Mr. H. Calcutt in about two weeks. Bi-weekly afternoon excursions will be run to the new park, which will be at once near to the town, and a fine pleasure resort.

The Bobcaygeon Independent of July 1st says:—Mr. J. R. Stratton, of our talented contemporary the Peterborough EXAMINER, and M.P.P. for West Peterborough, passed through the village on Wednesday, on his way to Galway and Cavendish. Mr. Stratton has shown himself to be a hard-working and energetic Member, and particularly alive to the interests of his constituency. Through his efforts in presenting the needs of the country, the Government has made a grant of $500 to the North Harvey road, with $100 from the County; $400 for the North Buckhorn; $400 for the Cavendish road; and to the South Buckhorn with County and Township grants, $750. Mr. Stratton's efforts in this direction should be appreciated. When in Cavendish he proposes going over the road about to be repaired and also the continuation of the road across the Township, which was played out last spring, and which it is intended, when finished, will connect with the North Buckhorn road, also under construction, thus giving the people of Cavendish and a portion of Galway an outlet to Peterborough much shorter than by Bobcaygeon, and by as direct a route as possible to have.

Sir Charles Tupper sails from Rimouski on July 18.

The Canadian Pacific Railway authorities here have received intimation that the short line between Smith's Falls and Montreal will be open for business in about three weeks.

There is good reason for believing that the Red River Railway Bill of the Manitoba Government has been disallowed. It is known that a certified copy of the Act was received here some days ago and the matter has been considered in Council. As the report on disallowance would be made by the Minister of Justice, and as that gentleman left for Halifax yesterday, it is most probable that the order in council disallowing the act was passed a day or two ago and sent to His Excellency for signature. The Canada Gazette has been delayed until Monday or perhaps Tuesday; the notice of disallowance might appear in the next issue. Anyhow, there is no doubt but that the act either has been or will be disallowed.

On the best authority the statement made in a cable despatch from London, which appeared in The Globe on Saturday, that "upon the issue of the Canadian Government's notice that the object of the attempted Manitoba loan was illegal, etc.," is contradicted. The Canadian Government issued no notice. Manitoba has a perfect right to borrow money if she can get anybody to lend it to her, but the Manitoba Legislature has not the right by an act of its own to over-ride an act of the Dominion Parliament, and whenever it passes such an act the chances are that it will be very promptly disallowed.

BAD GANG FROM BUFFALO.

FIVE MEN ATTACK AND ROB AN IRISH IMMIGRANT.

John Dunbar the Victim—The Crime Committed in Broad Daylight—Arrest of all the Accused—Good Work by two Policemen—A Revolver and Cartridges.

TORONTO, July 4.

Toronto has recently been the scene of an alarming number of burglaries, highway robberies and similar crimes, all more or less of a daring character, but the climax in this respect was reached Saturday afternoon, when five ruffians attacked and robbed a man on the Credit Valley Railway wharf, near the foot of Simcoe-street, within the call of hundreds of people and in sight of many. The victim is John Dunbar, a middle aged man only a few days out from Buckna, near Ballymena, Ireland, and the highwaymen are a bad gang just arrived from Buffalo.

It was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and Dunbar was amusing himself on the wharf mentioned, admiring the Bay and the craft which dotted it. He had just returned his money to his pocket after counting it. His "pile" consisted of $1.54 and a draft for a small amount. He also had a ticket for Hamilton, where he was bound to join his brother, who has a farm near there. While he was thus feasting his eyes on the sparkling waters he was knocked down by a blow on the back of the head. The next moment three or four men rushed in and kicked and beat the prostrate immigrant, following up this brutal treatment by rifling his pockets. They got the money, the draft and the ticket. All this was the work of two or three minutes. When Dunbar recovered himself his assailants had disappeared.

The affair reached the ears of Policeman William Wallace, on duty at Union Station, and in less time than it takes to write it, he was sprinting westward along the Esplanade after a pair of suspicious looking characters. He overtook them at Peter-street. They proved to be two of the bold highwaymen and the officer arrested them. They showed fight and struck Wallace, but on finding that he was getting the better of them they played off drunk and would not budge. The policeman clapped on the handcuffs and carted them off to St. Andrew's Market Station, where their names were entered as George Hines and Thomas McGoffin.

In the meantime Acting Detective Slemin procured from Dunbar a description of his other three assailants, and that officer in turn described them to Policeman George Reburn, who had come to Union Station to relieve Wallace. Reburn kept his weather eye open, and about 5.30 spotted two of the gang close to the scene of their crime. The officer arrested, handcuffed and brought them to Headquarters without trouble. They proved to be Wm. Wood and James Daly, also from Buffalo. A fully charged revolver and a box of cartridges were found on Daly; also $10.95 in cash. Wood's wealth amounted to $1.26. Dunbar recognized a 10-cent piece taken from Daly as his; it had a peculiar nick in the side. At 7.45 Reburn captured the fifth of the gang. He gave his name as John Ryan, Buffalo being his hailing point.

The prompt arrest of this quintet is quite a feather in the helmets of Policemen Wallace and Reburn. If convicted the prisoners will doubtless be made to feel the strong arm of the law. They are of the toughest appearance and character.

A CONCLAVE OF JEWISH RABBIS.

An Important Gathering to Take Place Next Week in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, July 2.—The coming conclave of the rabbis of the Jewish Church of America, which will begin its deliberations in this city on Friday, July 8, will be one of the most important ever held in this country, and from the work already mapped out for action the results will undoubtedly have a lasting effect on the tenets of the followers of the Jewish faith in America. It is expected that there will be not less than 200 delegates in attendance, representing every State in the Union, and it will be representative of both the orthodox and reformed branches of the faith.

Not only will the most eminent rabbis be here, but they will also be accompanied by the Presidents and leading members of the largest congregations in the bigger cities. Among the men who have risen to eminence who are expected to take a leading part in molding the work of the conference are Rabbis Wise, of Cincinnati; Hirsch and Sale, of Chicago, and Rabbi Adler, of this city. The chief work of the convention will be to endeavor to reconcile all existing differences between the Jewish congregations and place them on the same level with regard to forms, ceremonies and observances.

MILAN AND HIS QUEEN.

The Servian Monarch's Infidelities the Cause of Scandals at Belgrade.

LONDON, July 2.—Scandals seem to be the order of the day, and that at Belgrade seems to be the prettiest one of all. Queen Natalie, who left Belgrade for Russia in consequence of her husband's infidelities, has been staying for some time at the Czar's summer residence of Yalta. The King, in deadly fear of being murdered like his predecessor or kidnaped like Prince Alexander, has withdrawn to Vienna, where he is staying at the Emperor's palace.

Queen Natalie has now signified her intention of returning to Belgrade, whereupon the King telegraped in all haste to his Prime Minister, Ristics, not to allow the Queen to set her foot in the kingdom. M. Ristics, however, who is not only a pronounced Russophile, but has also been guilty of the most flagrant and almost public relations with the Queen during the past three years, has refused to obey his master's orders. Meanwhile Queen Natalie sends back all her husband's letters unopened and openly advises his removal from the throne in favor of her 12-year-old son, who is with her. Altogether there is as pretty a state of things at Belgrade at the present moment as could be well imagined.

German Sympathy for England.

BERLIN, July 2.—Queen Victoria's jubilee could not have been more warmly sympathized with by Germany or Austria had it been in honor of their own monarchs. All classes evinced the deepest interest in the event and this feeling arose less, especially in the higher political circles, from the royal relationship between Germany and England than from a desire to see England hand-in-hand with the central European powers to counteract the increasing restlessness of France and Russia.

The Peaceful Paths of Arbitration.

LONDON, July 2.—Over 100 English, Scotch and Welsh members of the House of Commons have signed a memorial to the President and Congress of the United States in favor of offering all Anglo-American disputes to arbitration for settlement. It is probable that a deputation of members of the House of Commons will be sent to Washington to present the memorial to Mr. Cleveland.

The First Sod Turned.

WINNIPEG, July 2.—A crowd of 3000 turned out to-day to see Premier Norquay turn the first sod for a new Red River Valley Railway. There was much speech making, cheering and jubilation.

POPE LEO'S DIFFICULTIES.

THE VATICAN EMBARRASSED ON THE IRISH QUESTION.

The Land League Gathering Funds to Fight Against the Enforcement of the Crimes Bill—The Emigration Assuming Colossal Proportions.

LONDON, July 2.—The fighting gang of the Irish party have again, after a very hard struggle, given way to the counsels of Gladstone, Parnell and McCarthy and gave no signs of life when on Thursday night the amendments standing opposite their names were brought before the House by the Chairman of Committees. There is no doubt that by so doing they pursued the wisest course possible. Nothing could be gained by prolonging the battle. The bill has been passed through the report stage and on Tuesday or Thursday next comes up for its third and final reading before becoming a statute.

The Irish Land Bill, amended beyond all recognition, will likewise be brought down from the House of Lords to the House of Commons during the coming week and will probably become law within the next fortnight.

It may safely be predicted that two weeks hence Ireland will be plunged into something very much approaching civil war. The Land League work and the plan of campaign are gathering in funds for a terrible struggle against the provisions of the two bills, and the fight will be a bitter one. So thoroughly convinced of this are the Irish people that the emigration has assumed phenomenally colossal proportions during the last two weeks. It seems as if there were hardly steamers enough to convey those who are hurrying away.

Never before has Pope Leo XIII. been in so difficult a position, and it will require far greater diplomacy even than that displayed in the Culturkampft and the Caroline Island incident, in order to extricate the Vatican from its difficulties in connection with the Irish question. On the one hand the English Catholics, consisting mainly of immensely wealthy landed proprietors, such as the Duke of Norfolk, the Marquis of Bute, etc., have joined the Salisbury Government in demand that the Pope should cause the Irish prelacy and clergy to abandon their hostility to the Irish policy of the Government, and to withdraw their sanction and approval of the plan of campaign of the Land League, and, in fact, of the whole Nationalist policy. On the other hand, the Irish prelacy and clergy feel most deeply on the subject of the Irish question.

With a view of gaining time, the Pope decided to send a special mission, consisting of two favorite prelates, to Ireland for the purpose of obtaining an unprejudiced view of the whole question. This move was thoroughly approved of by the English Catholics, but strongly objected to by the Irish bishops, who considered that it showed a lack of confidence on the part of the Vatican. Mgr. Salla, the Papal Nuncio to the jubilee festivities, who has been staying the whole of the past fortnight at the Duke of Norfolk's house in London, however, insisted on their dispatch, and accordingly they are on their way to Ireland.

If they make a report favorable to the Irish prelates and clergy, the Vatican will entredge the large, wealthy and important body of English Catholics and also the British Government. If, on the other hand, the report is condemnatory of the Nationalist cause, in that case there is every prospect of a secession en masse of the Irish priesthood and people from the Church of Rome. Should there ever be a secession it would be far-reaching and its influence would be felt severely in the United States, where the Irish constitute the vast majority of the supporters of the Church of Rome.

Churchill and the Spalding Election.

LONDON, July 3.—In a speech yesterday Lord Randolph Churchill deplored the result of the election in Spalding, but yet did not consider its import alarming. Perhaps, he said, the Liberal Unionists had relied too much upon their strength in Parliament and the great combination of their leading men. The Spalding election might prove a blessing in disguise, for if ground was lost any where the Liberal Unionists must make strenuous efforts to recover it.

The Gladstonians Gain a Seat.

LONDON, July 2.—In the Parliamentary election to fill the vacancy in the Spalding Division of Lincolnshire the Gladstonians have gained a seat: Their candidate, Mr. Halley Stewart, defeated Mr. Tryon, the Conservative and Liberal-Unionist nominee, by a vote of 5110 to 4503. In the last election Mr. Stewart was defeated by the Hon. M. E. G. Finch-Hatton, Conservative, by a majority of 288, the vote being 4561 to 4272. In the recent election the vote was 630 larger, and the Gladstonian candidate's majority is 767.

ARRESTED AT MONTREAL.

A Young Swindler from Massachusetts Taken in Charge.

MONTREAL, July 2.—A fashionably dressed young fellow, resembling a university student, was arrested to-day on a charge preferred by Mr. Iles, manager of the Windsor Hotel, on a charge of forgery and fraud. He arrived about a week ago and registered as T. P. Hall, New York. He lived high, spent lots of money and entertained like a lord. On Monday he informed the manager that his name was not Hall but Walker Blaine; that he was the eldest son of James G. Blaine, and that his object in registering as he did was to avoid the newspaper reporters and interviews. He showed letters purporting to be from Blaine and a draft for $1000. This he drew against at the Bank of Montreal. He gave checks signed Walker Blaine, which were cashed at the hotel, and purchased largely of jewelry throughout the city. Altogether his frauds foot up to thousands of dollars. He was identified by a New Yorker here as Herbert Taylor, son of Ethan Taylor of Worcester, Mass., and as soon as he saw his game was up, he prepared to skip, taking peaceable on the outgoing steamer for Europe. His flight was nipped in the bud and now he is behind the bars.

A Good Day in Chicago.

In Brief, And To The Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature. The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

TRANS-ATLANTIC LANDLORDISM.

One of the great faults of the many of the Dominion Government is that they will learn no lessons from the experience of the past—no lessons from history. Their misgovernment brought on a rebellion in Manitoba in 1870; ignoring this lesson, their misgovernment brought on the North West rebellion in 1885. Yet still ignoring this lesson, the Dominion Government are oppressing Manitoba with a determination to carry out their political schemes regardless of consequences, which, at the present outlook, threaten to be of portentious gravity. History and the present lamentable consequences of landlordism in the old country, especially in Ireland,—consequences which threaten to involve the integrity of the empire—have also their lessons. Yet our so called rulers have been and are taking a course which is fastening the curse of landlordism on this country. Their conduct in parcelling out the public domain, especially in the North West, has this inevitable tendency; chimerical colonization companies and terribly real land sharks and speculators are seized of public lands of immense area for nominal payments, or as rewards for dirty work done for the Tory party. When the intending settler seeks to settle in some eligible site, convenient to the facilities of civilization—a good market or railway conveniences—he finds that some favored corporation or individual has been there before him and that he must either become a tenant or take a holding far removed from civilization. If landlordism is a curse in Great Britain and Ireland it will not lose any of its evil qualities by being transplanted to Canadian soil. The same evil has been introduced in the United States, and an exchange the Montreal Post, dealing with the subject, makes the following remarks:

"Alarmed by the atrocities perpetrated in Ireland in the name of law, several States in the American Union have legislated with a view to the destruction of landlordism. The Legislature of Illinois has enacted a novel land law, which provides that persons holding land in that State must become naturalized American citizens within six years or forfeit their land at the end of that period. This law is especially aimed at the notorious William Scully, an English Irishman, who owns the greater part of Logan county, and rents his lands to farmers on the English plan. The great mistake was made at first by the Government in permitting its lands to be gobbled up in large tracts by foreigners, whose only purpose could have been to reduce the United States to a level with Ireland. The present policy of the government should have been adopted long ago; to reserve public lands to actual settlers. The fight for self-preservation has commenced none too early or too vigorously. With the attention of the people once called to the matter, some remedy doubtless will be found for the evil. But an ounce of prevention would have been worth a pound of cure at any time. The United States have never been in such great distress as to warrant the disposal of its broad acres to any one, especially to foreign capitalists.

An American paper recently gave a list of foreign landowners and the amount of land held by them. As it is both interesting and instructive we append it here:—

GLADSTONE BANQUETED.

The Ex-Premier Speaks at a Dinner Given by Sir Joseph Penne.

LONDON, July 2.—Sir Joseph Penne gave a banquet at his house to-night in honor of Gladstone. The ex-Prime Minister made a long speech, which was chiefly an elaborate criticism of the speeches of Lord Hartington at Manchester and Blackburn. In his opening he referred to the Spalding victory, which, he said, showed the value of faith and patience in the present crisis. Lord Hartington had said the crisis was serious and grave, and in this opinion Gladstone agreed with him. Parliament was not even allowed to discuss the question of Home Rule, but was confined to the consideration of the Coercion bill. Lord Hartington had proposed a grand committee to consider the Irish question but excluded therefrom the Irish organizations.

It was imperative that the Government submit to Parliament proposals relative to Ireland. If they conceded to Ireland the management of her own affairs the Liberal party would frankly and fairly consider their proposals. Ireland is stronger now on the home rule question than ever. First, her constituencies, under the Liberal Franchise Act, had a voice; second, the elected members were able to speak their country's wishes; third, an ever-increasing and active force in England was in favor of Home Rule. This triple cord was unbreakable, and it would float the ship of state into the harbor of security, honor and repose.

"I am glad," he said, "that Lord Hartington admits that we are still in the midst of a serious and grave crisis because the Unionist party appear to concur that if Ireland is not disturbed by crime there is no Irish question at all, and that nobody need trouble about Ireland. The crisis is a double one. There is a crisis in Ireland when, after sending here a large representation, we trample under foot the whole wishes and conviction of her people as expressed by five-sixths of their members. The second crisis is the reduction of Parliament to paralysis and impotence. We have reached such a point that not only does Ireland monopolize the time of Parliament but Parliament is incapable of dealing with the whole Irish question. Home Rule is the first Irish controversy, but no one attempts to prosecute it within the House. During weeks and months hardly a word has been said on this fundamental principle. Lord Hartington warns Parliament against Home Rule outside of the House because he does not want to impede coercion. I ought to answer him in the Commons, but if I did every Tory journal in London would descant on the new machinery obstruction. [Hear, hear.]

"We are forbidden to say a word on the most vital point on the question and are confined to the most immaterial—corner by the framing of a coercion bill to put down the liberties of Ireland. This inability of Parliament to have Ireland's wishes and wants discussed in a practical manner constitutes a crisis which will prevent the country from going asleep on the subject. We propose, under the cover of Imperial supremacy, to grant Ireland real and effective management of local and exclusively Irish affairs, with the same conviction with which we granted Home Rule to the colonies. If Hartington's grand committee is appointed and his proposals made, whether we consider them sufficient or not, they will be considered in a candid, friendly spirit, with a disposition to do justice to the people of both England and Ireland and release Parliament and the country from the deplorable and disgraceful dilemma in which it has been placed."

AFFAIRS IN FRANCE.

The Comte de Paris' Actions at St. Malo Give Offence.

LONDON, July 2.—In France matters are very far from wearing a satisfactory aspect, and the days of the Rouvier Ministry appear to be numbered. The Cabinet have given grave offence to the Monarchial party, on which it relied for its working majority, by refusing to take into consideration certain views in connection with the Army Bill and the split is intensified by the Comte de Paris' visit to Jersey, where, under the protection of the English flag and within sight of the French coast, he is holding a meeting of his followers, who leave St. Malo and other northern ports at almost every hour of the day for Jersey, in steamers specially chartered for the purpose. For the first time the Comte de Paris seemed to be emerging from the cockle-shell and to lay aside the role of Le Roi fainéant.

Young Men Liable to Military Duty.

PARIS, July 2.—The Chamber of Deputies has agreed that youths of 20, liable under the present laws to military duty, may upon request have the date of their entry postponed a year, and possibly two years, if the time is required for the completion of studies, apprenticeship, etc. A third and even fourth year may be allowed university students, students of seminaries, pupils of Catholic colleges and those of certain technical schools.

A HUSBAND'S MURDEROUS ATTACK.

TORONTO, July 4.

Pearl-street was the scene of a shooting affray Saturday afternoon. About four o'clock David Robb entered his house at No. 63, accompanied by Alexander Nicholson. "So you are home," was his wife's greeting. "Yes," says Robb, who was partly intoxicated and in a quarrelsome mood, "and a little too soon for you." Then some warm words and a quarrel ensued, the husband becoming dangerously excited. Mrs. Robb, who is credited by her neighbors with being respectable and hard-working, tried to pacify him, but her efforts only intensified his passion.

With an oath the enraged man flew up the stairs, and when he came down a few minutes later he flourished a revolver. "Stand aside," he cried to Nicholson, "for I'm going to shoot her." The woman heard him and started for the back yard. Robb rushed after her, and as he reached the open kitchen door fired. Mrs. Robb was just entering the woodshed, twenty yards distant, and the ball struck her immediately under the right elbow and came out on the upper side.

Neighbors who heard the pistol report hurried in, while the would-be wife murderer disappeared. Dr. C. H. Cooke, of 178 King-street, was summoned. The doctor dressed the wound and telephoned to Police Headquarters of the affair. Detective McGrath and Policeman John Ross went to Pearl-street immediately. Robb could not be found in his house. Leaving Ross in charge there, McGrath got a description of Robb and started out in search of him. Within fifteen minutes the detective found his man drinking beer in the barroom of Montgomery's Hotel, York and Pearl streets. Robb offered no resistance when the officer took him in charge. In the street the prisoner made a dive for his pocket, only to be detected by McGrath in the act of drawing his revolver for the purpose, it is presumed, of throwing it away.

Robb was locked up at headquarters. He is 37 years of age, a laborer, and generally of a good natured and peaceable disposition. "Too much drink" probably accounts for his murderous attack on his wife. She was reported to be doing well yesterday. Robb is her second husband.

A Minister Held on a Grave Charge.

SCRANTON, PA., July 2.—The Rev. Peter Roberts, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church here, was arrested to-day on a charge of conspiring to procure an abortion on a woman he had deceived. The woman was Anna Husabol. She states that she made Roberts' acquaintance while serving in the capacity of a domestic of a New Haven family, he at the time being a student in the Yale Theological College. Roberts was held in $1600 bail for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court.

Atchison's Source of Revenue.

ST. JOSEPH, MO., July 2.—The closing of the saloons in Atchison has cut off a most profitable source of revenue, amounting to thousands of dollars a year, and as a result the city has not revenue enough to keep going. Yesterday the police force with the exception of the Marshal and one officer was suspended from duty. The Mayor has also notified the firemen that their services will be dispensed with. The gas and electric lights will also be shut off to-day.

A Hot Day in New York.

NEW YORK, July 2.—The thermometer registered 94 in the shade at 3 p.m. Heat prostrations are numerous.

C. K. Testimony.

The testimonials we publish may be verified by any person who may doubt their truthfulness.

ELGIN, Dec. 18.—We, the undersigned, have used NERVILINE in our families as prepared by N. C. Polson & Co., of Kingston, Ont., and certify that it never fails to give relief in colds, coughs, and rheumatic pains, and we have no hesitation in recommending it to the public. W. PENNOCK, Postmaster, Elgin; HENRY W. WARREN; ELIZA POWELL, Elgin; CEPHAS BROWN, South Crosby.

Ten cent trial bottles may be purchased at any drug store. Polson's Nerviline, the never-failing pain cure. Try it now. 6dw27

Get the Best.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the best, most prompt and safest cure for cholera morbus, dysentery, sick stomach, cramps, colic and cholera infantum that has yet been discovered. Its popularity is undisputed by age. All medicine dealers sell it. 2w27d

The End of the Jubilee Festivities.

LONDON, July 2.—The jubilee festivities may be said to have been brought to a close practically by the Queen's most successful garden party at Buckingham Palace on Wednesday. Nearly all the foreign royalties started for the Continent as soon as it was over. The guests numbered over 5000. The expenses of entertaining all the sovereigns and princes from abroad during the past two weeks is borne entirely by the Queen's privy purse, and is estimated at $250,000, if not more.

Died of His Injuries.

MONTREAL, July 2.—Mr. J. C. McLaren, leather merchant, who was thrown from his buggy about two weeks ago, died to-day from the effects of the injuries. The late Mr. McLaren at one time represented one of the wards in the City Council.

A boy named Gideon Gariepy, residing with his parents on Notre Dame-street, was drowned in the river to-day when in bathing.

A Missionary From the West.

HAMILTON, July 2.—The Right Hon. Rev. Dr. Anson, brother of the Earl of Litchfield, and Bishop of Qu'Appelle, is on a visit to this city, and is the guest of Rev. Dr. Mackridge. He preached in Christ Church Cathedral to-day, morning and evening. Dr. Anson has voluntarily undertaken missionary work at Qu'Appelle without a stipend.

A Trip Around the World.

NEW YORK, July 2.—W. K. Vanderbilt and family, consisting of his wife, daughter and two sons, and Messrs. W. S. Hoyt, H. W. Gray, F. O. Beach and Dr. Eugene Fuller, intimate friends, sailed to-day on Mr. Vanderbilt's yacht Alva, for a cruise around the world. The trip will occupy about eighteen months, and will cost $15,000 per month.

The Lockout at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 2.—After two days' effort a moderator was finally agreed upon this evening by the joint arbitration committee of the Bricklayers' Union and Master Masons' Association. Judge Tuley of the Cook County Circuit Court Bench, is the man. He has consented to act and the work of settling the great lockout in the building trade is expected to begin in earnest on Monday.

The Outcome of a Drunken Quarrel.

ELMIRA, N.Y., July 2.—A despatch to The Tidings from Towanda, Pa., states that this afternoon Rode Moe, an auctioneer, was shot by Dr. Lyon of Franklindale. It seems that both were slightly intoxicated. A slight misunderstanding ensued about some money, during which Lyon shot Moe through the heart and then committed suicide.

Strikers' Riot at Bolton.

LONDON, July 2.—The strike among the Bolton factory hands has reached an acute phase. The men who came to Bolton to take the places of the strikers, quit work in a body to-day, and one firm closed its mills because of the rioting against it, and threw 1500 hands out of work. None of these were connected with the strikers. To-day ten rioters were sent to prison for a month.

Failure of an Iowa Cattle Firm.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 2.—Clark Brothers, for many years prominent cattle feeders of Dexter, Ia., have turned all their property over to their creditors. Their liabilities will probably exceed $100,000. The depreciation in the price of cattle for the last few years is the main cause of the misfortune.

Aid for the Chicago Anarchists.

LONDON, July 2.—The United Socialist clubs of London are arranging a big excursion to Epping Forest on July 10 and will send the proceeds to Chicago to relieve the Anarchists, who are under sentence of death.

Davitt to Stump Scotland.

DUBLIN, July 2.—Michael Davitt has started to stump Scotland on the Irish question. He will afterwards go on a stumping tour through London and the north of England.

Just Like Tweed.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Jacob Sharp passed a restless night. He is growing weaker. His family spent much of the day with him, and at times he fell into a lethargic state.

London Stock and Money Market.

LONDON, July 2.—A firmer tone prevailed on the Stock Exchange during the latter part of the week, under the belief that the stringency in New York money would soon vanish. American securities were firm.

Yellow Fever at Key West.

KEY WEST, Fla., July 3.—There have been five new cases of fever since yesterday, but no deaths. The record stands now—Total cases to date, 63; deaths, 21; discharged cured, 12; sick now, 30.

The Triumphant Three.

"During three years suffering with dyspepsia I tried almost every known remedy but kept getting worse until I tried B.B.B. I had only used it three days when I felt better, three bottles completely cured me." W. Nichols, of Kendal, Ont. 2w27d

Salt Rheum Cured.

McGregor and Parke's Carbolic Cerate has been tried and found to be the only positive cure for Salt Rheum, Pimples, Blotches on the face or hands, Cuts, Burns, Bruises, or any Sore that nothing else will heal. Try McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. 25c. per box at John McKee's Drug Store. eodw27

Power of the Press.

A bullet aimed at a St. Louis young lady lodged in her newspaper bustle, and she was uninjured. And yet some persons argue that the power of the press is waning.

Worth Remembering.

In a long letter from John H. Hall, of Baddick, Cape Vincent, N. S., he says: "I believe were it not for Burdock Blood Bitters I should be in my grave. It cured me of kidney and liver complaint and general debility, which had nearly proved fatal." 2w27d

I can safely recommend Ely's Cream Balm for the cure of Catarrh, Cold in the Head, etc. Before I have used the first bottle I purchased I find myself cured. At times I could scarcely smell anything and had a headache most of the time.—HENRY LILLY, Agent for the American Express Co., Grand Haven, Mich.

Ely's Cream Balm cured me of Catarrh of many years standing—restored my sense of smell. For colds in the head it works like magic.—E. H. SHERWOOD, National State Bank, Elizabeth, N. J. eodw27

Like Magic.

"It always acted like magic, I had scarcely ever need to give the second dose of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaints." Mrs. Walter Gosenlock, of Ethel, Ont. 2w27d

The Boy and the Canoe.

The booms in Little Lake are a source of annoyance to boating parties. There is only one place where it is possible to get through and that with much trouble. Sunday afternoon a lone youth in a canoe was passing through the space, but mismanaged his craft and was dumped into the water. He bobbed up serenely though, a broad smile illuminating his dripping countenance, and after pulling himself up on the boom and unloading his canoe of water once more pursued his way. Such little instances, fortunately of no serious nature, occur every day.

Accident at Stirling.

A horrible accident occurred at Stirling Wednesday, resulting in the instant death of Mr. John Graham, aged about forty-five. Graham owned the iron foundry opposite the Scott House, and when the accident happened he was working at an emery wheel. When revolving at a terrific rate the wheel broke, pieces of which flew in every direction. One piece about six inches square passed right through Graham's abdomen. The other workmen stopped the machinery and carried Mr. Graham home, where he expired in a short time. The accident caused a deep feeling of regret throughout the village. Deceased was a married man with a family.

A Fall in Wheat.

About 8 o'clock this morning a car of wheat which was being shunted off the Grand Junction track to the Otonabee flour mills, Ashburnham, met with disaster. It was sent spinning over the line leading to the mill, and on nearing its destination the brakesman tried to put on the brakes, but, finding them useless, jumped to the ground and let the car take its course. At the mill it swept away the bulkhead and leaped down the ten-foot retaining wall to the roadway beneath with a crash. The car was broken squarely in too and the wheat scattered about profusely. Only one-half of the car, however, fell to the roadway, the other half remained on the track of the siding.

Our Neighbours' National Day.

This is the Fourth of July, a high day of jubilation among our Yankee cousins, and in town it was to be noticed that those of Uncle Sam's subjects living with us, commemorated the day. Here and there might be seen flags bearing the stars and stripes waving freely in the free air of Canada. And it is right and proper that it should be so. A man who will not love his country, whether he be at home or abroad, does not deserve to have a country. The Yankees boast with good cause of their great country, its vast extent, its commerce, its immense advantages. They may "lay over" the Cannucks in some things, but there is one thing in which we can "lick creation." In all the broad United States there is not to be found such gigantic bargains as are offered at gough's great cheap sale of $18,500 worth of goods, bought for 40 cents on the $. Nowhere on earth can such bargains in first-class ready-made clothing be got. Go to gough's and get great gain in big bargains. george street, peterborough.

A Military Episode.

Peterborough Troop of the Third Regiment of Cavalry returned to town Saturday morning highly pleased with their outing at the Kingston camp. They say that the camp was one of the pleasantest and quietest ever held there. Not a single member of the troop saw the inside of the guard-house during their stay, a fact which speaks volumes for the men. This excellent state of affairs is attributed mainly to Lieut-Col. H. C. Rogers, who was in command of the regiment. He is exceedingly popular among all the men, and is one of the best officers the camp ever saw. Dr. A. R. Stephenson, V.S., is also popular in his troop. While in camp he offered a prize of $5 for the best shooting by the three troops of the regiment. It was won by the Peterborough troop. At three o'clock Saturday afternoon the officers of the Peterborough troop, Lieut-Col. Rogers and Dr. Stephenson, treated the troopers to a dinner at Snowden's Hotel. Lieut.-Col. Rogers occupied the chair and Dr. Stephenson the vice-chair. "The Queen's" toast was proposed, and replied to by the chairman and vice-chairman, followed by three hearty cheers from the entire company. A vote of thanks was passed to the Col. and Doctor for the entertainment provided for the troop, to which both gentlemen responded happily.

St. Andrew's Anniversary.

Eloquent Sermons by Rev. Principal Grant, of Kingston.—Anniversary Services.

One year ago this new St. Andrew's Church was dedicated to the worship of God, and the first anniversary services were held on Sunday, 3rd inst., Rev. Principal Grant, of Queen's University, preaching the sermons. The beautiful and spacious church was filled both morning and evening. He chose for his morning text: Genesis xxviii, 17:—

"This is none other than the house of God; this is the gate of heaven."

What kind of a house was this referred to? It was no chapel nor cathedral. It was a bare, bleak, lonely spot, where a lonely, homeless, and landless man had laid himself down the night before to sleep. It was on the road leading through central Palestine. The traveller had been journeying a foot all day long, feeling far from comfortable, for he was fleeing from home, knowing that his father was displeased and his brother exceedingly angry. Wearied with his long journey, he sank down to rest in the nearest place which offered. Had he climbed the surrounding hills he would have had a view of the magnificent country spread out on all sides. But he does not; as he lies down to rest the last impression made on his drowsy senses is the clear vault of heaven overhead, and surrounding him the pillars and rocks, standing like sentinels. In his sleep he sees angels coming down from heaven on a broad staircase and telling him that God cares for him, that God would guide him and bless him, and that the land in which he was now wandering would be the heritage of himself and his family. He awakes—no sign of the staircase or the angels—everything is prosaic and practical in the cold grey dawn of the morning. Had one of us of the present day been in that position, we would have said Oh! it was only a dream. Not so Jacob. He took it to be a revelation from God. Now, was he justified in assuming it to be a genuine revelation? We can take all the visions and dreams mentioned in the Bible and explain them away by arguing that the subjects of the dreams had no right to believe in them as anything else than dreams, and not revelations. But if Jacob's dream was really a revelation, all the others may be too. What reason have we to doubt that God can tell to us by dreams and visions as by other means? Then, this is an important question,—was Jacob justified in believing this to be a genuine revelation? He began by assuming it to be genuine, and lived as the revelation indicated, saying to himself that he would follow out the promptings of the vision and if his after life proved to be as the vision implied, then it would be a complete verification to him of the genuineness of the revelation. From that day out his actions showed that he believed thoroughly in the vision. His full conversion did not take place just then, but he could look back upon his life and say: "that was a true promise God gave me"; and he was guided by faith, and thus verified the dream. We have a basis to rest upon that Jacob had not, and Christianity is verified to us by history and experience. Christianity is a civilization of Christendom on which human hopes are based. Thus each individual who now trusts himself to Christ is certain not to be put to shame, when he thinks of Jacob's faith upon such a slender gleam of light, and his own greater knowledge and opportunities; and as Jacob's faith was verified, if we trust ourselves upon Christ, we will not be put to shame. Christianity is verified and established the same as morality. How do we establish morality? Our consciences say "don't"; but our senses say: "I can cheat and never be found out." If a man obeys his conscience, he is elevated by it, if he obeys his passions, is he not degraded and lost? Thus morality is verified by experience. So with Christianity. Trust Christ and he will vindicate your faith.

Next look at the particular spot where he had this vision. What view did he take of it? His views were determined by his impressions of God. He localized God to the place. This, he said, is none other than God's house, and thus in after years he felt that God was nearer to him there than anywhere else. In his old age he and his children journeyed to Bethel, and built there an altar, and called the place El Bethel, because God dwelt there. In after years it was looked upon by all the people as a sacred place. We find in the book of Judges, that after the Israelities had chosen a place whereon to set the ark of the covenant, they changed the place for a while to Bethel, and when the eleven tribes leagued against that of Benjamin, they held counsel at Bethel. The prophet Hosea alludes to the great sanctity of Bethel. But, you say, haven't we got far beyond that? We cannot believe that God was nearer there than anywhere else. We don't wonder at Jacob's conceptions, but haven't we got beyond these ideas? Surely we now know that God is a spirit and that there is no special place of worship. Yes, we have a wider view of God than Jacob, but, the preacher said, he wished to point out that all that was essential in Jacob's faith should be retained by us. Suppose, for instance, a man referred to a street corner and said: "there I had a revelation of God's love; there I first felt that I was safe in God, I never afterwards could pass that spot without praying God to continue to bless me." Everyone would understand that. The idea that God wishes to impose upon us is that everywhere at anytime he is ever ready to hear our prayers; but if there is one place where he had specially revealed himself to us, would not that spot have a relative sacredness to us? So now, though we have got beyond Jacob's standpoint in this matter, we still retain his views and feelings. One house, one barn, one store, every place full of God, in every place we are near God. So, too, in the same way with the sign that Jacob gave of his faith in God. We do not deny that it was the right of Jacob to give a tenth of all his possessions to God, and the Rev. Principal said he held it an awful disgrace if we, who know God so much better, and for whom His own Son died, do not do more than the poor, miserable, half converted Jew, Jacob. And yet there are so-called Christians who do not come up to his standard. We hold all that is valuable in Jacob's views, but surely we have got beyond it, surely we will say we will give all to God, we will give all to be placed where it will do the most good.

On this anniversary Sunday, which represents not only the building of this church, but the old house of God, shall we not gladly dedicate all we have and are to God. Only then will God take us to himself and call us blessed.

The evening service attracted an unusually large congregation. No services were held in St. Paul's church to allow of its members hearing the celebrated preacher at St. Andrew's.

The musical portion of the services was excellent. Under the leadership of Mr. Gallately the singing of the choir, augmented as it was by several voices from the George street church and other choirs, was exceptionally good. Miss Caron handled the large organ skilfully.

This evening a meeting will be held in the church, at which the Rev. Principal Grant will deliver an address. Tea will be served in the school room by the ladies.

The Hot Spell.

There must have occurred a gigantic landslide within the past few days. That this part of the country has slipped down near the equator is the only way of accounting for the horribly hot weather of the past five days. To-day, at two o'clock, the themometer registered 94° in the shade, which is melting—but the themometer, like words, is too weak to indicate the thermal condition of the elements and the state of flabby suffering to which mortals are subject. If there were not a merciful breeze abroad the community would suffer from coup de soleil and calorific collapse.

An Esteemed Citizen.

Says the Cobourg World:—At the King street Methodist Church prayer meeting, Tuesday evening, Mr. James Edgecombe who is leaving town to settle in Peterborough, was presented with two very beautiful pieces of silver ware. Rev. Mr. Copeland in making the presentation, in the name of the Church, said, that his (Mr. Edgecombe's) place in the choir and Sunday School, would with great difficulty be filled. He (Mr. Copeland) was sorry to part with so worthy and helpful a brother, he hoped the Divine blessing would follow him, and the Spirit of usefulness inspire him in his new home in Peterborough. Mr. Edgecombe was taken quite by surprise; but made a very happy reply. He referred to his pleasant associations with the choir, the Sunday School and the Church. He felt sorry in leaving the society of the Church, in which he has felt so much at home. he would not forget them, thanked them for the very beautiful present, and hoped that all might be associated never to part in the future world. Messrs. Thos. Clarke, Mr. Edgecombe, class leader, Thos. Gillbard, Superintendent of the Sunday School, and W. H. Hopper, choir leader, spoke in complimentary terms of Mr. Edgecombe as a citizen, a Christian and a Church worker, expressing regret at his removal and kind wishes for the future welfare of himself and family.

GOSSIP OF THE CAPITAL.

THREE TORONTO FIRMS GET GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS.

Mr. Ridout, Government Inspector of Bridges, to Report on the King-street Crossing—Sir John Macdonald on His Way Westward.

OTTAWA, July 4.—Another Cabinet Council was held to-day at which Sir John, Hon. Messrs. Pope, White, McLelan, Costigan and Carling were present, all the other ministers being out of town. It is understood that only routine business was transacted.

The time for receiving tenders for a ten-year contract for carrying the mails between Canada and Great Britain expired to-day. Only two tenders were received, which are supposed to be from the Allan and Dominion Lines acting together and from the Canadian Pacific Railway, but of course this is not known positively. It is expected that the matter will be settled in a few days.

The Public Works Department has let three contracts to Toronto firms for works in connection with the examining warehouse, the total amount involved being about $15,000. The successful tenderers, all of whom were the lowest, are: John Fensom, for elevators; Inglis & Hunter, engine and boiler; John Fletcher, for alterations and additions.

The time for receiving tenders for the second section of the Cape Breton Railway expires to-morrow. A number of contractors are here and it is expected that there will be a great many tenders.

Collingwood Schreiber leaves to-morrow on a tour of inspection over the Intercolonial and Cape Breton Railways.

Mr. Ridout, Government Inspector of Bridges, a gentleman who has inspected nearly every railway bridge in Canada approved by the Government, has been instructed to visit Toronto and report upon the Kingston-road crossing for the information of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council. He goes immediately.

Mayor Howland lectured on "Neglected Children" in St. Andrew's Church to-night. In spite of the heat there was a large attendance.

Hon. Mr. McLelan will be acting Minister of Finance during the absence of Sir Charles Tupper, who is expected back in October. He will also act as Minister of Customs while Mr. Bowell is away, and as Minister of Marine during Hon. Mr. Foster's trip down the Gulf.

Both candidates are out in Charlevoix. As previously intimated Mr. Simon Cimon, son of the late member, and editor of L'Echo des Laurentides, is the Conservative candidate, and a young lawyer named Anger is the Liberal nominee.

The receipts in the patent office last year were nearly $9000 more than in the preceding year, and the number of patents issued also largely increased.

It is understood that the Government has declined to entertain Mr. Kemper's proposal respecting the Intercolonial.

The Department of Agriculture has received advices which indicate that there will be an enormous crop throughout the Dominion.

The thermometer registered 98 in the shade this afternoon and several cases of prostration from heat are reported, but none fatal.

The Canada Gazette, which will not be issued until to-morrow, will contain the appointments of Edgar S. Sterling of the International Pier, Sydney Harbor, N.S., and Simon Riley of Annapolis, N.S., as port wardens of these ports. Also the appointment of William A. Dennis of Galt as a preventive officer of customs.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau returned to the city from Montreal to-night. He will probably sail for Europe on July 13.

Sir John left to-night for Toronto, where he will remain several days before returning to the capital.

The sale of postage stamps for the year ended June 30 aggregated over $[illegible],000, being more than $157,000 in excess of last year. This is the largest year [illegible] in the Postoffice, the increase being about 7½ per cent. over any previous year.

O'DONNELL AND THE TIMES.

Something Sinister Thought to Underlie the Action.

LONDON, July 4.—Something sinister is thought by many to underlie Mr. O[illegible]'s outbreak against The Times. Since Mr. Parnell caused his retirement from Irish politics he has been living quite [illegible] in health at a Brighton resort. He suddenly [illegible] he entered a libel suit against The Times, and purposes to summon Mr. Pigott and others to give evidence. It is thought that he will not be sorry at possibly damaging Parnell by compelling him to submit to cross-examination by The Times' counsel.

Cambridge Honors Sir Donald Smith.

MONTREAL, July 4.—Information has just been received here that Sir Donald Smith has received a fresh honor, having received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Cambridge University.

An Absconder's Liabilities.

LONDON, July 4.—It is said the liabilities of John Sibley, the some time past a private banker at Wardsville, foot up over $9000, for which the Molsons' Bank hold collaterals to cover that amount. His whereabouts has not been ascertained.

A $1000 Haul at Brockville.

BROCKVILLE, July 4.—The office of R. S. Chesbrough, dealer in fishing tackle, was burglarized [illegible] last night. The thieves after forcing an entrance, blew the safe and took from it $250 in cash and $1000 in checks and drafts.

MLLE. DE CAMPOS' FLIGHT.

A Sensation Which is Refurnishing the Cuisine of Paris with Much Palatable Food—How the "Count" Managed to Bear His Lady Love Away.

PARIS, July 4.—The story of the disappearance of Senorita Mercedes de Campos with M. Miolvaque has suffered some very material changes since it first startled and thrilled the Parisians. Some of the boldest heroes created by the elder Dumas were common-place fellows compared with the hidalgo, brigand or whatever he was who in broad daylight kidnapped in the Avenue de Bois de Boulogne the daughter of Martinez Campos himself, heiress to a million and a half—not of francs, but of dollars—a beauty of the perfect Creole type, and barely out of her teens. As the story first had it, this audacious unknown, aided by masked men, seized the young woman, thrust her into a private carriage and drove off at a rattling pace, leaving her astonished and circumvented duenna wringing her hands in despair.

There were two theories as to the identity of the bold abductor. One was that he was the young woman's divorced husband, the Count de San Antonio, son of Marshal Serrano. But this theory was generally rejected as being altogether too commonplace. The theory which seemed suitable and satisfactory was that the audacious deed had been done by a French nobleman who was deeply in love with Senorita de Campos, and who hoped by this coup to make an otherwise hopeless suit successful by placing the heiress in such a position that she and her family would consent to a marriage to avoid scandal. Of course he hoped ultimately to win her love in some way, even if she should be so cold-hearted as not to be won by the audacity of his first proceeding. Senorita de Campos's faithful and elderly companion, when she recovered from the stupor produced by the abduction, hastened to the house of a brother-in-law of the heiress, the Count de Cuas Monte, and by him she was hurried to the Prefecture of Police and thence to the Spanish Embassy. She told her story to the police, and was positive that the lady had been spirited away against her will. She did not believe that the abductor was the young Viscount, but was sure he was a villain of far deeper dye—a person whom she denounces to the police as having vowed that he would compel her mistress to marry him even if he had to compromise her, and she greatly feared that this person would try to ruin her reputation by boasting that he committed some odious action. The Count de Cuas Monte called upon Queen Isabella, in company with the Marquis de Galliffet, and the Queen promised to see that the crime should be thoroughly sifted.

The matter-of-fact and unromantic police were strongly inclined to the belief that the abduction of Senorita de Campos was not wholly involuntary on her part. The inspector who had charge of the matter was grieved to differ with Queen Isabella, but he discovered that the Senorita was not rudely torn from the side of the duenna, but was gently led to the carriage; that she did not raise her hands appealingly and exclaim: "I'm lost! I'm lost!" but appeared radiant and full of confidence; and that the abductor was one M. de la Cour-Garbeouf.

Making the best of it, the romance-loving Parisians gathered interesting material about the elopement of the heiress with "the Viscount de la Cour de Garbeouf," and the story came out in this shape: The young nobleman and aristocrat had fallen in love with Senorita de Campos upon seeing her in church at her devotions, but he had made better headway in his suit than the duenna knew. He had urged the lady to elope; she had hesitated, and, having hesitated, had virtually consented. It had been arranged that the elopement was to be given the semblance of an abduction. And if she was agreeable to the abduction at the time and from the spot named by the Viscount, she was to signal that fact by wearing white instead of black when she started out on that day with her duenna.

On the morning of the coup, the story had it, a groom on horseback was posted near the lady's house in the Rue Christophe Colombe, to take note of the color of the gown in which Senorita de Campos appeared with her inevitable duenna. When the groom saw that the lady was in white he put spurs to his horse and carried the intelligence to the anxious Viscount. Carriages and persons on horseback were waiting in the Avenue de Bois de Boulogne at the spot for the abduction; and a party of ladies and gentlemen, allies of the Viscount, were assembled to assist in this delightful romantic business. When Senorita de Campos arrived, strolling demurely with her watchful duenna, one of these allies of the nobleman approached the dame de compagnie and asked the privilege of a word with her. What then took place is told as follows: "At this moment the Viscount hurried out of his brougham, helped the lady into it, and drove off with her in the direction of Paris, escorted by a Baron, who rode by the side of the vehicle. The pair made the best of their way to St. Lazare Station, took the train for Pontoise, where they spent an hour, which was utilized by Mlle. Martinez de Campos in writing a letter to the Prefect of Police stating that she had gone away of her own free will and to escape from the tyranny of her duenna, and then pushed on to Creil, where they entered the Brussels express, reaching the Belgian capital at 10.30." According to this account "the gentleman's family, who reside at Versailles, have proceeded to Brussels to play propriety until the marriage shall come off." According to this story the ladies of quality who were present to assist the young nobleman merely surrounded the wretched duenna and explained to by-standers that she was a lunatic; but they seemed to be the same who, in an earlier story, surrounded the duenna and "showed her in a coarse manner."

At length, when the truth came out concerning the Viscount de la Cour de Garbeouf, it seemed that Don Jose Ruban Donadieu was quite safe in questioning the abductor's standing as a nobleman. It turns out that the man's name is Meilvaque. He had a grandmother whose family name was Garbeouf, and a still more remote ancestor of the name of Lacour; hence, "de la Cour de Garbeouf." The man himself lived for some time a Bohemian life in the Latin quarter, and afterwards was assisted—by Gambetta, it is said—to a place as clerk in the Chamber of Deputies, which employment he left some four months ago. A letter from Meilvaque has been received in Paris by a Miss. Pascal, who is his sister, in which he wrote that Senorita de Campos went with him of her own accord. This woman's husband has in his possession letters from a maid of Senorita de Campos, who acted as a messenger between the lady and her lover. It is not certain that the faithful duenna was not in the confidence of her mistress.

The present interest in this remarkable case lies in the fact that there is no question as to the identity of the young woman who is infatuated with the charms nobleman, and who, as it is reported by cable, sent instructions from London to have the banns of her marriage with Meilvaque published in Paris. According to Don Jose Ruban Donadieu the young woman's fortune is so placed that Meilvaque can get very little of it.

Fatal Sunstrokes.

PITTSBURG, July 3.—Five fatal cases of sunstroke were reported to-day.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

The Celebration Took the Usual Form of Parades, Speeches, Sports, Etc.

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 4.—Independence Day was celebrated much as usual. Despatches from nearly all the Northern cities speak of excessively hot weather. A few report early rains and in some cases, as in this city, a heavy shower fell in the late afternoon, bringing a much needed relief from the oppressive heat which has prevailed for a week past. The celebrations generally took the usual form of parades, fireworks, speeches and athletic and field sports of various kinds. The casualties are less numerous than was to be expected. Up to midnight to-night she reported list is:

Chas. Vandeusman and Mrs. Emma Churchill were killed at Albany. Their carriage was struck by a train.

SIR CHARLES' MOVEMENTS.

After the Marriage of His Son at Halifax He Will Sail for England.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 4.—Before leaving Halifax this week Sir Charles and Lady Tupper will witness the marriage of their son, W. J. Tupper of Winnipeg, to a daughter of Chief Justice Macdonald. The wife of Chas. H. Tupper, M.P. for Pictou, another son of Sir Charles, is also a daughter of the Chief Justice of Nova Scotia.

The Herald to-day, evidently speaking from an inspired source, says: "We understand that Sir Charles has definitely decided to sail for England from Rimouski in the Allan steamship Sardinia on July 14. During his absence we believe that he will transact business in London connected with the Finance Department, the portfolio of which he retains, and supervise the office of High Commissioner for Canada. We further understand that Sir Charles expects to return to the Dominion early in October next."

BURGLARS AT STRATHROY.

Three Tramps Who Were Suspected Threatened to Shoot an Officer.

LONDON, July 4.—On Saturday morning the residences of three residents of Strathroy were visited by burglars. Frank Evans' house was the first one attacked, and the thieves here secured a gold watch, valued at $65, and other articles. James Connell, a grain buyer, missed $9 in bills from his pants pocket on rising in the morning. The residence of J. B. Lawless was also visited, but Mrs. Lawless frightened the men off.

Three tramps were seen around the town during Dominion Day, and suspicion rested on them. Chief Miller and Fred Evans gave chase and overtook the party near Naira, lying asleep in a fence corner. An attempt was made to arrest them, but with the aid of their revolvers they kept the officer at bay, and subsequently escaped.

DE LESSEPS' OPINION.

France Will Not Allow England to Control Egypt.

LONDON, July 4.—De Lesseps is credited with saying to an interviewer recently: "If England does not clear out of Egypt," said he, "sooner or later she will have to fight France. I don't say that France will go to war at once. At present she may not be strong enough. But however weak she may be to-day, she is sure to rise again, and when she does rise England will have to settle accounts with her. It is a life or death question for France. She can never consent to England's capture of Egypt.

"If this Anglo-Turkish convention is signed," added M. de Lesseps, "the Sultan will lose his throne, for I have letters here announcing that a religious chief in Arabia is preparing a revolution."

HONORABLY ACQUITTED.

A Case Growing Out of the Failure of Morey & Co., Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, July 4.—Mayor Biggar and Ald. Anderson heard the evidence in the case against Donald Ketcome and George A. Landon, who were employes of Gordon, Morey & Co. When Gordon skipped out Mr. Landon, who had power of attorney, paid the local creditors with goods out of the store, and took a trunk of cigars to secure his own salary.

The court held that he had a right to the cigars, and in taking them he showed no criminal intent to defraud anyone, because he told Mr. Wallace that the cigars were Gordon, Morey & Co.'s. He desired the check made payable to bearer merely that he might garnishee the money. Mr. Landon was therefore honorably acquitted.

The Money Was Kept Nearer Home.

DURBAN, July 3.—President Kruger denies the report that the Irish assisted the Boers with money during the Transvaal war.

SHOT BY HIS MISTRESS.

A New Zealander Loses His Life at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—George Wesley Bishop, the elderly man who arrived in San Francisco from New Zealand in March last, and was to have returned thither on the steamship Alameda on Friday, but was shot on board the vessel by Mrs. Mary Von, died to-day. Shortly after Bishop's arrival here he became acquainted with Mrs. Von through a matrimonial agency, and she induced him to furnish a house and instal her as mistress of it. The connection grew irksome and Bishop, through an agent, brought suit against the woman to recover $290.90, the value of the furniture.

Judgment was given to the plaintiff, but Mrs. Von determined to appeal to the Supreme Court, contending that the furniture was hers by virtue of a compact between herself and the New Zealander, and that, moreover, he was indebted to her for magnetic treatment, of which school she is a disciple. Not being able to find Bishop to serve a notice of appeal upon, she watched the Australian steamer, and when he went aboard with his luggage on Friday shot him, as told in yesterday's World. The bullet passed under the floating ribs and lodged in the left side.

Bishop died this morning, and the woman was charged with murder. The deceased is said to have been the son-in-law of a New Zealander millionaire, his own income from rents being $9000 a year. The woman is not at all exercised over his death. She says she shot him so as to keep him here until the appeal case was decided.

LIGHT ON THE SUBJECT.

According to the best constitutional authority in Canada, that is to say, Hon. Oliver Mowat, the Dominion Government possesses the power, technically, of disallowing the bill of the Provincial Legislature, granting a charter to the Red River Railway Company. During an audience of the editor of the Winnipeg Sun, Hon. Mr. Mowat gave his opinion to that effect. He further pointed out that a large share of the blame of the present complication was the failure of the Manitoba and the Northwest to return opponents to the present Dominion Government. Manitoba is plucking the rather bitter fruit of running with the hare and hunting with the hounds. Her people and politicians, the latter especially, while naturally looking out for their own interests have schemed to play into the hands of the government. When Ontario was struggling in pursuit of her rights, to maintain her territorial integrity against the assaults of Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues, Manitoba became a confederate in the gang and did her best to despoil this province of her domain. In all Sir John's schemes against Ontario's provincial rights, Mr. Norquay, as premier of Manitoba, has been the former's faithful friend and subservient tool, little thinking, if as a Tory politician, he cared, that he was conspiring against the interests of his own province. Now, to use the slang of the day, "he knows how it is himself." So long as he could do so, without gravely imperilling his position, he clung to Sir John, even in his disallowance policy, but as the last popular indignation was too much for him and he and his colleagues had to succumb to popular demand. What Manitoba is reaping is only what it has sown. It would give its faith to Tory politicians, though long and loudly warned, and now we see the result. If at the last general election Manitoba, the North-west and British Columbia had pronounced against the present Ottawa government, it would surely have been overthrown and a new policy inaugurated. In place of the present retrograde system of governing the North-west a Liberal administration would have established a liberal policy of dealing with actual settlers and intending settlers, such as would have filled the country with immigrants. Liberal treatment would have been accorded to railway enterprises, monopoly would have been removed, and the country would have been receiving the benefit of the grand yet simple land policy of Hon. Mr. Blake, "The land for the people." However, right will yet be asserted and Manitoba will probably get the railway she wants. The Ottawa Government is determined to veto the provincial charter, yet there seems to be a way to overcome the effects of disallowance. Hon. Mr. Mowat, in the course of the conversation referred to, did not think disallowance would prevent the building of the railway. He said:—"In the first place, I understand the Province has General Railway Acts that have not been disallowed; under which it can construct the road in a way that would not leave any opportunity for interference. Again, the Dominion Government would not attempt forcible interference with settlers who were merely striving to provide themselves with competition under powers they possess, at all events, without support of a much stronger feeling in Eastern Canada than exists at the present time. But I hope that the matter may yet be arranged in a manner that will render competition unnecessary and that will be satisfactory to the people of the Province."

EXPATRIATED Canadians are reaching a respectable number in the United States. The following figures recently compiled show the strength of the Canadian element in the United States, and its rapid increase. As shown by the census return the result is as follows:

Census of 1860—Canadians in United States	249,970
Census of 1870—Canadians in United States	493,464
Census of 1886—Estimated	900,000

The most remarkable aspect of these figures is the notable increase that has taken place under the rule of the present Ottawa administration,

IT is not surprising that Sir Charles Tupper prefers the high commissionship to the portfolio of minister of finance. As high commissioner he draws $10,000 a year, with $3,600 or $4,000 for expenses, and has a palace to live in, whereas as finance minister he would receive only $8,000 a year, without any incidentals. Sir Charles can be trusted to look after number one.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Another Warrant for Editor Sheppard—Rumored Judicial Appointments.

Editor Sheppard's scalp is again being sought for. Constable Schultze of Montreal arrived here yesterday with another warrant for the editor's arrest, which, however, he was unable to execute, as the necessary endorsation of a local justice of the peace was not forthcoming. Several justices of the peace were requested to back the warrant, but refused on the same ground as Magistrate Denison. The Montreal constable paid his hotel bill last night and is believed to have returned home. Mr. Sheppard's equanimity was apparently undisturbed by the officer's efforts, as he was at his office during the day and was also seen round the streets.

It is reported on pretty good authority that the Chief Justiceship of the Common Pleas has been offered Mr. Justice Armour, and that Mr. H. G. Dalton, Q.C., Master in Chambers, will be offered one of the vacant judgeships. The name of Judge McDougall of the County Court has also been mentioned as a probable appointee.

The five Buffalonians who beat and robbed John Dunbar, the Irish immigrant, were yesterday committed for trial. Daly, the man with the loaded revolver, was fined $20 and costs or thirty days.

When David Robb's case was called in the Police Court yesterday, Mrs. Robb came to the front with her arm in a sling and said the shooting was accidental. Her story was that her husband brought a pistol down stairs to show to Alexander Nicholson. While they were examining the weapon, it went off and the bullet struck her in the right arm. Mrs. Robb told Dr. Cooke and the police an altogether different tale, but prisoner's counsel objected to the Doctor, who was called as a witness, repeating it, and the Court sustained the objection. At the request of the Crown, the Court remanded Robb until Thursday and refused bail. A charge of carrying firearms will be preferred against him in the meantime.

A sad accident occurred yesterday afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock at Queen's Wharf. A number of children were indulging in the dangerous amusement of playing on the logs of timber lying in the water. One of the youngsters, Harry Barton, of 224 Markham-street, aged 11 years, fell from one of the logs into the water and was at once drowned. His companions—a brother two years his junior, John Hancock and Robert Turner—were too young and frightened to render any assistance. They ran crying for help, but before it arrived the child was dead. The body was shortly afterwards found under the floating timbers and conveyed home by the child's father. Coroner Duncan was communicated with, but did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest. Accidents are numerous about those wharves, and it is to be regretted that some steps are not taken to protect them, or to keep children from running into imminent danger.

BASEBALL SATURDAY, 2

ROCHESTER, July 4.—Umpire Pearce prevented this morning's game to Toronto in the seventh inning, when the visitors had two men out. Slattery, in making the round of the bases, it is alleged, failed to touch second base, and the Rochesters asked Umpire Pearce to declare Slattery out and the side out. Pearce said he did not see the play and refused to declare the runner out on it. The decision gave the Torontos three runs and stirred up a very lively hornets' nest. The Rochesters have entered a protest against the game being counted for Toronto. The score:

The Afternoon Game.

The attendance at the afternoon game was not up to the expectations of the management, but 3500 thoroughly disgusted spectators expressed themselves as of the opinion that the management fell sadly below Rochester's requirements. The Torontos won as they pleased through costly errors of the home team. Both pitchers were fairly effective, though Sheppard was more so:

The Boston-Detroit game was stopped by rain at the finish of the fourth inning, the score standing a tie at 7 each.

A Clearing Out of the Rochesters.

The directors had a clearing house meeting to-night, at which they accomplished a good deal of work. Parsons was fined $50 for indifferent playing, while Knowles, McGlone and Connors were severely reprimanded. Kennedy was suspended indefinitely, Pitcher Bailey was sold and released to Toronto, Steve Dunn got his score and goes to Utica to play first base; Daniels was let out altogether. If the management could only keep on to a few more players with both feet and strike the Torontos' ability to play ball they would be all O.K.

Tracking at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, July 4.—The yacht race to-day was a lively feature of the celebration and attracted many thousands of people.

There was a refreshing air out on the breakwater, but there was hardly enough wind for a fine race. The prizes were $200, $150, $50 and $25. There were thirteen starters, including several Canadian boats of wide reputation. To a Buffalo boat, however, fell the first prize, the black and white flag of the cutter Alarm, leading the string at the conclusion of the terrific race. The Alice Enwright of Toledo followed the Alarm and the Cutter Molly of Hamilton came in third. The Emma of Buffalo captured fourth place.

Barry the Hammer Thrower.

W. T. M. Barry, the champion hammer thrower of the world, arrived at New York Sunday from Europe on the Umbria. Mr. Barry was here two years ago with the Irish athletic team. His best record is in throwing a fifty-six-pound weight twenty-seven feet without follow, and twenty-eight and one-third feet with follow. It is Mr. Barry's intention to engage in the leading athletic games of America during the season.

The Capitals' Captain Deposed.

OTTAWA, July 4.—The Capital Lacrosse Club is so much dissatisfied with their Captain, DeLarondе, that he has resigned. Mr. Bennett, of the Post Office Department, will, probably, succeed him. The Capitals claim that had they been as well captained as the Torontos they would have won the late match.

Failures in Canada for Six Months.

According to the semi-annual return of Dun, Wiman & Co. the total number of failures in Canada during the last six months was 703. The liabilities amounted to $10,461,724, represented by the provinces as follows: Ontario, $4,577,176; Quebec, $1,922,579; New Brunswick, $1,288,415; Nova Scotia, $380,300; Prince Edward Island, $76,350; British Columbia, $66,000; Manitoba, $111,885. These failures are swelled in amount by the failures in St. John, N.B., that occurred just at the close of the first quarter. When the figures for the first quarter were compiled it was found impossible to ascertain what the liabilities of the bank and firms involved were. They have been since ascertained and are now placed in the first quarter, increasing the amount above the figures published at the close of last quarter by $1,000,000.

Welcome Rain.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Despatches to-night from many points in northern and central Illinois and southern Wisconsin indicate the prevalence of a general heavy rain to-day, which broke the dry spell and had a very beneficial effect upon crops of all kinds. In Chicago the rain was the heaviest of the season.

In Arms Against Taxgatherers.

MADRID, July 3.—In Valencia yesterday the houses of the Octroi collectors were attacked and destroyed by a mob of the inhabitants of the town, who protested against the payment of taxes. The disturbed district is now occupied by troops.

The Ameer Has a Change of Luck.

SIMLA, July 3.—Advices from Afghanistan confirm the reports of two defeats of the Ghilzais recently with heavy losses. The first defeat was on June 13 and the second on June 16.

"Hail! Horrors, Hail!"

is an expression of Milton regarding the "infernal world." It is not too much to say that those who suffer from catarrh would thus express themselves about that disease. Torture and despair mark their daily existence. However, every case can be cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Its proprietors have for years made a standing offer in all the newspapers of $500 for an incurable case. It speedily subdues all bad smells in thoroughly cleansing, antiseptic, soothing and healing in its effects. 6dw27

The Triumphant Three.

Worth Remembering.

In a long letter from John H. Hall, of Baddick, Cape Vincent, N. S., he says: "I believe years it not for Burdock Blood Bitters I should be in my grave. It cured me of kidney and liver complaint and general debility, which had nearly proved fatal." 2w27d

Improvements at the Court House.

Gaoler Nesbitt is placing a boulevard across the entire front of the Court House, which will greatly improve the appearance of the place. The picket fence forming the upper boundary of the park is to be removed to the southern side of the gaol premises, leaving the park open right to the Court House.

Refreshing Check.

This is from the Port Hope Times, referring to their Dominion Day sports:—"It was worth money to see the judges of the horses sit on the Peterborough fakirs who were trying to "do" the sorrel mare in the open trot. The judges in all the various sports acted fairly, and there was no "kicking." Port Hope has been fortunate in her selection of judges in years past, and this year has been no exception." The Times is certainly complimentary to our horsemen, who comprise some of our squarest citizens. They are neither "fakirs" nor fools, for they know right well when a horse race becomes converted into a mule race, by the trotting being done from the judges' stand. Port Hope's hospitality to outside horses and horsemen is too well known for Peterborough turfites to shut their eyes too tight to twig what's on the slate.

Ladies' Panniers with skirt fronts, also the Latest Improved Shapes in Bustles just received at Turnbull's.

New Business Relations.

We notice that the partnership existing between Messrs. Quirk & Miller, who have been carrying on business under the firm name of Quirk & Co., has been dissolved. Their business since its inception, has been gradually increasing until it has attained the proportion of a local industry. Under the able management of Mr. D. C. Miller, who will continue the business, it will no doubt progress even more satisfactorily. Mr. Quirk having received very advantageous offers, is about to remove from town.

After a Horse Thief.

Acting-Chief Adams this afternoon received a telegram from Pickering, Ont., asking him to be on the look-out for a bay mare and black top buggy, which had been taken from a livery stable in that place last Tuesday and never returned. The man who hired the conveyancy was short and stout, with brown mustache and wearing a grey suit, and was supposed to have been in the implement business.

Killed by Lightning.

About eight o'clock on Saturday evening last, a young man aged 17 years, named Fred. Krieger, of Millbrook, during a thunder storm, was killed instantly by lightning, at Rice Lake. Deceased, with a companion named Wm. Archer, were camping at Lee's Point, near Bewdley, Rice Lake, and were on the lake fishing when the storm came up. Krieger was killed instantly and his clothes set on fire. Archer was stunned, and when he came to himself found his companion dead. The boat was uninjured.

Died From Natural Causes.

When the family of idiots named Brown, from the township of Dummer, consisting of the mother, two grown-up daughters and a baby in arms about a month old, were committed to the county gaol here as vagrants, a month ago, it was feared the infant, a miserable little bit of humanity wrapped up in rags, could not live. Dr. Kincaid, the gaol physician, did all in his power, but previous neglect had undermined its constitution, and on Monday it died. An inquest in the gaol Monday night resulted in the verdict "Died from natural causes."

The 12th of July.

The True Blues, Orange Young Britons, Prentice Boys and Orangemen of this county, says the Belleville Intelligencer, will celebrate the coming Twelfth of July at Peterborough, where a monster demonstration is to be held, in which the counties of Durham, Victoria, Peterborough and Northumberland will take part. Beside the regular mail train from here on that morning, a special train will be run, which is timed to leave the G. T. R. station at 7.45. Through the kindness of Mr. Riddell, District Superintendent, the special train will start from Pinnacle St. at 7 o'clock. The brethern from Shannonville and vicinity are to be brought in special cars to Belleville by the fast express.

The Gospel Tent.

Those who were fortunate enough to attend the service in the Gospel Tent Monday had reward indeed for facing what appeared for a time to be a stormy evening. The addresses by Messrs. Irving and Marshall were profoundly earnest and stirring. A number were visibly affected; some of them will remember the night as being the best spent one of their lives. The meetings will be continued each night this week, commencing at 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited. Those who have not yet heard these men should not let prejudice or carelessness prevent them from enjoying a very great treat. It is always refreshing to hear plain Gospel truths, and these evangelists do so to the letter. The tent is on the lot north of Mr. Peter Hamilton's foundry.

Straight from the Shoulder.

Straight from the shoulder hits out Gough to-day. It is wonderful what interest has been aroused in the public mind respecting the great Gough's great sale of that great stock of $18,500 worth of prime ready-made clothing. While other business men deplore the dullness of trade and await the maturity of paper with dread, Gough's counters are hot with the friction of selling goods. The reason is plain. He gives the most enormous value in America—$10 suits for $5 and all other suits on the same generous ratio. Any person in need of neat, well-made, strong and stylish ready-made clothing, will be wanting his money if he buys an ounce of clothing anywhere but at Gough's, George street, Peterborough.

St. Andrew's Anniversary.

The anniversary services of St. Andrew's Church were concluded last night. A large audience assembled in in the auditorium of the church where addresses were delivered by Rev. Principal Grant and the resident ministers of the town. A programme of music was also rendered, including anthems and choruses by the choir, solos by Misses Johnson and Cameron, a duet by Misses Gallelly and Johnson and an organ solo by Miss Caron, which were interspersed between the addresses. Afterwards the assembly adjourned to the schoolroom, where a feast of strawberries and cream was partaken of. The evening was replete with enjoyment, everyone being delighted with the entertainment provided.

Jubilee Jokes.

"Say," said the Doctor to a friend yesterday, "Did you hear about old Lee? It seems he met with a terribly sudden death the other day. I don't know just how it happened, but it must have been terrible—think he got his head shot off, or something like that." "Is that so? My, my! I didn't hear anything about it. What Lee was it?" "Jubi-Lee." "Oh!" (Silence for a few moments.) "Say, Doctor, you weren't at home this forenoon when that old Jew called at your place. His wife was very sick and he wanted a doctor right away." Doctor—(who fears he has lost a patient)—"No, I didn't see anything of him. But where does he live; perhaps I'll be in time yet. What Jew was it?" "Jew-bilee." They part.

The Crops in this County.

Mr. W. H. Wrighton, the well known and astute grain merchant, has completed his annual tour of the county, and, as was to be expected, took a keen view of the crops and the harvest prospects. He reports that, though his trip was made previous to some of the late rains, the prospect in general is an excellent one. The hay crop, though lighter than it would have been with earlier rains, will be a good one and sufficient for all wants. The grain crops are full of promise, and in this county he heard no complaints of damage from lack of rain. However, in the eastern part of Hastings County the farmers on lighter and shallower soil deplored the lack of rain. Altogether, in this county especially, Mr. Wrighton thinks there is a prospect of a good harvest. His estimate and his judgment on such matters will be accepted as the best of authority upon the subject.

Peterborough's Fire System.

An Enormous System and Fine Brigade—Improvements Made—Looking for Better Insurance Rates.

Early this spring, an agitation was begun to have the Insurance rating of Peterborough raised from Class C. to B.—a movement which affected the interests of all our citizens, merchants in particular. With this idea in view, in order to place our fire brigade and system on a first class footing, the Fire, Water and Light Committee began the work of remodelling which has cost $2,000, $700 of this total amount having been expended for an extra team and driver (this sum will be annual), $450 for a new hook-and-ladder wagon and $250 for hose waggon; re-arranging the stables cost $50, the new swinging doors for the fire station cost $50, furnishing teamsters' and firemen's bedrooms involved an expense of $200, and the alarm signal service another $200. The fire station has undergone thorough repairs, for which the town is indebted to several liberal gentlemen who contributed as follows:—Mr. Geo. A. Cox had the station house wall and ceiling handsomely papered; Mr. T. G. Haslitt gave sufficient ash lumber to wainscot the station all through, the work being done at "off" times by the firemen themselves (most of whom are carpenters, and all mechanics); Mr. James Stevenson put in new gasaliers, Mr. A. Hall presented the brigade with a handsome water cooler; Messrs. MacAndrew & Noble have substituted for the old stoves, coils of pipe for steam heating. The place has been rendered so attractive that the firemen spend a good deal of their spare time there, and Mr. Sailsbury has kindly placed at their disposal a copy of the Daily World. Then the platform in front of the station has been raised, making it an easy task for the horses to back the wagons into place, whereas formerly they had a heavy grade to surmount.

In fact our fire brigade can now rank with any in the province outside the larger cities. Following are their names:—

Thos. Rutherford, Chief; J. D. Craig, Assistant-Chief; R. Clegg, Secretary; C. Rutherford, Treasurer; T. Wilson, 1st Lieut.; J. Haggart, 2nd Lieut.; J. Hays, E. Page, H. Evans, J. Gibbs, A. Jones, W. Grear, J. Yelland, W. Turner, S. Clegg, H. Eastland, W. Green, W. Metherall, F. Burdette.

The fire appliances are also up to the standard. There is a new hose wagon, capable of carrying 900 feet of hose; and a new hook-and-ladder truck with two extension ladders and the usual smaller ladders in connection therewith. The stables have been re-arranged, doors being broken through into the fire station with the horses' heads facing that way. There are four horses connected with the brigade, two of which remain in or near the stables during the day, and all four at night. Seven members of the Brigade sleep over the fire station every night, and are always on hand in case of an alarm. Each of the twenty firemen in the brigade has a magnetic bell in his bedroom, operated from either the station or central telephone office, so that those sleeping in their own homes are notified at the same instant as those at the station. This line is built in two sections, north and south, and the alarm is rung each day at 12.30 from the central telephone office to test its working order. There has not been a single fire yet where the firemen in their own private residences have not received the alarm over this line before the town bell has rung. The town possesses 2100 feet of reliable hose and an excellent steam engine, the "Silaby," in charge of Engineer English, who devotes the whole of his time to it and other matters connected with the engine house. The current expenses of the brigade last year were $2500.

THE MODUS OPERANDI

of the fire brigade in case of an alarm of fire is interesting to know. Upon the first intimation of a fire at night, which is usually conveyed from private residences to the central telephone office, (and citizens should remember that a message delivered by a private telephone wire is just as good as running half a mile to the station to carry the news in person, and far quicker) the operator in the central office steps to one side and touches an instrument which immediately rings an alarm in the bedroom of each of the firemen belonging to the brigade. Following the first ring of warning, come one, two, three or four distinctive peals, indicating in which ward the fire is located. This is about as perfect an alarm arrangement as can be had on the telephone. At the fire station, upon the first alarm, the seven men sleeping on the premises spring to their feet and hustle on their clothes as fast as they know how and hurry down stairs, where they find the horses, trained to their work, standing in position directly underneath the swinging harness connected with each vehicle, and by the adjusting of four snaps to each everything is in readiness for a start. Enough men are there to move every appliance of the brigade,—three to the engine, three to the hose wagon and one to the hook-and-ladder truck. The doors, which swing outward, are pushed to one side, and in a few moments all are en route to the scene of the fire. Meanwhile the outside members of the brigade have been hurrying in the direction indicated by the alarm, and are there almost as soon as the engine and wagons. In cases where any hydrant of the 60 hydrants, covering the large area of the town, is convenient the engine is not needed.

A few weeks ago Mr. Pell, Inspector of the Fire Underwriters' Association, was in town, when our fire system was tested and found most satisfactory, the results of which have already been published, and it is an almost assured fact that the desired rating will be granted, thus effecting a saving of thousands of dollars to our merchants and citizens every year. Mr. A. McNeil, chairman of the committee, deserves every praise for his strenuous efforts in this behalf. To his able endeavors is almost wholly attributable the salutary improvement made in our fire system. There is no good reason why Peterborough should not be classed in "B," as Brantford and St. Thomas, with lesser equipments and a poorer service than Peterborough, have been granted the boon. Besides, Peterborough has not been rated since 1878, when it was placed in grade "C," and a comparison of the then fire system with that of the present time would on its merits entitle us to be placed in "A." However, the townspeople will be satisfied with "B," and are expecting it. If our system in any minor particulars does not strictly fulfil the conditions, the Association should yield a little as is done everywhere else. Any little deficiencies this way, though, are more than counterbalanced by the numerous small improvements and conveniences possessed by our fire system which are not required by the conditions.

" J. L. Hughes	Chap.
" W. F. Green	I. G.
" J. Greer	O. G.
" R. W. Bell, M. D.	Lodge Physician.
" W. F. Green	Pianist.

The representatives to the Grand Lodge of Ontario are Bros. Dr. R. W. Bell, P. G., and E. E. Henderson, P. G.

It is gratifying to note that this lodge since its revival in December, 1882—four and a half years ago—has made great and healthy progress. It has now upon its roll one hundred and twelve active members, in good standing, and is entirely free from debt, the last trifling obligation ($310) having been discharged in full on Monday evening, leaving a very respectable surplus in the hands of the treasurer. Since the day of its resuscitation it has paid, with the promptitude of a banking institution, every claim made upon it by its members, as beneficiaries. It has, besides, first-class assets of the value of between two and three thousand dollars. The hall belonging to this lodge is elegantly furnished, and is, perhaps, the most commodious, convenient and well equipped society hall in Peterborough, and upon it or its furnishings there exists not one dollar of debt. Among the latter is a very fine upright Mason & Risch piano. All this accomplished within the comparatively brief period of four and a half years, speaks eloquently of the unity, harmony, energy and spirit of Oddfellowship, which characterize and animates the members of Otonabee Lodge. If it shows such lusty vigour in its infancy, the results of the coming years can be looked forward to with pleasure and satisfaction by every member, who has the success of Oddfellowship and the promotion of the grand principles of the order at heart.

Platform Echoes.

John B. Gough's Last and Best Book.

This new and splendidly illustrated volume is the last book written by the world-famous John B. Gough, and was completed by him just previous to his death. Every one is familiar with the story of his early life, and of his rescue from a drunkard's grave, and how this once wretched and despised sot became one of the most famous men of our time. For seven years he stood amid the horrors of delirium tremens, an abject slave to the bottle; and his condition and wretched appearance were such as to cause people to exclaim, "There's the man who has been in hell." The rich and poor, the high, the low, the learned and unlearned, have been alike thrilled and moved by his burning words. At his feet more than ten million people sat and listened in admiration and wonder. In his library may be seen a set of large volumes—a far better memorial of his life and labors than any monument of marble or bronze—containing the original signatures of one hundred and fifty thousand men an women who were induced to sign the pledge through his personal efforts. These names—many of them tear-bedewed and written with trembling hand—represent stories of happiness and woe, of ruin and remorse, of blighted hopes and wasted lives, of battles fought and victory won. To give some of these thrilling life histories; to depict scenes of joy and sadness; to lift the curtain on life's stage and show its tragedy and comedy; and to draw "living truths" from the lessons thus taught, and bring them home to every heart, is the prime object of this volume. It also contains the history of Mr. Gough's life and career with the story of his death, by Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, the eminent editor and divine.

"Platform Echoes" is John B. Gough in print. In it he has given to the world in permanent form his best thoughts, his most touching tales, his most stirring anecdotes and incidents, his most telling stories. As a story-teller he has never been equalled. In every chapter he weaves in anecdote after anecdote, incident after incident, story after story, and underneath them all lie "Living Truths," that stand out as beacon lights. He plays upon the reader's feelings as with an enchanter's wand, at one time filling his heart with gladness, at another blinding his eyes with tears. At his bidding, hearts are melted, and stern, strong men, as well as sensitive women, weep tears of compassion, are aroused to indignation, or moved to uncontrollable laughter in spite of every effort to control their feelings.

Now that the silver tongue is silent, "Platform Echoes" is the richest literary legacy of John B. Gough. The aroma of his inimitable humor, the felicity of his descriptions, the adroitness and skill which enabled him to captivate and then capture hearts on both sides of the sea are reproduced upon these pages. The orator and dramatist, the philanthropist and the reformer, for he was all these, are portrayed here in the freedom and spontaneity of autobiography. The book is what its name indicates—real "Echoes" of the man whose death humanity mourns.

Its illustrations are the best we have ever seen. It contains two hundred and twenty-seven fine engravings by the best artists and engravers in the world. Many of these illustrations are "too funny for anything" while others depict wretchedness and woe. Sixteen of these engravings are full-paged ones, and are magnificent specimens of art. Two hundred and nine are text illustrations. There are two fine steel-plate portraits. One is from a life-size full length painting, showing Mr. Gough as he appeared shortly after his rescue. The other is from a photograph taken just before his death. All in all, it is one of the finest ever produced by the American press.

We advise our readers to buy Platform Echoes at the first opportunity. They can, in our opinion, much better afford to dispense with a dozen other books than not possess this. Once begun it will not willingly be laid aside till the last page is finished.

THE CANADIAN CRUISERS.

The Contracts for Supplies for the North-west Mounted Police—The Government Not Ignoring the Commercial Union Question.

OTTAWA, July 5.—No writs have as yet been issued for Charlevoix or South Renfrew, and it is probable that they will not be issued until after the Digby election on July 16.

The fishery protective service is much more effective this season than it was last year, which is partly attributable to the employment of the steamer Acadia and partly to the fact that the American fishermen appear to be better acquainted with Canadian laws and more disposed to respect them. It has not been found necessary to make a single seizure so far this season and the fishermen who have run inside the three mile limit for shelter or wood and water have promptly complied with the customs regulations. The catch of the American fishermen appears to have been very small. Examination of a lot of the weekly returns made by the captains of the cruisers of vessels boarded, nearly all of whom had put in for shelter, shows that very few of them had much over a dozen barrels of fish, caught, of course, beyond the three mile limit, while a great many had no fish at all. The largest cargo was 100 barrels by a vessel which had been out twelve days. The Canadian catch inside the three-mile limit has on the whole been well up to the average. The Acadia is giving every satisfaction and doing excellent service. The Americans are afraid to venture inside the limit, as they never can tell where she is, and as her average speed is fifteen miles an hour they would have no chance of escaping from her if she sighted them trespassing. Lately she ran over twenty-one miles in an hour. Hon. Mr. Foster, who is now down the Gulf on LaCanadienne, will be transferred to the Acadia on Saturday at Shediac and proceed to the Nova Scotia fisheries.

Hon. Mr. White, Minister of the Interior, and family left for Dalhousie, N.B., to-day, where the latter will spend the summer. Mr. White will return here early next week and leave for the Northwest about July 20.

Mr. Davin, M.P., left to-day for Quebec, where he will sail for England on the Vancouver.

Contracts for supplying the Mounted Police stations during the year commenced on July 1 have been let as follows: Regina, beef, Mowat Bros.; other articles, Hudson Bay Company. Maple Creek, beef, Borright & Parsons; other articles, Hudson Bay Company. Medicine Hat, beef, J. G. Baker & Co.; other articles, Hudson Bay Company; Calgary, beef, J. G. Baker & Co.; other articles, Hudson Bay Company; Battleford, beef, P. Gallagher & Sons; other articles, Hudson Bay Company; Fort McLeod, Lethbridge and Prince Albert, all supplies, Hudson Bay Company; Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan; all supplies, J. G. Baker & Co.

The Government is not ignoring the commercial union agitation. Mr. George Johnston, late Ottawa correspondent of The Mail and prospective head of the coming Government bureau of statistics, and three assistants have been at work for some time under direction of the Government preparing complete statistics of the trade between Canada and the States under the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854, with comparative trade tables since.

Work is said to have been suspended on the Cape Breton Railway owing to a dispute between the contractors and sub-contractors about the quality of the material used by the latter. The Government is endeavoring to get the matter settled so that work may proceed, and Mr. Schreiber, Superintendent of Government Railways, left for the scene of the trouble yesterday.

It is understood that Mr. Cormier, M.P.P. for Ottawa County, will resign his seat and be again a candidate.

Professor Saunders left for the Maritime Provinces to-day for the purpose of inspecting sites offered for experimental farms.

Jas. Isbester, contractor for the Sault Ste. Marie Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is here and reports work progressing rapidly. Track-laying has been commenced west of Algoma Mills and it is expected will be completed by Oct. 15. The bridge at the Sault has been commenced. Three abutments have been built while the foundations for two piers have already been laid. The masonry work is likely to be finished before the end of September.

Mr. Kamper having become convinced that the Government will not entertain his intercolonial scheme in its present shape, sailed from New York to-day. He will confer with Rothschilds and other backers of the enterprise and endeavor to prepare a new scheme which he will submit to Sir Charles Tupper in Paris on July 27.

The Comptroller of the Northwest Mounted Police says desertions this year are exceptionally few. He has received despatches to the effect that extreme quietness prevails throughout the entire Territories.

Threatens to Sue a Toronto Firm.

DETROIT, June 5.—George F. Ferguson, arrested on a debtor's warrant on complaint of a Toronto firm and released on habeas corpus proceedings on Saturday, threatens suit for false imprisonment.

Cleaning Sprecklers' Scheme.

From The Pittsburg Chronicle.

"What's all the fuss in the Sandwich Islands?" asked the Horse Editor. "I see that there have been consigned from San Francisco to Claus Sprecklers' brokers in Hawaii 9000 rifles, 65,000 cartridges, 25,000 primers, 6000 bullets and a few cases of small arms."

"Oh," replied the Snake Editor, "Sprecklers is about to introduce lawn ball, and he is determined that the umpire shall be protected."

THROUGH AN OPEN SWITCH

A C.P.R. PASSENGER TRAIN GOES OVER AN EMBANKMENT.

A Large Number of Wounded—The Engineer and Fireman Fatally Hurt—Medical Assistance from Galt—Arrival of the Injured Passengers in Toronto.

GALT, July 5.—The eastern express train on the Canadian Pacific Railway, due here at 5.20 p.m., ran off the track about one mile west of Galt at a gravel pit near Barries Cut. It appears the men employed on the gravel train at the pit left the switch open. The express went through the open switch and down the embankment twenty-five or thirty feet high, into swampy ground. The engine, baggage car and smoker rolled down the embankment and turned over. The next coach, occupied principally by ladies, is partly off the rails, the front end being down the bank.

List of the Wounded.

The injured passengers were brought to the Queen's Hotel here and are being attended to by the town doctors. None of them are thought to be fatally injured. The names of the wounded as far as known at present are as follows:

Engineer Driver J. R. Sprague, Toronto, badly scalded.

Conductor Randell, Toronto, cut on the head, ribs broken and bruised on the shoulders and legs.

Fireman Wm. Johnston, Parkdale, very badly scalded.

John Bolgi, News Agent, cut on the head.

Wm. Dean, insurance inspector, Toronto, cuts on the head and leg.

Mr. Johnston of Ayr, slightly injured.

Mrs. Baldwin of Ridgetown, cut on the head and injured on the side.

Mrs. Hedley of Amherstburg, slightly hurt.

J. Farrell, drug traveler, Montreal, slightly injured.

The Engineer and Fireman Cannot Live.

Mr. John Reid of Bowmanville was a passenger, and being interviewed stated that the only persons fatally injured were Engineer Sprague and Fireman Johnston. They were so frightfully scalded that the flesh could be torn from their bodies. Mr. Reid said that it is impossible for them to live.

The disaster was due to the carelessness of a workman whose duty it was to see that the line was clear; but it appears that at the close of his day's work he left the switch open. It was reported in Galt shortly after the disaster that he cleared out.

How Passengers Were Injured.

There were about forty-four passengers on board and it is miraculous, considering the speed at which the train was going on a switch where rails and ties are more or less imperfectly put down, that the result was not more serious. The passengers who received injuries sustained them by being pitched from their seats against those opposite, and what would have taken place if the lamps had been lit can be easily conjectured. Conductor Rundell, notwithstanding his injuries, was amongst the first to gain exit through a window and immediately proceeded to liberate the passengers and train officers from their perilous position. Mr. Reid was sent to Galt and informed the agent there of the disaster. The agent immediately sent out an engine and a couple of freight cars carrying doctors to the scene. The passengers were brought to Galt, the injured receiving all the care which medical skill could give.

THE SULTAN WON'T SIGN.

The English Ambassador Ordered to Leave Constantinople.

LONDON, July 5.—In the House of Lords this afternoon Lord Salisbury announced that the Anglo-Turkish Convention in reference to Egypt had not been ratified by Turkey, and that Sir Henry Drummond Wolff, the special commissioner had been instructed to leave Constantinople.

A Panic on a Crowded Street Car.

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 5.—Ninety passengers on a horse car became panic stricken yesterday because the driver lost control of the horses. Some jumped and some were pushed from the car to the rocks below. Marian O'Brien, aged 20, was almost instantly killed and several others were injured.

A SALOONKEEPER'S MALICE.

A Town Fired by a Man Who Was Refused a Liquor License.

ERIE, Pa., July 5.—A special says: At 9.30 o'clock on Monday evening fire started in what is known as the old Snow planing mill at Clarendon, seven miles east of Warren, on the Philadelphia and Erie Railway and shortly afterwards another was seen issuing from the Weaver Hotel, owned by John Mahony. There was a brisk southwest wind blowing, and the fire swept over the frame building like a whirlwind. The fire department being small was unable to cope with the two fires, and appeals for aid were sent to Warren. A steamer and hook and ladder truck and two full fire companies were sent, arriving at Clarendon at 11.30. Every effort was made to save the town, but the depot of the Philadelphia and Erie Railway was the only building of consequence saved.

The value of the buildings destroyed is $330,000, roughly estimated, while the insurance is small.

It is now well established that the fire was incendiary. Public rumor at Clarendon says two weeks ago, when liquor licenses were refused to all applicants in Warren County, Mahony, proprietor of the Weaver Hotel, threatened to fire the town if the decision of the court was not reversed in two weeks.

Mahony was found to-day hiding in the woods six miles from Clarendon, and as lynching was feared he was taken to Warren Jail. He is charged with arson. A charred skeleton was found in one of the rooms of the hotel. It is supposed to be a backdriver named Sullivan. There were 105 building's destroyed.

MURDER AT COTE ST. LOUIS.

A Man Found in a Field With His Skull Crushed In.

MONTREAL, July 5.—A foul murder was perpetrated at Cote St. Louis this morning. A man named Joseph Perault was found dead in a field with his head crushed in by a stone weighing about fifty pounds. Two men named Dupre and Charlotte have been arrested on suspicion, as the deceased had been drinking with them. The accused said they had no recollection of what had taken place.

Dupre's cousin said to deceased that some one had thrown a large stone through his window and wanted to find out who had done it, to which deceased replied, "You need not pass your own cousin," meaning Dupre, who, on hearing this, said he was going to kill somebody to-day, and the next heard was that Perault was found dead as already stated.

Deceased was a widower, 40 years of age, and resided with his father.

A WOMAN'S HONOR UPHELD

THE SALISBURY GOVERNMENT MEETS ITS FIRST DEFEAT.

The Arrest of An Honest London Breeze-maker on an Improper Character Leads to a Debate in Parliament and Results in a Ministerial Repulse.

LONDON, July 5.—In the House of Commons to-night Mr. Campbell Bannerman, who was formerly Chief Secretary for Ireland, gave notice that he would introduce on the second reading of the Irish Land Bill a motion that no land measure would be satisfactory which lacked such revision of the judicial rents as would meet the results of the fall in prices.

Mr. Geo. Howell, a Liberal, announced that he would call the attention of the House to the use of the title "Empress" in documents not affecting India, as contrary to the promises of the Ministers when Parliament conferred the title upon Her Majesty.

An animated discussion took place over the conduct of the police in arresting a young woman named Cass, who is of pure reputation, as an improper character.

The debate resulted in the defeat of the Government by a vote of 159 to 148. The criticisms of members were directed less against the police authorities than against Mr. Matthews, the Home Secretary, who was accused of shielding the officials. A number of Liberal Unionists voted with the majority. It is expected that the defeat of the Government will lead to the resignation of Mr. Matthews.

They Misunderstood the Motion.

After the division in the House of Commons to-night on the motion relating to the case of the woman Cass, the ministers met in a private room and it was afterward rumored that Mr. Matthews would resign. Messrs. Reed, James, Howard, Johnston and Taylor (Conservatives) supported the motion.

Twenty supporters of the Government did not vote because they understood that the question before the House was the defence of Magistrate Newton's conduct, of which they disapproved. If they had been informed as to the actual issue they would have voted against the motion, which is now believed to have been aimed simply at the suspension of the night's business.

An Explosion of Naphtha.

ANTWERP, July 5.—A terrible explosion of naphtha took place here to-day in a drug store. Ten persons were buried beneath the burning ruins. Three of the men were rescued, but they are badly injured.

M. ROUVIER'S BUDGET.

No New Taxation and Retrenchment to the Extent of 120,000,000 Francs.

PARIS, July 5.—M. Rouvier has prepared a budget for presentation in the Chamber of Deputies. It proposes no fresh taxation nor new loan. It abandons the ear tax on alcohol and the personal property tax projected by the preceding government and establishes an equilibrium between the state's receipts and expenditures solely by retrenching to the extent of 120,000,000 francs. Of this sum 60,000,000 francs is on the ordinary budget and 60,000,000 francs in the extra budget.

The Chamber of Deputies to-day, by a vote of 467 to 41, adopted the clause of the Military Bill providing for three years' service.

Then suspending discussion on the bill, the Chamber voted by 527 to 5 urgency for a proposal to raise to 70 francs per hectolitre the duty on foreign alcohol.

The Mobilizing of the Army Corps.

PARIS, July 5.—The Army Committee has approved the bill for the experiment of mobilizing the army corps, reserving the discussion of the details till they have had an interview with Gen. Ferron, Minister of War.

HARTINGTON'S REPLY.

Statements Recently Made by Mr. Gladstone Answered.

LONDON, July 5.—The Marquis of Hartington received a deputation to-day, and in his address he made an elaborate reply to Gladstone's statements respecting the reported existence of disputes on the Irish question in the Liberal Cabinet in 1885. Lord Hartington says there were serious disputes and that he frequently wished to resign from the Cabinet but yielded to Mr. Gladstone's strong remonstrances and remained in the Ministry.

The Marquis says he challenged Mr. Gladstone to obtain the Queen's consent to have the Cabinet proceedings of the period referred to published, so that the public could see for itself the nature of the difference in the Cabinet, and who were on one side, and who on the other. Mr. Gladstone's speech on Saturday added Lord Hartington "favored giving Ireland an autonomy, similar to that of New South Wales, England thereby to abandon all control in Ireland. I hope the country thoroughly realizes what this means."

Portugal to Pay an Indemnity.

ZANZIBAR, July 5.—The Portugese have surrendered to the British and German consuls the Sultan's steamer Kilwa, seized during the dispute between Zanzibar and Portugal concerning the claims of the latter to Cape Delgardo. Portugal will also pay Zanzibar an indemnity.

In Memory of Chris. Columbus.

GENOA, July 5.—A committee is being organized here to arrange for a celebration of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus. All the states of America will be invited to send representatives to the celebration.

Disastrous Fire in a Quebec Village.

ST. REMI, Que., July 5.—Part of this village was destroyed this afternoon by fire, which broke out in Gagne's foundry. A hotel, several stores and about twenty-five private dwellings were burned. Loss $100,000.

The Bundas Suicide.

HAMILTON, July 5.—The stranger who shot himself in the Red Lion Hotel, Dundas, yesterday, has been identified as Henry Palmer, who was recently in custody here for being insane at that time. He said that his home was in Jersey City, N.J.

Jake Sharp Unable to Leave His Bed.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Jacob Sharp's health is still growing worse. To-day he was unable to leave his bed. To-morrow will be his seventieth birthday. His wife is in constant attendance at his bedside.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. eodw

The Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 6, 1887.

THE right of the Province of Quebec to levy a special tax on banks, insurance and other commercial corporations has been confirmed by the Privy Council, to which an appeal was taken by the companies affected.

IT is said both France and Russia offered active opposition to the convention between Turkey and England in reference to Egyptian affairs. Russia and France both threaten to embarrass Turkey if she ratifies the convention which has been agreed upon. It is said that Germany, Austria and Italy approve of the convention.

IT is rumored that Mr. Thomas White is to succeed Sir Charles Tupper in the office of Finance Minister, and that Mr. Kirkpatrick is to enter the Government and take charge of the Department of the Interior; that Mr. Girouard is to be made Solicitor-General; that Mr. Costigan is to be superseded by Mr. Landry, of New Brunswick; that Mr. Boswell is to become Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Mr. Scarth is to be appointed Comptroller of Customs to conciliate Manitoba after the disallowance of her proposed railway charter to the border.

THE Canadian Manufacturer in its anxiety to forward the interest of its protege, the industrial element of the country, strikes rather blindly at its target. It bravely states that one of the babbling needs of the town of Woodstock is a dry dock. Now, if there is one thing more than another that Woodstock can turn to good account it is a dry dock; it could be easily kept in repair, that is, be kept dry. There is not enough navigable water within a hundred miles of it to dilute the stock of a cheese company. Nothing like the National Policy to develop new industries.

THE legislature of Manitoba has passed a law under which the debts of the municipalities of Emerson, West Lynne, Morris, Portage la Prairie, Gladstone, Minnedosa and Rapid City—a formidable list—are scaled down to what these municipalities can afford to pay. Three commissioners are to try to find out what this is. "This," says the Monetary Times, "is the first act of repudiation that has ever discredited a Canadian legislature." What about the good town of Cobourg? Her debt due the Ontario Government has been "scaled down" and still the surviving asset is a scaly one. But in this case the government, which was the creditor, forgave the debt in part. It did not rob outside creditors of their full dues.

TORONTO seems to delight in sending a solid Tory deputation to parliament. This may be a proud boast, but it doesn't pay in the end. The government doesn't think it worth while to waste the public money in making harbour grants to solid Toronto, to secure supporters. But politically shaky Quebec gets the national shekels shovelled out at a lively rate. Since 1873 the modest sum of $4,900,000 have been devoted to Quebec harbour, while poor Toronto, if it gets a few paltry thousands, has to vote a proportionate sum from its own coffers to supplement the funds of the Dominion. It would pay Toronto to do a little healthy political kicking. Then perhaps her just demands would receive attention.

Dummer.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Council met in Warsaw. All the members present. Minutes of the last meeting read and signed. On motion the Reeve was appointed an arbitrator under 46 Vict., Chap. 27, Sec. 17, to negotiate with the parties interested in the construction of a drain in Warsaw as to the just proportions of the costs to be borne by the parties interested and the council of the township respectively.

The clerk was instructed to give the necessary notices that it is the intention of the council at a meeting to be held in Warsaw, at 10 a.m., on Saturday, the 20th of August next, to pass a by-law to establish a road on lot 9, in 11th con., according to a plan of said road by F. W. Wilkins, Esq., P. L. S.

Orders were granted to H. A. Moore, council grant to 4th con. line, $50.00; Wm. Darling, part salary as clerk, $50.00; Wm. Darling, refund of A L. Davis & Co's. acc. 90c.

By-laws were passed, one to provide for the payment of money, and one to make appropriations for roads and to appoint commissioners for expending the same.

Council adjourned to Saturday, the 20th of August next.

TORONTO TOPICS.

TORONTO, June 6.

The vendors of stamps in this city were amazed upon learning yesterday that the Dominion Government had notified the Postoffice authorities here to reduce the discount of 3 per cent. to 1 per cent. The change goes into effect to-day. A large number of persons are employed in the business and among them are several women, whose livelihood is earned in this way. The reason for this action on the part of the Government has not been made known.

Stamp vendors, when they desire to purchase stamps, first go to the Bank of Montreal, where they receive a certificate for the amount they pay in. Upon the presentation of this certificate at the Post Office they receive its equivalent and the discount added in stamps. The daily average amount paid in for stamps is from $800 to $900. When the vendors learned of the Government's action they took advantage of the one day's grace allowed them and made purchases amounting to $9500. One dealer alone got a certificate for $4000, which will net him a fair profit.

The body of the man found floating in the Bay early yesterday morning was not identified yesterday and it will be buried to-day at the expense of the city. In a pocket were a package of letters addressed to "Rev. J. M. McCurdy, H.D., Chatham, N.B.," a telegram reading "Come at once, father's dying. A. M. McCurdy, Chatham, N.B." and a newspaper wrapper addressed to "Rev. J. F. McCurdy, Knox College, Toronto." Rev. J. F. McCurdy could not identify the body. He says the letters are his and he received the telegram two years ago, but he is puzzled to know how they got into the dead man's possession.

No local justice of the peace will endorse Montreal Detective Lapointe's warrant for the arrest of Mr. E. E. Sheppard. The warrant is in possession of Mr. J. J. McLaren, Q.C., his opinion having been asked on the advisability of applying for a mandamus to compel a magistrate to back the blue document. Mr. McLaren is expected to be heard from to-day.

An important decision was rendered yesterday at Osgoode Hall in the Chancery Divisional Court by Chancellor Boyd and Mr. Justice Ferguson, in which Mr. Justice Robertson concurred. The case was that of the Queen v. Briorly, the prisoner being charged with bigamy, and coming before the court from the Middlesex quarter sessions. The second marriage took place in Michigan, and two points were put forth in the prisoner's defence: First, That the enactment of the Dominion Parliament under which the indictment was laid—C.S.C. ch. 161, sec. 4—was ultra vires; secondly, That the evidence of the foreign marriage was not sufficient. Both pleas were overruled by the court and the conviction was sustained. Mr. J. H. Cartwright appeared for the Crown and Mr. W. H. Meredith for the prisoner.

The $30,000 voted by the Dominion Government for the new armory, is a preliminary appropriation, as Major Cotton has informed Mr. Mowat, Minister of Militia at Ottawa. If the Osgoode-street site is purchased the Government will put up a building worthy of Toronto and her grade building organizations.

A well-dressed, gentlemanly-looking man with a business air about him was brought to Police Headquarters by Acting Detective Slemin at 11 o'clock last night. He is a Hebrew named Emanuel Hart, agent for the Hart Pen Co. of London, Eng., married, aged 37 and lives at 278 Sumach-street. He was arrested on the strength of a telegram from London, Ont., stating that he is wanted there on a charge of fraud. No particulars were given but the arrest is probably in connection with some pen transaction, Hart remarking, "This is a most unaccountable thing, for I've been selling those goods for thirteen years."

He spent the night in the cells along with twenty dirty drunks and thieves, and was almost stifled with the heat and vile odor of the place.

The burglars and highway robbers continue to terrorize the town. Between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday morning some of the former class of gentry visited Dr. Russell's, Simcoe-street. They cut away two slits from the shutter of a dining room window, inserted their hands, removed the bolt, raised the window and so effected an entrance. The table had been laid for breakfast, and the burglars secured every piece of plate on the table and sideboard. Among other articles taken away were some pieces of presentation and family plate. "They even took my baskets to carry off the silver," said the doctor to The World.

Early yesterday morning the house of Mr. W. H. Musson, 19 Avenue-road, was burglarized. The movements of the thieves aroused a member of the family, who gave the alarm. Mr. Musson and his three sons made a dash for the intruders, but they escaped by the open windows through which they had entered. A couple of articles are missing.

On Saturday night a daring highway robbery was perpetrated in Simcoe-street. Two men, pretending to be under the influence of drink, attacked a gentleman and demanded money of him. The latter refused to comply with the request, whereupon his assailants put off their disguise and laid rough hands upon their victim. The gentleman called lustily for assistance, whereupon his assailants fled, but not until they had inflicted such injuries upon the man as to necessitate medical aid.

M'GLYNN'S EXCOMMUNICATION.

It is Thought a Formal Bull Has Been Issued in His Case.

NEW YORK, July 5.—It has been generally reported that the excommunication of Dr. McGlynn would not be formal—that his failure to appear at Rome by July 2, the expiration of the forty days allowed him wherein to present himself at the Vatican, would operate, ipso facto, as an excommunication. According to the cable despatch, however, a formal bull of excommunication has been issued. There may be also formal ceremonies in the Cathedral and other churches, although the ancient function of excommunication "by bell, book and candle," has fallen into desuetude in the practice of the Church.

Dr. McGlynn was to lecture in Milwaukee last night, and, before leaving New York, spoke with apparent indifference of the prospective fiat. His colleague, Mr. Henry George, in the last issue of his journal, referred to it in very contemptuous terms. The bull of excommunication will be awaited with great interest—most particularly, however, with reference to penalties which may be inflicted upon Catholics who still openly sympathize with Dr. McGlynn and his action towards the Church. Many of the parish of St. Stephen's have expressed their intention to follow him to the extremest end, and the gathering at the last session of the Anti-Poverty Society expressed with great unanimity a like purpose.

WAS SHE MURDERED?

The Mysterious Death of a Young Girl at Margate, P.E.I.

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I., July 5.—The mysterious fate of a young girl at Margate has made quite a sensation about here. Last Tuesday evening a daughter of John Tuplin left her father's house about 9 o'clock. She had thin slippers on her feet, had nothing on her head, and was clad in a thin cotton dress. She told some members of the family that she had an appointment that night with a young man named Wm. Millman, by whom, she alleged, she had been led astray. That was the last seen of her alive.

Millman is suspected of foul play, but has not yet been arrested. About dusk on Tuesday evening a man was lurking in the woods in front of Tuplin's residence. A boat generally anchored near Millman's was also seen that night on the other side of the river, near Tuplin's. Yesterday evening the girl's body was found in the Southwest River with a stone tied around her neck. Dr. Carruthers of Summerside has gone out to hold an inquest.

Millman Arrested.

HALIFAX, July 5.—Later developments in the Margate, P.E.I., tragedy establish beyond a doubt the fact that the girl Tuplin was murdered and her body thrown into the river where it was found. A post mortem examination disclosed two bullet wounds in her neck and head, and the coroner's jury returned a verdict that she had been shot and killed by a party or parties unknown.

Millman, the alleged seducer of the girl, and a man named Byrnes, supposed to have been an accomplice in the crime, have been arrested.

News From the Baseball Field—Other Affairs in the Sporting World.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., July 5.—This was Canadian day at the Niagara Falls, N.Y., Racing Association's inaugural meeting. The weather was fine and warm and the racing excellent. The Canadians were successful in two events, E. Burgess' Brait winning the opening dash and C. Boyle's Lansdowne winning the seven-eighths. The hunt race was won by Cyclone, the other contestants not going the course. The attendance was large and the track in fair condition.

The Ottawa Regatta.

OTTAWA, July 5.—The program for the annual regatta of the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen to be held here on Aug. 6 is published. There will be eight events: Senior and junior four-oared races, senior and junior double scull, senior and junior single scull and two skiff races, double and single. The four-oared races are expected to be very interesting, no less than six crews being in training. These are the Ottawas, Toronto, Argonauts, Winnipegs, Lachines and Leanders. There is some doubt whether the last two will come to the front, but the other four will place English one of the best races ever rowed in Canada. The Ottawas are getting into fairly good form. The Winnipegs, Toronto and Argonauts will send three of their best crews. In the juniors the Leanders of Hamilton and the Lachines will send the same men as last year, exceptionally good fours, and the Ottawa and Winnipeg juniors promise well. The race will be between these four crews.

Seventy-One Rounds Fought.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 5.—One of the most brutal prize fights that ever occurred in this county took place at 5 o'clock yesterday morning in a ravine, three miles from Nanticoke. The contestants were Thos. Hoar of this place, and Peter Hurley of Nanticoke. The fight was to a finish for $100 a side. Hurley's two brothers acted as his seconds, and John Campbell, brother of the pugilist, Bryan Campbell, seconded Hoar.

Seventy-one desperate rounds were fought, both men being badly punished. When time was called for the seventy-second round Hoar claimed he could not see, and said he had had enough. The fight was therefore awarded to Hurley by the referee.

LONDON, July 5.—In the House of Lords last evening, during the discussion which arose over a motion to lay before the Lords the correspondence between the home and Canadian Governments relating to the proposed changes in the Canadian tariff,

Lord Granville said the Government should not be debarred from engaging in friendly correspondence with Canada when it was proposed by the latter to impose tariffs disadvantageous to England as compared with other countries.

A Handsome Dress.

The Dundas True Banner appears this week in a brand new elegant dress. The dress of the type is from the type-foundry house of Millar & Richard, Toronto, and the paper is printed on a new Wharfdale press, also from the firm of Millar & Richard. The True Banner's appearance is neat and attractive in the extreme. The enterprise of the proprietor should be rewarded by increased patronage and prosperity.

Early Closing.

By an agreement among the members of the Law Society, all law offices in Peterborough will, during the summer months, close at 4 p.m. The new regulation came into effect Tuesday. The jewellers and watchmakers of the town have also entered into an agreement to close their stores at 7 p.m. during the hot season.

The Celebrating Twelfth.

Hotel-keepers should make elaborate preparations to entertain the thousands of visitors who will be in Peterborough July 12th. It has been suggested that citizens, and merchants in particular, decorate their premises as much as possible, in order to make the town look as attractive as possible on that day. Nearly everyone has more or less bunting and flags left from the Jubilee decorations, which could be utilised.

The Very Place.

When you want fine, prime, fresh groceries or provisions, go to the nobbiest, best stocked, neatest, completest shop in town, which is to say Elliot & Tierney's.

All That Can be Wished For.

The park was thronged with people last night. Between the excellent music by the band, the strong light from the electric tower, equal, almost, to day-light, the beauty of the place, the pleasant walks and cool retreats, nothing more was desirable to entertain and afford enjoyment to the crowds.

Market Items.

The market presented a great variety this morning, though the attendance was small. New potatoes in plenty sold at 40c. peck; a few green apples also offered at the same price. Raspberries in abundance at $1.00 per pail; cherries and currants, 11c. quart; gooseberries, 10c. quart. Butter commanded 17c.; eggs, 14c. There was also a large offer of beans, radish, beets, peas and other vegetables.

A Coming Excursion.

A meeting of the fire brigade was held last night and it was decided to hold an excursion and picnic about the end of July to either Grimsby, the Thousand Islands or Orillia. The place has not yet been selected, but the firemen are making known their intentions at this early date so that all our citizens can have ample time to prepare to attend the biggest excursion of the season. Further particulars will be announced later.

Scott Act Matters.

In the absence of Mr. Dumble, Police Magistrate Edmison presided at the police court this morning. Mr. A. P. Morgan was fined $100 and costs for an infringement of the Scott Act. The cases against Messrs. Wm. Clancy and M. Halpin, for second offences, were enlarged. P. M. Edmison this afternoon goes to Lakefield, where three Scott Act cases, two first and one second offences, will be tried. It is probable the defendants will plead guilty. Four more cases will be tried at Keene to-morrow.

The events comprise 100 yards and half mile foot races, 120 yards hurdle race, one and two mile bicycle races, (handicap), and a tug of war. Handsome medals will be given the winners. Any information can be had from the Secretary, Mr. F. E. Bell, at the Mechanics' Institute building.

Wedding Bells.

A large number of relatives and friends from Peterborough, Pickering, Scarboro', Darlington and Oshawa, assembled at the residence of Mr. Wm. Byam, June 29th, to witness the marriage of Miss Byam to Mr. John J. Keiratead, of Pickering. The bridesmaids were Miss Benny Hardy, of Peterborough, and Miss Mattie Byam, of Oshawa. The groom was supported by Mr. D. Pickell, of Chicago. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Newton Hill, Pastor of Medcalf street Methodist Church, Oshawa. The bride was made the recipient of a number of beautiful presents. After the two had been pronounced one, the large company sat down to a sumptuous repast. The young couple left for a tour east.—Oshawa Reformer.

A Card.

The Lumber and Timber Supply.

From the rapid rate at which commercial demands for lumber and timber are clearing off our standing timber, there is some ground for fear that prices will advance and the supply become exhausted within a few years. There is a great deal of truth in this, and the man who contemplates building will do so more cheaply now than in the near future, therefore he who is wise will lay in a supply of the cheap and good furniture now to be found in stock at Bellegham's in infinite variety. No other house in the trade can show so superb a stock and at so reasonable figures as Bellegham. Ordered work for shops, hotels, churches, schoolhouses, a specialty of this establishment. All orders promptly executed. All furniture bought at Bellegham's delivered and set up either in town or country.

The buyers present were Messrs. Cook, Green, R. Leary, Flavelle, Cluxton, Wrighton, Hodgson and Brintnell. Cable quotations were 48s. The bidding was pretty brisk, as follows:—Mr. Wrighton offered 8½c. for the board, followed by 8⅝c. from Mr. Leary. Mr. Cook bid 9c. for selections, Mr. Leary 9c. for the board, and Mr. Wrighton 9 1/16c. for the board. The offer of Mr. Cook of 9⅛c. for Peterborough was accepted as was that of Mr. Brintnell of 9 1/16c. for Victoria.

There was a lively discussion at this meeting over the conduct of some of the factories in selling their cheese off the board. Not only were the factories censured for this, but those outside buyers as well who went about trying to make underhand purchases. Finally an agreement was drawn up, each one binding himself on a forfeit of $25 or suspension from the board for the balance of the season, to neither buy or sell off the board. Sixteen of those present signed the document, and by the next meeting all will have affixed their names thereto.

Master Percy Udy met with a painful accident while visiting at Mr. W. B. Kelly's, on Monday. The boys were racing on the verandah when Percy caught his foot on the boot scraper tearing flesh and skin of a greater portion of the top of his foot, leaving bone and tendons bare. He was removed home to his father's in the evening.

FARMING.—The whirr of the mower is heard in all directions and the farmers are busy at haying. The meadows are light and the crop will be about an average one.

SCHOOL CLOSED.—The public school of this place closed on Thursday last and the boys have settled down for six weeks solid fun.

Reciprocity and Commercial Union.

These constitute one of the burning questions of the day. Whatever the merits or demerits of the question, these will be disclosed in the full discussion which is now taking place in the county. It is claimed that free exchange of their commodities with the United States will greatly benefit the farmers to whom commercial union will throw open a free market of sixty millions of people while the manufacturer would have a market of sixty million people also instead of five. But while it is a debatable question whether Commercial Union would be a boon, there is no doubt that the great cheap sale of $18,500 worth of ready-made clothing at gough's is a boon of the most monumental kind. Don't potter with theories, but come down to practical facts and call at gough's and get double the value for your money you can get anywhere else.

Exempting A. C. A. Canoeists.

The Department of Customs has issued instructions to collectors to admit free of duty the canoes, camping paraphernalia and personal effects of American canoeists, coming to participate in the annual meet of the Northern Association next August. The exemption, of course, does not apply to any dutiable articles brought into Canada for purposes unconnected, in a legitimate manner, with the camp at Stony Lake.

BIG LUMBER TRANSACTION

M'LAUGHLIN BROS. OF ARNPRIOR TO SELL THEIR MILL AND LIMITS.

Although the C.P.R. Did Not Get the India Mill Contract the Company Will Receive a Subsidy—The Manitoba Provincial Railway.

OTTAWA, July 6.—It is rumored in lumber circles that the biggest transaction which has ever taken place in the trade is about completed, being the sale of McLaughlin Bros'. large mills at Arnprior, and extensive limits on the Upper Ottawa, to Hon. J. G. Ross of Quebec and E. B. Eddy, the Match King, of Hull. The consideration is $2,500,000. The cause of selling is the ill-health of the managing partner, who has been advised by his physician to seek rest. In the event of the purchase being completed it is said Messrs. Ross and Eddy contemplate building a short line railway from Arnprior through the Townships of Fitzroy, Huntley, March and Napier to Ottawa.

There appears to be a probability of still another vacancy in the House of Commons, Mr. Duchesnay, M.P. for Dorchester, being dangerously ill of typhoid fever at his home in St. Marie Beauce.

The sharpshooter memorial fund now amounts to $2800.

It is understood that in spite of the ratification of the India mail contract by the Imperial Government the Canadian Pacific Company will still most probably receive a subsidy from the British Government for their steamship line as an alternative route. The Canadian Government will also grant a subsidy.

A member of the Government is authority for the statement that the proposition of Parisian capitalists to secure the Intercolonial Railway will not be seriously considered until the Government has had an opportunity of observing the effect created by the opening of the Canadian Pacific Railway short line through the State of Maine.

The general impression here is that the Government will not take any further action with regard to the Manitoba Provincial Railway if its construction is continued in spite of the disallowance. According to the view of a Cabinet minister the road will probably meet its own fate and that ere many years elapse. In the first place the refusal of the Canadian Pacific Railway to connect its track with the rival road will prevent the latter securing freight from points west of Winnipeg. The line, it appears, will have to depend upon local traffic through a narrow stretch of country already traversed by two lines, as well as the Red River.

Hon. Dr. Harrison, the Manitoba Minister of Agriculture, who arrived in Ottawa yesterday from Toronto, left for L'Orignal this morning to address a meeting of farmers in the interest of the province which he represents.

Mr. A. M. Burgess, Deputy Minister of the Interior, is meeting with a kindly reception on the Pacific coast. The New Westminster City Council presented him with an address of welcome yesterday.

PREPARING FOR THE TWELFTH.

The Hamilton District Making Arrangements for a Big Procession.

HAMILTON, July 6.—The Orangemen of this city and district will hold a grand demonstration here on Tuesday next, the 12th. They will be joined by numerous lodges from other places and a grand time is looked forward to. The brethren, on their arrival by the G.T.R. and N. & N.W. railways, will be taken to their respective hotels for dinner, after which they will re-assemble in the Gore at 12.30 and take the positions assigned them in the following order: True Blues, Orange Young Britons, Prentice Boys, Orange Lodges, Black Preceptories. After formation the procession will proceed on the following route: Down James to Cannon, along Cannon to John, up John to King, along King to Park, down Park to York, along York to the Dundurn.

THE BISHOPRIC OF NOVA SCOTIA.

Rev. E. G. Edgehill, Chaplain-General of the British Army, Chosen.

HALIFAX, July 7.—The Episcopal Synod of Nova Scotia, at a meeting this evening for the election of a bishop of the diocese, vacant by the death of Bishop Hibbert Binny, came to a decision on the first ballot, the only candidates nominated being Bishop Sullivan of Algoma and Rev. E. G. Edgehill, Chaplain-General of the British Army, in London.

The vote stood—Edgehill, clerical delegates 70, lay delegates 56; total, 126. Sullivan, clerical delegates 20, lay delegates 48; total, 68. The election was then made unanimous by standing vote.

Mr. Edgehill was garrison chaplain in Halifax eleven years ago, and was then considered of strong High Church tendencies.

A Steamship Disabled.

LONDON, July 6.—The steamer City of Richmond, Liverpool for New York to-day, is reported to have put back to Queenstown disabled.

The Leipsic Trials.

BERLIN, July 6.—In the trial of the German officials at Leipsic, who are accused of furnishing the French Government with information regarding the military situation of Germany, the prosecution has closed its case. The evidence is strong against Klein and Grebert. According to the sworn statements of the War Office authorities the prisoners divulged to the French Government information of a character which greatly endangered the military position of Germany.

FIRE IN QUEBEC'S CITADEL

A HISTORICAL STRONGHOLD ASSAILED BY AN UNUSUAL FOE.

A Conflagration Originates in the Cavalry Stables and at Last Accounts was Spreading Rapidly to Other Parts of the Fortifications.

QUEBEC, July 6.—Between 11 and 12 o'clock to-night fire broke out in the Citadel. Great danger is apprehended.

Later—The fire broke out in a row of stone structures on the right hand side of the alley inside the main entrance to the Citadel, or what is supposed to be the barracks. It has now spread to the buildings inside the Citadel ground and grave fears that it may reach the magazines is felt.

At 12 o'clock loud booming could be heard, but whether it was an explosion or an attempt to blow up the other portions of the buildings cannot be ascertained, as all approach is cut off by the intense heat and flames. The fire now covers two or three hundred yards of the length of the buildings facing the entrance. There is great consternation among residents on the Cape and on St. Louis-street. The city is lit up as bright as from the sun's rays. People are flocking from all directions and it takes a large force of police to keep them back from running their heads into danger. The city fire brigade at the present time are unable to cope with the flames.

12.30 a.m.—All the available force in the battery are blowing up the building. The trumpeter is now sounding "danger" and for all hands to keep clear.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Sir John in Town—The "Cat" at Central Prison—Other Interesting Gossip.

TORONTO, June 7.

Sir John Macdonald has been in town for two days resting after the labors of the session and seeing his friends. He saw many of them. There was quite a gathering of them at the Queen's yesterday.

Sir John occupies his old quarters, the Red Parlor and the suite of rooms attached. He wears a suit of London gray, a white plug hat and the familiar red tie. Secretary Joseph Pope was with him as usual.

The Chief-tain spent the first day calling on his friends. In the evening he dined at the Albany Club with a select party of faithful followers, going home early. He retired before midnight and slept eight hours straight.

The Premier returned to Ottawa over the Canadian Pacific Railway last night.

The use of the cat-o'-nine tails as an instrument of torture is not now so prevalent as it used to be, when the old-school disciplinarians looked upon it as indispensable to the preservation of order, especially in the army and navy. In those departments it is now almost an obsolete mode of punishment. The severity of the lash is so extreme that it is only admissible in extreme cases, and is repulsive except when used on a bad type of criminal.

That the use of the cat was excusable, even commendable, in the case of John Grelish, convicted at the recent Assizes of indecent assault upon a girl of 10 years of age, and sentenced by Mr. Justice Rose to two months' imprisonment and fifty lashes, no one can deny. Monsters of this class deserve to have meted out to them the severest punishment, and in receiving it they are entitled to no commiseration. At Central Prison yesterday morning Grelish received his first instalment of the cat in presence of all the convicts. He was strapped to a triangle, and, bare-backed, received twenty-five lashes, administered by an experienced hand. The man shrieked with agony as each successive lash was administered and piteously cried out for mercy. When he had received his full complement he quivered with pain, and was removed to the surgery to have his wounds dressed. The flesh on his back was badly marked, but there was no abrasion or bleeding.

The catastrophe which befell the Canadian Pacific Railway train near Galt Tuesday evening, was the chief topic of conversation amongst railroad officials and people generally yesterday.

Mr. Wilson, Divisional Superintendent for Ontario, went to Galt, and on his return last evening stated that there are strong hopes entertained of the recovery of Engineer Spragge and Fireman Johnston. They are badly scalded about the face and shoulders, but it is hoped they will pull through all right.

Conductor Randell is badly bruised, but was reported to be progressing well yesterday.

The injured passengers are getting along nicely, and will soon be able to move to their homes. The line was cleared for traffic yesterday morning; all the cars with one exception are a complete wreck.

The cause of the switch being left open is believed to be due to a misunderstanding between the switchman and a conductor of a freight which passed down some time ahead of the ill-fated passenger train. The collapse of the train was the work of a few seconds. The passengers were thrown in some cases violently against one another, and others against the opposite seats and windows. The crashing of glass, the sound of hissing steam and the dangerous position in which the passengers found themselves created the greatest consternation. For example, a lady was a few moments before the accident sitting quietly with her baby on her lap. When the crash came she was thrown over to the opposite side minus the infant. When all was over she looked around expecting to see the mangled corpse of the child, but her joy even amidst the desolation and confusion was great when she beheld it safe and sound hanging on a hat peg.

A large number of people from Galt and surrounding country viewed the debris yesterday.

The New Conservative Paper.

EARNSCLIFFE, OTTAWA.

Dear Sir: At a meeting of the representatives of the Liberal Conservative party in Parliament, held last session, it was resolved that it was necessary that a newspaper should be published at Toronto which might be relied upon as an exponent of the political principles which have governed the party in the past and which will guide it in the future.

A share list was opened and $35,000 were at once subscribed. I need not say that I entirely concur in the view taken at this meeting.

For the purpose of discussing the most practical means of attaining the desired end I venture to ask you to attend a meeting of some of our friends at the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, on Wednesday, July 6, at 2 o'clock p.m.

I remain, dear sir, yours very truly,
JOHN A. MACDONALD.

Upwards of fifty of Toronto's leading Conservatives were at the meeting, which was held in the billiard room of the Queen's. Mr. A. R. Boswell was called to the chair. Sir John spoke, as did Mr. David Creighton, M.P.P. It was stated that $250,000 was wanted before anything could be done. A considerable amount was subscribed. If the contemplated paper ever comes into existence it will be called The Empire.

Marriage of Mr. W. J. Tupper.

HALIFAX, July 6.—W. J. Tupper, barrister, of Winnipeg, son of Sir Charles Tupper, was married in St. Matthew's Church this morning to Margaret, third daughter of Chief Justice McDonald. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Laing, in the presence of a few relations and friends.

Thomas Lightfoot Loses His Life While Trying to Save Vincenzo Cairo—Seven Bodies Taken From the Bay Within a Week—A Steamer Runs Into a Schooner.

TORONTO, June 7.

Vincenzo Cairo, aged 12, and Thomas Lightfoot, aged 16, lost their lives by drowning in the water opposite Mrs. Mead's hotel at the Island yesterday afternoon. Cairo was an Italian fiddler who played on the boats and who lived with his parents at 287 Centre-street. As the ferry Jessie McKilvarda was leaving the dock the lad, who was lounging on the railing and who had been warned by the captain, fell into the water, a number of people witnessing the accident. There was an unsuccessful attempt to lower the Edwards' small boat.

Lightfoot, who has been employed at Mead's Hotel for two or three years, pulled off his coat, ran along the wharf and jumped into the water. He struck out for the lad who, however, went under for the third time before he could be reached. Then Lightfoot went under, the Italian having grabbed hold of his foot and pulled him down. He came to the surface and struck for shore, when suddenly Cairo, having evidently climbed up his body, appeared beside him, threw his arms around his neck and gripped his throat with his hands. Lightfoot struggled desperately to free himself, but in vain, and the two sank together never to rise again in life.

Esplanade Constable Williams was sent for to find the bodies, but before he arrived Police Constable Willis had brought up the body of the Italian and Williams got that of Lightfoot, which was removed to Rosar's undertaking establishment, King-street east, whence the funeral will take place this afternoon. Nearly $60 was subscribed at Mead's last night for the burial expenses. Lightfoot's only living relative is a sister in Washington, D.C. Cairo's body was taken across on the ferry with the intention of placing it in the Morgue, but when it reached there his father, who had hurried down town on hearing that an Italian fiddler had been drowned, was there to receive it. He took it home.

Seven Bodies from the Bay.

Steamer v. Schooner.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the schooner Hanlan of Picton moved out from Geddes' wharf and at the same time the steamer Algerian steamed away from the wharf on the other side of the Yonge-street slip. Neither captains saw the other's boat until too late and the result was that the schooner ran bow first into the steamer, her jib striking the cabin work in the forward part of the boat. Neither boat was much damaged. The Hanlan, of course, had the right of way.

A Winnipegger on Disallowance.

Mr. Alfred Pearson, a prominent resident of Winnipeg, is at the Queen's. "The disallowance of the railway charter for the proposed line from Winnipeg to the boundary line," he says, "will not in any way interfere with the construction of the road. There is a quiet determination on the part of the people of the province to have the line constructed, and should the Dominion Government attempt by force to prevent it, I fancy there will be trouble. The Government will probably, at least this is the opinion prevailing in our midst, allow the road to go on. It will say to the C.P.R., 'We have done our utmost to protect your interests in this matter and can go no further.' I cannot say, though, that the road will rid us of the burdens from which we suffer. We hope and believe so and desire to see it built."—Toronto World.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. eod w

RETRIBUTION.

SERMON BY LAYMAN.

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

When men do wrong, and when they offend against the laws of their Maker, they seldom think that the time will come when they have got to answer for their sins. They may go on in their wrong doing but sooner or later the day comes when they must answer for their misconduct. When that hour comes and when punishment overtakes them, when they can do wrong no more, when the consequences of their misdeeds stare them in the face, and when retribution comes upon them, then they wish they had done better. Then they learn that punishment as surely follows wrong doing as effect follows cause.

There is a natural law and there is an artificial law. Artificial law is man's law, but natural law is God's law. The punishment for a breach of man's law is temporal, but the punishment for a breach of God's law is eternal. There is time for repentance even to the eleventh hour. After that, without repentance, comes retribution with everlasting misery. Man's duty, both as a citizen and as a Christian, is easy to follow and easy to perform, and he alone can perform it. He is made a free being, an intelligent being, he is made a free agent, with God's law before him, and he alone is responsible for his own doings, and he alone must suffer punishment if he break that law, and he will also reap his reward if he obeys that law. People, even in this world, cannot escape punishment for the violation of natural laws. It comes to them in the form of broken health, of loss of peace and happiness, and of consequent disappointment and difficulty. But if he keeps that law he enjoys health and prosperity in this world and peace and happiness in the world to come. And he feels the proud consciousness of having done his duty as a man and as a Christian, and of believing that his reward will be the blessings that flow from a good conscience. It would be easy to give examples of punishment which man voluntarily bring upon themselves through breach of human and divine laws. It seems as if man loves the wrong rather than the right, no matter what the penalty. Notwithstanding God's kindness to him, notwithstanding the great sacrifice which God made to save man from his sins and to provide a way by which he could escape the consequences of his evil deeds, still ungrateful man refuses to accept the only means of safety thus provided and persists in living in wilful defiance of the means provided for his comfort and happiness. Then comes the end, the dire end for which he labored all his life. He has had all the enjoyment which sin could give him, he has denied the existence of the Deity, he has laughed to scorn all the teachings and warnings of good men, the grave yard contains the remains of those whom it was his duty to protect. He is now an old man, with health and strength gone, nearing the end of life's journey, he looks behind and he has nothing to cheer him, he looks forward and there is nothing but darkness and despair. He stands now on the brink of eternity, he hears the waters rushing by, he looks upon the other shore and the blackness and darkness fill his soul with fear. He feels now that cold, stern retribution is near and he looks in vain to the world for even one ray of encouragement and hope. He thinks of his good patient wife who is no more, of his little helpless children whom he refused to protect, he thinks of their pleadings and cries which he disregarded. He sees himself a poor, broken down wanderer over the earth, all brought on by his own recklessness and sin. He realises his dreadful position now that it is too late and he feels and knows that dread eternity is near, that eternity which he so often disregarded and despised. And when death comes retribution comes also. The light has gone out. The scene is covered by black clouds. There is one plunge into the river of death, one shriek, one cry for mercy, and silence covers all. That is the retribution which God brings to those who will not do right. It is a fearful penalty because it lasts forever. Man's punishment for breaches of man's law may be atoned for. He breaks the laws and is punished, and then begins life again. And it is in his favor to reform and live on and become good and happy. He can make amends for wrong done, and he can, if he will, win the respect and confidence of his fellow men; so long as life lasts it is open to him to do better. To live an honest life and to do by others as he would they should do by him. But when life ends man's law ends also and then God's law begins. If he has done God's will and obeyed his commandments he receives his reward in "well done thou good and faithful servant." If he has lived in defiance of God's laws, if he has disobeyed God's commandments, there is nothing left for him but retribution and punishment. If he has lived to himself alone, comforted nobody, cared for nobody, if he has lived a life of selfishness and listened to no one's wants, lived a life of miserly disregard of the social and spiritual needs of others, he must pay the penalty for all these in another world where the money saved by grinding the poor in this world will avail him nothing. I know an old man, just tottering on the brink of the grave, who has spent all his days in money making, and who, by caring for no one but himself, by taking advantage of others' necessities, laid up much of this world's goods. And now, that he has succeeded in his soul's desire in this respect, he does not enjoy his wealth, but lives in constant dread of starvation and want. He is a living warning to others, and his dwindling mental incapacity and bodily weakness are enough to cause disgust and pity for the man who has spent a long life in accumulating lands and money, and who now cannot enjoy it. And his example is that of many others also. Very few of my readers have not seen the same. Better, far better, to live a life of poverty and toil, eating the bread won by the sweat of the brow, than to do as these have done. For the man who earns his dollar by his daily labor can eat his humble meal and lay himself down and sleep the sleep of the just and the good. But the poor, God-forsaken, pinched up miser cannot enjoy either meat, rest, or sleep. He is an object of commiseration and contempt. It makes him miserable to see others live, and when he comes to the end of his miserable existence and he lays himself down to die, and he looks around for friends and finds none, and he knows that he has got to go and leave all his ill-gotten wealth behind. Then it is that he begins to realize his position and to look forward with fear and trembling for what is to come. Then it is that retribution overtakes him. His time for good is past. His last hour has come. Of what value is his money to him now? He has given his soul for its acquisition, and others come and take it and enjoy it, refusing even one sigh to his memory; Retribution is a word full of terrible meaning. Whether applied to civil actions or to spiritual duties it ought to make their violators tremble for the consequences. Too often, however, they never think of the effects of what they are doing until it is too late. They go on, living to the world, do as they see others do, laugh at the warnings given them, apparently imagining that their day of reckoning will never come. But come it surely will, and that, too, sooner than many of them anticipate, but when it does come woe be unto them, for their repentance will be too late. The door to forgiveness will be forever closed, and out into the deluge of sin and sorrow they will go, and their days of rest and peace will be no more. How much better would it be for men to think of the wants and claims of others, and to speak words of kindness and lend a helping hand, instead of giving harsh words and refusing help to those in need. Kindness and deeds of charity go a long way in smoothing away the hardships and troubles of life, and they bring comfort and happiness to the weary soul and dry up many a tear. The pathway of the dying father is made easier, and the sickbed of the poor, weary mother is made softer, and the little children feel that when father and mother are gone, they will not be forgotten. No man needs do wrong unless he likes. If he does so, sooner or later the penalty must come, and if not in this world, certainly in the next. He may put off for a time the evil day, but, perhaps when he least expects it, his hour comes and retribution follows after. Then he sees himself in all his naked deformity. Then he realizes his future destiny. He sees the heavy black clouds, he hears the sound of the coming storm. He feels the cold, surging waters gathering over him. He tries to pray but it is too late. He cries for mercy but mercy is not for him who in life showed none to others. He reaches out for his money but finds it not. It is all too late. Retribution has come and shut the door of hope. He cannot go back. He cannot heal the broken hearts of his victims. He once heard and laughed at their cries, but he would give up all now—he would wipe away their tears if he could. But it is too late. His sun has set. His daytime is over. The sounds, which once were music in his ears, are now harsh and discordant. He thinks of his early days, of the time when, a little boy, he played around the door and listened to the song of the birds. Of the time his mother soothed his pains and sang him to rest. He calls for mother to come now and comfort his weary soul, but she answers not. She has long gone before, and now he wonders if he will ever see her dear face again. He lies and thinks and thinks, and then the cold, clammy breath of Death blows over him and he is gone.

The Dominion Day was duly observed by the Indians on the reserve. A large number of whites were present from all parts of the country. Nearly all the Indians from Mud Lake and Alnwick were on hand. There were a variety of sports. The best race was well contested and was won by Madden Howard, but on the whole the innocent amusements were not so attractive as on former occasions.

A public meeting was held in the evening in the church, which was well attended. The Rev. S. Cragg occupied the chair. Mr. Marsden, of the Alnwick band, gave a pleasing address, first in English and then in Indian. The Rev. Gilbert Clewerth, of Dakota, U.S., gave a brief but eloquent address. The last speaker was Mr. Spence, of Toronto. He has been before the public for many years, and is a racy, logical and effective speaker. The choir sang admirably, Miss Cragg at the organ. This was the best entertainment of the day.

LATEST SPORTING TOPICS.

News From the Baseball Field—Other Affairs in the Sporting World.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., July 6.—The attendance was again large at the races here today, this being the fourth day of the meeting. Although the weather was warm there was a refreshing breeze which cooled the air and made the afternoon more pleasant than on previous days. It was a good day for the favorites, they winning three of the four events. The hurdle race was a victory for the Canadians, their representatives finishing first and second. The result was a big surprise, Williams, a 12 to 1 chance, winning in the last few strides by a head. The fields were large and the races well contested. The details follow:

First race, purse $300, of which $60 to 3d; for all ages, to carry 105 lbs. each, no sex allowances, winner of two or more races at this meeting to carry 7 lbs. penalty. 1 mile.

H. J. Woodford's b.g. Barnum, 5, by Bonnie Scotland —Charlotte Thompson, 105.....(Morrison) 1
S. Burgess' ch.h. Brait, 5, 105.....(Douglas) 2

Dr. W. Price's ch.m. Rosa Pearl, 5, 105.....(Drane) 0
Time—1.45.

Betting: 1 to 2 against Barnum, 4 to 1 Brambleton, 6 to 1 Brait, 8 to 1 Repetta, 25 to 1 Rosa Pearl. Estoch paid $8.60.

The race: Brait and Barnum went away nearly on even terms, Repetta leading the others. As the turn Brambleton moved up and took the lead, Repetta and Rosa Pearl tapped only a neck behind, Brait fourth and Barnum last. When well into the back stretch Repetta ran into second place, Repetta third and Brait next, with Rosa Pearl last. Rounding the turn Barnum forged ahead and entering the straight lead by one length from Brambleton, Repetta third. Nearing the finish Brait came with a rush and passed Brambleton and Repetta, but could not overhaul the favorite, who won easily by half a length, Brait a length in front of Repetta, Brambleton fourth and Rosa Pearl last.

Second race, purse $300, of which $60 to 2d, selling allowances, for horses that have not and not won at this meeting, horses entered to be sold for $2000 to carry weight for age, then 1 lb. allowed for each $100 (not to exceed $1000), then 2 lbs. for each $100 down to $800. Mile and a quarter.

The race: After some delay the flag fell to a straggling start, of which Berlin got the better, with Fred R. in close attendance, the others strung out. In the back stretch Red Buck went to the front, Fred R. lying on his quarters, Harry Rose, Berlin and Bronsomarie, running head and head, coming next. On the home stretch Red Buck drew away and Bronsomarie and at the head of the stretch was on even terms with Red Buck. The two ran together half way down the stretch, when Berlin drew away and won by a length from Red Buck, who was three lengths in front of Harry Rose.

English with Variations.

From The Argonaut.

The vagaries of slang are infinite. Last night as I stood waiting for a car two Sixth-avenue gentlemen met and greeted each other cheerfully.

"Hullo, Chimmie," said one with a radiant smile, "still wearin' them gallway slugs for whiskers, I see."

"Still wearin' 'em, Andy. I notice you've got your feet wid you."

"Ya-as."

"Better keep 'em along; y' may go fishin' this summer, and you'll need 'em for sinkers."

"Well, raythor,"—a slight pause—"don't you think you better close your mout m' son? Might get cold in your teet."

"Have t' go you."

"Well, good night, ole man."

"Good night," said the other, shaking hands warmly, as he turned into a restaurant. "Ax-guse me, will yer? I'm goin' in here to feed me face."

"Hail! Horrors, Hail!"

is an expression of Milton regarding the "infernal world." It is not too much to say that those who suffer from catarrh would thus express themselves about that disease. Torture and despair mark their daily existence. However, every case can be cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Its proprietors have for years made a standing offer in all the newspapers of $500 for an incurable case. It speedily subdues all bad smells is thoroughly cleansing, antiseptic, soothing and healing in its effects. 6dw27

Worth Remembering.

In a long letter from John H. Hall, of Baddick, Cape Vincent, N. S., he says: "I believe were it not for Burdock Blood Bitters I should be in my grave. It cured me of kidney and liver complaint and general debility, which had nearly proved fatal." 2w27d

The Triumphant Three.

Time for Tenders.

Tenders for the building of a new bridge on Simcoe street will be received up till this evening, when the committee meets and decides upon whose tender shall be accepted.

Give the Clerks a Chance.

The early closing movement is in full swing now, though some of the dry goods stores seem inclined to keep open after the stipulated hour. They should fall into line and all work harmoniously together.

Rubber Paint is ready for Use.

Is easily applied and holds its rich glossy appearance for many years. Rubber floor paint dries hard in twelve hours, is durable and economical. All the choicest new shades in stock of this the best paint in the world. dw GEORGE STETHEM.

Lowering the Pipe.

The branch pipes from the George street water main, leading into McKee's drug store and H. LeBrun's clothing store, are being lowered beyond reach of the frost in winter. Some trouble was experienced last winter by the freezing of the pipes.

Presbytery of Peterborough.

The Peterborough Presbytery met in the Presbyterian Hall, Walton street, Port Hope, Tuesday morning. There was a large attendance. The business was mainly routine. The next meeting of the Presbytery was appointed to be held in Peterborough, on the 13th of September, in St. Andrew's church, at 1 o'clock p.m.

Excursions.

Two Sunday School excursions went from Peterborough this morning. The George Street Methodist Sunday School left by a special train comprising seven cars for Hutton's Grove, Lindsay. The regular 8:20 morning express, with several special cars, conveyed the Millbrook Sunday Schools to Lindsay, en route to Sturgeon Point. They have excellent weather for the trip.

The Two New Blocks.

The new Dunsford block on Water Street is rapidly nearing completion under the skilful and energetic superintendence of Mr. Gamble, the contractor. It will be one of the finest blocks in town. Mr. T. Rutherford, contractor for the Snowden block on Simcoe Street, is working steadily on the cellar and foundations.

A Choice Selection of Heavy Double and Twisted Cottonades, just the thing for Harvesting, now in Stock at Turnbull's.

The Lumber and Timber Supply

From the rapid rate at which commercial demands for lumber and timber are clearing off our standing timber, there is some ground for fear that prices will advance and the supply become exhausted within a few years. There is a great deal of truth in this, and the man who contemplates building will do so more cheaply now than in the near future, therefore he who is wise will lay in a supply of the cheap and good furniture now to be found in stock at Belleghem's in infinite variety. No other house in the trade can show so superb a stock and at so reasonable figures as Belleghem. Ordered work for shops, hotels, churches, schoolhouses, a specialty of this establishment. All orders promptly executed. All furniture bought at Belleghem's delivered and set up either in town or country.

Sanitary Matters.

Regular Meeting of the Board of Health.

Councillors Menzies and McNaughton, Dr. Fife, E. Pearse, R. W. Errett, Dr. Clark, Health Officer, and Inspector Adams, attended the meeting of the Board of Health, last evening; Dr. Fife in the chair.

Mr. A. May offered to supply the town with a nuisance ground, for the sum of $10 per year. His offer was accepted. The ground secured is an old sand pit below the R. C. Cemetery. Persons having any filth or refuse to deposit have now a suitable dumping ground.

The Secretary was instructed, on motion of Mr. Errett, seconded by Mr. Pearse, to notify Mr. Robert Hall to abate the nuisance existing on a lot of his on the south side of Spaulding's Bay. The nuisance is caused by the swampy nature of the ground, which is liable to give rise to malarial disorders. The town council were, also, to be notified to widen Townsend street to the full width of 66 feet.

The chairman and Dr Clark reported the month of June to have been one of the healthiest in their experience, the latter stating that there was only one case of diphtheria—at the Protestant Home.

Moved by Mr. Pearse, seconded by Mr. McNaughton,—That the Sanitary Inspectors be instructed to inspect all private drains and to notify those using them that the drains must be kept in sanitary condition or closed up and also that the Inspectors notify all persons having waterclosets over the creek that they must discontinue using them, under pain of prosecution.—Carried.

Dr. Clark reported that up to date the following sanitary work had been done:—Notices served, 204; Yards examined, 520; Yards found clean, 316; Slaughter houses removed, 2.

The meeting then adjourned to the call of the chairman.

Police Court.

THURSDAY, July 7.

Yesterday at Lakefield, before Police Magistrate Edmison, Mrs. Whelan, D. Costello and T. J. Bird pleaded guilty to a first offence against the Scott Act and were fined the usual $50 and costs each.

Isaac Hendricks, a resident of Edinburgh street, was this morning fined $2 and costs for allowing his horse to run at large.

Two lads, named Saunders and Heffernan, were arraigned before the Magistrate this morning charged with having used abusive and insulting language to Mr. Wm. Kerr, caretaker of the Locks bridge. It seems the boys have been in the habit of going in swimming there, throwing stones, tearing down fences and doing all sort of mischief, to the great annoyance of Mr. Kerr. Their bad conduct culminated the other day in their using language towards him so vile and blasphemous, that patience ceased to be a virtue, and Mr. Kerr had two of the young delinquents summoned to appear in court. A dozen or more youngsters, friends of the interested youths, witnessed the proceedings in court with all the gravity of seniors, and when the trial was adjourned till next Tuesday, regarded the decision as a virtual victory for their side. They had better be more careful in their conduct in future, though.

"Hazel Brae."

The many friends of Dr. Barnardo's "Home" will be glad to know that the report of diphtheria among the children is without foundation. The situation of the "Home" is remarkably healthy, and the utmost care has been taken to guard the children against the attacks of contagious diseases. Miss Westgarth, one of Dr. Barnardo's honored workers in the "Girls' Village Home" at Ilford, and Miss Joyce, the genial lady visitor of the girls placed out from "Hazel Brae", started for England yesterday, having in charge five girls who have proved to be unfit for Canadian service. Two were returned because of ill health, two for mental incapacity and one for unsatisfactory conduct. The fact speaks volumes for the work in which Dr. Barnardo is engaged, and should enlist the practical sympathy of all who are interested in the great benevolent enterprises of the day.

The Next Big Day in Town.

In one sense next Tuesday will be a big day in town. The Orangemen celebrate their favorite anniversary by making Peterborough the focal point of their gathering. There are no less than eight trains bringing passengers from no less than fifty-seven stations. Therefore we may count on having an immense crowd in town on that day. The visitors will see a town worth seeing and among the sights worth seeing will be the great clothing establishment of the great gough, where a great sale of $18,500 worth of prime ready-made clothing is being run off at 40 cents on the dollar. Just think of it, a beautiful, well-made, well-fitting and stylish check tweed suit for $2.75, and a fine black worsted suit for $6.90. Visitors on the 12th of July should take away one of these suits as a souvenir, and also make money in the transaction, for enough will be saved to pay the expenses of their journey, a moderate proportion of "Moxie" included. Gough's, George street, sign of the Quadruple Dudes.

Personal and — Piscatorial, probably.

Messrs. Harry LeBrun and "Dod" Clement drove out to Burleigh on Wednesday evening for a day's fishing. If the local anglers are not too busy with haying, the town fishermen will probably secure a fine catch of finny spoil.

Summer Oddfellow Visitors.

Preparations for and Prospects of the Grand Lodge Session and Demonstration.—The Committee Actively at Work.—Great Interest Manifested in the Coming Occasion.

Thursday night a largely attended meeting of the local committee of Oddfellows charged with the duty of preparing for the reception and entertainment of the Oddfellows who will visit Peterborough next month on the occasion of the annual Grand Lodge session and the accompanying demonstration. A large mass of correspondence was opened, all tending to show that the coming occasion is evoking more interest than any other similar occasion for years. The chairman of the Reception and Hotel Committee is deluged with letters of inquiry and many of these from prominent members of the order, who have not graced previous Grand Lodge sessions with their presence. Among other leading men who have already signified their intention of being present here in August, is Lieut.-Col. Cole, P.G.M., Brockville, who has already engaged rooms at the Oriental Hotel.

Intimation of their having decided to be on hand next month has been received from Mount Royal canton of Patriarchs Militants, of Montreal. They will bring with them two full-costumed Highland pipers and the band of the Victoria Rifles, the most excellent musical organization in the Dominion, will, it is expected, also be present.

The Newmarket canton of uniformed patriarchs have written to say that they will not only be present but that their band will be with them during the entire week.

Acceptances of invitations have also been received from the several cantons in Toronto, Hamilton and London, with bands.

In addition to these, will be the grand army of the delegates and representatives of the Order from all parts of the Dominion with their wives, portions of their families and personal friends, so that there will be without doubt a very large influx of visitors during the Grand Lodge week and especially on Demonstration days, Aug. 10th-12th.

So lively an interest manifested thus early guarantees a very successful Grand Lodge week, and as the accommodation of the town will be somewhat taxed, it will be well for those interested in the accommodation of guests to begin early to make full preparations. If this is done with the enterprise and completeness which characterizes the undertakings of our citizens there will not be the slightest danger of a dearth of accommodation. In case, however, public accommodation should be taxed beyond its limits, it would be well for any persons who have private rooms with board to have them in readiness. If such persons would kindly communicate with the Reception Committee by leaving their addresses and the particulars of the accommodation they can supply, at Nugent's drugstore it can be determined what supplementary accommodation is available.

It is obvious that a great burden of responsibility is thrown upon the Reception Committee, and it is to be expected that the citizens generally will co-operate and render all the assistance in their power. The selection of Peterborough as a place of meeting for the Grand Lodge is a compliment, which every citizen is bound to see is deserved, by an unstinted and complete extension of hospitality. The hundreds of visitors who will be here during the week and the thousands on the gala days, will necessarily leave a large amount of money in town, and so direct a benefit, apart from any consideration of maintaining the credit of the town, should secure the active co-operation of every citizen. The occasion is one that will bring prominent and representative men from every part of the Dominion, and it is wise on our part to see that the town provides them with a good report, in every respect, to take home with them. It would be a good thing if the streets were kept in the tidiest and cleanest possible condition. In addition to the portion falling to the lot of the Street Inspector, whose work can be trusted to be well attended to, if every individual will attend to the portion in front of his own premises "the whole street," as the proverb says, "will be kept clean."

If, too, the proprietors of our large manufacturing establishments will afford facilities for visitors going through their establishments, they (the former,) would be gainers. Though there might be some interruption to the routine of work, this would be more than compensated by the advertising which would result from these visitors reporting, as eye-witnesses, the extent of these establishments and the merit of their products.

The corporate authorities can also give material assistance, especially on Demonstration days, August 10—12. They should see that the street leading to the Driving Park is well watered and made free from dust and comfortable, not only for the semi-military bodies during their march but also for the multitudes of persons who will line their route of march.

The general committe are working energetically and they deserve, and will doubtless receive, the active sympathy and assistance of every citizen, according to the measure of his ability.

Personal.

Mr. Alexander McDonald, of Ashcroft, British Columbia, and son of Mr. Duncan McDonald, of this town, has after a lapse of eleven years returned to Peterborough on a visit to his friends.

Mr. William Learmouth, of Otonabee, has returned home after a months' visit with his daughter and deceased son's family, in Detroit, Mich.

The Late Thomas Short.

The telegraphic despatches of to-day announce the death of Thomas Short, Esq., bursar of London Lunatic Asylum. Mr. Short will be well remembered by the older residents of the county. He was a former resident of Keene, where he carried on an extensive mercantile and lumber business, and a large milling business at Allandale. He was a prominent citizen for many years, highly respected, a staunch Reformer in politics, and worthy of the public confidence, as shown by his being twice elected, previous to Confederation, to parliament, as the representative of Peterborough County, comprising the present east and west ridings. Mr. Short has many relatives living in Otonabee. After removing from Keene he was for several years bursar of the Central Prison. About ten years since he received the appointment of bursar of the Asylum for the Insane at London.

THE FIRE IN THE CITADEL.

The Origin of the Conflagration Unknown but an Investigation Will Be Held—The Total Loss, it is Estimated, Will Reach $150,000.

QUEBEC, July 7.—The fire which broke out in the cavalry stables at the Citadel near midnight last night was got well under control at 5 o'clock this morning and the excited citizens, who feared a terrible conflagration, sought their homes. The alarm throughout the city was most intense at one time. There were fully 5000 men, women and children walking about the streets. Many made their way to the surrounding country, fearing that there was danger of the magazine exploding. The total loss, it is estimated, will reach $150,000, on which there is no insurance.

The origin of the fire has not yet been ascertained, but it is thought that the stable picket, who is always kept in the stable and whose duty it is to look carefully at certain hours after the horses and provender, was asleep when the fire appeared. This sentinel has the privilege of retiring during the night for a short time. All information regarding the origin of the fire will likely be ascertained at the investigation which the military authorities will hold at an early day.

The stables and sheds on the ramparts are built entirely of wood of light construction and of such a nature that no imperial corps would have tolerated their use in such an important place as the Citadel, and in a place where large quantities of gunpowder are stored. They proved a veritable tinder-box and the flames spread from point to point, destroying and laying low everything that they touched. The Governor-General's and officers' quarters, stables of the artillery, hospital and provincial armory, which contain 2,000 stands of arms, were uninjured.

GUILTY OF TREASON.

Two Members of the French League Convicted at Leipsic.

LEIPSIC, July 7.—Erhardt, one of the men who has been on trial here for treason during the past few days, was yesterday liberated by the court, the charge against him not being sustained. Counsel for Klein, for whom the procurator had asked a nine years' sentence at hard labor, urged extenuating circumstances, and declared that there was an absence of proof that Klein had tried to seduce others from their allegiance. He had simply acted from motives of patriotism.

The prisoners Klein and Grebert were asked whether they desired to make any statement. Klein excitedly protested against the punishment which was demanded for him. It was too great; he had committed no base crime; his chief offence consisted in being caught. "Punish me," he exclaimed, "as a French spy. I was born a Frenchman, and am no German traitor." Grebert was greatly dejected and almost sobbed while protesting his innocence.

FRENCH ARMY MOBILISATION.

The Cabinet's Instructions to the Premier and the Minister of War.

PARIS, July 7.—The Cabinet have decided that M. Rouvier, the Prime Minister, and Gen. Ferron, Minister of War, shall inform the Budget Committee of the Chamber of Deputies that the Government will carry out its proposed experiment of mobilizing the army.

It was also decided to dismiss from office all French Mayors who were in any way concerned in Royalist manifestations in honor of the Count of Paris during his visit to the Isle of Jersey.

THE NEW GERMAN LOAN.

The Issue of 100,000,000 Marks Subscribed for Seven Times Over.

BERLIN, July 7.—The issue of the 100,000,000 marks of the new Imperial loan has been subscribed for seven times over. The bulk of those desiring to invest are private capitalists. The applications of Berlin parties alone amount to 400,000,000 marks.

The North German Gazette (Bismarck's organ) is overjoyed at such a brilliant result, which it regards as remarkable in view of the low interest offered.

Ninety Chinese Rebels Executed.

LONDON, July 7.—Advices from China state that a rebellion took place recently at Chang Chow, near Shanghai. The uprising was suppressed by the authorities and ninety of the conspirators were executed. A number of secret societies also rebelled in the Province of Kuang-Si. A military officer and eleven soldiers who were implicated in the rebellion, were captured and beheaded.

The Pope Sympathizes With France.

PARIS, July 7.—The Figaro says the Pope in a conversation recently with a French statesman, who visited him in Rome, expressed his attachment for France and declared that the equilibrium of Europe would remain upset until France regained her proper position among the nations. The Pope also said that he understood the French regrets for the loss of Alsace-Lorraine, and wished that by pacific intervention he could assist France and her desire to regain her lost territory.

COMMISSION ON STAMPS.

LAST YEAR THE GOVERNMENT PAID VENDORS $40,000.

The Reduction Recently Announced Made in the Interests of Economy—It is Not Thought that any Inconvenience to the Public will Result.

OTTAWA, July 7.—Mr. Duchesnay, M.P. for Dorchester, died yesterday of typhoid fever. This is the fifth death since the general election, two Conservatives and three Liberals.

The rumor is revived that Rufus Stephenson will be appointed Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories.

Sir Hector Langevin, Sir Adolphe Caron and Hon. Mr. Chapleau are expected to return in time for the council to-morrow. Hon. Mr. White will return from Dalhousie on Saturday.

It is rumored that A. P. McDonald is the lowest tenderer for the second section of the Cape Breton Railway, but it is mere guess work. It is very doubtful whether the examination of all the tenders has been made yet.

The Atlantic mail service contract will probably be submitted to council to-morrow.

It is understood that the Departments of Interior, Agriculture and Indian Affairs will occupy the new departmental building when it is completed, which it is not likely to be for over a year if the contractor keeps up his present slow rate of progress.

In an interview with Hon. Mr. McLelan, Postmaster General, this afternoon, with reference to the reduction of the commission hitherto allowed stationers and others who sell postage stamps, he said that the reduction to one per cent. was made in the interests of economy, and that he did not think it would cause any inconvenience to the public or reduce the revenue from the sale of stamps. In Great Britain and the United States no commission was allowed to stamp vendors, and in the former country they had to give bonds for £100. The commission paid here last year amounted to about $40,000, two-thirds of which will be saved by the reduction. The commission allowed used to be five per cent., and when it was reduced to three there was a great outcry, but the dealers had not given up selling stamps. They found that keeping stamps for sale attracted custom to their shops and so they will continue to keep them. There are about forty stamp vendors in Ottawa, and the feeling against the reduction is very strong. Several of the leading stationers say they will discontinue the sale of stamps when their present stock runs out. James Hope & Co., who run the stamp counter in the postoffice, have notified the postmaster that they intend giving it up. There is not much probability of anyone else taking it and the postmaster says he supposes the clerks will have to sell stamps at the wicket.

The Comptroller of the Mounted Police has received a telegram stating that the trouble with the Indians in the Kootenay District, British Columbia, has been settled. This, it is expected, will obviate the necessity of the despatch of fifty Mounted Police now stationed at Golden City, B.C., waiting orders from headquarters. The Indians, it appears, have agreed to deliver up to the authorities the prisoner rescued from jail some time ago.

THE CROWN PRINCE'S ILLNESS.

The Growth in the Throat Said not to be of a Malignant Character.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Dr. Merrell Mackenzie of London has sent a cablegram to The Medical Record detailing the results of his third operation upon the throat of the Crown Prince of Germany. The entire growth has been removed by the laryngeal forceps and the parts beneath are in an apparently healthy condition.

Dr. Mackenzie says: "Prof. Virchow has examined the specimen microscopically and reports that its tissue shows nowhere any alveolar structure or evidence of immigration of epithelial masses. The structure consists of slender connective tissue which contains only on its surface enlarged cell elements partly undergoing proliferation, but assuming nowhere the character of independent focal formation."

Dr. Sherady says: "So far as the microscopical examination is concerned the disease appears to be essentially of a non-malignant character. The disposition towards limitation cell proliferation may be caused by active inflammatory processes in tissues peculiarly exposed to irritation, but from any other point of view the outlook is not as promising as it might be. Everything new in the way of prognosis must depend upon the fact whether or not there is to be any recurrence of the growth. If the latter obtains with an increased disposition towards cell multiplication the chances for ultimate recovery will be on the wrong side. At present we have reason to hope for the best."

The Afghan Boundary.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 7.—The President of the Afghan Commission yesterday visited Sir Wesley Ridgeway, one of the English members of the commission. The commission will resume the consideration of the boundary question on Saturday, and it is believed in official circles that a definite arrangement will be reached. Gen. Annenkoff has left here to supervise the construction of the Samaracan section of the Transcaspian Railway.

The Act of a Madman.

JONESBORO, Ark., July 7.—Yesterday a man got off a west-bound train here and walking up to a crowd of people drew a revolver and fired three shots, killing one man and fatally wounding another. The man is a stranger and is believed to be an escaped lunatic.

Rubber Works Suspend Operations.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., July 7.—The National Rubber Works, Bristol, on account of the large amount of manufactured goods on hand, has suspended work for an indefinite period. Twelve hundred operatives are thus thrown out of employment.

Yellow Fever at Key West.

KEY WEST, July 7.—There have been three new cases of fever since yesterday and one death.

The New Constitution of the K. of L.

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—The new constitution of the Knights of Labor will go into effect on Monday next. Action was taken by the General Executive Board on the passage of the new laws by the local assemblies on July 2, and to-day the formal promulgation of the constitution was made to take effect.

British Imports and Exports.

LONDON, July 7.—The returns issued by the Board of Trade show that the imports during the month of June decreased £1,550,000 as compared with the same month last year, and that the exports decreased £1,220,000 as compared with June, 1886.

Roman Catholic Bishops Appointed.

THE THREE MONTH'S HOIST.

MR. GLADSTONE PROPOSES TO APPLY IT TO THE CRIMES BILL.

The ex-Premier Makes a Vigorous Speech in Denunciation of the Government, and is Ably Replied to by Mr. Balfour—The Debate Adjourned.

LONDON, July 7.—In the House of Commons to-night, on a motion made for the third reading of the Crimes Bill, Mr. Gladstone, amid prolonged cheers, made a counter motion that the bill be read a third time this day three months. Mr. Gladstone said the bill was the Conservative alternative to Home Rule and, therefore, bore a different aspect from any ordinary Coercion Bill. The old coercion measure had been aimed at crime only, but this new one aimed at society. [Hear, hear.] Further, this bill had been brought in without any foundation such as underlaid all former coercion bills based on the existence of exceptional crime. Mr. Balfour had disregarded all precedents requiring that the introduction of coercion measures be prefaced by a statement of exceptional crime.

Mr. Gladstone maintained that the increase of crime in 1886 over 1885, in view of the agricultural distress in Ireland, was exceedingly small. Comparing the official record of the Tory Government in power in Ireland in 1885 with those in power the first five months in 1887, there was a marked decrease in agrarian crime. Yet in 1885 they had refrained from introducing a coercion measure from motives of policy. A comparison of past and present statistics afforded no shadow of justification for the present measures. Another contrast was that past Parliaments had been nearly unanimous in assenting to coercion, while this bill was opposed by a large minority in the House and by a majority of the people of the country, a majority which was not likely to diminish. [Cheers.] If Parliament resisted any regard for the traditions of liberty or of party usages the measure would be abandoned. What could they urge to warrant such an invasion of the people's liberties? While resenting the imputation that the Liberals had done the same thing, he would admit that past measures had been failures. Among the differences between the past and the present was the extraordinary proposal making the Viceroy master of the whole law and right of association. In the present century such a proposal was an outrage upon every principle of public duty. Moreover, new officers were created under the measure. The Attorney-General for Ireland had admitted, and it was too late to deny, that the bill aimed at the suppression of exclusive dealing. That was far more pardonable in the weak and poor than in the rich and powerful, but it was the exclusive dealing of the poor against the strong at which the bill aimed. If a new crime were created the measure for its suppression should operate impartially. [Cheers.]

The Government did not dare to lift a finger in defence of the suggestion that it apply to England a provision such as it was forcing upon Ireland. He contended that the Government was bound to extend to the occupiers of land in Ireland a perfect equality with English trades unions, as regards the rights and practices enjoyed by the latter, among which combinations and exclusive dealings were sanctioned. As the bill stood, if an Irishman joined an association it was for Mr. Balfour to say whether or not he became a criminal by the act. [Cheers.]

In conclusion Mr. Gladstone said that Ireland, after seventy years of oppression and wrong was in a state of misery and wretchedness. [Cries of hear, hear.] In the whole British Empire there was not, he said, a square yard of land which England held by force alone except in Ireland, where force was employed. [Enthusiastic cheers from the Irish benches.] Ireland was held by mastery, but the Government refused to learn that that mastery involved responsibility. [Cries of "Hear, hear."] They knew that the whole literature of the world was against them. [Cries of "No."] He challenged the Government to mention any authority who had reviewed the relations between England and Ireland without arriving at a Home Rule resolution. [Cheers.] The Tories professed to be fighting for the union of the Empire, a fight in which the Liberals joined. [Laughter and cheers.] The Liberals held that the charge of disunion was ridiculous. It was evident that the present state of affairs could not last long, as he believed that every day tended to bring the Tories nearer their doom.

Mr. Gladstone then moved for the rejection of the bill amid cheers from the Liberal and Parnellite benches.

Mr. Balfour, replying to Mr. Gladstone, first referred to the charge that the Government had brought the bill as an alternative to Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule proposals. If that was the case, he said, he felt justified in saying that it was sufficient to recommend the measure to the acceptance of the House. The Government was mainly justified in introducing its proposals by the state of social tyranny which had recently been in Ireland, a tyranny that attacked the rights and liberties of the minority, both of those elementary principles without which a country could never be prosperous. He contended that crime was worse now in Ireland than in 1870, when Mr. Gladstone promoted coercion.

He taunted Mr. Gladstone with having introduced in 1881 an arbitrary coercive measure which enabled the Irish Chief Secretary to imprison anybody at will. He ridiculed the comparison that had been made between trades unions and societies whose object was the dismemberment of the Empire, and which were supported by foreigners. The trades unions might well be indignant at a comparison of their honest, peaceful efforts with those of boycotters and political conspirators.

Mr. Gladstone had made an insidious and inaccurate statement regarding this year's crime in Ireland. Early in the year there was a visible improvement, but at the last quarter sessions there were evidences of a relapse. In June sixty-two serious crimes were committed, ten above the average of the previous eighteen months.

Mr. William O'Brien praised Mr. Gladstone's opposition to the bill. Mr. Gladstone, he said, was the greatest conqueror of Ireland. While others conquered Ireland by the might of arms Gladstone conquered by mere generosity of soul.

After Major Saunderson and Attorney-General Webster had replied on behalf of the Government the debate was adjourned.

The Distressed Unions (Ireland) Bill was read a second time.

In Brief, And To The Point.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this and business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

FRIDAY, JULY 8, 1887.

"THIS PICTURE AND THAT."

One measure of the fitness of a government for its trust is the manner in which it discharges that trust. On this principle the utter unfitness of the Dominion government for its place has been and is daily being made manifest. In respect of our financial position comparisons with that of the United States are odious—especially to the Tory government and its friends. Their conscious guilt is what makes them fear criticism and they are ready to denounce as rankly disloyal any person pointing out what injury to the country Tory misrule has wrought. Yet the patriotism of the Tory lights is not above suspicion. Hon. Mr. Chapleau has become mysteriously wealthy as a politician, and he acknowledges that he has invested his wealth in California, and a clerk of his department will be sent to take charge of his California estate. Upon this subject the Ottawa Free Press says:—

"What a patriotic set of men these Tory cabinet ministers are! They prate about Canada's glorious future and denounce pessimism, but take good care not to invest their "boodle" in Canadian enterprises. Mr. Chapleau buys orange groves in Florida and California, Mr. Pope builds a railway in Maine, Mr. Ives purchases a cattle ranche in Texas, Sir David Macpherson is president of a Montana ranching company, and Mr. Colby proposes to end his days on the plains of Colorado. What a fine example of patriotism these Tory leaders are giving to their countrymen! They love Canada for her money. How can foreigners be expected to invest their capital in Canada when they see that our own cabinet ministers refuse to do so? And in the hope of diverting public attention from their own conduct these investors in American securities keep up a whine about patriotism. If they would only follow their investments, instead of remaining behind to bleed the taxpayers further, it would be a grand thing for Canada."

These super-loyal persons and their adherents raise hands in holy horror, if some "'Grit' pessimist" presumes to draw comparisons between the results of their misrule and the results of thrifty government methods. The public debt and annual expenditure of Canada are not per se, cheerful subjects of consideration, but they become less so when compared with the financial condition of our neighbours. We all know how our public debt is increasing at the rate of about a million dollars per month, while our annual expenditure is apparently straining every muscle to keep pace with it. The increase of both is appalling. On the other hand what is the condition of the national debt of the United States?

The increase in the public debt of the United States, according to the treasury figures was, for June, $16,852,725; for the fiscal year, $109,707,646. The total decrease of the interest-bearing debt was $88,757,792. On July 30, 1886, the cash in the treasury was $380,393,357; it was $421,343,211 on Friday last, or an increase of $40,949,853. This surplus revenue was accumulated notwithstanding that the expenditures were greater than in 1886. For civil and miscellaneous purposes the expenditures have been for the last year greater by $10,000,000 than they were the year ending June 30, 1886. The war department expenditures were about $4,000,000 greater; those of the navy department more than $1,000,000 greater, and the outlay in pensions was more by $12,000,000 than it was in the preceding fiscal year. In spite of the fact that the rate of taxation by customs duties is higher in Canada than in the United States—$4.04 per head as against $4.22 per head, we have in Canada annual deficits and an alarming increase of the public debt—an increase as before stated of about a million dollars per month, while the United States are wiping out their debt at the rate of nine millions a month, while the Treasury, at the close of the last fiscal year—on June 30th, contained over 421 millions of dollars. This is doleful reading, but something of the kind is needed to call the attention of the country to the terrible financial pace we are making. The bitter truth is sometimes better than optimistic lying or narcotizing suppressio veri. Our physicians for our good often treat us to unpalatable doses and nauseating potions. The body politic sometimes needs similar heroic treatment to stir the nationalbile. Our country with equal facilities for national wealth-getting should be in a booming condition of thrift. But evil counsellors control our destinies and we have evil results. And nothing better can be expected till the unjust stewards who are squandering the national treasure—spoiling the national heritage—are removed from the places they dishonour and discredit.

Peterborough Roller Mills.

Important Additions and Improvements Going on.—A New Elevator and Store-House Going Up.—A Brief Description of a Most Substantial Structure.

Since Messrs. Muldrew & Davidson have taken possession of these mills their condition and reputation have shown steady improvement. The mills not long since were completely renewed and supplied with the, at that time, most improved milling appliances, but the firm is not yet satisfied. They are now engaged in introducing improvements which will place their mills, in a position of efficiency, equalled, in the matter of improved machinery and methods, by no other mill in Canada. In view of the increased business these improvements will develop a new elevator and storehouse for the mills is under construction. The occasion is inopportune for dealing with the mill improvements in detail, but below will be found a brief description of the elevator.

THE NEW ELEVATOR

building is situated on the north side of the flouring mills, and will be a most substantial structure. Its ground area is 40x40 feet, including nine 6,000-bushel bins. The foundation consists of sixteen piers of stone masonry about four feet square, extending six feet below the ground surface, the lower portions of which are laid in hydraulic cement. These piers terminate above in caps of solid Foxboro stone, 22 inches square and about a foot in thickness. This leaves a space on the outside of the piers for lasting in the transom timbers which support the joists for the flooring of the space which contains the spouts for the different bins, which converge at the elevator in the middle of the building. The caps of the piers rise about an inch above the floor. Directly on these piers rest the bases of the posts supporting the bins. These posts, 12 feet high, consist each of a cluster of timbers two of which are 14x14 inches, buttressed on either side by 8x12 timbers, placed at right angles to them and secured by bolts. Some of these clusters, according to situation, consist only of the two 14x14 timbers strengthened by a third timber placed at right angles. Upon the tops of these rest two 14x14 timbers, one on the top of the other, and on these placed at right angles rests a timber 12 x14 forming the sills, so to speak, of each of the nine bins. Through the middle of each bin space on the same level stretch two timbers 12x14, one foot apart; in the centre of the bin space between these timbers are bolted blocks one foot apart, forming the bottom opening, one foot square, of each bin. From this central square the hopper bottom is built up of planks 2x12 inches, something in the manner of building a "strip" house, except that, starting from each of the four sides of the central square opening, each inner plank of the lower course underlaps the next outer and upper course. Thus the courses of planks rise and expand regularly from the centre by two-inch gradients till the lateral limits of the dimensions of the bins are reached, when the planks are exactly super-imposed, and the walls forming the outsides of the bins, which collectively form the outer walls of the building and the inward walls, forming the partitions between the several nine bins, rise perpendicularly to the height of sixty feet. The over-lapping planks forming the hopper bottom of the bin inside are, after laying, "dubbed" off till a smooth face is formed, and, as the vertical walls rise, a ladder from bottom to top is formed by placing, at regular distances apart, iron rods across one of the angles of the bin. The bin is floored over above and furnished with a trap door, so that, in case of accidental clogging of any bin, a man can descend the ladder and investigate the matter.

Additional strength is given the bins by two transverse iron rods crossing each other at right angles, from side to side of each bin at every five feet from bottom to top. The rods at the bottom are of inch iron. As the height increases and, of course, the pressure of grain would lessen, the size of the rod diminishes. Every one of the nine bins has its own separate and distinct set of stay rods. Each of the nine bins holds 6000 bushels of wheat, and, therefore, when full of wheat, each contains a weight of 180 tons. Every bin is the counterpart of the other except the central one, through which passes the elevator pipes from the basement to the attic story. From each of the bins pipes converge to the hopper whose bottom terminates at the boot of the elevator, which is provided with five-inch buckets. When it is desired to take grain from any bin, the valve is opened and the wheat is elevated from the basement hopper to the attic story from which it is conveyed by chutes to any part desired of the grist mill adjoining.

At the south west corner of the elevator is placed the weigh hopper for receiving grain from farmers' wagons. From this the grain flows into the central hopper to be elevated.

The elevator building will be roofed with iron. Its construction is under the supervision of Mr. N. Shaw, whose name connected with anything of the kind is a guarantee of a good job. The building which is being erected by the Dickson Company, will be put forward so as to be in readiness for the fall grain trade.

Farming by Steam.

Mr. Robert Romaine, a former estimable citizen of Peterborough, but now of the House of Commons stationery departments Ottawa, does not let the dull routine of office keep down the prolific play of his inventive genius. He has invented and patented a machine to do all sorts of work on a farm without the use of horses—that is, to do farming by steam. This would be a "great snap" for the honest farmer, but it yet remains to be proved whether it is a practical affair or the ingenious dream of a visionary inventor. But no matter however well it may work, it will not be half as big a boon to the farmer as the great $18,500 cheap sale of the great gough at 40 cents on the $. Hear and marvel thereat. Stylish and good mens' tweed suits at $2,75, and good worsted suits at $6.90 at gough's, george street. This is no blow but the sober, serious, solemn, straigh-out, stupendous truth. Call and see.

Crooks' Medicine.

To the crook who dines in a restaurant the silver spoons are like some kinds of medicine—to be taken after meals.

Not Very Much.

Is there any rest on earth? plaintively asks asks an exchange. Well, it must be admitted that there isn't much, especially in fly and mosquito time.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS.

NEWS FROM THE BASEBALL FIELD AND RACECOURSE.

The Toronto Double Up the Jersey Citys—Storyettes From Syracuse—Racing at Monmouth. Chicago and in England—The Yacht Thistle Coming Over.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., July 7.—This was the fifth day of the inaugural meeting, and termed by the association Ladies' Day, and it was rightly named, as the fair sex were largely represented. The attendance was the largest of the meeting, and the weather fine, though warm. The program was an excellent one, and the racing enjoyable.

The Canadians failed to score a win to-day excepting the Hunt race, which comprised only their own representatives. The betting on the events was brisk, especially in the Hunters' race. The favorites had rather the best of it, winning three of the five races. The steeplechase proved the heaviest contest of the day. Gen. McCullough had the call in the betting, but the Canadian mare, Lucy Lightfoot, proved a dangerous rival, and no doubt if she had not acted so badly at the finish by swerving in behind McCullough, would have won.

First race, purse $300, of which $30 to 2d, for all ages, winner of one race at this meeting to carry 5 lbs. penalty, of two or more races 7 lbs. 1 mile.

The Thistle to Cross the Ocean Shortly.

LONDON, July 7.—The cutter Thistle arrived in Gourock Bay this morning flying thirteen flags representing the number of races she has won. The captain denies that there have been any material changes in the yacht's crew or that insubordination existed among the men. One or two of the original crew had left and been replaced by Scotchmen, but that was all. The Thistle will at once make the necessary changes in her rig to enable her to cross the ocean. It is expected she will depart for America in about three weeks.

The Eastern Yacht Club's Annual Cruise.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., July 7.—The Eastern Yacht Club's squadron sailed on their annual cruise this morning. The flagship Gitana headed the procession followed by the Mohawk, Stranger, Wanderer, Ocean Gem, Ambassadress and Galatea. The Galatea, which started last, passed them all and took the lead. The yachts will touch at Portland first.

The Shamrock and Titania.

NEW YORK, July 7.—In the match race between the yachts Shamrock and Titania, twenty miles southward from Scotland Light and return, the Shamrock's mast was sprung and she was towed in. The Titania finished alone.

Toronto Beats Jersey City.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., July 7.—An excellent fielding struggle by the Torontos and Capt. Glover here to-day in the 6th allowed the Canucks to walk off with the ball game afterwards. Heavy batting by the home team in the 2nd and 3rd innings failed to secure them victory, virtually the game in that innings. McCormick made a home run. Score:

An Enjoyable Time.

The excursion of the George Street Methodist Sunday School to Lindsay yesterday was one of the most enjoyable of the season. Everything tended to make the occasion a happy one—fine weather, a large attendance, and a beautiful grove to pic-nic in. The usual pic-nic sports were held in the grove, for which suitable prizes were awarded the successful competitors. Everyone was thoroughly pleased with the day's outing.

Ashburnham Amenities.

The people of Ashburnham are beginning to be moved by the influence of the dog star, and, as a local punster perpetrates, the consequences are likely to be Sirius. The villagers have a burning little boundary dispute of their own. A certain citizen has, it is claimed, had a portion of the street under fence. A few days ago the village authorities decided to assert what has proved to be its "little brief authority." The village street inspector, acting under instructions, removed the trespassing fence and laid down a sidewalk on what was supposed to be the proper line. Hardly was the last spike driven before the irate citizen, whose bounds had been disturbed, tore up the walk and flung the material into the street. At present the upshot awaits development, but in all probability there is fan ahead. The party now in possession is not one to give up easily, and the civic authorities have a momentous trust to fulfil.

Installation of Officers of Peterborough Lodge—Brief Review of the Lodge's History.

On Thursday evening, 7th inst., the officers of Peterborough lodge, No. 111, I. O. Oddfellows, were formally installed by Bro. E. E. Henderson, District Deputy Grand Master of this district, as follows:—

Bro. W. A. Stratton	J. P. G.
" R. J. Kidd	N. G.
" R. Hamilton	V. G.
" A. Macfarlane, Q. P., (re-elected)	Rec. Sec

" J. Clarke, M. D.,	Lodge Physician

Representatives to the Grand Lodge of Ontario.—Bros. A. Macfarlane, P. G., (re-elected), and S. Clegg, P. G., (re-elected).

Reference was made in these columns, a few days ago, to the prosperous condition of Otonabee Lodge of this same order, and it is gratifying to record that Peterborough Lodge is holding its own in the race of friendly rivalry existing between these two active lodges. From the financial statement submitted for the term ending June 30th, it is evident that the affairs of this lodge are in a most satisfactory state of prosperity. It has upon its books 132 members in good standing; its annual income is about $2,000; it pays out, within a fraction, the sum of $600 per annum for sick benefits and to its widows and orphans, carrying a balance to its credit in the treasury of almost $3,000, which is safely invested and bearing interest. This lodge was instituted on May 7th, 1873, and a mere cursory calculation will show what a vast amount of good it has been doing in this community in the systematic reduction to practice of the sublime principles of the order which inculcate the duty of "visiting the sick, relieving the distressed, burying the dead and educating the orphan." The affairs of this lodge are in the hands of and are conducted by capable and experienced officers, who, by the influence of their example and their active exertions in promoting the interests of the order, infect and stimulate to similar activity the younger members of the lodge. This lodge has been particularly fortunate in the selection of its officers; from the time the late W. H. Scott, ex-M.P.P., occupied the chair as first Noble Grand, this position, as well as all the other offices, has been efficiently filled. The growth of this well managed lodge has been so rapid and steady that it has far outgrown its present comfortable quarters in the Cox block, and an enlargement has been decided upon, Mr. Cox kindly consenting to double the size of the room. Plans are being prepared for the alterations, which, when carried into effect, will give this society an elegant and spacious lodge room. It will be furnished according to the good taste of the members and the standing and position of the lodge. This course has been found absolutely necessary on account of its large and rapidly increasing membership. The EXAMINER only echoes the wish of the general public when it hopes that the present prosperous condition of Peterborough lodge may ever continue.

Sermon to Orangemen.

Rev. Mr. Tovell will preach a sermon to the Orangemen and True Blues of Peterborough district in St. Paul's Church on Sunday evening. Collection in aid of the Protestant Home.

The Tale of a Shirt.

Once upon a time there lived a man. He lived somewhere or some other place. He was a big man, too. In fact, a very big man. Once upon a time he had a very big shirt made to order to fit his giant frame. It was made of print, stamped with horse-shoes. A stand-up collar accompanied the shirt. It—that is the collar, not the shirt—looked like a high-board fence around a baseball ground. But just before he got the shirt and collar to wear, he contracted the measles and died. That shirt and that collar are on exhibition in the show window of H. LeBrun's Clothing store.

The Bishop at Bobcaygeon.

Bishop Dowling, the new Bishop of Peterborough, will commence a visit to this parish, says the Bobcaygeon Independent, on Saturday. His lordship is to arrive here mid-day Saturday, and will meet the children at the church in the afternoon. At half past seven in the evening he will address the congregation at the Church. On Sunday morning Rev. F. McEvoy will celebrate Mass at 10.30, and the Bishop will probably deliver the sermon. In the afternoon he will drive to Fenelon Falls for evening service, visiting the Burial Ground on the way. During the week he will visit Galway, and other parts of the parish.

Mr. McAleer has decided to retire from business, and must clear out his large stock of boots and shoes in the next two months, hence the necessity of his keeping open till late in the evening and using every effort to rush off the stock. TORONTO TOPICS.

Chloroformed, Robbed and Tied to the Bed—The Council's Gas Inquiry.

TORONTO, July 9.

Mrs. Fox, of 221 Sackville-street, gives a tragic account of a burglary committed at her residence at an early hour yesterday morning. Her husband is an engineer in Winnipeg, and on Monday last sent her $35 with the request that she should join him there. Mrs. Fox communicated the intelligence to some of her neighbors.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Fox was found lying in her bed bound hand and foot and gagged. The first to make the discovery was Mrs. Patterson, who occupies apartments in the house. Mrs. Fox's story of what happened is a startling one. About 2 o'clock in the morning a couple of strange men entered her room, and as she was about to raise an alarm one of them put his hand over her mouth while the other administered some stupefying draught, supposed to be chloroform. A pistol was pressed against her temple with a demand for her money or life. She directed the burglars to a sewing machine drawer, where she had deposited a purse containing $30. This was secured by the burglars. Mrs. Fox then lost consciousness, and can give no further account of what occurred. She was subsequently found by Mrs. Patterson, as described. She describes the burglars as tall, stalwart young men.

The affair is shrouded in mystery, and if the opinions which the police seem to entertain be correct, the story will soon lose its tragic bearing, and resolve itself into a cunningly devised scheme to relieve Mrs. Fox of her money.

At the meeting of the City Council yesterday, Mayor Howland introduced the subject of the trade disputes at present causing such uneasiness and trouble in the city, and recommended that a committee of the Council should be appointed to try and settle the matter as between the masters and the men. Unless, he said, some such action were taken the disputes might go on for weeks and months, which would be a very serious loss to all concerned. In the Massey strike such a course had been adopted with the desired effect. There was a sort of pride about the men on strike, said His Worship, which would not allow them to come to terms other than those which they themselves imposed. The bosses on the other hand did not seem disposed to yield altogether to the men, so that if a few members of the Council—parties who could not be considered as having any personal interest in the dispute—were to exercise their influence between the employers and employes it would likely have the effect of bringing about an amicable settlement.

The Mayor's suggestion was cordially approved of, and a committee consisting of Ald. Rogers, Johnston, Boustead, Roaf and Carlyle (St. Thomas) appointed, with power to add to their number.

Mr. Charles Bateman, a well-known architect of Boston, was fishing over at Niagara-on-the-Lake the other day and pulled out a bass whose weight will discount anything caught there this season. The bass weighed within a fraction of seven pounds and was long in proportion. Mr. Bateman took his prize to the Hub and will startle Bostonians with the new dish of "bass and beans."

The aldermen yesterday passed a vote of condolence to the wife and family of the late Chief Justice Sir M. C. Cameron in their bereavement, and expressive of the great loss the community had sustained in the death of so eminent a man. The resolution will be engrossed.

The boss lathers held a lengthy meeting last night in Temperance Hall to discuss the probable demand of the lathers for an increase in wages. The lathers are paid 27½ cents an hour and will, it is understood, ask for 30 cents. The bosses say their men have already all they are entitled to, and declare they will stand a lockout in preference to granting an increase.

Fireman Frank Smith will be Hanlan's mentor during his training season at Pullman. They will leave for Chicago on Monday or Tuesday and may be accompanied by O'Connor.

A SNUB FOR MR. BLAINE.

Turned Away From Edinburgh Town Hall by a Janitor.

EDINBURGH, July 8.—The freedom of the city was to-day presented to Andrew Carnegie. Mr. Blaine was invited to be present, but owing to the great crowd he was unable to gain admittance. Mr. Blaine and Senator Hale arrived at the Town Hall half an hour after the ceremonies had begun, but the ticket takers and the janitor of the building refused to admit them. A message was sent to the Lord Provost, apprising him of the presence of the two gentlemen, but that functionary waited until Mr. Carnegie had finished his speech before sending instructions to the janitor to admit them. Meanwhile Mr. Blaine and Mr. Hale had retired in disgust. Mr. Carnegie, when informed of the circumstances, was very angry and although the Lord Provost was humble in his apologies, the guest of the city evidently noticed what he said.

Drowning Accident at Sydenham.

URBANDALE, July 8.—This afternoon about 2.30 o'clock Wallace Chapin, aged about 10 years and eldest son of Mr. Frank Chapin of this town, was drowned in the pond while bathing.

Raised to the Peerage.

LONDON, July 8.—J. H. Hubbard, Conservative member for London, has been raised to the peerage. Mr. Chas. Baring, the banker, will contest the seat made vacant by Mr. Hubbard's elevation.

THE CRIMES BILL DEBATE.

LORD HARTINGTON REPLIES TO MR. GLADSTONE.

The Masses, He Says, Cannot Understand As Well as the Educated Classes the Relations Between England and Ireland—Paddington Election.

LONDON, July 8.—Lord Hartington, in the House of Commons this afternoon, continuing the debate on the Irish Crimes Bill, said he recognized that every portion of the majority supporting the measure must bear its full sense of responsibility for what had been done. The party which he himself was connected with desired that there should not be the slightest doubt of their full acceptance of the Government's policy towards Ireland. Mr. Gladstone had said that the opinion of the civilized world condemned the action of England, the exponents of that opinion being the literature of the world. But the same authority has also told them that the opinion of the educated classes on the question was only distinguished by self-sufficiency and shallowness. So long as the Liberal Unionists were supported by the thinking and cultured classes of England Lord Hartington said, in conclusion, they would continue with confidence in their course, "for," added he, "surely the masses cannot have a better knowledge than the educated classes of the relations between England and Ireland."

The Crimes Bill passed its third reading by a vote of 349 to 263. The announcement of the vote was received with cheers and counter cheers.

The Paddington Election.

LONDON, July 8.—The election for member of Parliament for the North Division of Paddington took place to-day. Mr. Aird (Conservative) received 2280 votes against 1813 votes for Mr. Routledge (Gladstonian). This election was made necessary by the death of Cohen (Cons.), who in the general election of 1885 carried the seat over Mr. John Kempster, Gladstonian, by a majority of 910 votes. The total vote to-day was 353 more than at last election.

INTERVIEW WITH POPE LEO.

He Hopes to Help France Get Back Alsace-Lorraine—His Politics.

LONDON, July 8.—Figaro publishes a brief interview had with the Pope. In talking of the condition of France the Pope said: "Until France has resumed her rank among the nations the European equilibrum will remain broken." The Pope said that he understood as well as the French people the patriotic regret of the French army over the loss of Alsace-Lorraine. He said that he hoped to use his influence through pacific means to secure their return. He added:

"Yes, I wish to close this wound which continually bleeds."

He explained his relations to the German Government in the following language: "My work has been in Germany a work of pacification. In all arrangements which I have entered into I have followed with faith the Emperor, believing sincerely in his good faith and desire for conciliation. He is too near eternity for deception. As for Bismarck, it is not for me to seek to penetrate his private thoughts. It is sufficient to know that it is his interest to do what we have undertaken."

In conclusion of his talk he said that he hoped to be known in Italy, in France and in Germany as conciliatory. He said: "I hope I shall not be a party man in Italy any more than I shall be in France. I shall be a man of all parties or nothing."

TWO LIVES LOST.

Mr. Wm. Hargraft, Ex-M.P.P., and His Daughter Drowned at Portland.

PORTLAND, Me., July 8.—Mr. William Hargraft, ex-M.P.P. of Cobourg, and his daughter were drowned here to-day. Mr. and Miss Hargraft with other members of the family have been stopping at one of the principal hotels here for the past few weeks for the benefit of Mr. Hargraft's health, which of late has been very poor.

The bodies were recovered and they will be conveyed immediately to Cobourg where the interment will take place.

[The deceased was an Irishman, a native of Tipperary, where he was born in 1829. His family emigrated to this country in 1833 and settled at Cobourg, where the deceased was educated. After leaving school he went into the grain and commission business. For fourteen years he was a member of the Town Council and was afterwards elected mayor. In 1875 he was elected to represent West Northumberland in the Local Legislature, and at the end of his term retired from political life that he might give more attention to his business. He leaves a widow and several children, Mrs. G. W. Gooderham of this city being a daughter.]

THE HOME RULE EARL.

Aberdeen Banqueted by the Irish-Americans of St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 8.—Two hundred Irish-American and other citizens of St. Paul last night sat down to a banquet tendered to the Earl of Aberdeen, late Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland. In the address of welcome Bishop Ireland described the guest of the evening as the first Englishman who had ruled Ireland for the Irish, and declared that the name of Mr. Gladstone will take its place with those of O'Connell and Parnell. The Earl in reply declared that such a demonstration had a peculiar significance at the present juncture in promoting the success of the cause of Home Rule. "We must recognize the fact that a speedy passage of the Home Rule Bill depends on the votes of British electors. I do not speak of when Home Rule is coming, but it will be when the British public is disabused of its misapprehensions as to the aspirations of the advocates of Home Rule."

A LOTTERY SWINDLE.

The Montreal Police Spoil the Scheme of a Party of Sharpers.

MONTREAL, July 8.—A gigantic lottery swindle has just been unearthed here. The Chief of Police has received a number of inquiries from parties in the States asking for information about a financial firm named H. Reade & Co., of Montreal. Accompanied with the letter was a glowing prospectus of a grand legal lottery in aid of the parish of St. Marc, P.Q. The first prize was of the value of $40,000, and 10,000 prizes of different values. Tickets were $2 each. The tickets have been held by agents all over the States. The Post-office authorities discovered that the whole lottery was a gigantic swindle and stopped letters at the box and sent them back to their owners. Chief Paradis communicated with St. Marc Church authorities and, as was expected, found that they knew nothing of nor had authorized the lottery.

A Receiver Appointed.

NEWARK, July 8.—A receiver has been appointed for the Oxford Copper & Sulphur Company. The capital of the company is $1,000,000, and consists of mines in Canada and factories, real estate and personal property of the value of $600,000.

GREAT CALAMITY AT ZUG.

PART OF A SWISS LAKE TOWN SLIDES INTO THE WATER.

Seventy Persons are Missing and Supposed to be Drowned, and Six Hundred Persons are Homeless—The Loss Estimated at $600,000.

LONDON, July 8.—A portion of the land bordering on the lake at Zug, Switzerland, subsided on July 5, destroying many lives and houses. The disaster recalls in many respects the phenomena of South American earthquakes. For several days crevices had been observed in a new quay at Zug which cost $40,000.

At 2.30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon the lake in front of the stone work began to bubble. The quay then cracked and eighty feet of it fell into the lake. A dozen persons who rushed from an adjoining cafe were precipitated into the water and drowned. After a short interval another slip dragged several houses into the water. The landing stage followed, and a steamer which had just arrived was hurled 100 yards forward.

At 6 o'clock two boats which were going to the rescue were engulfed, only one man of the two crews rising again to the surface. At the same moment a boatman's sheet, in which there were three children, fell into the water. Furniture and cattle were now hurriedly removed from the threatened quarter.

At 7 o'clock the land slips began again and several carts which were removing property, sank into the lake. Fifteen houses and ten huts disappeared within a few minutes, including the Hotel Zurich, the roof of which is still visible above the surface of the lake. A cafe in which were ten customers was next engulfed, and 150 metres of a neighboring street then slowly vanished, the people jumping from the windows of the houses to escape being drowned. A party of officers returning from Lucerne assisted the fire brigade in rescuing the imperilled persons, but the danger increasing, troops were summoned from Bear.

The third landslip occurred at 11 o'clock, p.m., carrying five houses into the lake, and damaging many others. The municipal treasury was removed from the Town Hall to the postoffice. Seventy persons are missing, and six hundred are homeless. The damage is estimated at $350,000. People are pouring into Zug from all points to view the scene. A similar disaster occurred at Zug in 1493, when 160 lives were lost.

THE McGLYNN CASE.

The Priest Preparing to Fight Excommunication.

NEW YORK, July 8.—An evening paper to-day says: Dr. McGlynn's case has taken a new turn. From announcements in Henry George's paper, and from intimations by Dr. McGlynn himself it appears that the Doctor is quietly awaiting the publication of the bulls of excommunication, and that when they are published he will not pass out of the Church, as has been generally expected, but will make a fight against the ecclesiastical legality of the excommunication and will demand an ecclesiastical trial.

Dr. McGlynn claims that according to the decrees of the Baltimore Plenary Council two years ago he cannot be suspended, much less excommunicated, without being tried by a council of the clergy. In this claim he is supported, not only by his followers, but, he claims, by many eminent divines.

MONTREAL, July 8.—The following assignments were made to-day:

Beuthner Bros., importers, with liabilities of $25,000.

Jacob G. Schynman, jeweler, who was yesterday arrested on a capias, with liabilities of $5000.

McDougall, Logie & Co., paint, oil and varnish manufacturers, with liabilities which, it is thought, will reach $150,000; assets nominally the same. The principal creditors of the latter firm are A. Ferguson & Co. of Glasgow, Scotland, who are creditors to the extent of $75,000. It is thought that the failure is partly owing to a large fire in the store which occurred some time ago.

Boulanger and Ferron.

PARIS, July 8.—It is reported that General Ferron invited General Boulanger to take luncheon with him, and General Boulanger replied that the circumstances under which he was obliged to take command at Clermont Ferrand rendered it impossible for him to accept the invitation. Great preparations are being made at Clermont Ferrand for General Boulanger's reception.

A MESSAGE FROM PARNELL.

He Thanks American Irishmen for a Contribution of £5000.

To Eugene Kelly, New York:

I thank you and the Parliamentary Aid Association most sincerely for the very opportune remittance of £5000, which I have handed to the evicted tenants' relief fund. There is pressing need in this direction, as evictions have alarmingly increased during the last quarter and are being still further stimulated by the Crimes Bill. I trust that all of our friends will redouble their exertions for these unhappy victims of landlord oppression.

(Signed) PARNELL.

A TRAGEDY IN BRUCE COUNTY.

Meagre Information Regarding an Occurrence in the North Country.

ALLENFORD, Bruce County, Ont., July 8.—Widow McDougald was found dead at 2 o'clock to-day, shot through the breast twice by Sam Hughes. Hughes has been arrested.

Coffin Makers on Strike.

HAMILTON, July 8.—For some time past the firm of Simmonds Bros. & Co., coffin manufacturers, of this city, have been discharging employes who belonged to the Knights of Labor and taking on in their place non-union men and boys. The K. of L. men struck in protest yesterday afternoon. A dozen coffin painters, polishers and finishers are out.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. eodw

The Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, JULY 9, 1887.

THE total number of patents issued by the Patent office during the fiscal year just ended was 24,403, a large increase on the previous year.

MR. JAS. FLETCHER, Dominion entomologist, has gone to Prince Edward county, Ont., under instructions from the minister of agriculture, to examine and report upon a mysterious disease which has made its appearance in the pea fields of the county.

THE Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, has been advised that Mr. Baldimar, the gentleman who is promoting the settlement of Icelanders in the Northwest, is on his way to the territories with five hundred of his countrymen who propose to settle there.

MR. M. HUNTEAU, ex-M. P., who has just been appointed superintendent of immigration for the province of Quebec, is receiving his final instructions from the department of agriculture prior to starting for the Eastern states, to enquire into the repatriation question. On behalf of the government he will endeavor to ascertain whether or not any considerable number of Canadians who have settled in the States desire to return to the Dominion. His enquiries will not be confined to French Canadians.

THE Mail points out how the government has secured an artificial increase of the excise duties as shown by the large increase in these receipts last month. "The increase was brought about by a change in the law under which, after July 1st, all spirits are required to remain in bond for a year. Had the distillers allowed June to pass without taking out of bond a huge quantity of spirits, they would have found themselves unable to release a great deal of their product until June 1888; hence their haste to pay the duties."

MR. BURGESS, the deputy minister of the interior, is visiting the Northwest. The last time Mr. Burgess took a trip through that country he returned to Ottawa, says the Free Press, and reported that everything was lovely. Every settler in the Northwest, he declared, was contented and happy. A few weeks later an insurrection broke out on the Saskatchewan, thousands of volunteers were called to arms, and commissioners were sent out by the government to grant the insurgents the scrip for which they had been clamoring for years. Let us pray that history will not repeat itself, and that the present visit of Mr. Burgess to the Northwest may not be followed by results so disastrous.

Reorganize the Militia.

Probability of a Reduction of the Strength —The Major-General's Views.

There is a marked feeling pervading the militia force that a great change, involving practically the organization of the system, is about to be consummated. This feeling has been strengthened by the activity displayed by Major-General Middleton in travelling over the country for the purpose of inspecting, as far as possible, every brigade camp and every corps authorised to perform its annual drill at its own headquarters. Last year the General advised a re-organization of the force, and the government is understood to have delayed coming to a decision until after this year's turn out. The changes suggested are sweeping. The General's chief object is to reduce the strength of the force and improve the discipline and armament of the remnant. The General's suggestion, which it is understood will be carried out are:

First—That the strength of the rural corps shall be reduced.

Second—That corps shall be compelled to muster for drill in the newly authorised strength, if necessary the ballot being resorted to to fill the ranks.

Third—That every corps must drill each year, and the camps of the rural corps must be increased by at least four or five days.

Fourth—That the city corps should be improved by arming them with Martini Henriries of which there are sufficient in store and by providing them with paid adjutants, who would act as musketry instructors to the rural corps in their districts.

Fifth—That the permanent force be re-organised and increased.—Montreal Star, PRINCE FERDINAND ACCEPTS.

He Notifies the Sobranje that He Accepts the Bulgarian Throne.

TIRNOVA, July 7.—Prince Ferdinand of Saxe Coburg Gotha, replying to the Sobranje's despatch informing him of his election as Prince of Bulgaria, said he was proud of the honor conferred upon him, and grateful for it. "I hope," he added, "to prove myself worthy of the confidence of the Bulgarian people. I am ready to respond to the call and to devote myself to the service of Bulgaria as soon as the Porte accepts the election and the Powers recognize it." The Prince's answer was received with satisfaction by the Sobranje.

The Obstacles in the Way.

BERLIN, July 8.—The Coburg Zeitung, (semi-official) in an article on the election of Prince Ferdinand, says: "In view of the attempts of the Bulgarian party of independence to draw Prince Ferdinand into its confused affairs, we must point to the fact that a German prince, such as Prince Ferdinand, cannot accept a crown without permission of the House to which he belongs, nor without the consent of Emperor William, and until their consent is obtained nothing can be settled.

NEWS OF STANLEY.

The Intrepid Commander of the Emin Bey Expedition Pushing On.

LONDON, July 8.—The latest news from Stanley is that on the journey from Leopoldville to Leopoldsteln he encountered and had to overcome serious obstacles. One of the gravest difficulties he found was to replenish his commissariat. The threatened scarcity of provisions greatly excited a number of his men and it became necessary to punish the malcontents with much severity to reduce them to subjection and save the expedition. Stanley himself is ill from the excessive heat.

The expedition left Bolobo on May 11 and was expected to reach the Congo at its confluence with the Arewhim by July 5. Stanley's program was to encamp at this point, there to await the arrival of Tippoo Tip, who is approaching from Stanley Falls with provisions and a force of several hundred more men.

THE COMTE DE PARIS' HOPE.

Monarchy Will Come in France, He Thinks, By Gentle Transition.

PARIS, July 8.—The Gaulois says that the Comte de Paris, in bidding farewell to his friends on the Island of Jersey, after advocating silence, said: "You may be sure we shall win before long. Monarchy will come without violent effort, and by a gentle transition, for our organization is in training and everything is ready. The new Government will get into immediate working order, and on the eventful day I, helped by all good Frenchmen, shall be king."

FRENCH AFFAIRS.

It is Probable the Mobilization of the Army Will be Postponed.

PARIS, July 8.—M. Rouvier has informed the Budget Committee of the Chamber of Deputies that the Superior Railway Commission is opposed to the proposed experiment of mobilization of the army on the ground that the delay in the transportation service are too great. The mobilization will probably be postponed.

The party of the Extreme Left have decided to raise the question of the entire policy of the Government. M. Rouvier has accepted the challenge and the debate will open next Monday.

THE DISHONEST CASHIER.

Parent, Late of the Hochelaga Bank, Arrives at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 8.—A. D. Parent, the defaulting cashier of the Hochelaga Bank of Montreal, who was arrested in Buffalo on a Chicago indictment charging him with having brought stolen money into the State of Illinois, arrived here yesterday and was immediately jailed. He claims to have refunded $38,000, which he says is more than his shortage. The detective who arrested Parent found a New York certificate of deposit for $1500 concealed in his necktie.

Plenty of Gold From Europe.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The steamer Trave brought $450,000 in gold from Europe to-day. This makes $500,000 so far this week, none of which was reported at the time of shipment and not included in the estimate of $2,000,000 on the way.

Its proprietors have for years made a standing offer in all the newspapers of $500 for an incurable case. It speedily subdues all bad smells is thoroughly cleansing, antiseptic, soothing and healing in its effects. 6dw27

Preparatory Services.

Rev. Dr. McTavish did not appear as announced to conduct the services preparatory to the communion in St. Paul's church last evening, and his place was ably taken by Rev. Mr. Tovell, who preached from the text: "He shall build up Zion, when He appears in His glory." The preacher applied the text to the building up of Christian character and the Christian Church. There was a fair congregation. At this service about 15 new members were admitted to the church.

An Annuity for Mrs. Tassie.

After the death of Dr. Tassie, of Peterborough, for many years Principal of the Galt Collegiate Institute, a movement was set on foot to establish a memorial fund to provide an annuity for his widow. Former pupils and old friends responded liberally, with the result that $2 610 was subscribed, $1,838 being received in Toronto and $972 in Hamilton. The subscriptions were received from all parts of Ontario and from places in the Northwest, Quebec, United States and one from Gibraltar. An annuity of $340 was purchased from the North American Insurance Company and presented to Mrs. Tassie at her home, here, last week. The letter accompanying the certificate was signed by Edward Martin, John Billings, Charles Cockshutt, T. H. Stinson, R. O. Mackay, H. O. Hopkirk, John Eastwood, Rev. D. J. Macdonnell and Wm. Davidson.

Deserved Thanks.

Those conversant with the satisfactory manner in which Mr. John Kelly discharges the duties of his position, will be less surprised than gratified at any fresh recognition of his courtesy and efficiency, such as afforded by the following letter received by him:

Mr. John Kelly, Superintendent of Little Lake Cemetery.

DEAR SIR,—I am instructed on behalf of Otonabee lodge of Oddfellows, to tender you the unanimous and cordial thanks of the officers and members for the valuable assistance rendered by you on the occasion of the annual decoration of the graves of their deceased brethren at Little Lake Cemetery.

Yours respectfully,

A Successful Picnic.

The first annual picnic of the little flock of Rev. Father Quirk's (of Hastings) fortnightly mission at Norwood, was held in the beautiful little grove near the church, on Wednesday last, and was a very gratifying success. There was a good attendance, the weather was warm and the day was one of enjoyment. The Norwood brass band, under the leadership of Mr. Archie Freeman, furnished musical selections, and Prof. Doucet's orchestra supplied the necessary harmonic stimulus for dancing, which was the most popular and best patronized pastime of the occasion. Excellent refreshments were provided by the ladies and among these were noticed several Peterborough ladies, and there was a good sprinkling of Peterborough people in the attendance. This picnic was eminently successful, the handsome sum, for a small congregation, of $300 having been realised.

The Salvationists and the Tramp.

Not long since, through the efforts of the Salvation Army, a drunken wretch was "converted." When the big drum had pounded into him the desire to lead a new life a dilemma arose. The man was filthy, ragged and forlorn—and physically unfit to mingle with decent people. He must in some way be provided with clothes so that he could attend the meetings—it would not do to rescue the perishing and then allow him to fall again for lack of a helping hand. Accordingly, an attempt was made to raise money, but, after the most strenuous efforts, owing to the fact that all available small cash was going into the new barracks fund, only $2.47 could be raised. This wouldn't buy a suit—but stop, a sudden thought reminds them of gough. They take the transformed tramp to gough's store, and the proprietor, under the circumstances, made a reduction of 28 cents on one of his $2.75 mens' suits, and the work of rehabilitation was done. Thus does the great philanthropist gough works hand in hand with every good cause. His $18,500 stock of ready-made clothing, selling at forty cents on the dollar, is going like hot cakes.

The Simcoe Street Bridge Contract.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR.—In common with your other readers I noticed in your issue of Thursday a statement to the effect that the contract for the iron work of the Simcoe street bridge had been awarded to Mr. W. H. Law, for $2,500, and that for the stone work to Mr. H. Sherwood, for $960. Now, I do not find any fault with these parties nor with the figures, if there were the lowest tenders, but I am in possession of facts which go to show that the Street and Bridge Committee disregarded the principle of economy as towards the ratepayers and of fairness and justice towards the other tenderers. To recapitulate;

Mr. Law was awarded the iron work at $2,500 and Mr. Sherwood the stone work for $960.

Another party tendered $1,075 for the stone work and $2,375 for the iron work.

Yet the Street and Bridge Committe, for some occult and unintelligible reason, awarded the contract in such a manner as to, at least, arouse suspicion of not exactly straight dealing. They did right in awarding the stone work to Mr. Sherwood for $960, but they failed to carry out this principle in giving the iron work to Mr. Law at an advance of $125 over the next lowest tender. Why have the committee thus presumed to actually throw away the sum of $125 of the people's money, representing a capitalized sum of $2125, without getting a fragment of value in return? As it is the sum of the tenders accepted was $3460, that is $10 more than the next tender, thus apparently throwing away only $10; but if they had taken the lowest tenders for both the stone work and the iron work the saving would have been $125. This is not a very large sum, but the principle involved, if applied to the tenders for the other bridges, would amount to a considerable sum. The members of the committee, who are Messrs. Stevenson, Cahill, Kendry, McNeil, Kelly, and Douglass, certainly owe it to the public to explain why they have taken such a course, why they have taken upon themselves to put $125 of the people's money into a contractor's pocket, without a cent of return. It will not be a satisfactory explanation to say that the highest and successful tenderer has business, political or personal relations with any of the members of the committee. The people are not concerned in that,—their lookout is to get the best work done for the least money. They furnish the funds, and, if there are $125 or $1225 to be spent without return, it should go to the people. If the political, personal or other influence which seems to have prompted the committee to award the contract to the highest tender for iron work, had existed in the case of the highest tender for the stone work, the town would have been out $340 instead of $125 as is now the case, and there is no telling what may take place in awarding the contracts for the other bridges if the ring barometer thus indicates, unless the evil principle acted on in the first case ceases to be put into practice. It is singular that a little paddling contract for a bridge over a ten-foot stream can't be dealt with without the help of circumstances suggesting the idea of a ring or without being tainted with a suspicion of jobbery. I put these facts before the people having confidence in their good sense to condemn so discreditable and wasteful a course of action, so palpable a breach of trust.

Yours, etc.
RATEPAYER.

Peterborough, July 9th.

Lindsay Locals.

The man Copeland, who was so severely handled on Dominion Day by some roughs attending the S. O. E. excursion from Peterborough, has not yet recovered from his injuries. The young man Hutton was not so badly abused as reported and was able to be about next day.

Lindsay is having quite a building boom just now. Houses of various sizes and designs are going up all over the town, and there is scarcely a vacant house, which is something unusual for Lindsay, and must be a source of gratification to real estate owners and others.

The site for the new post office is creating a deal of strife among the citizens, who are divided in opinion as to the proper location, much the same as was experienced in Peterborough last year.

Lindsay is to have the Grand Trunk workshops. Mr. Hickson, general manager, signed the agreement with the town relative to their erection, and the Mayor was authorized to sign the document on behalf of the town. While the citizens of Lindsay are jubilant over this additional factor to their material prosperity, Port Hope will doubtless be clothed in sack-cloth and ashes over the removal of the shops.

Dr. Coulter received a telegram Friday stating that his father, Mr. Wm. Coulter, was dangerously ill at Bine Rapids, U. S., and requesting his immediate attendance. The Doctor left last night. The many friends in Peterborough of Mr. Coulter will regret to learn of his sudden and severe illness. He is now 75 years of age.

"Joe" Daly, of "Congress Hall," is now thoroughly installed in his new premises, and is as "large as life and twice as natural." He has made a wonderful change in the premises since he came. Painters, paperhangers, carpenters, etc., have been in possession for the past month, but their labors being over, they have vacated, and Joe now reigns supreme. Joe is likely to catch a large portion of the trade of the travelling public.

A valuable horse, owned by Mr. Ed. Daly, of the Daly House, died suddenly Friday afternoon.

The auction business must be booming in Lindsay. Mr. Jas. H. Lennon, the popular auctioneer, real estate broker, and C.P.R. ticket king, has built a handsome residence in an eligible part of the town. Mr. Lennon is alderman for the south ward, and makes a good one, too.

Mr. Thos. Matchett, the veteran county clerk and treasurer, is looking hale and well for a gentleman of his years. The same old hearty and affable manner which has always been his characteristic still remains; and it does one good to meet a gentleman wearing his years so well who has worn official harness so long. Mr. McNellie, assistant clerk and treasurer, continues at his old post, thorough, active and energetic as ever.

STRAGGLER.

A Horse Thief Captured.

An Innocent Looking Young Man Arrested for Stealing a Horse in Reaboro.

Acting Chief Adams this morning arrested Frank O'Connell, a young man of guileless appearance about 23 years of age, for horse-stealing. Last night the following telegram was received from Lindsay:—

To the Chief of Police, Peterborough:—

Stolen from Reaboro, on the night of July seventh, a sorrel mare, sixteen and a half hands high, eight years old. Arrest party and hold party if found.

THOS. BELL,
C. C.

This morning Acting-Chief Adams took the matter in hand and sought an interview with Mr. T. Cavanagh, the horse king of Peterborough, who of all persons was one most likely to give information of the missing animal. As it happened, however, Mr. Cavanagh was also looking for Acting-Chief Adams for the very purpose of directing that officer's attention to a suspicious case which had come under his notice. For a week past a young man named Cairns had been stopping at his hotel, but on Thursday he went away and came back with a fine horse which Mr. Cavanagh valued at $175. He seemed anxious to sell it at almost any price, and finally agreed to accept a sum far below its value. This aroused Mr. Cavanagh's suspicions, with the result that he decided to make the matter known to the police. The horse in question, which was in Mr. Cavanagh's stables, tallied exactly with the description given in the telegram. The police officer and Mr. Cavanagh walked to the hotel together, just as young Cairns (as he had announced himself to be) was coming up Hunter stree. Acting-Chief Adams waited quietly for his man, who on coming up was arrested and conveyed to the police station. There he gave his name as Frank O'Donnell, which is believed to be his true name.

The horse was stolen from Mr. George Ray, of Reaboro. The prisoner on being questioned admitted his guilt. Chief Constable Bell, of Lindsay, this afternoon took young O'Donnel to that town, where he will receive his trial.

The Glorious Twelfth.

Programme of the Days' Proceedings—Ten Thousand People Expected.

Next Tuesday, July 12th, the Orangemen and True Blues of Peterborough district celebrate the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne by a monster demonstration in Peterborough. Some 250 lodges will in all participate, and fully 10,000 people are expected to visit our town next Tuesday. Arches are being erected along the route of march, which will also be otherwise decorated with flags and bunting.

The Orangemen and True Blues of the district will assemble at the lodge room at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning and proceed to the stations to await the arrival of the various trains, afterwards escorting the visiting brethren to the Central Park, where a monster procession will be formed at 11 o'clock, comprising the lodges of four or five counties. The route of march will be down George street to Hunter, thence to Aylmer, down Aylmer to Simcoe, across to George, down George to Charlotte, over to Water, up to Simcoe, across to George, thence to Hunter, back again to Water, thence to Murray street and the Central Park, where the procession will be disbanded. Accomodation for the visiting brethren has been arranged at the various hotels. A monster meeting will be held at the Court House Park at 2:30 in the afternoon at which addresses will be delivered by the local clergy and grand officers.

It is to be hoped the day will be graced with fine weather.

A MINISTERIAL MISTAKE.

Both Parties Glad the Crimes Bill has been Got Out of the Way—It Will Encounter No Serious Opposition in the House of Lords.

LONDON, July 9.—Notwithstanding the fact that the Government has at length succeeded, after a twenty-two weeks' debate, in getting the Coercion Bill through the House of Commons last night, the past week has been an exceedingly unpleasant one in every respect for the Government. The incident provoked in the House of Commons by Home Secretary Mathews' stupid refusal to name any explanation or investigation about the arrest of Miss Cass, united friends and foes in a torrent of well-merited abuse against the Cabinet, and in particular against Mr. Mathews, who appears to have forgotten the role of defender of the British fireside and home in which he appeared during the Crawford-Dilke divorce suit. His conduct on the occasion provoked a defeat of the Government in the House, and although it has not been sufficient to bring about the fall of the Cabinet, yet it has surely damaged its prestige and popularity. Nothing could have been more ill-advised than the manner in which Mr. Mathews sought to screen Police Magistrate Newton, a man who has frequently been held up to public reprobation owing to his brutality, his despotism and his general bullying conduct. A few years ago the utmost indignation was aroused by the shameful manner in which he abused from the bench poor old Lord Strathnaim for venturing, out of sheer kindness, to withdraw from the prosecution of a dishonest servant. Although Lord Strathnaim was close upon 90 years of age, a field marshal in the army and a soldier who had spent over seventy years in brilliantly serving his country, he was held up by Magistrate Newton to ridicule and contempt for his good nature, and severely censured. Magistrate Newton's conduct in refusing to listen to the evidence of Miss Cass' respectability, which was presented by the lady's employer in court, was merely another instance of his arbitrary conduct, and had not the matter been taken up in the House of Commons the poor girl, whose respectability and purity is beyond reproach, would continue to figure on the police books as a common London prostitute.

The Opposition cheers which hailed the announcement of eighty-seven majority for the third reading of the Crimes Act are supposed to denote the satisfaction of the Liberals and Irish with those figures. If the truth were told the majority of both sides are glad to have this thing out of the way. The hot weather, which has now lasted three weeks, tells even on politics. Tempers are not what they were. Gladstonians and Parnellites have fought to the last against a result both know to be inevitable. The Crimes Bill will encounter no serious opposition in the House of Lords. If the need for it is so urgent as the Tories allege, Lord Salisbury can put it through the upper chamber within a week. Sir William Harcourt last night predicted that the Tories will say the threatened administration of law should be discussed in Parliament as freely as the bill itself has been. But Sir William Harcourt's predictions sometimes lack the flavor of inspiration.

OTTAWA MATTERS.

The Mounted Police Fear Trouble Among the Miners in the Northwest.

OTTAWA, July 10.—It is understood that Mr. Sydenham Howe, son of the late Hon. Joseph Howe, who has for many years filled the office of assistant auditor at Halifax, has been superannuated by some changes recently made in the Finance Department. The position of Assistant Auditor at Halifax has been abolished.

Hon. Mr. Pope left for the Eastern Townships last night. Hon. Mr. White and Hon. Mr. Thompson are expected to return in time for the Council.

It will be remembered that during the meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science in Montreal in 1884 it was suggested that careful tidal observations should be made in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence. It is understood that the Department of Marine has taken advantage of the presence of H.M.S. Goldmar in the Gulf for survey purposes to have these observations made.

Mr. Fred White, Comptroller of the Mounted Police, has received a despatch stating that trouble is feared at Lethbridge, N.W.T., over the engagement of new arrivals imported to take the place of striking miners there. So far no acts of violence have been committed, but the situation is critical. Sixty Mounted Police have been ordered to the scene from Fort Macleod.

The Board of Civil Service Examiners has sent in its report on its last examination, and it is expected that the names of the successful candidates will appear in the next Canada Gazette.

The Fieldhouse Contest.

LONDON, July 9.—The Times admits that the result of the election in North Paddington is not satisfactory to the Conservatives, and says it cannot be doubted that the contest was influenced by the serious and annoying blunder made by Home Secretary Matthews in the Cass case, of which the Opposition made, The Times says, the most unscrupulous use.

FATHER McGLYNN'S CASE.

THE TEXT OF THE DECREE CUTTING HIM OFF FROM THE CHURCH.

The Report That It Would be Read in All the Roman Catholic Churches of New York Yesterday Not Verified—Dr. McGlynn Will Demand a Fair Trial.

NEW YORK, July 9.—The bolt that has for weeks been hanging over the head of Dr. McGlynn has fallen. He has been excommunicated, and henceforth will be to the Church of Rome as though he had never lived. A reporter learned positively this morning at Archbishop Corrigan's residence that a Papal brief ordering the formal excommunication had been received, and that, accompanied by a letter from Archbishop Corrigan, it would be read in all the Catholic churches of this diocese to-morrow

Dr. McDonnell had but one copy of the decree when the reporter called at the palace. Another had been given to the printer. Dr. McDonnell declined to part with his copy. The papal brief is not long, but is very much to the point. It sets forth the contumacy of the ex-priest, and refers with sorrow to his persistency in defying the church which has been so ambitious to see him repent and do penance for the scandal he has provoked. It goes on at some length to explain the necessity of the present act, compliments Archbishop Corrigan on his firmness and discretion, and ends by instructing him to publish the decree of excommunication in each diocese as once. The letter from the Archbishop will recite anew the anxious efforts of the local church and authorities to bring Dr. McGlynn to a proper sense of his duties as a priest, and conclude by exhorting the faithful to obey implicitly the mandate from Rome with reference to the unfrocked priest. This is the last act in this strange drama, so far as the church itself is concerned. Dr. McGlynn is entirely cut off from it, and Catholics are not supposed to associate with him. All the sacraments are withheld from him. The priest who should even give him absolution on his dying bed would be liable to be unfrocked.

The following letter will be read in all the Roman Catholic Churches in this city to-morrow, by instructions sent out by Archbishop Corrigan to-night:

To the Very Reverend Clergy and the Faithful Laity of the Archdiocese of New York:

Be it known, that on May 4, 1887, the sacred congregation of the propaganda admonished to Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn, late rector of St. Stephen's Church, in this city, that he had already rendered himself liable to ecclesiastical censure by disobeying the positive command of the Sovereign Pontiff given Jan. 17. Wishing, however, to deal leniently with him, the sacred congregation refraining from inflicting censure, and offering him further opportunity to be heard in his own behalf, gave him a final peremptory order to present himself at Rome within forty days from the receipt of the letter containing such order under pain of excommunication, to be incurred ipso facto et seminatum. This letter was duly delivered to Rev. Dr. McGlynn, and as he allowed the days of grace to pass unheeded it became our sad duty to notify him that he had incurred by his own act this penalty of excommunication by name, whereby he is cut off from the communion of the church, from its sacraments and from participation in its prayers, and, should he persevere in his contumacy, be deprived of the right after death to Christian burial.

It becomes also our duty to declare to the clergy and laity of our charge, which we do by these letters, that the Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn is excommunicated nominatum with all the penalties attached to this censure by the canons of the church.

MICHAEL AUGUSTINE,
Archbishop of New York.
C. E. McDONNELL, Secretary.
New York, July 8, 1887.

When McGlynn was asked what his policy would be after his excommunication was formally announced he said that was a matter he could not speak about yet. He proposes, however, to make a fight and he intimated the mere act of excommunication did not deprive him of his rights under the canon law, intimating that he meant to demand a trial.

He characterized much of the newspaper gossip about him as untrue. In reply to a question regarding his position after the impending excommunication, the Doctor said he would have the same rights as at present to attend a Catholic Church and to associate with the most devout Catholics, but he would, of course, be denied the sacrament by any priest who knew him to be excommunicated. As for the simile drawn between him and Pere Hyacinthe he denied that he had the slightest intention of marrying, and added that he remembered his vows to the church and should continue their observance in so far as his suspension would permit.

The Decree Not Published.

NEW YORK, July 10.—It was expected that the excommunication of the Rev. Dr. McGlynn would be announced to-day from the pulpits of the several Catholic churches throughout the diocese, but no such announcement was made.

A Great Gathering of Sympathizers.

NEW YORK, July 10.—The friends and followers of Dr. McGlynn, ever since the threat from Rome of excommunication, have declared that they would stand by him whether he should or should not be excommunicated. Many believed, however, that when the announcement of excommunication would be made his Catholic followers would shrink from and desert him, as did the followers of Dr. Forbes, who was the last person excommunicated by name in this country. The doubt, however, as to the adherence of Dr. McGlynn's friends was set at rest to-night by a demonstration in the Academy of Music which has not many times been equalled in this city. The meeting was nominally a stated gathering of the Anti-Poverty Society, but in view of the published excommunication of Dr. McGlynn to-day it resolved itself into the supreme ratification meeting for Dr. McGlynn.

No special notice for meeting had been given, but all seemed to have reached the conclusion that, as Dr. McGlynn would be present at to-night's gathering, it would be one that would become memorable in the history of the Catholic Church. There were hundreds, doubtless, who had come to see a demonstration of moment, but among the thousands present were Dr. McGlynn's parishioners, who had championed his cause since the beginning.

Long before 8 o'clock the Academy was crowded and thousands vainly sought to push their way past the police. The committee having charge of the meeting, seeing the need of greater hallroom, hurriedly secured the use of Irving Hall, directly across the street, and in less than five minutes all the available hall room there was filled. Even then hundreds were unable to gain admittance to either building.

James J. Gahan of The Catholic Herald presided at the meeting in the Academy, and John Feeney of St. Stephen's parish, over which Dr. McGlynn so many years presided, took charge of the meeting in Irving Hall. Miss Munier and her Concordia chorus, composed of members of Dr. McGlynn's St. Stephen's choir, were present in the Academy of Music and as Dr. McGlynn walked upon the stage played "Marching to Freedom," to the air of "Marching Through Georgia," and then came a scene that must have thrilled all present, whether there as Dr. McGlynn adherents or through curiosity. As the deposed priest was first recognized by those nearest the stage there went up a sharp shout of welcome and recognition. The recognition spread like a flash, the shout grew to a cheer, and the cheer to applause that swelled and echoed and billowed until nearly 4000 persons were upon their feet and a thunderous roar went out to those in the streets and was there taken up and spread to Irving Hall, and the word went through the multitudes that Dr. McGlynn was before the people, and that he was even then waiting a pause in their applause to begin speaking, the first in public since the bolt from Rome had fallen upon him.

When the roar of voices had sunk away to a murmur a voice from one of the balconies shouted in clear tones, "They'll hear this in Rome," and the interjection was cheered, and the shout was taken up and grew until the building trembled with the din. But at length, after ten minutes, the people had become wearied with excess of enthusiasm, and the air grew still.

Chairman Gahan then introduced Dr. McGlynn, who made a feeling speech in reply to the plaudits of the people. Speaking of his call to Rome he said: "The man who goes against his conscience sins against the Holy Ghost, and despite the power of any authority, even the Pope's, if a man does or says anything in obedience to that power, if in so doing he goes against his conscience, he sins. Even if a high Roman tribunal summons a man before them for teaching truth which he knows to exist, and if that tribunal should condemn his doctrines without giving them trial and command him to retract them, it is his duty before God to refuse to do so. [Cheers.] And if it was in its power, as it one time was, but, thank God, no longer is, to imprison and martyr the truth in the persons of those who have read God's word in nature before they have been able to see it, should they summon him and command him to retract under the penalty of imprisonment or martyrdom, it is his duty to resist and even to be burned alive at the stake rather than commit the unpardonable sin against the Holy Ghost of declaring false what his conscience teaches him is true."

The meeting broke up with cheers for Father McGlynn and assurances that those present would sustain him in his struggle.

DISASTER IN WISCONSIN.

Seven Persons Burned to Death in a Variety Theatre.

HURLEY, Wis., July 10.—Fire broke out on the stage of the Alcazar Theatre at 8 o'clock last night, and within an hour the entire business part of the town was in flames, while eleven persons had perished in the theatre. The charred remains of nine people have been taken from the ruins. The loss is fully half a million dollars. The Alcazar was a variety theatre, chiefly frequented by miners and one of the resorts of unsavory repute, associated with the notorious dance houses of the mining regions.

Only a small audience had gathered when the fire broke out, and they scrambled in a hurry. Several of the actors, however, rushed up-stairs to save their wardrobes, and when they sought to escape found that they were hemmed in on all sides, the flames having spread through the building with almost incredible rapidity. How they struggled to escape will never be known, as none of them except Sadie Wells and Mabel Powers were seen again. The former appeared at a second story window and called piteously upon the crowd outside to save her. Before a hand could be raised the flames reached her and communicated to her clothing. She made a frantic effort to jump through the window, then with a piercing shriek fell into the furnace below. Mabel Powers had reached a third storey window. She jumped and was so badly injured that her recovery is doubtful. Among those who perished in the theatre were Frank Young, Sadie McCade and Jackson, colored comedians; Tillie Moore, song and dance artist; Mabel Goodrich and husband, Sadie Wells, Mrs. Fenton and two or three others whose names are not known.

The Alcazar was in the very heart of the city. It was a mass of flames in a very short time. The fire seemed to leap from building to building until several blocks became a roaring oven. It was not long before every business building between Third and Fifth-avenues was in flames. All efforts to get the fire under control seemed futile. The fire department, reinforced by scores of volunteers, sent its puny streams against the advancing walls of flame, but had to retreat as the fire swept resistlessly on. It did not stop until material for it to feed upon was lacking.

SCENE IN A MONTREAL COURT.

Herbert Taylor, Charged with Forgery, Faints on Meeting His Father.

MONTREAL, July 9.—A painful scene was witnessed in court yesterday in the case of Herbert H. Taylor, charged with forging the name of James G. Blaine for Maine. While the case was proceeding the father of the accused youth arrived unexpectedly from Worcester, Mass. He entered the room hesitatingly, and his eyes meeting those of his son, who was sitting near a table, he cast upon him a severe and inquisitive look, at the same time appearing to be himself deeply moved with grief. The young man at once hid his face with his hands, but the father approaching, took hold of his right hand and held it for a few moments, gazing in silence at his son.

Overcome with emotion the senior Taylor then took a seat in a remote part of the room and began to sob. The young man also burst into tears, and, leaning over the table wept bitterly. Mr. Doucet offered Mr. Taylor a private interview with his son, but when young Herbert arose to follow his father to an adjoining room he was so overcome that he fainted and fell to the floor. He was carried into the next room, but soon recovered, and, after a short interview, both father and son returned and the enquiry was continued.

THE ALLENFORD MURDER.

A Widow Named McDougall Shot and Killed by a Jealous Admirer.

ALLENFORD, County Bruce, July 9.—A great sensation was created here yesterday by the cold blooded murder of Carrie McDougall, widow of Archibald McDougall. The murder was committed about 2 p.m. by a man by the name of Samuel Hughes and a neighbor. Two bullets entered her right breast, causing death almost instantly. Hughes shot himself, but not fatally. He is now lodged in Walkerton jail. The verdict of the Coroner's Jury is premeditated murder by Samuel Hughes. Jealousy is alleged to have been the cause of the deed.

In Brief, And To The Point.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

MONDAY, JULY 11, 1887.

THE EMBRYONIC NEW ORGAN.

Last week Sir John Macdonald paid a visit to Toronto, and not on state business either. He went to arrange for the starting of a new Tory newspaper organ. Sir John does not like the kind of organ turned by a crank of which he has, judging by their utterances and sources, got a plentiful supply throughout the country. The Montreal Gazette, the property of the Minister of the Interior, does not seem to have the interior track. The Hamilton Spectator should be unscrupulous enough to suit the premier, but it doesn't seem to be brainy enough. The London Free Press can take pretty sharp curves, but it doesn't fill the bill. All these papers have been liberally subsidized with the public funds but the result, so far as developing qualities fitting them to be the organ of the Tory party, has not, apparently been satisfactory. The Toronto World has been making most energetic bids; it, however, cannot command the chieftain's respect. So Sir John must have an organ; it will come high, but it is a prime necessity, and the pockets of the faithful, directly, and the coffers of the country, indirectly, must be bled. Reports differ greatly as to the means to be adopted to raise the necessary and necessarily large fund needed to float a concern that will have so vast an amount of inertia. Some say that the Tory members of parliament at the last session were tapped to the tune of $35,000, while others say that $1,000 is to be levied on each of all the rateable ridings in the country, that is, those returning Tory members. But this amount won't be one half enough, for it will take a "bar'l o' money" to start a new Tory newspaper successfully. The Mail was started when there was comparatively no opposition on that side of politics, yet it is said $250,000 was sunk before the most modest indications of dividends made their appearance. Now the field is filled and well filled. The country is abundantly supplied with metropolitan journals, all fairly well established, and, therefore, in spite of its high sounding title, the Empire will have a hard row to hoe. No matter how badly Sir John may want a new newspaper the public are not consumed with a desire for it, and unless the public will buy and read a newspaper, its race will be represented by a rather limited effluxion of time. The Chieftain may hire, on the recoupment plan of instalment, the Tory politicians to put up capital, but it is hardly practicable to bribe the public to read the new paper. In this connection the Hamilton Times, referring to the meeting held in Toronto to "raise the wind," says:

"The Times was not represented at the meeting in Toronto yesterday, and we cannot therefore be sure whether any Tory had the foresight to present Sir John with a copy of "Betsey Bobbit," with a mark at the passage where Josiah Allen says: "Who's agoin' to read the book, Samantha, when it is wrote? Not a cent of "my money shall go to hire people to read "the book."

Civic Bridge Building.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—In your issue of Saturday I noticed that "Ratepayer" took up the matter of the Simcoe Street Bridge contract. I wish to call attention to another phase of the matter. It will be remembered that a by-law to raise the sum of $20,000 is to be voted on on July 23th, and if our money is to be wasted, as "Ratepayer" has shown and as I think I can show, there is not much encouragement for the ratepayers to vote for the by-law. The by-law requires that the debentures be issued at the low rate of four per cent. Now only one city in Canada has sold its debentures at this rate of interest at par, that is Toronto, and that, too, at a time when money was easy. There are doubts that the proposed $20,000 debentures can be sold at par at the rate of interest proposed. It is not likely that they will sell for more than 95 cents on the dollar, a loss of $1,000 on $20,000. Take the contract price of the Simcoe street bridge as let, $8,500, add to that $1,000 for grading approaches and planking, and the cost of the bridge will be $4,500 which is more than $1,000 more than such a bridge should cost, comparing it with the C.P.R. bridge which has to carry heavy trains. In the Simcoe street bridge there is an unnecessary waste of iron; it is apparently made unnecessarily strong to enable the contractor to sell at high prices as much iron as possible.

At the rate of cost of the Simcoe street bridge the bridge at the corner of Brock and Aylmer streets will cost $3,000, the Charlotte street bridge $4,500, and our proportion of the cost of the Locks bridge will be $5,000—accounts that will more than absorb the loss amount of the $20,000 debentures, leaving nothing for the cribbing of Crawford street, one of the chief objects of the issue of the debentures. It would appear that the trifling sum of $20,000 is only good for one job of "cribbing." There are also several other bridges needing rebuilding and repairs.

It is worth while to consider whether it would not be more economical to build wooden bridges, with cedar abutments, which can be built so as to present no obstruction to the flow of the stream. The cost of these bridges, with a life of from 20 to 25 years, would average only about $2000. I am told that His Worship, the Mayor, is in favor of cedar abutments for his own private buildings, as these he has used have lasted 25 years, and the cost was comparatively nothing to the stone.

Now take interest on debentures and sinking fund and we have an annual tax of $1,500. We could build one good, substantial wooden bridge every year (though we only need about 10) for less money than we pay in interest for the costly iron bridges, and this sum we could put on the roll and collect every year, and at the end of 20 years have good bridges and a clean sheet. Under the present arrangement, we will have paid $16,000 for interest and $20,000 for sinking fund.

The whole affair seems to be managed as if the ratepayers were made of money and as if they were anxious to pay it out to give fat contracts to pet contractors. I hope further light will be thrown upon the true inwardness of the Simcoe street contract. I understand that several bridge builders were looking at the work, who did not tender. Were they told that it would be no use for them to do so—that the thing was as good as settled before the tenders were opened or perhaps made? The reckless course pursued, as shown by "Ratepayer's" letter with letting the contract for the Simcoe street bridge, will certainly not inspire much confidence in the success of the ratepayers nor make them exceedingly enthusiastic in favour of the $20,000 by-law to be spent on unnecessarily expensive bridges and in contracts to the highest instead of the lowest tenderer.

I hope the people will think over this matter and not allow their money to be squandered in unnecessary expenditure and in putting money into the pockets of favorite contractors.

Yours truly,
INVESTIGATOR.

BOULANGER'S POPULARITY.

Thirty Thousand Parisians Escort Him to a Railway Train.

PARIS, July 9.—Many houses and newspaper offices were illuminated last night in honor of Gen. Boulanger, whose departure was delayed for an hour by a crowd numbering 30,000 persons. It is reported that detectives were sent to Clermont-Ferrand with Gen. Boulanger. It is reported that in an interview with M. Reinach, editor of La Republique, M. Clemenceau denied that he had built up the popularity of Gen. Boulanger. He protested against any dictatorship, especially of the sword. He would prefer a Radical statesman at the head of the Government to a General, however brave and patriotic. The crowd carried Gen. Boulanger to the railway station. He was unable to escape them and was obliged to ride on a locomotive to Bercy, where a train would catch him. The General was much bruised by the enthusiastic attention of his admirers.

The Affair Causes a Sensation.

PARIS, July 9.—The demonstration made last evening on the occasion of the departure of Gen. Boulanger to his new post at Clermont-Ferrand has made a sensation here, and is regarded as the forerunner of further manifestations during the coming July national fete and review.

The Government organs condemn Gen. Boulanger for permitting the demonstration. The monarchial newspapers warn the Republicans of France to beware of such a dictator as Boulanger would be.

Le Pais says: "Such a manifestation of popular regard had not been witnessed in Paris for many years. The crowd which surrounded the railway station whence Gen. Boulanger departed numbered not less than 80,000 people."

The evening newspapers disapprove of the manifesto in favor of Gen. Boulanger. La France states at Nevers Gen. Boulanger disapproved of cries of "Vive Boulanger," and said they ought to be "Vive la Republique" and "Vive la France."

Advice to Consumptives.

On the appearance of the first symptoms—as general debility, loss of appetite, pallor, chilly sensations, followed by night-sweats and cough—prompt measures for relief should be taken. Consumption is scrofulous disease of the lungs:—therefore use the great anti-scrofula or blood purifier and strength-restorer,—Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Superior to cod liver oil as a nutritive, and unsurpassed as a pectoral. For weak lungs, spitting of blood and kindred affections, it has no equal. Sold by druggists the world over. For Dr. Pierce's Treatise on Consumption, send ten cents in stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Get the Best.

The weather has not yet regained its wonted torridity.

The best baseball match of the season is expected at the Ashburnham grounds, Wednesday afternoon, when the Belleville club plays the home team. The Bellevilles are a strong club, having defeated both Kingston clubs, among whom are paid professionals. The Peterborough boys will have to "hump" themselves if they want to win.

A Big Day in Town.

It is estimated that there will be as many as ten thousand strangers in town to-morrow on the occasion of the celebration of the Glorious Twelfth. As a consequence active preparations are being made. The hotel-keepers and eating house owners are laying in fodder at a great rate and all is bustle and hurry. Merchants are also preparing for big sales, and all anticipate a good day. But the great gough is sure of a big day, for his $18,500 worth of ready-made clothing, purchased at forty cents on the dollar, will make his shop a hive of industry and his half dozen extra clerks will be kept on the jump. gough's is the place to get double value for your money to-morrow or any other day. A Narrow Escape.

Mr. George Noble, of the firm of McAndrew & Noble, had a narrow escape Saturday afternoon. He was driving along Water street, at the intersection of Hunter street, when he heard a crackling, rushing sound as of some heavy body tearing loose from its bonds and falling swiftly. He looked around, saw the impending danger and whipped up his horses not a minute too soon. One of the large poles employed in the erection of the Orangemen's arch at the corner, fell with a crash across he back of the wagon, smashing it to pieces. Had the danger not been seen in time to avert it, either Mr. Noble or the horses would have been seriously hurt, if not killed outright.

Belleville Epidemic Score.

Belleville Ontario:—Mr. Hartford Ashley lost three horses within a few hours this week, and his neighbour, Mr. Thrasher, had one which died the same day. The sudden death of the animals caused a good deal of alarm, as the farmers thought a new epidemic had broken out. County Constable Johnston, while driving through Foxboro, had his horse taken with the same symptoms, but not with fatal results. He told a reporter that the disease was called "hay founder." The symptoms are easily noticeable. For three days the horse has a cough, and then it stops eating entirely, followed by diarrhœa, and soon they loose the use of their limbs, especially the front legs. Horses feeding on grass in the hot sun are more exposed to the disease than those feeding on hay.

The number of flags so far promised is insufficient for the Regatta Committee, and parties interested in canoeing are requested to send in their names and the number of flags they will donate to Mr. R. C. Strickland, Chairman Regatta Committee, Lakefield, at their earliest convenience. The ladies of Peterborough are expected to respond to this call, as they always have done before. The canoe meet begins Aug. 1st, the races commencing on the 6th. Everything gives promise that this will be a most successful meet.

The Runaway Mania.

Charlotte street has a record of one runaway Saturday night and two more this morning. Saturday evening a horse standing at the Midland station became frightened and dashed down the street. Mr. Morden Kincaid, who owned the animal, gave chase and before it got rightly started succeeded in catching it. He held on and tried to mount the horse, but was unable to do so, and after running eastward about a block the horse shook him off and he fell to the ground, lighting heavily on his shoulder, fortunately receiving no serious injury. The runaway was stopped by Mr. Jack White after running a little further. This morning the horse attached to Laplante's meat cart was seized with the runaway mania and dashed across the market square and up Charlotte street, to where Mr. Fitzgerald, driving one of Mr. T. G. Hallitt's wagons, was standing talking to a friend, the latter having one foot resting on the spokes of the front wheel. As the Laplante horse came along, it passed so close that the stationary team were startled and began a mad runaway. As they started off, in order to save his leg from being broken, as his foot had caught between the spokes and the box and was held tight, the man standing on the ground swung himself into the wagon and so released his imprisoned foot. Laplante's horse turned down the creek near White's livery stable, where its career was soon ended. Meanwhile the team had got a good start, and in slewing across the road one wheel was twisted off the axle, placing the two men in the wagon in a most dangerous position. Mr. Fitzgerald hung on bravely, though, and brought his team, a pair of heavy working horses, to a standstill before they got to the next corner.

Building up Character.

Sermon to Orangemen by Rev. I. Tovell in St. Paul's Church.

The Orangemen and True Blues, of Peterborough, to the number of nearly 160, headed by the Fire Brigade band, paraded to St. Paul's Church, Sunday evening, where the annual sermon to the order was preached by Rev. I. Tovell. The church was crowded. The singing by the choir was good, Miss Haultain presiding at the organ. The text was from Jude, i, 20, 21:—

"But ye, beloved, building up yourselves on your most holy faith, Praying in the Holy Ghost. Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of the Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life."

The theme of the evening's discourse, said the preacher, would be "character building"—building ourselves up on our most holy faith, making ourselves what we are, not what people think we are. The latter is reputation, but with that we have little to do. Character is that which we really are, and is the most vital essential we have to consider. God is the supreme architect, the great builder, but each man is the builder of his own personal character. Every man is a character builder. He is building up a character either good or bad—something that will be to him either joy eternal or misery. Every man, every person, every living spirit, are by their own hands, by their own personal wills, moulding their own character. There was a mixed people in the church that night, they had all denominations there, but no man could take exception to the statement—that the building of any man's character is fully complete in life. Every month, every year of our lives, said the preacher, is sure to give us fresh opportunities of adding to our faith and character. "Grow in faith, grow in grace, grow in spiritual power"—everywhere is the invitation confronting us in the Bible, to grow and progress, but nowhere are we told to stop and proceed no further on our pathway to righteousness. Man's idea of the noble has been shifted somewhat, but when that ideal of perfect manhood was reached, it was found to be just as the rainbow, which, chased by a boy, kept shifting on and eluding his grasp, no matter how fast he ran.

Having thus spoken of character building, the minister next referred to the mistake made in the work of building. In the first place, there is the mistake made in laying a poor foundation. Some builders of to-day put up a weak foundation, and erected thereon a nice house, which they sell as being solid and substantial. The same error is often made in character building. We lay false foundations for our hopes, like the unwise traveller who pitched his tent on the dry sand, and at midnight the storm arose and swept away the tent and all the people therein. The wise man built his house upon a rock, and it stood firm. In character building, lay the foundation on Christ's life, Christ's deeds, and Christ's doctrines. The representatives of the order before him, said Rev. Mr. Tovell, had an excellent example in the history of the pioneers of the order, who fought and died for their principles, but they should not base their hopes on the fact that they were born Protestants, and had pious and loving mothers. Our hope is in building upon a solid foundation—a living person—Christ, who died for us.

Another mistake is sometimes made in the material for the superstructure. Having laid our foundation on Christ, then commences the building proper, the erection of a building of noble materials. Men have three great constitutions—the moral, intellectual and physical. The physical constitution depends for his power upon its surroundings and upon what it takes in. If a man lives in a healthy climate and has good solid food and exercise, he becomes muscular and athletic. Intellectually, it is the same. Here is an infant of weak mind, which will either develop into a giant of intellect or dwindle into an imbecile, according to the sort of intellectual food given it. Spiritually, too, the same thing occurs. If a boy is brought up in a spiritual atmosphere, he will become a noble man; otherwise he will have a delicate, sickly kind of Christianity. Each man must say to himself "it remains for me to say whether I shall take the durable material, the solid wood and polished stone, for the superstructure, or shall I take the reverse." Some people read the works of a sentimental writer who gives us sickly doggrel and calls himself a poet, in preference to the stately and majestic writings of Milton and Shakespeare. Everyone should take that which will build up his character, and only that which will ennoble and elevate him. By the truth, let truth be the material we shall work into this superstructure. Those rotten timbers of infidelity, those frail beams of atheism, the unreliable planks of Ingersollism, the rusted nails of Tom Paine's ideas shall never be used in building. The worthless mortar of self-righteousness let us reject. Guard against 'everything but truth—let truth be the entire composition of our characters.

Again, some people pay more regard to the scaffolding that surrounds the building than to the building itself. Just as the man who went to a ticket seller for a ticket to a distant part, saying, "I have no money to pay for the ticket; but I have with me a fine morocco purse that cost me $3; your ticket is but $2, take the purse in payment." But the ticket agent replies, "We want what's inside the purse, the money, not the mere covering of it." So some of us pay more attention to the outside circumstances and pomp of life than to the true inwardness of our characters.

These are the three mistakes made in the building up of a character—in the laying of a foundation, in the selection of the material for the superstructure and glorying in the scaffolding more than in the building itself. This character mansion is the one thing that will endure. The Scripture says, we came into this world naked and naked we shall go out; but there is one thing also true—we came into the world without anything, but we leave it with something. Every man and woman will carry with them into eternity their characters, good or bad. They can't be left behind. How important then is it that we should embrace every opportunity to add to the beauty of our character mansions. There are beautiful cathedrals at Boulogne and Strasbourg, the cathedral of St. Peter's, and many have walked with solemn thought through Westminster Abbey, and felt that there is no spot in Britain so sacred or historic. But after all our eloquence has been spent on the description of their beauty, after all, comes this thought—"An honest man is the noblest work of God," and nothing under the sun can compare to it. The chief work of a man's life should be to make his character brighter and more beautiful than the most enchanting spots of beauty on earth.

In the days of the war between the North and South, two Southern generals met on the streets of a southern city one day, and discussed the prospects. They conversed and decided upon a course of united action against the North. Right overhead in a window sat a boy, who listened intently and heard all their plans. His sympathies were with the North, and, upon the generals departing upon their mission, as they had decided while in conversation, the boy followed to see if they really pursued the intended course. Then while he saw that they were going ahead, he rushed to the city and telegraphed the news to the Northern camp. The general in command sent to the city, had the boy brought to him and when the story had been related in detail, exclaimed, "I would give anything if I knew the boy was telling the truth." An officer promptly stepped up and said: "I know the boy well. He does not lie. He is honest and has been all his life." The general accepted the statement and acted accordingly, and the plans of the enemy were frustrated. Just at the critical moment, though, when the news was first told him, everything depended upon the character of the boy—and that being proven, all was well. Character, as has been said, is the axle on which this world turns; it is the pivot of destiny. Let us not worry about destination, but let us see that our characters are right. Rev. Mr. Tovell concluded his sermon as follows:—

Friends of the Orange Society, on Tuesday you will gather in great numbers in this town. Your brethren will be welcomed to this town. The hospitality of the town will be extended to the visitors. There are reasons why your Society deserves respect and consideration by all the people. I want to say to you in Peterborough, and I think you will allow me to say it—having had the privilege of addressing you now for three or four years in succession—I think you will permit me to say this to you: let next Tuesday on the part of every lodge within this district, let next Tuesday be one of the most memorable in your history by keeping before you the thought I have endeavored to throw out for your consideration. Let it be said in Peterborough and the surrounding country, the boys of the True Blues never played a manlier part than they did on Tuesday, and I trust those of older years to set a worthy example. May next Tuesday be a day to be remembered in this district for years to come.

A Horse Escapade.

Saturday evening Messrs. Robert and Bert Walton, living near Lakefield, drove to town and put up at the Croft House. On going to the hotel yard about 10 o'clock for their conveyance, they found it gone. No one knew anything about it, so they had to walk home, reaching there about 2 a.m. The next day they found the missing horse, with harness on, in a field with the other horses, and the phaeton—or rather what was left of it—lying in a heap outside the fence. And hereby hangs a tale.

Mr. George Northey, hostler of the Croft House, was sitting on the roadside near Mr. Garbutt's, in Smith, about 11 o'clock Saturday evening, when a man passed in a buggy. He hailed the traveller and asked him for a "lift" on the road to his daughter's place, a few miles further on, whither he was bound to spend Sunday. Northey was taken in by the stranger, a pleasant, well-dressed man, short and rather stout, with thick black whiskers, and wearing a dark coat and light pants. On the way they conversed affably, and Northey on reaching his destination got out of the phaeton, as also did his companion, and the two sat down and talked for a long time, discussing at the same time the contents of a big black bottle which the stranger had. The latter also urged Northey to buy a pair of long boots, new, which he had in the phaeton, and finally a "dicker" was made; the boots being exchanged for a pair of slippers of Northey's and $2 cash. They then separated, and Mr. Northey thought no more about it till the next afternoon, when Mr. Walton made enquiries of him concerning the missing conveyance. Then the whole transaction came back to his mind, and on comparing notes came to the conclusion that the phaeton in which he had ridden the night before was the one stolen from the shed. He gave Mr. Walton an accurate description of the man, and also gave up the boots, which belonged to the Walton boys and had been left by them in the vehicle under the hotel sheds. So Mr. Northey is just $2 and the slippers out by the transaction. The wheel tracks were traced a long way but finally had to be abandoned. Later in the day the animal was found as above stated. It apparently had been turned loose or left some place untied, and, being near home, had started for the rich pastures of the Walton farm of its own accord. The phaeton is a total wreck.

Nothing has since been seen of the officious stranger who is the hero of this article, although a sharp look-out is being kept for him. The interested parties would each one give a good round sum for his capture, Mr. Northey heading the list with an offer of $10.

Police Court.

MONDAY, July 11th.

Messrs. C. McAuliffe, P. Tangney, P. Hennessey, Jno. Bird and D. Allison, residents of the north end, were arraigned on a charge of allowing their cows to run at large. They were dismissed with warnings.

Cornelius Ryan preferred a charge of assault against Wm. Powers, who was fined $2 and costs. The row took place Saturday night, at the latter's place on Aylmer Street. Ryan rents a barn from Powers, in which he keeps his horse, and Saturday evening he went to remove the accumulated manure. To this Powers objected, and finally threatened Ryan with severe punishment and threw a stick at him, which fortunately missed its mark. At the police court this morning each side had three women as witnesses, who testified to exactly opposite stories, thus rendering a decision on the part of the magistrate very difficult. Finally Powers was found guilty and fined $2 and costs.

AFFAIRS AT THE CAPITAL.

Hon. Thomas White's Tour Through the Northwest to British Columbia — The Threatened Trouble Among the Miners a Lethbridge Averted.

OTTAWA, July 11.—It is said that the Quebec Government will not issue the writ for a new election in Ottawa County until October next.

It is rumored to-night that the writs have been issued for South Renfrew and Charlevoix, but confirmation cannot be got nor the dates ascertained.

Hon. Thos. White, Minister of the Interior, starts west on July 20. He will proceed direct to the Pacific coast, following in this respect the program he carried out last year. He will first visit New Westminster, where he expects to remain two or three days, then proceeding to Victoria and afterwards to Nanaimo. On his way east the Minister of the Interior will stop at Kamloops, Banff Hot Springs and Calgary. At Swift Current he will leave the railway, proceeding north to Battleford over the trail taken by Lieut.-Col. Otter's relief column during the late rebellion. Mr. White will not visit Prince Albert this year. Returning south by the same route, if time permits, he will visit the southern portion of East Assiniboia, and, after stopping at Brandon, will subsequently spend five or six days at Winnipeg before returning to Ottawa. The special object of his trip is to see the settlers and inspect the various land agencies.

The Evening Journal has a rumor that the Government has passed an order-in-council disallowing the Public Works Act passed by the Manitoba Legislature last session, and which gives extraordinary powers to the Government. The rumor looks confirmation, but it is most probable that not only this but other acts of the local Government will be disallowed, as the Manitoba Government took to itself power under several acts to build the railway to the boundary, and if one of these bills is disallowed it follows as a matter of course that all of them will be.

The Mounted Police authorities have been notified that the troubles at the Galt mines, Lethbridge, N.W.T, with the striking miners has been settled. The police ordered to the scene have returned to Fort McLeod, leaving a detachment behind.

George Johnson has been appointed landing waiter at Winnipeg and John Saunders landing waiter at Niagara.

M. Gauvin, assistant appraiser at the port of Quebec, has been placed on the retired list on account of ill-health.

In order to facilitate the customs business on the coasts, the commanders of the various cruisers engaged in the protection of our sea fisheries have been appointed preventive officers in Her Majesty's Customs with power to receive reports inward and outwards from American fishing vessels when arriving at the outer ports of harbors, and thus save the delays caused in reporting to customs officers. The Customs Department has decided to abolish the rowboats and sailing vessels now engaged in Halifax harbor and employ a steam revenue cutter.

THE SCOTT ACT IN DUFFERIN.

The Serving of a Summons in Orangeville Enrages the Hotel-keepers.

ORANGEVILLE, July 11.—To-night a seemingly half-demented man named Hall, who lives in Mono and has latterly been engaged in peddling garden truck around the hotels, entered the Paisley House and, calling the proprietor aside, handed him a summons to appear on Thursday to answer to a charge of violating the Canada Temperance Act. The hotel-keeper immediately assailed Hall and severely beat him. Hall ran for his life.

A little later the hotel-keepers turned out in force and searched the town for Hall, finding him in the American Hotel. They immediately pounced upon him and kicked and beat him unmercifully, but he again managed to escape.

The hotel-keepers here claim that, according to Justice O'Connor's recent decision, Police Magistrate Gray has no jurisdiction in Orangeville, and they are firmly united in their determination to resist any proceedings he may take against them.

A Yacht Burned to the Water's Edge.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 11.—The sloop yacht Wave of New York, with party of New York gentlemen aboard, caught fire yesterday afternoon during the storm and was burned to the water's edge. The accident happened three miles from the New Haven harbor and was caused by the explosion of a kerosene oil stove. One of the party was badly hurt. The fire spread so rapidly that the yachtsmen had barely time to get to their gig.

The Hawaiian Queen Homeward Bound.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Queen Kapiolani arrived here to-day from Europe. Her Majesty was much pleased with her visit to England, and is no way alarmed by the rumor from the Hawaiian Islands relative to the political condition of things there. The Queen will leave for San Francisco, en route to the Hawaiian Islands on Thursday.

The Oxford Copper Company's Liabilities.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The liabilities of the Oxford Copper and Sulphur Company of 31 Wall-street and at Boston, Constable Hook, N.J., and Cansellton, Canada, which has been placed in the hands of a receiver, are reported to be about $600,000 with nominal assets of twice that amount.

A DRUNKARD IN COMMAND.

TOO MUCH LIQUOR ON BOARD A YACHT LEADS TO DISASTER.

A Mismanaged Yacht Filled With Women and Children on a Pleasure Cruise Capsized by a Squall — From Twenty to Twenty-seven Lives Lost.

New York, July 11.—The sloop yacht Mystery with forty persons, mostly women and children, on board, was capsized in Canarsie Bay last evening and twenty-seven lives lost. The party was made up chiefly of German families, resident in Brooklyn and Long Island City. They had come to Canarsie by the early trains, and had hired two yachts, the Mystery and Christina, to take them to Rufflebar. The fathers and several of the families preferred to remain about Canarsie, which accounts to some extent for the preponderance of women and children.

The boats had carried out a plentiful supply of beer, which was served around with a free hand. So many of the men of the party showed the effects of beer that the skipper thought it best to put the women and children aboard the Mystery, which is a cabin yacht, forty feet long, and raise as much safer boat than her consort.

The women protested when they learned that Captain Hendrickson and his 9-year-old son were all of the men on board. Their protest went unheeded, and Hendrickson became so angry that some of the passengers noticed that he had also been drinking too much beer. The Mystery swung off from the Rufflebar pier at 7 o'clock. A very brisk west by north wind was fair on their quarter, and the yacht started with her mainsail single reefed. She did not make as good time as Captain Hendrickson desired, consequently he insisted on shaking out the reef against the remonstrances of the passengers. The reef knots were unfastened and the boom dropped just as a squall of considerable violence struck the sail. In a second the yacht was on beam ends, and all the persons on deck were struggling in the choppy sea. The catastrophe was witnessed from the tug J. C. Dean, which was then over two miles away, but which immediately ran to the rescue. For five minutes the yacht remained on her beam end, and the shrouds and bulwarks afforded some hold for the engulfed people. The struggle for a place to hold to was awful. Fully half of the drowning people were children from babes in arms to 6 years old. The mothers made frantic efforts to get their little ones to where they could hold on to a rope or a spar, and help themselves. One after another they were swept off in the tide way, and buoyed by their clothing their hands waved in frantic and unavailing appeals for help.

Sometime before the Dean got near enough to be of use a negro put out from Barren Island in a rowboat, and was the first to aid the drowning people. Those who were past helping themselves he dragged into the boat, and others he lashed to the gunwales. Altogether he saved seven lives. When the Dean arrived there were few of the victims still above the surface. But five were rescued alive. The Dean then took aboard the seven which the negro had saved.

It was nearly dark when the Dean arrived at Canarsie with her load of dead and half-drowned passengers. Perhaps thirty of the 500 persons on the beach were relatives of the people who had sailed to Rufflebar in the morning and were already becoming anxious at the delay of their return. The wail that went up when the accident was made known was heartrending. Every one of the rescued persons had left one or two, and in one case three, children in the water, and they passed from the apathy of half-consciousness into wild hysterics. Then the husbands coming in from fishing, learning of the disaster, and how they had been bereft of wife and children, became wild in the first agonies of their bereavement. It is impossible to state the exact number of lives lost, but the estimates range from twenty to twenty-seven.

At 1 o'clock to-day the unfortunate sloop Mystery was towed to Canarsie dock. On bailing the water out of the sloop ten bodies were found in the cabin and identified. The Deputy Coroner says it has now been ascertained that twenty-two persons were drowned.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Definitely Settled County Judge—Editor Sheppard's case.

TORONTO, July 12.

The Sheppard libel case was again unearthed yesterday when, before Judge McDougall, beside whom sat Judge Morgan, the argument in the application to compel Mr. N. C. Love, J.P., to back a Montreal warrant for the arrest of Mr. Sheppard was heard.

Mr. B. B. Osler, Q.C., appeared for Mr. Love, Mr. W. A. Foster, Q.C., for Mr. Sheppard and Mr. J. J. McLaren and Mr. George Shepley for the complainant, Captain Louis George Edward Bouset of the 65th Regiment of Montreal. For about four hours the case was argued, the chief point of the defence being that the warrant bore no date and did not state from what court it issued.

Mr. Love filed an affidavit, in which he stated that his reason for not backing the warrant was that he had arrived at the same conclusion as Police Magistrate Denison regarding the case, viz., that it was an attempt to get Mr. Sheppard into the Province of Quebec so that he might be held until a judgment against him might be satisfied, and he would not feel justified in assisting in what he regards as an illegal and improper use or abuse of legal process. Mr. Sheppard put in an affidavit to the same effect.

His Honor reserved judgment until to-day. Col. George A. Shaw, Hawaiian Vice-Consul, who was injured in a railway accident near Hamilton on Dec. 2 last, has been awarded $4500 damages by the arbitrators appointed on behalf of Col. Shaw and the Grand Trunk Railway. Col. Shaw was in the mail car at the time of the accident and was seriously injured. In due time an action for damages was entered, claim being made for $30,000. Before the case went to trial both sides agreed to the appointment of three arbitrators, whose decision should be final and binding. Dr. Richardson was appointed by Col. Shaw, Dr. Thorburn by the Grand Trunk Railway, and Judge McDougall was mutually selected as the third. No evidence was taken beyond Col. Shaw's statement.

Col. Shaw has been incapacitated for duties ever since the accident, a period of over seven months. He intends retiring from the postal service.

Catharine Gilmour was arrested some days ago on a charge of stabbing her husband, Robert Gilmour of 215 Adelaide-street east. She was in the dock at the Police Court yesterday, but was discharged owing to the fact that her husband, who has recovered from the wound, when examined swore that he did not know who assaulted him. His brother gave similar evidence. The peculiarity of the case is that the woman was seen running away from her husband when he was wounded and the brother was a witness of what took place.

The late Sir Matthew Crooks Cameron's will has not yet been proved, but it is stated on good authority that the effects will be divided equally amongst all the members of his family. He did not execute his will until very shortly before his death, so that the purport of it is that his property should be dealt with as if he died intestate.

These gentlemen were yesterday put up for membership of the Board of Trade: W. C. Caldwell, lumberman, Lanark; James Cowan, coal dealer, R. K. Gibson, coal dealer, Henry S. Raymore, coal dealer, and Ed. Abbs, coal dealer, Toronto; Charles Ring, Lancer, Whitby and Toronto.

It is regarded as definitely settled that Mr. J. A. Macdonnell, barrister, of this city, is to be appointed judge of Prescott county.

MR. W. R. KENT EXPELLED

A GRAIN MERCHANT AND THE TORONTO BOARD OF TRADE.

What a Stickler in Barley Between Two Firms Led To—"I Am Willing to Arbitrate, but My Partner is Not"—A Former Expulsion.

TORONTO, July 12.

The first expulsion that ever took place from the Toronto Board of Trade was completed at a special meeting, at which forty-five members were present, yesterday afternoon. Mr. D. R. Wilkie, second Vice-President, was in the chair. The expelled member is Mr. W. R. Kent, of the firm of Gilchrist & Kent, grain dealers, Orangeville. Mr. Kent is what is known as an "outside" member. Mr. Gilchrist, his partner, is not a member of the board.

The history of Mr. Kent's expulsion dates back to January last, when his firm had a barley trade with the grain firm of J. B. McKay & Co. of this city. The trade involved some $643. There was a dispute about the grading of the barley, and as both firms were consenting on the Board of Trade it was suggested that the matter in dispute be referred to the Arbitration Committee of that body in accordance with the constitution and bylaws. It is said McKay & Co. were agreeable to this course; so was Mr. Kent, but his partner, Mr. Gilchrist, was not.

The council of the board took the matter up, fully investigated it and decided that if Mr. Kent did not consent to an arbitration, as provided for by the rules of the board, that he should be expelled. The special meeting backed up the council with but four dissenting votes: F. W. Gibb, R. Hatch, W. J. McMaster and R. A. Ricketts of Shelburne.

After Chairman Wilkie had explained that it was incompetent for the meeting to discuss the merits of the trade between the firms, and that all they had to do was to say whether the council should be upheld or not, Mr. Kent, who was present, was asked if he had anything to say.

He replied that he had nothing to say beyond that he himself was personally in favor of arbitration, but his partner was decidedly opposed to it. It was pointed out to Mr. Kent that he could agree to arbitration and assume the entire amount if it went against his firm; this he felt like doing and partly made up his mind to do so. The chairman pointed to the bond which covered the case already filled up lying on the table. There was also a well-inked pen beside the document. Mr. Kent made a movement towards it; then he halted. Finally he returned to his seat, took up his hat and said he would submit to the vote which had just been taken expelling him. He then left the room.

Several gentlemen friends of Mr. Kent counselled him strongly that he acted foolishly. He looked as though he thought so himself at times.

The matter has caused a good deal of feeling among the members of the board, as it is the first expulsion that ever took place.

AN ELEVATED STRIKE.

The Engineers on the Brooklyn Mid-Air Railway Come Out.

NEW YORK, July 11.—At 4 p.m. the engineers and firemen on the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad struck, and traffic on the line was wholly suspended. Later a few trains were run by some of the higher officials in the engineering department of the road. It seems that trouble has been brewing between the engineers and the management for some time. This morning nine engineers were discharged, and the Brotherhood at once appointed a committee to wait on the management and demand that the discharged railway engineers be reinstated pending arbitration. This was refused. The Brotherhood then ordered the men to strike at 4 o'clock. The men obeyed to a man. Chief Arthur has been telegraphed for.

THE METLAKAPLA INDIANS.

The Dominion Government Entirely Responsible Regarding Them.

LONDON, July 11.—Sir Henry Holland questioned by the Opposition, said that a difficulty had arisen between the natives of Metalakapla and the Government of British Columbia. These Indians had made overtures to the Government at Washington to settle them in Alaska, but the Dominion Government were advised that no encouragement was given them by the United States Government. The Dominion Government, said Sir Henry, was entirely responsible, and he would not be justified in pressing any particular policy.

DRIVEN TO DEATH.

A Young Woman Suicides Because She Cannot Marry the Man of Her Choice.

ASHVILLE, N.C., July 11.—Miss Viola Meets, daughter of a prominent citizen of Graham County, N.C., was to have been married on Sunday, July 3, to John Ammons of the same county. The match was opposed by the girl's father, who armed himself on the day of the proposed wedding and swore he would kill Ammons if he appeared at his premises. The daughter said she would prefer to marry with her father's consent, but would marry Ammons that day or die. The father violently refusing, she stepped into an adjoining room. The father went into the room shortly afterwards. The daughter was a corpse and in her hand was a vial labelled strychnine.

THE McGLYNN CASE.

The Church Dignitaries in New York Silent Regarding It.

NEW YORK, July 11.—At St. Patrick's Cathedral to-day no one would say anything regarding the case of Dr. McGlynn. Mgr. Preston refused to talk. He said he could not conceive how Dr. McGlynn could have taken communion yesterday unless it was administered by some young priest who did not know him. Dr. McGlynn's followers appear to be as earnest as ever.

Dr. Carey, the leader of the sympathizing parishioners, says the excommunicated priest will yet be restored. He says Rome has acted in ignorance. The summons to Rome by its conditions was virtually an order to stay away.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. eodw

THE CASS CASE AND ITS LESSONS.

British pig-headness once lost to the Empire the southern half of the continent of North America. This was over a century ago but some of her living statesmen have not laid that lesson to heart nor learned tolerance and pliancy becoming to their position. The other day a pig-headed Home secretary badly shook up, if he did not wreck, the Salisbury Ministry, and through his stupidity an obscure country girl has become the most talked about girl in the world for the proverbial nine days. She was the chief element in the recent defeat of the British Ministry in the House of Commons. Many readers who, during the heated term, glance rather cursorily at the daily papers have but a misty memory of the circumstances, and for the benefit of these and of those who do not follow the events of the day, the case may be thus briefly stated:—A young country girl of the name of Cass, a stranger in London, came lately to the city and found employment in a dressmaking establishment. After her day's work was over she went out, country fashion, for a walk, and about 9 p.m. was arrested by a policeman for, as he alleged, accosting men, and was kept in gaol over night. The following morning she was taken before a magistrate. The only witness against her was the policeman who made the arrest. He said he took her up on general principles "for being out so late at night." The young woman protested her innocence, and told the magistrate that she was but recently from the country and ignorant of the ways of a large city. Yet the metropolitan Dogberry, by name Newton, who has won an unenviable notoriety, for his despotism and his bullying brutality on the bench, held that it was prima facie evidence of the girl's bad character to be alone in Regent Street after nine o'clock. He curtly refused to listen to any evidence of the girl's respectability which her employer was ready and willing to give. His decision tended to put the stamp of prostitution upon an innocent country girl. But the Pall Mall Gazette took the matter up and the question was brought before Parliament, when Mr. Matthews, the Home Secretary, instead of promising a full investigation and re-opening the case, to allow an innocent country girl to vindicate her reputation, upheld the stupid policeman and the still stupider magistrate. The leader of the Tory government exhibited his humanity and good sense by asserting that in the case "the feelings of the policeman ought to be respected." The Government opposed inquiry, but the House voted in favor of it and the ministry was virtually defeated. This is a lesson for ministers that they cannot for a moment ignore. It shows that British members of parliament still retain a belief in "British fair play", and that though in this their feeling was shown towards a simple country girl, the recent by-elections, indicating hostility to the ministry in new quarters, show that the popular feeling in favor of extending British fair play to Ireland is constantly gaining ground. The "Cass case" has also its lessons to girls and young women. If in London, it is regarded as a disreputable and suspicious circumstance for young girls to be abroad unprotected after night, it cannot be held that it is any safer or more modest for them to be conspicuously abroad at night even in a town like Peterborough. Although girls may have perfectly legitimate business abroad after night fall, yet the streets of any town are not a safe place for young girls to be without proper protection. They stand the danger of being submitted to insulting addresses; by degrees they become familiar with boisterous company and lose that maidenly delicacy and freshness and innocence, the chief charm of girlhood. The girl who spends most of her spare time in the evening streets is learning no good, and, it is safe to say that when no good is got loss of innocence and modesty may result, even if no graver evil results follow. It is always safe for girls to avoid the very appearance of evil. The world makes little difference in the consequences its customs impose, between the loss of a girl's reputation and the loss of her character. No accusation is intended, nor would be justified in the vast majority of girls accustomed to roam our streets at night without proper escort, yet the world is suspicious and will make disparaging remarks. Indeed few towns as large as Peterborough are so singularly free from the froward girl, and it is safe to say that to one female of lax deportment in public, there will be found a score of men ready to accost with ribaldry and questionable jest the unwary and unprotected girl who is met abroad alone on the streets. Those who wish to avoid being misjudged should give no opportunity. The most perilous crisis in a young girl's life is when she decides to defy public opinion, and decides that she is able to "take care of herself"—pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall.

It is admitted, says the Detroit Free Press, that the destructive fire which broke out in the Quebec Citadel on Wednesday night was caused by the stupidity of the militia authorities in erecting wooden stables in the centre of the fortress. These wooden structures, as might have been expected, proved to be veritable fire traps. A few years ago the government caused the destruction of a valuable public building at Charlottetown by taking off the slate roof and replacing it with one of shingles, that took fire from the first spark that fell upon it.

The Pharmacy College Dispute.

The recent election of members of the of the council of the Ontario College of Pharmacy took place in Toronto, and resulted as follows:—N. C. Love, Toronto; E. Harvey, Guelph; J. E. D'Avignon, Windsor: Hugh Miller, Toronto; R. W. Elliott, Toronto; W. B. Saunders, Stayner; W. C. Polson, Kingston; J. E. Harkness, London; R. Brierly, Hamilton; C. K. McGregor, Brantford; R. Whitney, Owen Sound; J. E. Foster, St. Thomas, and D. W. Yeomans, Belleville.

The members of the college are highly dissatisfied with the manner in which the balloting was conducted, and there are said to be well founded charges of fraud in connection with the counting. Legal proceedings will very likely be taken to set aside the alleged fraudulent election.

Joy in Every Drop.

This may be truly said of Polson's NERVILINE, the greatest pain remedy of the age. It brings comfort to the weary sufferer when failure has attended the use of every known remedy. NERVILINE is an absolute cure for all kinds of pain, internal, external, or local. Purchase a 10 cent sample bottle and try this great remedy, NERVILINE, nerve pain cure. Don't forget the name at any drug store. 6dw28

One swallow doesn't make a summer, as every body knows. It may also be further stated that often one entire glass of soda water doesn't make one swallow.

In Better Humor Now.

"My son aged eleven, was cured of an eruptive humor that covered his head and face with sores, by two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and Pills," testifies Mrs. Mary Fulford, of Port Hope, Ont. 2w27d

Catarrh is not a Blood Disease.

No matter what parts it may finally affect, catarrh always starts in the head, and belongs to the head. There is no mystery about the origin of this direful disease. It begins in a neglected cold. One of the kind that is "sure to be better in a few days." Thousands of victims know it is by sad experience. Ely's Cream Balm cures colds in the head and catarrh in all its stages. Not a snuff nor a liquid. eodw58

"What is McGregor's Speedy Cure for?"

It is for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Biliousness, and it is the finest blood purifier in the known world to-day.

"Does it give satisfaction?"

"We cannot point to one instance where it did not.

"Where does it have the largest sale?"

Right in the city of Hamilton, where it is manufactured, there has been over one thousand dollars' worth sold in the last year retail, and the great majority of the sales are by one recommending it to another. For sale at 50c. and $1.00 per bottle by John McKee Druggist. eodw28

Worth Remembering.

In a long letter from John H. Hall, of Baddick, Cape Vincent, N. S., he says: "I believe were it not for Burdock Blood Bitters I should be in my grave. It cured me of kidney and liver complaint and general debility, which had nearly proved fatal." 2w27d

From Manitoba.

"I have been cured of chronic diarrhœa by the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I used about twelve bottles of it and am now entirely free from the disease." William McLaren, Clearwater, Manitoba. 2w27d

Gossip of the Turf.

E. J. Baldwin's bay colt Emperor of Norfolk, by Norfolk, dam Marion, won the Lake View Handicap for 3-year-olds at Chicago on Saturday, and not E. Corrigan's filly Emporia, as stated in yesterday's World. It was erroneously telegraphed.

Following are the latest London quotations on the St. Leger, to be run Sept. 14: 5 to 2 against Merry Hampton, 13 to 2 Kirkdisprd, 16 to 1 Brio, 20 to 1 each Kilwarlin and Salisbury, 25 to 1 Glenstrae.

The Huggin stable suffered a loss at Monmouth in the death of the two-year-old Rebus, by Reform out of Hastle. The colt sustained an injury of some sort while at work from which lockjaw set in, and he died last Saturday night.

The Irish Derby, run at the Curragh on June 23, was won by Mr. W. Murphy's Pet Fox, by Philammon out of Wild Vixen. Mr. D. M. Nolan's King Milan getting second money, and Mr. W. Brophy's Henry George third. The winner, who was ridden by T. Kavanagh, started at 6 to 1, and won easily by three lengths.

The features in racing in England during the current week include the Liverpool July meeting, which will continue three days, and the Kempton Park meeting of two days. The event of the Liverpool meeting is the Cup race at about a mile and three furlongs and for which Capt. Machell's Crafton is the top weight at 124 pounds.

Devices of Advertisers.

So many devices are resorted to by advertisers, that the ordinary reader sometimes become shy of the tempting paragraph, fearing the advice that is concealed in it like a pill in jelly. Who, for instance, on beginning this item, would have supposed that its purpose was to make known the truth that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is what it claims to be—a cure for a disease at once loathsome to friends, and annoying and even dangerous to the sufferer. 1d9

FRENCH ENMITY TO GERMANY.

Germans Incensed to the Utmost by the Attitude of France.

BERLIN, July 10.—If the temper of the German press were a faithful reflection of the disposition of the Government a war with France would be a question of a few days. The revelations at the Klein trial, the French tax on foreigners, which is openly designed to affect Germans, and the prohibitive impost on German spirits have the combined effect of incensing the people to the utmost. The latter measures by themselves have been held of less account, but associated with the spy trials they have heightened the general sense that French enmity is unplacable and that it seeks to wound the Germans where it can, waiting a chance to inflict the deadliest injury.

The trial of Klein is the fifth treason trial in which clear proof was afforded that the French War Ministry has organized a system of espionage. A worse case than any revealed is under inquiry. An employe of the central administration at Strasburg is about to be tried at Leipsic. He is charged with selling to the French War office all of the official reports sent to the chief administrator of Alsace by his various subordinates. The completeness of this system of espionage suggests that treason is still at work and that any movement may bring further revelations.

BLAINE AT EDINBURGH.

He Delivers an Address at the Laying of a Corner Stone.

EDINBURGH, July 10.—The foundation stone of the new library building, to be erected as a monument to the generosity of Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, was laid to-day. Mr. J. G. Blaine delivered an address, and in the course of his remarks claimed Mrs. Carnegie as a countrywoman. There was not a child in America, he said, that was not acquainted with Edinburgh through information derived from the profitable use of their books and maps. The best thinkers of to-day looked back upon that splendid galaxy, Scott, Jeffrey and Sidney Smith, whose literature, as the latter had avowed, was cultivated upon a little oatmeal. Mr. Blaine was repeatedly and heartily cheered.

THE PAPAL MISSION.

Fathers Gualdi and Persico will Visit all Important Points in Ireland.

DUBLIN, July 10.—Father Gualdi, who accompanied Mgr. Persico in the special papal mission to Ireland, states that Mgr. Persico will first obtain all possible information from the Catholic bishops of Ireland. He will then be happy to receive any other information on the subject of his inquiry no matter from what source it may be offered, and listen to all persons desirous of expounding their views on the questions before the country, regarding either education, the land or politics. Mgr. Persico and Father Gualdi will visit all the important cities in Ireland. It is impossible, Father Gualdi says, to say at present how long they will remain in Ireland.

EVICTIONS IN WEXFORD.

A Bailiff Assaults a Girl Who Defends Her Home.

DUBLIN, July 10.—In the evictions at Coolgranery, County Wexford, to-day, a man named Darcy and three daughters made such a stubborn defense of their house against the bailiffs who attempted to eject them, that the officer in anger attacked the girls and badly injured one of them on the head. Three bailiffs will be arrested charged with assault, for this. In the next house a tenant and his wife made considerable resistance, but were put out and arrested for scalding the police with hot water.

My Hired Man.

I had a little hired man
Deliberate and slow,
And everywhere that I might went,
That hired man would go.

Born weary early in his youth,
And ne'er got rested place,
And when I spoke of boeing corn,
That hired man would whine.

He came to me, this hired man,
In sad and woful plight,
He'd naught to call his own except
A noble appetite.

I missed my little hired man,
I searched both high and low,
I missed him from his customed haunts,
I missed my watch also.

I miss my Sunday suit and hat,
My boots, a shirt or two,
I miss my sad-eyed hired man
Oh, yes, indeed I do.

If you should see him anywhere,
Be not with anger fired,
Deal gently with the hulking cuss,
He'll be so awful tired. —The Khan

By Hot Water and Steam.

We desire to call special attention to their splendid Hot Water and Steam Boilers which are acknowledged to have no superior on the Continent of America. We have received orders from Ottawa and other places to replace other boilers with ours. This speaks for itself. McAndrew & Noble are prepared to back their own boilers against these of any other maker either in or out of Peterborough, and if not superior in every respect they will be removed without one cent of expense. We claim, and it has been acknowledged, that we have the best boiler for heating purposes in the world to-day; all we want is a fair test.

THE BATTLE OF THE BOYNE

The Midland District Celebrates in Peterborough.

Glorious Weather for the Glorious Twelfth.—An Immense Gathering of the Brethren of the Orange Order.—Thousands of Visitors.—The Streets in Gala Attire.—An Imposing Procession.

About four o'clock Tuesday morning all over the Midland District the active Orangeman was astir and began to arise from his bed. At the same time a flash of orange covered the face of the east, the sun rose and a magnificent day was ushered in—a typical Twelfth of July day. Everything was propitious for a monster and successful demonstration, on the occasion of the 197th anniversary of the historical Battle of the Boyne and the result did not belie the promise of the morning.

The Peterborough brethren had made complete and excellent preparations for the reception of their visiting brethren. Among these may be included, as worthy of special mention, consisted principally of arches thrown across streets and street corners, though several private places indulged in more or less profuse hanging out of flags, bunting, evergreens, etc.

The first arch encountered by visitors to the town was on George street at the market square, re-built and re-dressed over the framework of the Foresters' Jubilee arch. The mottoes on the arch were on one side "No Surrender" and on the other "Welcome."

At the corner of George and Simcoe streets a canopy arch was erected with a lofty centre pole with a Union Jack floating from its summit.

Opposite the Golden Lion on George street the Sons of England Jubilee arch was redressed for the occasion, and supplied with the mottoes: on the north front the word "Love" over the words "Our Country and our Queen", and on the other "Canada our Home."

The lofty electric light standard on the centre of the Hunter and George street square was made gay with flags.

A fine canopy arch erected by the True Blues, spanned the square at the intersection of George and Brock streets. From the four corners there stretched diagonally to the centre pole double festoons of evergreen ropes and in between them were let in insertions of red, white, blue and orange bunting. The mottoes were: "We're all True Blues," "With Heart and Hand", and "Welcome."

At the intersection of Water and Hunter Streets another fine canopy arch was placed, gaily decked with flags. The mottoes were, on the west "Civil and Religious Liberty," on the south "L.O.L. 457 Welcomes our visiting Brethren," on the east "The Queen and Crown," on the north "Aughrim, Boyne and Derry." The Croft House was finely decorated for the occasion. One of the windows of the west front contained a life-size portrait of the Queen and over the door was stretched a flag containing a representation of the British lion rampant, and the words "The Keystone of the British Empire."

THE RUSH BEGINS.

As early as eight o'clock the people in wagons, buggies and on foot began to pour into town, and before nine o'clock the streets were crowded, and the jam continued to increase till the arrival of the last train at 11:30. The first trains arrived at 8:30—on the G. T. R. from Franklin, and on the C. P. R. from Norwood, Tweed and points east. The other trains followed at brief intervals till eight trains had poured their crowded compliment of Orangemen, True Blues and visitors into the town.

The Central Park and drill shed were the rendezvous from which the grand parade and procession started, and all morning it was a crush of shifting humanity,

At last all the lodges had arrived, and the monster procession was marshalled into order by Mr. J. B. McWilliams, assisted by Messrs. G. W. Hall and George Wainright, all mounted on white horses.

BRIGHTON DISTRICT.
One Lodge, Cottington.

The Millbrook Fire Brigade Band with a couple of lodges did not reach town till about half past one.

The Grand Officers present were, Mr. John White, ex-M.P., P. G. M.; Mr. T. B. Collins, Grand Master Eastern Ontario; Mr. James Evans, Grand Lecturer, British America; Mr. Wm. Johnston, Belleville, P. G. M.. Ontario East; R. Gordon, Grand Treasurer Ontario East; Mr. Wm. Anderson, Grand Treasurer British America; Rev. T. Smithett, Omemee, Grand Chaplain Eastern Ontario and Grand Chaplain of the Royal Black Knights, and R. Robinson, Tweed, Grand Master Royal Black Knights; Robt. Banting, Lindsay, Grand Master True Blues.

The above is merely the order in which the leading lodges marshalled, though their exact position in all cases could not be ascertained. The streets were filled with a swarming, sweltering mass of humanity, who crowded and jostled into the south side of each other mercilessly. It is specified that there were fully 1,500 men in the procession, the head of which had reached Simcoe to the junction of the route before the latter end had started. The marching of the visitors was open work. Omemee Lodge of True Blues carrying each a palm for next uniform, while Nassau Lodge was undoubtedly the prize representative Orange body.

The route of procession took place as follows: Down the Central Park down George street to Hunter, thence to Aylmer, down Aylmer to Simcoe, across to George, down George to Charlotte, over to Water, up to Simcoe, across to George, thence to Hunter, back again to Water, thence to Murray street and the Central Park, where the procession was disbanded for dinner. Ample accommodation for the visiting brethren had been arranged at the various hotels, supplemented by improvised eating houses. A monster meeting was held at the Court House Park at 2:30 in the afternoon at which addresses were being delivered by the local clergy and grand officers, as the EXAMINER went to press.

Tom Saunders and John Heffernan, the two boys remanded from last week for using insulting language towards Wm. Kerr at the Locks bridge, were dismissed.

John Ryan and John Clarke were run in by the police last night for being drunk and disorderly. They were each sent to gaol for three days by the magistrate this morning.

Victoria Rifles Band.

A special meeting of the Oddfellows' Demonstration Committee was held last evening to take into consideration the bringing of the Victoria Rifles Band, of Montreal, numbering 40 pieces, to Peterborough, to participate in the Oddfellow's celebration next month. A favorable proposition was decided upon to be made to the band, and there is every probability of their accepting the offer. It is proposed to have a promenade concert on Tuesday evening, August 9th, in which the band will take part. It is also proposed that they shall provide music for an Oddfellows' ball to be held in the Opera house, Wednesday evening, the 10th. Committees were appointed to perfect arrangements for the same. A decoration committee, consisting of 6 members of each lodge, was appointed, who will look after the decorations of the town during the week of festivities. It was decided to ask the ladies of the town to assist in providing refreshments for the visiting brethren at the Charlotte street skating rink, and circulars to that purport will be issued. Every indication points to a most successful celebration by the Oddfellows next August.

The Memorial Fountain.

The Brown memorial fountain in Central Park is running to-day, by a temporary arrangement. The stated reason why the fountain has not been placed in use before this season, is that the directors of the Horticultural Society intend fixing up the park, necessitating some alterations in regard to the fountain. The fountain is running to-day to appease the raging thirst (as it is supposed to be) of the thousands of visitors to our town. The work of fixing up the park will be begun it is expected within a few days.

A REVOLUTION IN HAWAII

KING KALAKATA BOWS MEEKLY TO THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE.

He Has Acceded to the Demand for a New Constitution, and he Will be Permitted to Remain on the Throne Although Divested of all Present Power.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—The steamship Mariposa, which arrived from Australia this morning, having touched at the Hawaiian Islands, brings the important information that the expected revolution in the Hawaiian Kingdom has actually occurred. The populace have organized and demanded the downfall of the Ministry and the abdication of the King. The residents of Honolulu and the surrounding country have assumed the powers of government. The volunteer and military forces of the kingdom are with them. As a result the Gibson Ministry has fallen and a Cabinet, named by the people and headed by William L. Greene, has been appointed. King Kalakaua is permitted to remain on the throne, although divested of all present power, having acceded to the demand for a new constitution and agreed to abide by the will of the people.

The king was thoroughly alarmed and on July 1 called a meeting of the American Minister, the British Commissioner, the French Commissioner and the Portuguese Commissioner to whom he offered to transfer pro tem. the powers vested in him as king. These officials refused to accept the trust but advised the king to lose no time in forming a new constitution, which he followed. Walter M. Gibson and his son-in-law, F. H. Hayselden, are under arrest, having been seized by the civic troops when attempting to escape.

The populace assumed control of the affairs of the kingdom on June 25 and were joined by the Honolulu Rifles and other hastily organized military companies. Patrols were established throughout the city and guards placed over the military armory. On the afternoon of June 30 a meeting was held at the armory of the Honolulu Rifles, the meeting having been advertised by posters in English, Hawaiian and Portuguese, and long before the hour of meeting the approaches to the building were thronged with all classes of people. All the stores and shops had been closed and all approaches to the palace were barricaded, but the Royal troops made no sign of meeting the volunteer troops. Outside of the Armory the Honolulu Rifles were under arms. On the walls of the Armory back of the platform were displayed the Hawaiian, American and English flags. The meeting was addressed in the English and Hawaiian languages and resolutions were adopted declaring that "the administration of the Hawaiian Government had ceased, through corruption and incompetency, adequately to perform its functions and afford the protection to personal and property rights for which all governments exist," and making certain demands of the King, which were submitted to him by a committee.

The surrender of King Kalakaua to the demands of the populace was as complete as the ignominy endured by his late Ministry.

What course the revolution will now take is not known. The answer of the King was accepted as an absolute concession of every demand made and while there is a bitter expression of feeling against Kalakaua it was the belief when the Mariposa sailed that he would be allowed to continue on the throne, though fears were expressed that Gibson and other members of the deposed ministry might lose their lives. Gibson was arrested, although a military guard had been placed about his house, owing to the belief that he intended to steal away on the steamship Mariposa. When his arrest became known armed citizens to the number of fully 300 escorted the fallen Minister to the Pacific warehouse, where Webb, another member of the late Cabinet, and Hayselden, son-in-law of Gibson, were also taken. As there had been no bloodshed up to July 1, when the steamer Mariposa sailed, the hope was expressed that the revolution would continue to be a bloodless one, though it might take another shape at any moment.

THE IRISH LAND BILL.

The Chief Secretary Moves the Second Reading of the Measure.

LONDON, July 11.—Mr. Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, in moving the second reading of the Land Bill, said that the Government did not offer the measure as proposing any definite settlement of the land question. It was merely an amendatory bill, one trying to remedy the injustices which experience had shown arose under the Acts of Parliament of 1870 and 1871. It brought the leaseholders under the Acts of 1881, thus completing the work of Mr. Gladstone. The proposed new clauses, which deal with the purchase of land, are in accordance with the clauses of the Land Acts suggested by John Bright in 1870.

In regard to evictions Mr. Balfour explained that it was proposed to substitute a written notice for the writ of execution of ejectment, and to allow the tenant by means of the Bankruptcy Act to obtain a stay of proceedings, while at the same time spreading the liability of the tenant over an indefinite period. Strong objections, he supposed, awaited the bankruptcy clause, but in no civilized country could the debtor escape his liability by any other process than by payment of the debt. The bill would certainly stop harsh evictions in the future. By this pending measure the Government is aiming at something like final settlement. It would deal out the widest application of the purchase clauses of the bill and the clauses relating to the revision of judicial rents.

Parnellites might regard the bill with contempt, but if it did nothing more it would enable Parliament to tide over several urgent economic difficulties. A still greater measure would be produced. [Cheers.]

Lads on a Lark.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Geo. W. Hall left his horse and buggy standing at the corner of Simcoe and George streets while he superintended some work on the Orange arch. On returning to the spot shortly afterwards, both animal and vehicle had disappeared. Mr. Hall notified the police, who got on the track of the miscreants, a couple of boys who took it for a lark, but while the eagle-eyed "cops" were searching for the youths, the latter managed to return unnoticed to Simcoe street, where they left everything as they found it. The lads may yet be made to feel sorry for their little escapade.

AFFAIRS AT THE CAPITAL.

A STEADY INCREASE IN REVENUE NOTICEABLE.

Sir John Macdonald Coming West—The Location of the Government Printing Office—The Official Report on the Fire at the Quebec Citadel.

OTTAWA, July 12.—The receipts at the Finance Department for the first ten days of the present fiscal year show that the steady increase in the revenue noticeable for some time past still continues. The receipts on account of the last fiscal year have been over one million and a half, which, added to the two millions and a half surplus shown at the end of June, make a present apparent surplus of over four millions, and there are still considerable receipts to come in in the way of interest on assets, etc.

There is some doubt as to the location of the proposed Government printing office here. A site on the canal, forming part of the canal reserve, was selected and a contract entered into, but so much opposition has been developed on the part of the mercantile community to any part of the canal reserve being occupied by Government buildings, to the curtailment of the wharfage front, that it is most likely the site will be abandoned and another selected. The Government owns several suitable sites, but the one most likely to be selected is on the Nepean Point.

It is understood that the Government will shortly distribute to the Northwest Mounted Police, who served in the recent rebellion, medals similar to those distributed to the volunteers.

The Militia Department has received Col. Turnbull's report on the recent fire in the Citadel in Quebec. It is understood that the report attributes the fire to accident and attaches no blame to any of the men employed about the stables.

PARENT, THE DEFAULTER.

He Thinks He Has Been Very Badly Treated by the Hochelaga Bank.

CHICAGO, July 12.—A. L. Parent, the defaulting cashier of the Hochelaga Bank of Montreal, who is in the County Jail under indictment for bringing stolen money into the state, is much aggrieved over his treatment by the Chicago authorities.

He said this morning: "I don't see why I should be arrested for bringing money into the state. They ought to be glad when Canadian money comes here, and besides all the time Americans are going over to Canada and bringing plenty of American money with them and they are never arrested. I can prove anybody that I did not bring any money here. When I was arrested in Buffalo one of the directors of the bank and the bank's attorney came to me and promised me that if I would give up what money I had to the bank they would withdraw the charge against me. I was so big a fool as not to make them put it in writing, but I took their word for it and turned over to them nearly $31,000, for which they gave me a receipt that the money should be placed to the credit of my account. Then I was released. Besides the cash the bank got what property I had in Montreal, some real estate, a mortgage I had, a drug store I owned, my household furniture and even some little property belonging to my wife. If my account with the bank was balanced the bank would owe me $5000.'

The Member for Dublin University.

DUBLIN, July 12.—The election for Dublin University, made vacant by the elevation of Attorney-General Holmes to the Irish Bench, took place to-day. There were two candidates, Mr. Madden and Hon. R. C. Parsons, both Conservatives. Madden was elected, receiving 1376 votes, against 710 for Parsons.

POISONOUS ADULTERATION.

A Philadelphia Baker Held For Using Chromate of Lead in Bread.

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—Coroner Ashbridge yesterday held an inquest before a special jury in regard to the deaths in the families of Louis Diebel and George Palmer, as is supposed, from eating poisoned tea buns made by Palmer, who is a baker. The jury returned a verdict that the deaths of four persons were undoubtedly due to chronic lead poisoning, and that resulted from the use of chromate of lead as a coloring matter in the buns and other breadstuffs; also that the use by bakers of chromate of lead was in general the result of ignorance, but that [illegible] country was due August Suppelius, who circulated [illegible] chromate of lead, knowing that it was a mineral and deleterious substance. Palmer was held in $5000 bail.

WHO IS THIS MISSIONARY?

LOCKPORT, N.Y., July 12.—A middle-aged woman with three children was found by a delirious condition on board a Central train at Suspension Bridge. She was taken to Lockport [illegible] to Lockport [illegible] county [illegible] relatives [illegible] she was [illegible] Ohio, to Toronto [illegible] own self-control of herself, and her condition is deplorable.

In her pockets were found letters from Geo. Harrison of Toronto and John Kennedy of Suspension Bridge, Ont. At times she claims Kennedy as her father. The police have been notified.

THE REBELLIOUS PRIEST.

FATHER M'GLYNN WILL NOT AGAIN ATTEND COMMUNION.

His Sympathizers to be Warned of Their Error and to be Invited to Turn from It—In case of Non-compliance they will be Excommunicated.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Dr. McGlynn said last night that when he received the Eucharist at the hands of Father Brennan in the Church of Our Lady of Victories, Brooklyn, early Sunday morning, neither he nor the officiating priest had notice of his excommunication. He denies the statement that he is going to make an appeal to Rome and fight for reinstatement. He will not present himself at any Catholic altar for communion to create any unseemly disturbance.

McGlynn Supporters to be Warned.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The Commercial Advertiser says it was asserted to-day, on what appeared to be good authority, that all the Catholic priests in the city and throughout the Archdiocese of New York will be instructed to issue warnings next Sunday to their congregations to avoid participation in McGlynn meetings and to associate with him only so far as the courtesies of life might require. If this warning has not the desired effect, a second one will be issued on the following Sunday announcing the penalties to be incurred by disobedience to the orders. If this also does fails all the forces governed by the canon law will have been [illegible] and excommunication mentioned will follow.

It is also asserted on the same authority that Catholic pastors have been requested to look after the members of their flocks who are suspected of sympathizing with Dr. McGlynn and try to win them over by arguments and appeals before it becomes necessary to resort to severer measures. The Archbishop is determined that, whatever severe circumstances may force him to adopt in the future, there shall be no question about the non-observance of the canon law in his actions.

THE IRISH LAND BILL.

Mr. Dillon Says It Is Utterly Inadequate to Meet the Needs of Tenants.

LONDON, July 12.—Mr. Dillon resumed the debate on the Land Bill in the House of Commons to-night. He said he rejected the measure with contempt as utterly inadequate to meet the needs of the Irish tenantry. He rebutted Mr. Chamberlain's assertion that the past efforts of English statesmen to ameliorate the condition of the people had invariably met with continuous from the Parnellites, and declared that whatever advantages English statesmen had ever offered had been eagerly seized. Yesterday evening's debate, he said, disclosed the fact that many of the Government's supporters were desirous of securing important amendment to the bill. Would the Chamberlain set, he asked, compel the Government to introduce the amendments suggested?

Attacking the clauses of the bill seriatim, Mr. Dillon declared that the first, dealing with the case of leaseholders, was the only one that promised to be beneficial in its character and operation. The other clauses would make eviction easy, destroy the confidence of the tenantry in the land court and place in the landlords' hands the new and terribly irresistible engine of eviction.

Mr. T. W. Russell, Conservative, Tyrone, said it was the desire of the tenant farmers of Ulster to see a fair and determined effort made to settle the questions raised by the bill. This measure would not satisfy them. He objected to a tenant being compelled to go into court against his will. The bill was a delusion as regards eviction, closing one door upon the power of the landlord to evict only to open another.

The division on the second reading of the bill will take place on Thursday next. The Government has secured a mechanical majority. The Conservative whips promise important amendments. They say that the [illegible] clauses will be abandoned in committee and that an amendment will be introduced giving county court judges power to revise the judicial rents, and they claim that these alterations will modify the opposition of the Parnellite members to the measure.

THE BROOKLYN STRIKE.

The Elevated Railway Will Not Accede to the Demands of the Engineers.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The strike on the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad promises to be a long one. Col. Fred. Martin, General Manager of the road, says the company has in no wise interfered with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The rules under which the men work are the same that have been in force since May, 1885, and they have not been modified except to reduce the number of hours that engineers work.

The company claim their engineers have been paid as much as those on any other line and more than the men on other Long Island roads. They get $3.50 per day. Their work consists of six trips, or a trifle over nine hours a day. Col. Martin declares that the company cannot and will not accede to the demands of the men, and that on this he is borne out by the Executive Committee.

This morning at 4.36 the company took men out of the shops and began running six trains. At 11 o'clock two more trains were added. A platform man at the entrance to the bridge station announced to all passengers that trains were running at fifteen-minute intervals. In busy hours, when the road is in full operation, trains run at two-and-a-half-minute intervals.

The strikers are confident of success. As early as five o'clock this morning the Fulton ferry in Brooklyn presented an appearance that has been unusual since the elevated roads were completed. It is the terminus of twelve street car lines that aggregate 2000 cars daily, and at this early hour the crowds were phenomenal. The Broadway cars carried more than their quota of passengers, and the people flocked in on the cross town lines and crossed the Roosevelt, Grand and Twenty-third-streets ferries.

INVITED TO IRELAND.

The Parnellites Ask Mr. Gladstone to Help Them to Fight Coercion.

LONDON, July 12.—The Parnellite members of Parliament are trying to induce Mr. Gladstone to visit Ireland during the early operation of the Coercion Act and to assist in resistance to any tyrannical use of the act. The outspoken speech of Mr. Gladstone on Saturday encourages the Parnellites to hope that he will go to Ireland if he is able to face the fatigue of the Irish campaign.

John Morley, M.P., heads the band of English Home Rulers, and will co-operate with the Parnellites in opposing interference by the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland with the Land Leagues or other legitimate combinations of the people of Ireland.

The Daily News believes that the Cabinet is divided upon the question of meeting the views of the Unionists, and that unless the difference is arranged it may lead to the defeat of the Government in committee. Liberal members of the House of Commons are expressing to give a hearing to Parnell [illegible]

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Carpenters' and Plasterers' Strikes—Shopkeepers Have Upheld.

Toronto, July 12.

A settlement of the trade troubles appears to be more remote than ever. All attempts of the subscribers to open negotiations between the bosses and men have failed, and the special committee of citizens has fared no better.

The Master Plasterers' Association has absolutely refused to meet the striking plasterers in company with the architects or anybody else, and the Master Carpenters' Association will not break any outside interference.

A member of the Carpenters' Union was asked last night what would likely be the outcome of the efforts of the architects to bring about a settlement of the difficulty. "The architects hold the key to the situation," he said, "they will bring the boss to time shortly. They can compel the contractors to complete their contracts in the time specified or assess the damages they are liable for through the non-completion of their work. The bosses are playing a game of bluff, but they will find the [illegible] hold the winning hand."

WORTH RECOGNIZED.

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, held in the head office, Toronto, on Tuesday, Mr. Geo. A. Cox, of Peterborough was elected to the important position of Vice-President. In more than one respect this is a subject for congratulation. It is not only a personal credit to the new incumbent of the office, but it is a credit to the good name and high commercial standing of Peterborough that one of her foremost citizens should have been honored in the manner indicated. This is no empty compliment. It is a genuine tribute to the sterling quality of Mr. Cox's personal and business character. Within the past quarter of a century he has built up a reputation for first-rate financial ability—a reputation which is not only of a local, but provincial and, indeed, Dominion extent. That this reputation is fully deserved is well known in Peterborough, where the town, in its marvellous growth and development, has felt the impulses of his enterprise, and the benefits of his courageous and far-seeing financial insight. Whatever he has touched has been successful. This is not due to mere good luck, but is the result of a thorough understanding of the conditions surrounding any projected undertaking, the result of an intuitive and clear perception of its financial feasibility, and the result of the application of exceptional executive ability. Possessing in an unusual degree all the elements of a successful financier—together with a happy combination of courage and caution in his methods, it is not surprising that Mr. Cox has achieved the reputation and position in the financial world which he now enjoys. The corporation of the Canadian Bank of Commerce is to be congratulated on the important addition to its officers in the person of Mr. Cox as Vice-President

PARTY GOVERNMENT.

In his interesting sermon to the Orangemen at the Metropolitan Church on Sunday, July 10th, Rev. Mr. Stafford very properly pointed out that while no substitute for government by party has yet been discovered, it is possible to carry partyism altogether too far. This is unquestionably true of that which, generally called partyism, is not intelligent fidelity to principle, but that blind devotion to some organization or to some chief which leads so many to trample all principle under foot at the call of party or the command of a leader.

The lengths to which even men regarded as honorable and respectable in private life will go when possessed by the fell spirit was shown in the notorious Baird case during the last session of the Dominion Parliament. A returning officer, actuated by this spirit of party, returned as duly elected a man who did not receive a majority of votes. To serve his party this officer trampled law and common sense and decency under foot. A majority in the House of Commons, at the command of their leader, acted quite as badly

It was admitted that this man Baird was not a member of Parliament, that his return was an outrage on the people of Queen's County and a gross violation of the rights and of the dignity of Parliament; that he had no right to sit in Parliament, and that the outrage was repeated whenever he took the seat to which he had no right, or voted or spoke in the House in which he was an intruder. No one pretended that there was the slightest room for doubt or question as to his being an intruder. No one denied that the house had the power to purge itself at once of the disgraceful presence of this intruder. Yet a majority, obeying their leader, declared that the House should take no action because Parliament some years ago passed an Act authorizing the Courts to settle all controverted election cases. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, knew when he moved the resolution, and every intelligent partizan who voted for it knew, that it was impossible to put the machinery of the Courts in operation at once, and that in passing that resolution they virtually empowered a man who was not a member of their House to sit and vote in it for at east one whole session. * * * *

Some, to their credit be it said, refused to degrade themselves ungreatly at the bidding of their leader, and refused to vote. One man—in all that great party, one man—was true to honor and principle and justice Of the majority scarcely one can plead in defence of his conduct that he believed that he was doing right. * * * * * * *

The clergy of all denominations could do much to kill partyism. They, more than all others, should teach the people to be true to principle and duty. They, more than any others, should not make success the standard of merit or connive at or compound with dishonesty and immorality in high places.—Globe.

The Salvationists' Twelfth.

How the Salvation Army Celebrated—Visit of the Guinnette—A Baby Dedicated.

The Salvation Army had a celebration on the Twelfth that attracted its share of visitors. Large posters had announced the affair for weeks before, each renowned personage as Alexander the Great, Buffalo Bill, Grandfather Hare, the Musical Quintette (who were here last winter), and others being billed for the occasion. A number of soldiers and officers from surrounding outposts attended, swelling the procession to immense proportions. As the Salvationists came down the street on parade, wearing bright red garments, they presented a gorgeous appearance. A bystander remarked "The Orangemen had better look after their laurels to-day."

A dinner was held in the Opera House in the afternoon, which was well patronized, at 25c. a meal, everything being eaten except a few loaves of bread. Afterwards a meeting was held in the barracks.

In the evening a big street parade was held to the Opera House, where a hallelujah meeting was held. The musical quintette, Capt. Griffiths, Professor Wiggins, Captains Ashton, Dyke and Cornet, furnished excellent music. The meeting was led by Commissioner Coombs, Adjutant Bolton and Major Bailey.

A number of from outside posts—Cobourg Campbellford, Hastings, Port Hope, Oakwood and other places—testified, the Hastings representative stating that that village had been subject to a complete reformation—saloons and billiard rooms swept away—through the the instrumentality of the Army. The testimonies were interlarded by solos, with orchestra accompaniment, and choruses, Capt. Griffith leeding with a Salvation Jubilee song, composed by Professor Wiggins. The proceedings were lively and interesting indeed, presenting a rare variety of swiftly recurring events in nicely balanced parts.

Then an event not down on the programme occurred, being nothing more or less than the dedication of a little infant to God. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Telford, were on the platform, the latter holding the child. Commissioner Coombs performed the ceremony, but before doing so spoke to the parents regarding the important nature of the transaction about to be consummated, charging them to bring up the child in the fear of the Lord. Then beneath the Army colors the Commissioner accepted, in the name of the most high God, the little child, which he named Florence Bertha Telford, on which he prayed God's blessing and acceptance. Then the mother and father testified to their faith in Jesus, and announced their determination to bring up their baby according to the instructions of the Commissioner.

Major Bailey made an address, and after a beautiful chorus by the Quartette Club, which was really excellent, the meeting was brought to a close in the usual manner.

TORONTO, July 12.

Brawood No More.

TORONTO, July 13.

Mr. Alex. Shield's steeplechaser Brawood, who was found in the pasture field on that gentleman's farm at Davenport on Sunday last with his leg broken, was destroyed on Monday. The injury was caused by a kick from another horse. Brawood was a chestnut gelding, foaled in 1881, bred by the late Mr. John Forbes of Woodstock, by Blackwood, out of Bonnie Brae. As a 2 and 3 year old he did not start, but in 1885 he made his debut in the Queen's Plate under Mr. Hickmond's colors and finished last. He was then purchased by Mr. Kennedy of Agincourt, who shortly afterwards sold him to Mr. Charles Shields, who transferred him to his brother for racing purposes. Brawood started 17 times last year, winning twice. His first appearance was at Brighton Beach, where he gave way in one of his forelegs and was let up for the season. This spring he was trained, but it was feared that his leg would not hold out and he was stopped in his work.

He was badly injured internally. His skull is fractured, his jaw broken, his tongue bitten off, so that if he recovers he will be mute for life. At last reports he was rapidly sinking.

There is a certain Austin man who is linked for life—or the divorce court—to a lady who enjoys the unenvied reputation of sadly neglecting her household duties. One evening her dearvivial had returned from the lodge in a condition several degrees above the dead level of plain sobriety.

"Oh, you ratherable wretch!" exclaimed the partner of his matrimonial infelicity. "I'm just hurrying up with rags."

"Yes ma, are you?" replied the man. "Well, Betsy, thash all right. I'm glad it ain't the beefsteak this time."

Cricket.

EAST TORONTO VS. PETERBOROUGH.

A match was played here yesterday between the above clubs, and the result was a very easy win for Peterborough by 284 runs to 51. Peterborough batted first, and they kept this visitors in the field from 11 till 4.30 with the exception of an hour for dinner interval. The [illegible] were failed to separate Sam Ray and Rutherford until 115 runs had been made, Ray having made exactly 50 in his usual well known free style. Rutherford, who never played three innings that day, made 72 without a chance of a mistake, including three hits out of the ground, one of which measured more than a hundred yards from bat to pitch. Thomas hit hard for 26, and Stratton contributed 31 in good shape. Rogers, though evidently out of practice, got 9 spoiled 22; and the "tail" proved hard to dispose of. Hamilton got 23 not out in fine form, and Hutton a well-played eleven. Considering rather long batting, the visitors fielded well, Macdonell and Welsh being very noticeable in that department.

Macdonell was by far the best bowler, his six wickets costing him 19 runs. Foley had three for 47 and Chandler for 70.

The visitors did not make any stand against the fine bowling of Stratton and Logan. Only two obtained double figures, Macdonell and Black, who both played good cricket. Although Logan did not get many wickets, he bowled splendidly, only 14 runs being got off him. Stratton proved invaluable, he got 5 wickets for 33 runs. What little batting Peterborough had to do was done in much better shape than usual. Particular mention should be made of Edwy Stratton, who fielded as a "sub," his efforts saving many runs. Score:—

The Lacrosse Match

played in Riverside Park during the afternoon attracted a fair gathering, of which the larger number was juveniles. About half past three o'clock the following teams faced each other and the referee, Dr. Brennan:

Riversides.		Norwood.
J. Phelan	goal	H. Pearse
T. Meagher	point	E. J. Stewart
A. Rose	cover-point	F. Stephenson
J. Gemmel	defence	L. Wesson
J. Carveth	do.	H. Hill
R. Henderson	do.	R. Hill
F. Larose	centre	W. Hendren
J. Begley	home	J. A. Harper
F. Packenham	do	A. Baker
J. Meagher	do	F. Pearse
H. Neil	seat, home	J. Jory
M. Halpin	Captain	J. C. McCauley
Jos. Hackett	Umpire	Geo. Clydesdale

The above was something like the composition of the team at the start, though the personnel of the teams and the positions of the players were changed frequently during the course of the game. The Norwood team came down one man short, and before the game was out the epidemic of being "disabled" affected Norwood so strongly that not only was the progress of play delayed but the teams at one time were almost reduced to nine men on a side.

The first game lasted eight minutes. Larose captured the ball at the face but for the next minute it was at both ends of the field, play being pretty even. At last Begley broke the tie. He got the ball and made a splendid run, from past centre field to Norwood goal. He was ably helped by Carveth, who, at the proper moment cleverly checked the Norwood's goalkeeper and the ball was sent flying through, thus winning the first game for Peterborough in eight minutes.

The second game was without particular incident, though it occupied a much longer time. The play was pretty evenly divided in merit the ball showing no particular preference for either end of the field. At length Henderson got the sphere in possession and passed it to Jory of the Norwoods who put it between the flags. Time 13 minutes.

The third game was more stubbornly contested and lasted an hour and twenty minutes, of which one hour was actual play the rest of the time being put in with rubbing cramps out of the sides, stomachs, legs and arms of the Norwood players. The game was decided after no very brilliant exhibition of playing on either side, by Eaton of the Norwoods capturing the flags.

After some delay play was begun for the fourth game; it was arranged that play should cease at six o'clock, and a little before that time the play was pretty hot about the Norwood goal, when one of the men of the visitors took the cramp epidemic and of course the match had to be decided on time in favor of Norwood. The match developed some good individual playing on the part of the Riversides, and some not bad team playing by the Norwoods.

China and Its Millions.

Mr. J. F. Smith, late of the Polytechnic Institute, New York, and missionary designate to the province of Honan, Northern China, will conduct the meeting in St. Paul's church this evening at eight o'clock. Mr. Smith will be assisted by Mr. J. H. Buchanan, B. A., also of Queen's Mission Band. The Foreign Mission Committee of the Presbyterian Church intend establishing a new mission in this province of twenty millions, where now there is not a single station. The students of Queen's and Knox Colleges have taken the matter up, and out of many volunteers Messrs. Smith, of Queens, and Edgerton, of Knox, are now in preparation for that work, and will leave next spring for China. The mission will include a hospital, of which Mr. Smith will have charge. Those who would like to know more of the middle kingdom and its millions will be glad to hear these young men.

Port Hope Canoeists.

A meeting was held Monday evening, says the Port Hope Times, to organize a canoe club. There are twenty-two canoeists in town, and the canoe'ists will make a live club. The officers appointed were:—Commodore, G. M. Furby; Vice-Commodore, G. B. Salter; Sec.-Treas., [illegible]. The club flag is a red burgee with a centre white square, the club initials, a diagonal fly, in the centre of the square; the letters P. H. C. C. will be in the four corners. Another meeting will be held on Friday evening.

THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH.

Closing Scenes of the Orange Demonstration.

Fifteen Thousand People in Town—Speeches in the Park—An Opening to be Remembered—Other Items of Note.

The Court House Park was jammed with people yesterday afternoon. About three o'clock [illegible] and [illegible] A large [illegible] immediate vicinity and managed to hear the speeches very well, though considerable annoyance was caused by the playing of the rival drum bands in two close proximity. Mr. J. B. McWilliams, County Master, acted as chairman. There were noticed on the stand among others: Brother Robertson, Grand Master of the Black Knights of Ontario East; Bro. Gordon, Grand Treasurer of Ontario East; Bro. Anderson, Grand Treasurer of British North America; Bro. Bibby, County Master of East [illegible]; Bro. Rowland, District Master of Port Hope; Bro. Hamilton, District Master of Peterborough; Bro. Vance, Past District Master of Cavan; Bro. Wagar, Deputy County Master of Peterborough; Bro. Wolf, Past County Master of Peterborough.

Mr. J. B. McWILLIAMS introduced the first speaker, REV. MR. SMITHETT, of Omemee, Grand Chaplain, who, after relating a laughable incident which put his errand of mercy on good humor, said this was a grand sight here to-day, this multitude of Protestant people, gathered together in [illegible], where but a few years ago the Protestants had to protect themselves even by placing cannon in the middle of the street. (Cheers.) In 1866 he said he was on the other side, about the time of the contemplated Fenian invasion, and he had then told the people of the States that they did not understand Canada. Why, he said to them, in Canada in every little village there was a drill shed, an established army corps, and an Orange lodge [illegible], and at the first tap of the drum thousands of men could be raised to give the invaders a warm reception. (Applause.) And they were not the men the Yankees thought them to be—raw counter-hoppers unacquainted with the use of the rifle—but good men and true, and ready to fight for their rights. That was the way the Orangemen had to meet their foes to-day—meet fire with fire. (Loud Cheers.) The speaker referred to the attempt of Louis XIV [illegible] King James II on the throne of England, and the disastrous failure with which his fleet met. All loyal men must be ready to defend their principles and rights to the last, even to the life, and if necessary die like their forefathers of old. But they have not only to think of their loyalty, which is unimpeachable, but also of their morality. Their mission was for morality and religion, and nothing more than the country in which they live and the flag under which they moved could more conduce to this glorious condition of affairs. (Long continued applause.)

Mr. JOHN WHITE, ex-M. P., Past Grand Master, on rising expressed his pleasure at being in Peterborough, which was soon to be one of the finest inland cities in the Province, (applause,) and was proud of being able to address the Orangemen of Peterborough on the occasion of the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, when James I, the foe of everything that was grand, good or great, was overwhelmed by King William. (Loud cheers.) It was the duty of Protestants to-day to preserve the rights won at the gates of Derry and at the Boyne water, but unfortunately there was too much partyism in Canada and not enough Protestantism. The two parties, Conservative and Reform alike, were bowing to the Catholic hierarchy. There had been much talk about the Mail newspaper, and about its riding the Protestant horse, but he would say that the Mail to-day was doing for Canada a grand and noble work. He referred to the power of the Jesuits in Quebec. The local government in Quebec were bankrupt, yet the Jesuits appropriated money for the building up of their church, and cried out to the government for better terms and more money, but this came out of the people of Ontario (a voice—they won't get any out of me). The people of Ontario should say, thus far shall they go and no farther. (Cheers). The speaker then referred to the question of commercial reciprocity, which he belived to be to the best interests of the country, stating that the people of Canada could be just as true Britons, and true to themselves and their country, as they were in by-gone days. After some references to the Bible, on which the principles of the Orange Order were based, Mr. White concluded by saying that he had been an M. P. in a Catholic county for a number of years, and he could defy any Catholic to say that he had ever done anything wrong against him. He yet hoped to be an M. P. again, though, for he lost his seat by upholding the Orange bill, and sticking to his principles while other Orangemen had cringed to Catholicism and so disgraced themselves. Shame on the cowardly Protestants and Orangemen, said Mr. White, who did not support their principles. He had also hurt the feelings of some because he didn't vote for Home Rule, but he believed it was the duty of Canadians to look after their own families and crops and government, and let the people of other countries do the same. Mr. White paid a glowing tribute to the million of Orangemen in the north of Ireland. He closed with another reproach of the cowardly M.P.'s and newspapers who bowed and knuckled down to Popery. He also referred to Home Rule, stating that he alone had stood up in the House of Commons and fought against Home Rule, but was he alone now? (No, no.) He called upon those in the audience who disapproved of Home Rule to raise up their right hands, and up flew a perfect forest of fists. The speaker concluded by calling upon the Orangemen to be true to their principles and cling together. Mr. White was loudly applauded on resuming his seat.

Mr. JOHNSTON, Past Grand Master of Eastern Ontario, was the next speaker. He began by referring to the judicious abstinence from political references in the former speeches. This day, he said, was the first time he was ever on an Orange platform where there was neither an M.P. or an M.P.P. He spoke highly of County Master J. B. McWilliams' consistent and loyal conduct in his connection with the Order. Politicians were a good deal what the people made them, and if there were no members here that day, it was because they cared more for the Catholic vote than for the Orangemen's. And why? Because politicians knew that the Catholic vote was nearly solid, while Protestants were divided. And the lesson he wished to draw from the battle of the Boyne for the benefit of Protestants to-day, was the necessity of unity. The speaker narrated the thrilling details connected with the battle, describing vividly the positions and movements of the contending forces—united Catholicism on one side and united Protestantism on the other, concluding with an earnest appeal to Protestants to be true to their God and their country.

MR. T. R. COLLINS, Grand Master of Ontario East, made a brief address, expressing his pleasure at being present at this great gathering, which was one of the largest Peterborough had ever seen.

Rev. Mr. TOVELL was next called on. He approved of the good words which had been spoken of the Irish, and held it planted him [illegible] the many good [illegible] the principles of the Orange Association. The speaker said, he was a Protestant to the core, and he was strongly in favor of the Equal Rights platform of the Reform party. [illegible] Mr. McClyman, who should leave his party in the fight against the Pope's supremacy. Rev. Mr. Tovell made some playful allusions to the Scott Act and to the length of sermons which Peterborough Orangemen could stand. His wish for short professionals was loudly cheered. Though not an Orangeman he fully observed that the brethren were not a whit behind any in a spirit of loyalty to the British constitution, and freedom of the citizen. He wished the order every success, and was loudly applauded.

Rev. Mr. WILSON on rising referred to the constancy of Orangemen to their principles, which were strongly [illegible] Wherever these principles have been respected, the nations have progressed and flourished, and it was a fact which should encourage them to hold with firmer grasp the grand principles of the Orange Order.

Mr. WM. ANDERSON, the oldest Orangeman present, was the last speaker. He was thankful that though he was the oldest Orangeman, the principles in which he believed were yet young and vigorous. Twenty-eight years ago he had been elected Grand Treasurer of the lodge of British North America, and since that he had never had any opposition, and had held the office without interruption. Thousands of dollars had passed through his hands, and he claimed that if anything more than another had tended to make him successful in the office and in his career in life it was his confidence in the principles of the Order.

Cheers were given for the Queen, County Master McWilliams, Mr. John White and the ladies, after which the assembly dispersed.

A number of the visiting lodges returned home immediately after the park meeting, while others deferred their departure till evening.

In the evening the streets were thronged, the best of order prevailing everywhere.

NOTES.

The Millbrook band presented a remarkably neat appearance, and was the only band to have a drum major. The playing too was excellent. Under the leadership of Mr. Geo. McKim the band is improving wonderfully.

The Warsaw Orangemen for the first time in their history drove to town through the Catholic township of Douro. They usually come via Lakefield train.

The eating houses were incompetent to supply the crowd of hungry visitors, though there was apparently plenty of them. On every corner or other advantageous place ice cream, peanut and lemonade stands flourished. The hotels were taxed to their utmost capacity.

It is estimated that over 20,000 bottles of pop were sold in town Tuesday, besides enormous quantities of ice cream, lemonade, soda water and more potent beverages.

The Midland station from five o'clock till nine Tuesday evening was in a lively state. Trains kept leaving every hour, bearing off hundreds of people, yet the crowd seemed to be undiminished. The railway officials and employees are to be praised for the efficient manner in which they managed the many trains and large crowds without accident.

The Court House Park presented a dilapidated appearance Tuesday night. A branch of hose was connected with the waterworks and the whole grounds thoroughly drenched, which, it is expected, will have a good counterbalancing effect against the hard usage of the afternoon. The crowd had to vacate the park while the sprinkling was in progress.

A number of people stopped in town over night, leaving for home next morning, thereby avoiding the crush on the trains the night before.

A couple of visitors to to town were yesterday conversing on George Street. Said one—"Have you seen the Court House Park yet?" "No, where is it?" "Over on the other street. It's the finest park I ever saw. It is beautiful!"

The demonstration was conspicuous in one respect for the excellent order that characterized the proceedings and conduct of the visitors. Of course, as was to be expected in a vast crowd of from 10 to 15 thousand persons, some would get drunk and indulge in an odd fight or two, but in general the order was admirable, and the behavior of the Orangemen on the 12th went far to wipe out the unsavory memory of the Toronto roughs who made the town howl on May 24th. The police force, so far as their services were in demand to preserve order and suppress disturbance, had a genuine holiday. The Orange order and the officers who had the charge of the demonstration are to be congratulated upon the creditable manner in every respect in which the occasion passed off, which, in these respects, as in extent and magnitude, was one of the most successful held in the Province of Ontario.

Killed Instantly.

The Sudden Death of a Deaf and Dumb Man.

A man named McCarroll, deaf and dumb, was killed on the Midland R. R. just the other side of Fraserville by the 8.15 train this morning. The engineer in rounding a sharp curve saw a man on the track ahead. He instantly whistled and put on brakes, but the unfortunate wayfarer heard not the warning, and in another moment was hurled into eternity. The train was stopped and the body conveyed to Fraserville, where deceased had a sister living.

Police Court.

WEDNESDAY, July 13.

Three drunks, M. Johnson, John Willoughby and George Trotter, were all that rewarded the vigilant efforts of the policemen yesterday. The delinquents were not Orangemen, however. The two former had no money to pay their fines and were committed to gaol for 10 days; Trotter paid the $2 and costs.

Mrs. Emma Evans preferred a charge of using insulting language against a French youth named F. Facto. He admitted the offence, and was fined $10 and costs, paid.

Monday morning George Pearson, Mount Pleasant, paid $50 and $7.85, at Port Hope, for selling liquor. The offence was admitted.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL.

THE WRIT HAS BEEN ISSUED FOR SOUTH RENFREW.

Sir John Macdonald to Visit the Maritime Provinces for the First Time Since Confederation—Sir Alexander Campbell to Go Also.

OTTAWA, July 13.—The writ has been issued for South Renfrew, nomination on July 26, polling Aug. 2. The Conservative convention will be held to-morrow, when it is expected that Mr. Ferguson, the successful candidate at last election, will be chosen as the Conservative candidate. The Grit convention will be held on July 21, when, it is understood, Sir Richard Cartwright will be present to urge the nomination of Hon. Mr. Anglin. It is generally thought, however, that the local Grits will respectfully decline the ex-Speaker and insist upon having a local man.

Sir John will return from Toronto to-morrow morning. He will probably leave for Dalhousie early next week, and after spending a few days there proceed to St. Andrews on a visit of two or three weeks to Sir Leonard Tilley. This will be Sir John's first visit to the Maritime Provinces since Confederation. In this connection it is somewhat curious that Sir John has never addressed a public meeting in the Maritime Provinces. Perhaps he may find time to give the people there the pleasure of hearing him during his visit to Sir Leonard.

Sir Alexander Campbell, who is here at present, will leave in a day or two for the Maritime Provinces and will also visit Newfoundland, sailing from Halifax for St. Johns on July 30. Although Sir Alexander takes the trip principally to enjoy the sea breezes, it is said that he will take occasion to promote the Imperial Federation movement.

It is said to-day that Mr. C. H. McIntosh and the other parties interested in the charter of the Gatineau Valley Railway have fully transferred all their franchise to Mr. H. J. Beemer for $40,000.

The following gratifying cable message has just been received by the Minister of Agriculture from the High Commissioner's office, London: The Prince of Wales, accompanied by Prince Albert Victor and Prince George, visited the Canadian stand of the Royal Agricultural Show at Newcastle yesterday and took special interest in the sample of Manitoba red Fife wheat and flax, also in the remarkable samples of white wheat from British Columbia, the black phosphates from Ottawa and the exhibits generally.

A. Seneeal of Montreal has been appointed superintendent of the new Government printing office.

It is understood that neither the ocean mail contract nor the Cape Breton Railway contract have been settled yet, but it is probable that both will be settled this week.

ON THE WIMBLEDON RANGES.

The Canadian Team's Scores in the Match for the Queen's Prize.

LONDON, July 13.—To-day the shooting at 200 yards for Her Majesty the Queen's prize of £2220 was completed. The terms are: First stage, 200, 500 and 600 yards, seven shots each range; second stage, ten shots at 500 yards and fifteen shots at 600 yards; third stage, ten shots at 800 and 900 yards.

THE FALL OF THE BASTILE.

Trouble Expected in Paris Over To-day's Celebration.

PARIS, July 13.—The German residents of this city have been ordered to remain in doors to-morrow, as it is feared they would be attacked if they appeared on the streets during the celebration of the anniversary of the fall of the bastile.

The Patriotic Leagne have announced that they will make a demonstration to-morrow morning in the Place de la Concorde, and another in the Bois de Boulogne in the afternoon. It is feared these meetings will give rise to disorder, and the police and military authorities are making extra preparations to maintain peace.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Sir John Pays a Flying Visit—Mr. Mowat Gets $37,000 for His Wharf—Other Items.

TORONTO, July 14.

Sir John arrived in the city about 1.30 p.m. yesterday, and was driven to No. 31 King-street east, where the promoters of the Manufacturers Life Association were awaiting his presence to proceed with the initial meeting of their company. On his entry in the board-room the Old Chieftain was warmly received by his friends.

According to the description of Mr. Gladstone's dress, telegraphed to the papers on this side of the Atlantic, when he received the testimonial on Saturday last, Sir John was attired very much the same as that gentleman. Both the veterans this season show a partiality for steel gray, and both have their coats cut in the same style, the long frock. In addition the old gentleman dotes. William Mowat sported a lemony-tied blue and white polka-dot scarf about his high collar. John A. sticks to the English scarf, but yesterday it was neither red nor was it cast in the usual shape, being somewhat extensive in breadth at the middle point.

THE GREAT NORTHWEST.

DR. WILLIAMS' LATE TRIP TO THE PACIFIC SLOPE.

Impressions of a Province that Future Days Have Here For Than the People Themselves—The Godliness of the B.C's.—Progress of the Country.

TORONTO, July 14.

Rev. Dr. Williams, General Superintendent of the Methodist Church, who has been during the last three months on an official visit to British Columbia, the Northwest Territories and Manitoba, has returned to the city. He was seen by your reporter last evening at his residence in Maitland-street, and gave the following interesting impressions which he formed of the Pacific and Northwestern provinces:

The Doctor arrived at Victoria, via San Francisco, but returned home over the Canadian Pacific Railway. While in San Francisco he was struck with the opposition manifested towards the Chinese. The reason is that they work as cheap that a white man has no chance in the labor market. The anti-Chinese laws have resulted in lessening the Chinese population on the Pacific coast by about 20,000. As to British Columbia, he does not think that it can ever be much from an agricultural standpoint. It is too mountainous and rugged for that pursuit. As to the climate, he said: "It put me very much in mind of that of the south of England. You will find the laurel and the holly flourishing there, and in fact all kinds of foliage that indicate a genial and temperate climate. I was struck, however, with the lack of general enterprise throughout the province. Nature has done a great deal for the settlers, but they seem to do little for themselves. The only city that shows any life at all, is Vancouver. It is the terminus of the C.P.R., and as such is destined to eclipse Victoria, the capital. It has recovered wonderfully from the fiery disaster which overcame it last year, and has now a population of 20,000.

"The people are," continued the Doctor, "far behind in enterprise there in eastern provinces. When they were a Crown colony they had too much done for them. Their roads, school-house, public buildings, were all built at Government expense, and they have not got into the system of depending upon themselves yet. As to politics, they have none. They are British Columbians first and last. There is no true Canadian sentiment prevalent there, such as you will find say in Ontario. They look upon the province as an isolated appendage of the Dominion. They seem to me very much like that man in Halifax who said that he was a Canadian by Act of Parliament. Loyalty to the British Empire is very strong throughout the province.

"As to commercial union with the United States," the Doctor proceeded, "it has not been considered, or perhaps heard of, there. Another thing that I noticed was the wholesale desecration of the Sabbath day. Saloons are open on Sunday, railroad traffic is rampant and the people use the sacred day as a season of festivity. They are much behind Ontario in sacred observance and are also behind us in temperance legislation. There is no restriction whatever on a liquor vendor, for as soon as he gets a license it is not like ours granted from year to year, but it is construed as permanent.

"The saloonkeeper, therefore, violates any existing controling laws with impunity. He may sell to whom he pleases, and whenever he wishes. There is a growing temperance sentiment due to the good work done by the Women's Christian Temperance Union and kindred societies. As to the Methodist Church," the Doctor said, warmly, "it is as strong there as any other religious body. There are 2000 communicants, which represent a Methodist population of 8000. Excellent work is carried on amongst the Indians by Methodist missionaries. There are 2000 Indians under the control of those missions, and 100 were added to the church during last year. There are two flourishing orphanages for deserted and homeless Indian children, and this year this department will be extended, by the establishment of an industrial school. More missionaries are sorely needed for this work."

The rev. gentleman then went on to speak of the great boon conferred on British Columbia by the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway as a national highway. He praised the excellent accommodation of the cars, the courtesy of the officials and the hospitable dining-rooms which are placed at convenient points all along the route. He arrived in Calgary on the first Sunday of June and observed that some of the high lands were covered with four inches of snow.

Being asked as to whether he noticed any signs of progress in the Northwest and Manitoba since he was there two years ago, he replied: "A great deal. The people are more hopeful. There is not the despondency noticed on my former visit. I observed that all along the road more seed has been sowed and the crops look remarkably well. The people are hopeful that they will have this year the best harvest they ever had. The greatest signs of improvement noticeable are between Broadview and Brandon. The country in that district is being rapidly settled and developed. As to our own church it is extending its circuits and missions at a very rapid rate in Manitoba and the Northwest. We have now eighty circuits and missions there. I hear no complaints of Indian depredations. They are peaceable and a great many of them are beginning to adopt industrious habits. I did not notice much improvement in Winnipeg, but yet the city shows signs of life and business activity. On the whole I believe the Northwest will be a great country before many years."

POOR OLD SHARP.

The Aged Briber to be Sentenced by Judge Barrett To-day.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The Sharp case was adjourned until to-morrow on account of the illness of Judge Barrett. Sharp was remanded to Ludlow-street Jail. His movements on entering and leaving court were painfully slow and labored. A great crowd had gathered in and around the Court House to witness the last act in the great boodle trial, and the police had difficulty in clearing a passage for the prisoner.

The Queen at Hatfield.

LONDON, July 13.—The Queen to-day attended a garden party at Hatfield House, the residence of Lord Salisbury in Hertfordshire. The town of Hatfield was en fete in honor of Her Majesty's presence, and the houses and streets were gaily decorated. Crowds of people greeted the Queen along the route with great enthusiasm.

Parnell and Davitt's Trade Project.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Mr. Peter White, representing the new company to develop the Irish woolen industry recently organized by Messrs. Parnell and Davitt, returned to Dublin per steamer Britannic this morning, taking with him a result of six weeks' work in America—sample orders to the value of $200,000. Mr. White expressed himself as delighted with the reception given his project.

The Pope's Envoy.

DUBLIN, July 13.—Mgr. Persico, the Papal envoy to Ireland, accompanied by Archbishop Walsh, has visited many of the Catholic institutions in the archdiocese. In an address to-day at the Eton Hall Convent the Monsignour expressed the greatest satisfaction over the standard of the education conferred in these religious institutions and the devotion of the people to the Holy See.

France Getting Ready.

PARIS, July 13.—Gen. Ferron's bill adding to the number of regiments in the French army and augmenting the strength of the companies of present regiments was passed by the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon.

A bill for the reorganization of the infantry was also passed.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach Improving.

LONDON, July 13.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, formerly Chief Secretary for Ireland, but who resigned on account of cataracts in his eyes, writes to the papers that his sight is improving and that his health is restored, and he expects to resume his parliamentary duties in the autumn.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE.

Three Hundred and Fifty Lodges Represented at the Brockville Meeting.

BROCKVILLE, July 13.—Five hundred Masons, representing 350 lodges, were present at the opening of the thirty-second annual convention of the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Opera House this morning.

Grand Master Robertson of Collingwood presided, and read a long address dealing with matters relating to the working of the fraternity and detailing his official acts during the past Masonic year. The grand secretary, grand treasurer and the various district deputies presented reports, which were received and referred to the standing committees of the Grand Lodge.

During the afternoon session the revision of the constitution was discussed clause by clause.

The Grand Secretary's report shows that the Grand Lodge received from subordinate lodges during the past year the sum of $15,-682.77 which, with moneys invested to the credit of the Grand Lodge, formed a total of $24,384.71. There was expended during the year for general purposes the sum of $2682.84, and in benevolence the sum of $16,000, leaving to the credit of the Grand Lodge the sum of $23,121.77. Of this amount $20,000 is counted in debentures of the various Canadian loan and savings companies at 4½ per cent., the balance being held to the credit of the Grand Lodge in the Bank of Commerce. The report shows that since the foundation of the Grand Lodge charters have been issued to 414 lodges, with four working under dispensations, to whom the board recommended the granting of warrants.

Previous to opening the Grand Lodge Mayor Dana welcomed the delegates to Brockville. The Oddfellows presented a fraternal address to the Grand Lodge and tendered the use of their hall and ante-rooms.

The case of Minister vs. Langton, in reference to a false declaration of the ballot in King Solomon Lodge, Toronto, comes up to-morrow and promises to result in an unexpected manner.

The hotels are crowded and the heat is prostrating. The election of officers takes place to-morrow.

A $25,000 FIRE AT PORT HURON.

The Most Disastrous Fire the Town Has Known in Years.

PORT HURON, Mich., July 13.—Last evening a most destructive fire broke out in the engine room of Cooley & Campbell's planing mill, spreading with frightful rapidity to their large lumber yards and sheds, and from there to several small tenement houses belonging to the Harrington estate, thence to Mulford's furniture factory, also to a building occupied by R. Casler, builder, then to Forester & Vincent's grain elevator, and small adjacent tenement. The fire department fought the flames bravely, often to their peril. The wind changed and saved the heart of the city.

The losses may be easily figured at $25,000, and only $9000 of insurance. One of the firemen was overcome by the heat and sent to his home. The fire was the largest Port Huron has suffered from for years.

THE C.P.R. ROUTE TO THE EAST.

Members of the Government in England Who Are Favorable to It.

LONDON, July 13.—Sir Donald Smith of Montreal, member of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway, to-day had an interview in the House of Commons with the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Secretary of State for the Colonies and the Postmaster-General all of whom, it is stated, favor the proposed Canadian Pacific mail route to the east.

THE ORANGE AND THE GREEN.

Orangemen Attacked at Paterson, N.J.—A Riot At Liverpool.

PATTERSON, N.J., July 13.—There was rioting here yesterday and last evening. The local Orangemen paraded and picnicked here to-day with the Newark and Jersey City lodges. In the forenoon the paraders were attacked with stones on Mill-street, but the police soon stopped the trouble, and arrested James Neary, who was armed with a pistol. This made the Ribbonmen angry, and at night there was a crowd in the streets ready for fight. At the depot when the visitors departed a small row occurred, which resulted in two arrests.

While the local Orangemen were marching from the station to their hall on Main-street a hackman tried to drive through the ranks of the procession. This caused a lively riot, in which many persons were bruised, but none, it is thought, dangerously. A strong force of police soon arrived on the scene and used their clubs freely, dispersing the mob and making twelve arrests. The Orangemen dispersed in groups. There was great excitement on the streets up to a late hour.

Rioting at Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, July 13.—The Orange ceremonies here yesterday resulted in a riot. The paraders were attacked by crowds of Catholics, who threw stones and other missiles at the men in the ranks. The police forcibly removed the party emblems carried by the Orangemen. About a dozen persons were arrested. Many were treated at the hospitals for cuts and bruises.

ALL ITS WAYS ARE PEACE.

Meeting of the International Arbitration Association in London.

LONDON, July 13.—Sir Wilfred Lawson presided to-day over the meeting of the International Arbitration Association. The secretary's report referred at length to the co-operation of similar associations in America, and expressed a hope for the formation of a joint commission to consider the advisability of creating an Anglo-American arbitration tribunal.

David Dudley Field, in moving approval of a petition to Parliament in favor of the creation of such a tribunal as that proposed, expressed hearty sympathy with the cause. Americans, were, he said, out of conceit with war. They had had enough of it.

TO COMBAT "THE PLAN."

The Irish Peers Form Themselves Into an Association for That Purpose.

LONDON, July 13.—The Irish peers in and out of the House of Lords, headed by the Duke of Abercorn, are forming an association designed to combat the Irish "Plan of Campaign," after the Crimes Act goes into operation, and have already raised £50,000 for the purpose of carrying on their warfare. Precisely how the money is to be applied, or what methods of procedure the association will pursue is not stated, but presumably the intention is to aid in the prosecution of persons arrested for participation in the "Plan," and to give all possible assistance to landlords in the enforcement of their claims against tenants.

TIRNOVA, July 7.—Prince Ferdinand of Saxe Coburg Gotha was to-day elected Prince of Bulgaria by the Sobranje. The announcement was received with great enthusiasm.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. eodw

THE REACTION.

The political tide in Great Britian is, apparently, subject to ebbs and flows. For some time past the star of the opponents of Home Rule has been in the ascendant. Now there seems to have set in an undeniable reaction, as shown by recent by-elections. The decided victory at Spalding, a division of thoroughpaced Tory Lincolnshire, a few days ago in which a Gladstonian candidate defeated a Tory in the representation of the constituency was only a presage of close coming disaster. The Paddington by-election, though not resulting in the defeat of the Tory candidate, resulted in reducing the large figures of the general election to an alarmingly small margin. London at the last general election went solidly Tory by immense majorities, and when the government candidate's figures in Paddington, one of its divisions, shrink to almost zero, there is great significance in the fact. Closely following Paddington comes the by-election of Coventry, which has always been a Tory stronghold. Here the Gladstonian or Liberal candidate scored another signal victory. Coventry is a manufacturing town in Northeast Warwickshire, with a population a little larger than that of the city of Hamilton. The candidates were the same as contested the seat in 1886, and the change in favor of the Liberals has been as marked as that recently registered in Paddington North as referred to above. The figures given below tell the tale :—

	In 1886.	In 1887.
For Eaton (Tory)	4,201	4,213
For Ballantine (Liberal)	3,796	4,239

This shows a majority of 16 for the Liberal candidate, who, a year ago, was defeated by a majority of 405—a remarkable change in public opinion. Parliament still supports the plans and policy of the Tory government, but they do not represent the views of the country if the indications of the by-elections have any value in indicating the condition or tendency of public opinion. These three constituencies are so composed that they present a fair representation of the three great classes which compose the electorate of the different ridings of Great Britain. If the recent by-elections show such sweeping changes—of from fifteen to twenty per cent.—in the feelings of the electorate, it is not too sanguine a view to take that the general elections, held on such a basis, would result in as large a Liberal majority as is now enjoyed by the Tories and Liberal Unionists. The Grand Old Man may yet live to see the triumph of the cause he has so long fought for—the cause of giving a measure of justice and self-government to Ireland.

The Bank of Commerce.

On another page, says the Globe of July 13th, will be found the report of the annual meeting of the Bank of Commerce, together with the reports of the Board of Directors and the General Manager, with the purport of which our readers are already acquainted. The shareholders at the meeting yesterday unanimously accepted these reports and approved the recommendations made. Some changes in the directorate were made as a consequence of which Mr. Geo. A. Cox becomes Vice-President and Mr. William Gooderham and Mr. Matthew Leggat were added to the Board. These additions will strengthen the hold which the Bank has upon the community, for the Vice-President and new Directors are men of the highest personal character and the greatest business talent and experience. It may be confidently expected that the Bank will now enter upon a new period of prosperity and that its reserve fund will rapidly increase until it overtops its former figures. It must be a source of great gratification to Hon. Wm. Mancaster to find that this Bank, the creation of which was his principal life-work, is equipped with sagacious and able men in its every department, and that the prospects of the institution are so bright.

Heathen China.

A Brief Description of the Extent and Manners of the Chinese People.

Doubtless owing to the extremely warm weather only a small congregation assembled in St. Paul's church Wednesday evening in response to the announcement that the Rev. Mr. Smith, who was about to visit China as a missionary, would address a meeting. Miss Haultain presided at the organ. After a Scripture reading by Rev. Mr. Terrance and prayer by Rev. Mr. Bennett, followed by singing, the speaker of the evening was introduced.

Rev. Mr. SMITH said that before dealing with the subject of his lecture, he would answer a few questions which were being asked. The first was, why was he going around? The Foreign Missionary Society he said were anxious to secure funds for establishing a mission in Honan, China, which, it was expected, would require a large amount of money. Then another idea was that of making the missionaries better acquainted with the people from whom they supposed to receive aid. Again, it was thought this would be a good plan to arouse sympathy with the college missionary work, which was closely connected with the Foreign Mission Society. The college graduates had responded nobly to the appeal for aid to this scheme of missions in China, and there was no doubt it would be successfully carried out. The question arose, how were the missionaries to get to the field of labor. The missionaries are sent out on the understanding that the college graduates and alumni will be responsible for the salaries of the missionaries, but in order to make up outfits, secure passage, etc., an appeal had to be made to the congregations, to enlist the encouragement of those who would give no further aid to the Foreign Missionary Society. The idea was after the mission had been founded to secure native Christian teachers who would support themselves. They wanted to send out there a medical man and a missionary, and any who wanted to aid in the good cause could assist in the establishment of a hospital. It was asked why China was chosen. Well, there was no reason for the choice except that the intended missionaries had taken a deep personal interest in that country, and as the Foreign Missionary Society were willing they had decided upon this course. For that reason he intended to speak to them on the people of China and its claims on Christian people. Although he had never been in the country, yet he knew a great deal about it. China, said Rev. Mr. Smith, was the largest empire ever swayed by one hand. It is estimated that China was eleven or twelve times the size of Great Britain, and in spite of their antiquity there was great room for Christian civilization. Here we see a people who flourished contemporary with Greece, and Egypt and Rome, but to stone of all the ages the test of time. While our forefathers were wandering savages in the forest, and worshipping the Druid gods, the Chinese were highly civilized, dressing in silks and indulging in luxuries. The art of printing was in use in China 800 years before Guttenberg was born. The population of China was estimated at about 400,000,000. We of to-day are in the habit of spending lightly of millions, and do not seem to recognize the immensity of the figures. As an illustration of this, the whole population of China, said the speaker, might pass by a certain point at the rate of 24 miles a day and it would be thirty years before the last one would pass away. The Chinese religions were many, and they thought there was no harm in believing faithfully in two or three religions at the same time. There was the worship of their ancestors, whose souls they believed to be in objects about them. The religion of the Chinese tended to degrade them, and it was hoped to give them a new religion which would inculcate morality.

The Chinese are a very unsympathetic and unloving people. Though the young have a respect and fear for their parents, there is very little love. A man sick on the roadside might lie and die without any assistance being tendered him. It was an easy thing to be a doctor in China. A pair of spectacles, a few grasses and herbs, and anyone could be a doctor. The doctors there know positively nothing of anatomy or physiology, but were full of absurd remedies. There was a great need of medical men in China. About this time of the year when people feel tired, they need a tonic. The Chinese knew something of tonics, too. For instance, one of their tonics was pills made from the ground bones of tigers. They argue that the tiger is a strong animal and the bones are the strongest part of it, therefore pills made of tigers' bones must be pre-eminently strengthening. The foreign missionary society had only one medical man in China to every eighteen millions of people.

As early as the 13th century the Roman Catholics started missions, and the Presbyterian church never worked with the zeal of these Roman Catholics. It was not till the nineteenth century that the Presbyterian church began the work of evangelization in China, and the speaker recounted the work of the various missionaries there. But the work was yet but feebly begun. The province of Honan to which they were going had twenty million inhabitants, with a territory four times the size of the Dominion of Canada. How important was it then that there should be a Christian awakening. Twenty millions of souls dying without a knowledge of Christ. A thousand souls are dying every hour in China; thirty-three thousand every day, without any hope for the future. We know that the Gospel is the hope of nations, and that it is the only salvation of poor, benighted China. The preacher related an impressive incident in connection with the work of Christianizing in a Pacific island, which was began twenty-five years ago. Then the island inhabitants were heathen cannibals, the vilest of the vile, and, after killing three missionaries, at last the good work had been successful, and these converted savages were outstripping the church in its gifts to the foreign missionary society. Rev. Mr. Smith closed with an urgent appeal to the congregation for aid in the work.

Rev. Mr. BUCHANAN, also a college graduate, made a brief address, applying the lesson taught by Paul in the tenth chapter of Romans, where he expressed his "heart's desire" that the Gospel should be preached to all nations, to their appearance before the congregation of St. Paul's that night. There were plenty of young men said Mr. Buchanan, waiting to be sent to distant countries to engage in the good work. The speaker produced a chart representing the religions of the world, marked out in different colors, two thirds of which was indicated to be heathen. He concluded with an urgent request to the members of the congregation to put forth greater vigor and be more liberal in this work of foreign missions.

A collection was taken up, and the meeting was brought to a close by singing and prayer.

Joy in Every Drop.

This may be truly said of Polson's NERVILINE, the greatest pain remedy of the age. It brings comfort to the weary sufferer when failure has attended the use of every known remedy. NERVILINE is an absolute cure for all kinds of pain, internal, external, or local. Purchase a 10 cent sample bottle and try this great remedy. NERVILINE, nerve pain cure. Don't forget the name at any drug store.

Worth Remembering.

In a long letter from John H. Hall, of Baddick, Cape Vincent, N. S., he says: "I believe were it not for Burdock Blood Bitters I should be in my grave. It cured me of kidney and liver complaint and general debility, which had nearly proved fatal." 2w27d

HEATING

By Hot Water and Steam.

We desire to call special attention to their splendid Hot Water and Steam Boilers which are acknowledged to have no superior on the Continent of America. We have received orders from Ottawa and other places to replace other boilers with ours. This speaks for itself. McAndrew & Noble are prepared to back their own boilers against those or any other maker either in or out of Peterborough, and if not superior in every respect they will be removed without one cent of expense. We claim, and it has been acknowledged, that we have the best boiler for heating purposes in the world to-day; all we want is a fair test.

Sunday School Excursion.

The excursion and pic-nic of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church yesterday to Strickland's Grove, Lakefield, was probably the most successful ever held by the school. A handsome profit was netted as the result of the trip.

St. Paul's Sunday School held its annual excursion to Strickland e Grove to-day. The occasion is being graced with excellent weather. About five carloads of people boarded the excursion train this morning.

Bunkum and Bigotry.

The town has been disgraced with a display of bigotted partisanship, which, it was fondly hoped, had been outlived. On July 11th the members of the local lodge of "True Blues" passed a resolution deciding not to put up the placard reading "No Rose Bible" on the Brock Street arch. This was in conformity with the oath of membership which excludes politics from the councils and proceedings of the order. In spite of this resolution, some of the members of the baser sort, egged on by those of riper years who should know better, put up the motto on the morning of the twelfth on the west side of the arch. The County Master of the Orange order had it removed. On the evening of the 13th it was again put up and again removed by the same authority. To-day at noon several of the young hotheads again attempted to place the motto on the arch but were prevented by the County Master, when the placard was extended between two spears, and planted in front of the arch so that Mr. Sproule could take a photograph of it. The negative was secured and the hyper-zealous "defenders of the faith" celebrated their "triumph" with bowls and leaps worthy of Blackfoot Indians. The party then hoisted their banner and marched down street. Zealous championship of the Word of God is commendable enough, but when a band of thoughtless youths, urged on by rank Tory partizans, who it is said offered to contribute a sum of money if they succeeded in their strife-stirring scheme of putting the placard on the arch, carry out such deplorable advice, it is time for the Bible to be "saved from its friends." The affair has given rise to a great deal of ill-feeling. It was a sad sight for honest lovers of the Bible and its truths to see a lot of noisy youths, one of whom at least was under the influence of liquor, sowtering down the streets, with blatant declarations of loyalty to the Bible attested by blood curdling breaches of the third commandment. A disinterested observer cannot avoid the conclusion that these misguided young mischief-breeders were wrong in attempting to put up the partizan placard against the resolution of the lodge and against their oath of membership, and that the County Master was right in trying to keep down strife and protect the misguided members from violating their obligation.

Listemann-Kellogg Concert.

A Rich and Unique Musical Treat.

The members of the Lansdowne Rowing Club are to be congratulated upon the success which attended their efforts to provide a thoroughly first class and high-style musical entertainment for the people of Peterborough. That their aims and efforts were appreciated was shown by the full house which assembled in the Opera House on Wednesday night—a cultured audience, capable of appreciating the splendid programme presented. It will not be necessary to go into detail. No criticism nor description would give a shadow of an idea of the many merits of the performance, and those present are too filled with delightful memories of the occasion to bear with equanimity the perusal of what would seem to them impertinent commonplace. Miss Fanny Kellogg has a splendid concert voice, admirably trained and especially pleasing, which she first used with grand effect in Bishop's sweet Echo Song, to whose completeness the excellent flute obligato of Rosconi added immensely. She gave as an encore the old humorous song, "Three Old Maids of Lee."

Mr. Hois, the tenor, sang one of Franz Abt's songs, but as he was suffering from illness, a fair judgment could not be formed of his powers. He could not appear in the part of Arthur assigned him. Rosconi, the basso of the company, has a magnificent voice of great compass, power and flexibility; his singing made a grand impression, especially his excellent rendering of the aria from "Don Juan," which was rapturously encored. Abby Clark Ford's contralto selection "Tit for Tat" was sung with great spirit and expression. She has a sweet, well-trained voice, and richly deserved the encore given her. But in contrast to the majority of Peterborough concerts, the great attraction of the present one was the instrumental members. The flute solo of Rosconi was admirably magnificent—the perfection of art and passion. His piano passages and his trequino were unapproachably perfect. He was wildly encored. But the grand charm was the indescribable violin playing of Listemann. In all his selections, Bazzini's "Concerto," the Ernst "Nocturne," and the "Rondo" of Paganini, he was simply grand. At the first sweep of his potent bow criticism collapsed and gave way to rapt admiration. Every succeeding bar developed new wonders of inimitable execution. The swing of his bow was like a magic wand, summoning magic melodies from the spell bound strings. No part of the finger board was exempt. From the nut to the bridge his sinewy fingers flattered birdlike with rythmic rapidity, and birdlike in their ineffable sweetness were the tones awakened. His pizzicato was Paganinic, his staccatto was wonderfully distinct yet rounded and clear, as the regular ripple of a song birds' trill. His harmonics were of pearly sweetness, while his miraculous fingering in the perfection of its stopping, in its intricate rapidity, seemed to be the acme of digital diablerie. No player appearing in Peterborough, ever came within hailing distance of Listemann. It is needless to say that he was respectedly and rapturously encored. The concert was throughout a splendid success and the Lansdowne Rowing Club have earned the lasting gratitude of the musical public. Particular acknowledgement is due Messrs. K. G. Lech and Geo. Stevenson, president and secretary of the club respectively, for the great personal exertions made to render the concert successful.

Mangled Beyond Recognition.

A Belleville Man run over by a Train—His Head Cut Off.

John Quincey, a Belleville man, at one time a member of a L.O.L. in that city, but not in good standing at the time of his death, came to an untimely end Tuesday night about 11 o'clock. Quincey left Belleville for Peterborough on the excursion the morning of July 12th, but at Hastings he got off, and the train went on without him. The day was spent in that quiet village, and when the train returned in the evening Quincey boarded it quite drunk. At Stirling the drunken man got off the train but came aboard again before it started. That was the last seen of him alive, and it is conjectured that he went out to the rear platform and fell asleep, and that the sudden jerking of the train in starting from Hayden's Corners, where the residents had their places illuminated with torches, threw him off on the track. Another train came along about an hour later, which, it is supposed, ran over the unfortunate man. He was not missed, and no one knew anything of the accident till next morning, when a farmer named Fairman found his remains on the track near the residence of James Beckett, a cousin of the deceased. Another theory is that Quincy instead of going asleep and falling off, got off the train purposely to stop with his cousin over night. Directly in front of Beckett's is a sort of cattle guard, and on the west side of the track foot prints could easily be detected Wednesday morning. On the other side and next to Beckett's the first spot of blood was noticed. It was here where Quincy was beheaded, for the trail of blood could be followed down the embankment several feet until they came to the head. The body was on the track between the rails over a hundred feet farther down. It was terribly mangled and presented a ghastly sight. The legs were broken near the ankles, the feet hanging by the sinews. The arms were cut at the wrists in the same manner. The body was 40 feet down the track from where the first blood marks were found. The identity of the body was not known until the hat was found. In it was written the name "John Quincey." His pocket handkerchief was marked with the same name. Mr. Willat Farley, a near neighbour, brought out some sheets and laid the body out on the grass and when Mr. Wallace arrived he picked the head up in the ditch and placed it with the body. Dr. Wilson, coroner, pronounced an inquest unnecessary and the remains were at once brought to Belleville and taken to the undertaker.

A Baseball Hipprodrome.

How the Belleville and the Peterborough Players.

The Belleville baseball club are making a four day's tour through the Midland District, and visited Peterborough yesterday. The result of the match was 25 to 2—against the home team. There were only about a hundred spectators on the grounds. After a long and tedious wait, which called for loud maledictions from the crowd, play was begun about four o'clock. And after it did begin the game was so one-sided that very little interest was taken. The Peterborough boys can play if they like, but when they begin quarrelling among themselves and playing as though they wanted their opponents to win, they not only lose the respect of the spectators but also their gate money on future occasions. It is to be hoped the managers will not have the trouble again that they experienced yesterday with the home team. It is but fair to state though that the trouble was caused by only few of the men.

The Belleville boys are evidently thorough gentlemen, and though the decisions of their umpire, Mayor Biggar of Belleville, were often open to dispute, on the whole gave satisfaction—except to the Peterborough players whose "kicking" was interminable. An umpire's lot is a most unenviable one. The gray and blue uniforms of the visitors set off their burly forms to advantage. In point of physique though, the home team were not one whit behind. A considerable delegation from Belleville accompanied the visiting team to Peterborough and witnessed the match, in which the Peterboroughs were handled without gloves. Six innings was quite enough for them. Farrell and Jones, Belleville's battery, are fine players, the latter particularly, rarely making an error. Fitzgerald and Galley both pitched well for Peterborough. Landy should have been behind the bat from the start.

THE GAME.

Peterborough went first to bat, Landy wielding the stick. He was given first on balls, and stole second. Brennan was caught out at second base, Landy, who had started for third, also being retired. Fitzgerald made a two-base hit to centre, stole third, and on the catcher's muff came home apparently safe, but the umpire said not, and so the Peterboroughs retired for nothing.

For Belleville Dyson was given first on balls, stole second and third, and scored on a passed ball. Farrell also took first on balls and stole to second. A high hit to left by Lyons was captured by Moore, who made a neat double play and retired Farrell at second. Jones hit a grounder which was thrown by Fligg to first before Jones got there.

Billings then toed the home plate and was struck out. Metheral followed and was given first on balls, stole second and came in on Fligg's grounder, which carried the latter man to second. Moore hit to right for three bases and let Fligg in. Galley was struck out and Long followed suit, leaving Moore stranded on third.

Belleville's next innings was very productive. O'Leary was neatly caught out on foul by Billings, and was followed by Kaneen, who struck and got to first, stole second, and passed over the home plate on Lewis' fly to centre. Sholtz took a base on balls, and on passed balls Lewis scored. Fleming took a base on balls and on Dyson's hit and passed balls both he and Sholtz scored. Dyson was intercepted at the home plate on Farrell's hit to centre. Lyons hit and got to first, but Jones was stopped at first on a short hit, and the side retired for 4 runs.

Landy hit a grounder, but it travelled back from Belleville's spry shortstop's hands to first before him. Dr. Brennan hit high to centre, but it was muffed and he got safely to first, only to be put out by running past second base on a passed ball. Fitzgerald took first on balls, stole second, got third on Billings' hit, but Metherall hit right to first and was put out, the side going out for a cipher.

In this innings the Bellevilles hit Fitzgerald heavily, and, assisted by the home team's errors, piled up the runs. O'Leary opened the ball for Belleville with a big hit to right, which was collared by Moore. Kaneen hit to first, but in stealing second got there just a little behind the ball. Lewis got first on a hit, stole second, and scored on Galley's muff at third. Sholtz was given his base on balls, and came in on combined errors on all sides. Fleming and Dyson scored on Farrell's long hit to right, who also came in on Lyon's short hit. Jones was next batter, but was easily extinguished on a short hit, and the side went down for five runs.

Fligg, in Peterborough's next, was struck out, Moore was collared on a short hit to second and Galley got to first just a second too late, and another big goose-egg was laid by.

The Peterborough boys here began to break all to pieces, and the rest of the match was devoid of interest, the Bellevilles having everything their own way.

O'Leary opened the innings for Belleville, which was a repetition of the one before, wholesale errors and doubtful umpiring rather than heavy hitting doing the work. The side retired for 10 runs.

In Peterborough's next, Long, Landy and Brennan were put out in succession, the batters being utterly unable to hit Farrell.

A change was now made in Peterborough's battery, Landy going behind the bat and Galley taking a turn at twirling the sphere for Peterborough. The change seemed to have a favorable affect on the game, though wild throwing and reckless playing was again the word. Galley's pitching was very swift. Brennan made a fine catch in centre field. Two runs were scored by Belleville.

Peterborough's next was also a "duck," like the others. Only Landy reached the ball, the rest being put out without any trouble.

Hymeneal Happiness.

It is a pleasure to announce the marriage of Rev. James McMullen, late of the Lakefield circuit, to Miss Emma Sailes. The happy event took place on the 5th inst. at Little Britain, the home of the bride's father, Mr. John Sailes. Rev. M. L. Pearson, Chairman of the Lindsay District, assisted by Rev. Mr. Briden and Rev. Geo. Carpenter, performed the ceremony in Little Britain Methodist Church, where were present about forty guests, besides a large congregation of other friends and acquaintances of both the bride and groom. Three young brother ministers and as many young ladies ably supported the happy couples. A pleasant afternoon was spent at the residence of Mr. Sailes, and after enjoying tea with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. McMullen took the west bound train, carrying with them the warm congratulations of those whom they left behind. Their intention was to spend about two weeks visiting Niagara, Grimsby Park, Toronto, Uxbridge and other points, after which to repair to their new home at Arden, where Mr. McMullen is appointed to labor during this year. It is trusted that he and his amiable young wife will find many warm friends at Arden, and it is believed that their courteous manner and devotion will enable them to be eminently successful.—Com.

Something Coming.

This season in Peterborough has been a series of big events and big days. The next great announced event is the presence of the Oddfellows in town next month and the hospitality of the citizens will be considerably exercised, and many of them are making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of their friends. Some are doing so in one way and some in another. The most sensible preparations adopted, are by those who come to Belleghem's to purchase their furniture or have furniture repaired. Belleghem's is the place for either—the best place in the midland district. Give him a call.

Humane Railroad Officials.

Conductor Morris, of the Peterborough-Belleville express, says the Ontario, is a humane official. He would rather lose his situation any day than kill a man when he could avoid it. This morning when near Stirling a man was lying drunk on the track. He gave the signal to stop, and as it slowed up, the brakeman ran and pulled the inebriate out of the way, until the train passed.

AIDS TO "ANNEXATION."

It is a deplorable fact that many of the political and semi-social forces at work in the Dominion of Canada are of a disintegrating character, with, in the imperial sense, a centrifugal tendency. The good old rotten and retrogressive Tory party is accustomed to greet the proposal of any national reform, which threatens to trench upon any of its prerogatives, with the cry of "annexation," yet the Tory party and its leaders in the pursuit of their self-seeking policy, are doing more to promote the consummation of the separation of Canada from the Empire than any other influence. The chief bond, of cohesion of any strong national organization, is a national sentiment, developing a distinct spirit of nationality. That this spirit does not exist in Canada to any great extent is a deplorable fact. We are not Canadians first, we are miserable partizans. We have semi-social influences at work which are the most effective possible means of hindering the development of a Canadian national spirit. Whatever socio-political organization keeps warm old quarrels, keeps alive old prejudices and old enmities, which are exotic to the soil of Canada, is a most potent factor and aid to "annexation" possibilities, by preventing the development of that national harmony and concord necessary to the generation of a national spirit. We must become a sturdy and united people cultivating harmony and neighbourly feeling, instead of dogmatic disregard and insulting disrespect for our neighbour's opinions, we must be charitable and tolerant, before we become the inhabitants of a strong and united Confederation. The lack of these elements is, in direct tendency, the strongest possible aid to "annexation": and, in the direction of fostering and developing discord instead of harmony, enmity and bitterness instead of unity, the Tory party is facile princeps the predominant factor. It is the Tory party and the spirit of Toryism which cultivates and perpetuates socio-political influences, which, no matter however lofty and pure and proper their original character may have been, have degenerated into mere party mechanism. When a party for partizan purposes, prostitutes the sacred principles of tolerance and freedom of opinion to the promoting of partizan purposes, the results cannot be other than deplorable and destructive of all unity of feeling—destructive of all hope of developing a national spirit, which will alone make Canada a strong, stable and enduring political organization. A house divided against itself must fall. Every thoughtful citizen must acknowledge with regret that the inevitable tendencies of the influencies cited are as certain in the direction of federal disruption as the succession of day to sun-rise. These, conjoined with the pernicious policy pursued by Sir John Macdonald, of fomenting provincial discontent, and making the bonds of Confederation galling and unbearable, constitute as effectual aids to "annexation" as the bitterest enemy to the interests of Canada and the integrity of the Empire could devise.

The slaughter of the poor brakesman still continues. In some cases the circumstances leading to his death are beyond the control of any railway corporation. In others the carelessness of such corporations is, in reality, criminal. Take the case of the poor brakesman, Lefaf, killed at Guelph a few days ago. He caught his foot in an "unpeached" frog and was shockingly killed—practically, if not legally, murdered. But there is at present, it appears, no law to compel railway corporations to protect the lives of their employees by the simple and cheap device of packing the frogs of switches. There was such a law placed upon the statute book by the Mowat Government, but the Dominion Government, when it grabbed the railways of Ontario, largely built by the people of Ontario, did away with this law, and thus removed the protection thrown around railway employees. But this made little difference to the Dominion Government—it was "only a brakesman's" life that was concerned and it wasn't worth while to pass a law for his protection. All the law must be made in favour of the railway corporations and directors. They have political influence and their bank account is very useful at election times.

The Ontario Canoe Factory.

A Tourist's Impression of Peterborough's Canoe Industry.

The Toronto World, Thursday devotes four full pages to an illustrated description of Muskoka scenery, as seen by a special correspondent on a canoe voyage through the beautiful lakes and rivers of that district. The article is cleverly written and illustrated, concluding as follows, with a cut of the Ontario Canoe Factory's premises in Ashburnham:—

Before laying down the pen a word on general subjects: Nothing is of more importance to the summer voyager than his canoe; whether his stay among the wilderness is to be long or short, his canoe in this Venetian maze of lakes and rivers is a prime factor among the elements contributing to his pleasure. It is his steed, his baggage wagon, his house by day and shelter tent by night. It must be light for portaging round rapids and falls, it must be strong to withstand the waves, rocks shock and possible contact with sharp rocks, durable against wear and weather, seaworthy for sailing cruises, and graceful in form withal.

The manufacturer who can combine all these qualities in one small craft is indeed a genius. How many he must be also, in order to satisfy varying tastes in the matter of form and shape and size, to make on short notice canoes embodying the ideas of their users, and at the same time keeping all the qualities mentioned.

One company has succeeded in doing all this and more; they have invented a method of construction before unknown, producing a boat wherein the quality of lightness is united with a strength before unknown.

We refer to the Ontario Canoe Co. (limited) of Peterborough, Ont. This company only started in business in 1883, but since that time they have brought their products to such a pitch of excellence as to take the Gold Medal at the Fisheries Exhibition in London, England, 1883; and the Silver Medal at Antwerp in 1885, besides other medals, diplomas, etc., awarded wherever their canoes have been exhibited. They sent 25 beautiful canoes to the Colonial Exhibition of last year.

The grounds occupied by the works at Peterborough cover 7 of an acre. There is a factory building 20 x 65 and four stories high, 30 x 80 two stories for offices and exhibition and storage of canoes. Additional machinery and enlarged facilities are put in each year. At present a force of 30 men is kept constantly busy. Their models are known for beauty and speed, the inventor having spent years in perfecting them. They carry good wide beamings, well forward, but not so as to interfere with speed. All canoes are tested before they leave the factory, for the company will not turn out a canoe which is imperfect. All weights and sizes are built. Last year they turned out a canoe which weighed 72½ pounds and had a carrying capacity of 420 pounds.

Nearly 200 different styles and sizes of canoes are built here. All canoes are numbered on the inside of the stern, the 839 number showing number of model in catalogue and under number that of canoe, so they can tell when the canoe was sold and to whom. A full stock is also kept of seats, sails, centre boards and canoe fittings, and canoeists can here find almost anything they may require. Principal among their manufactures are the open basswood canoe, the patent rib open canoe, the most perfect canoe ever invented in its combination of lightness with strength; the patent longitudinal rib open canoe, the strongest and most serviceable "all round" canoe ever made; their jumper canoe, which combines the advantages of the open and decked canoes for paddle and sail; the basswood jumper, the Ontario, their famous traveling or cruising canoes, one of the finest decked canoes made, and the Rosewood, Ontario are excellent, but cheaper craft.

They also manufacture a good line of folding (canvas) boats for fishing and hunting, and are headquarters for oars, paddles and all such sundries, also folding camp beds, camp stools, chairs, etc. The "solid rock" table and "little giant chair" are inventions of merit. The canoeist, fisherman, or hunter who wants a good boat should send at once for their catalogue, which not only fully describes their goods, but also contains information as to canoe trips in Canada of value in itself.

Capt. Rogers' chart of Lakes Rosseau, Joseph and Muskoka and the surrounding district, and a new map of Muskoka, Nipissing and the Parry Sound District, just published by Williamson & Co., Toronto, in handy pocket form, will be found invaluable to the tourist and sportsman.

International League Meeting.

BUFFALO, July 14.—The International Baseball League special meeting was held at the Genesee to-day, the following clubs being represented: Buffalo, Binghamton, Hamilton, Newark, Rochester, Syracuse, Scranton and Utica. President Frank T. Gilbert, presided and C. D. White, the secretary, occupied his post.

Considerable routine was disposed of, including the censuring of the Newark and Jersey City clubs for playing exhibition games on Sunday in violation of the rule.

The umpires' salary was increased from $300 to $350.

Barr's contract with Rochester was approved.

Secretary White says that there is now no doubt of Utica holding on for the balance of the season.

The protested games of Hamilton vs. Newark and Utica vs. Newark were allowed to stand as decided.

Forty-four Rounds Fought.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The hard glove fight between Tom Dorrs of Yonkers and Pat Farley of Brooklyn took place this morning, thirty miles up the Sound. The battle was a terrific one and lasted two hours and fifty-six minutes, during which forty-four rounds were fought. Both men were badly punished. When the fight was becoming most interesting the police beat patrol came along. The lookers-on, principals and their seconds scampered off, not before the fight, however, was declared a draw and the stakes of $500 a side were drawn. The additional purse of a like amount was divided. About 100 sporting men were present. Farley's lip was split, and Dorrs' nasal artery was severed by a blow.

Teemer Wins at Worcester.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 14.—Teemer, Hamm and Lee was the order of the winners in the final heat of the single scull race today. The prizes were $200, $125 and $75. It was a dull race.

Hosmer won in the consolation race.

The Canadian Cricketers at Dublin.

DUBLIN, July 14.—In the cricket match today between the home team and the Canadians the former scored 212 in the first inning. The Canadians quit with 30 and one wicket down in the first inning.

Joy in Every Drop.

This may be truly said of Polson's NERVILINE, the greatest pain remedy of the age. It brings comfort to the weary sufferer when failure has attended the use of every known remedy. NERVILINE is an absolute cure for all kinds of pain, internal, external, or local. Purchase a 10 cent sample bottle and try this great remedy, NERVILINE, nerve pain cure. Don't forget the name at any drug store.

Worth Remembering.

In a long letter from John H. Hall, of Baddick, Cape Vincent, N. S., he says: "I believe were it not for Burdock Blood Bitters I should be in my grave. It cured me of kidney and liver complaint and general debility, which had nearly proved fatal." 2w273

A FEMALE CAT CRANK.

A Montreal Woman Who Harbored 70 Felines on Trial for Nuisance.

MONTREAL, July 14.—Mrs. Stephen Morley, said to be wealthy, and living at No. 200 St. Hubert-street, a fashionable thoroughfare, is on trial before the Recorder for maintaining a nuisance, the said nuisance consisting of the fact that Mrs. Morley keeps within her house no less than 70 cats, much to the annoyance of her neighbors.

Several witnesses swore as to the unbearable stench in the vicinity of Mrs. Morley's house.

Sergeant Mocan of the police force swore that he visited the place on July 4, when he was shown through the rooms. There were almost seventy cats of all sizes and kinds running about. The stench was horrible. There were double windows on, all of which were shut, which the defendant explained was to keep the smell in.

Mr. Louis Beadard, a lawyer living next to Mrs. Morley, said she had been a cat crank for six years. The stench pervaded his house, and was indescribable.

Mrs. Morley appeared in court dressed in the most fashionable attire. The case has not yet been finished.

THE GERMAN CROWN PRINCE.

His Throat Continues to Improve, and He is Regaining His Voice.

LONDON, July 14.—The condition of the German Crown Prince, who has returned to London from the Isle of Wight, continues to improve. His voice is clear and has almost regained its normal strength. The condition of the larynx is also satisfactory.

The Crown Prince visited the throat hospital to-day and was keenly interested in all he saw, paying particular attention to an old man who had just been cured of a growth similar to that in his own throat. A crowd of Germans, that had gathered in the street, cheered the Crown Prince enthusiastically as he emerged from the building.

SHARP BRETHREN.

Four Years in the States Prison and a Fine of $2000.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Jake Sharp was tenced to-day to four years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $2000.

If Sharp is a good convict and serve his commutation he will be released within three years. The defence will make efforts to obtain a stay of proceedings from one of the numerous judges of the Supreme Court.

A stay of proceedings was granted this afternoon by Judge Potter in the Sharp case until Monday next. The order directs the District Attorney to show cause why a permanent stay should not be granted.

"A DESPERATE GAMESTER."

That is the Way Prof. Tyndall Designated Mr. Gladstone.

LONDON, July 14.—Prof. Tyndall, in a communication published to-day, says he has received numerous letters from all parts of America on the Irish Home Rule question and they all recommend the utmost resistance to Mr. Gladstone's policy. "Inasmuch," says Prof. Tyndall, "as a desperate gamester, miscalled a statesman, has chosen to invoke ignorant foreign opinion against the instructed opinion of his own countrymen it is worth showing that American opinion is not entirely on Mr. Gladstone's side."

A CRIPPLE'S CARES.

His Wife Hits Him on the Head With a Stick of Wood and Then Kills Herself.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Timothy Carey and his wife Ellen lived in 14th-street. He is a cripple, and has been supported by his wife, who kept a few boarders and worked as a laundress. They quite last night quarreling. This morning Mrs. Carey cooked breakfast for her boarders, and after hitting her husband on the head with a stick of wood, drank a cup of poison and almost instantly died. Some years ago Mrs. Carey was sentenced to State Prison for life for setting fire to her sister's house. After she had served two years she was pardoned.

Failure of a Montreal Woolen Firm.

MONTREAL, July 14.—H. R. Beveridge & Co., importers of woolens, McGee-street, have suspended payment, with liabilities said to amount to about $40,000 direct and $60,000 indirect to Molson's bank. The cause of the suspension is said to have been a number of bad accounts in the Maritime Provinces as well as in the West. The assets consisting of stock, furniture and book debts will amount to about $55,000, and the liabilities direct to $37,000, and indirect (to Molson's Bank) 60,000; total liabilities $97,000.

Another Horse Stolen.

Acting Chief Adams yesterday received a post card stating that a mare had been stolen from a pasture field in Murray township on Sunday morning. The missing animal was described as a black mare 14 hands high, 7 years old, with white mark over left eye and a smaller one over the right eye. The horse has not been seen about town.

London military camp of Oddfellows has accepted an invitation to be present at the Oddfellows Demonstration in Peterborough August 10th. This makes the seventh camp that has so far promised to attend. More are expected. The Canton Committee meet this evening.

Oddfellow Cards.

The EXAMINER has the necessary emblematic cuts for the cards of members of the Oddfellow Order and Encampment. Every Oddfellow will feel the need of personal cards in his exchange of courtesies with the visiting brethren next month. Gentlemen requiring cards will do well to place their orders at once to save disappointment and a rush of orders towards the last.

An Embezzler.

The County Constable of Almonte sends Acting Chief Adams instructions to be on the lookout and arrest if possible a man by the name of G. A. Wasmuth, on a charge of embezzlement. Wasmuth lived in Peterborough about 8 months ago, his occupation being a Singer sewing machine agent, but has not been seen here since. At Almonte he followed the same business, and is charged with the embezzlement of a considerable amount.

Scott Act.

At a meeting of Scott Act workers held in the Y.M.C.A. Rooms last night, a deputation was appointed to wait on the Ontario Government at an early date, and urge that the License Inspectors be compelled to take action against violators of the Act in all cases reported to him in which the name or names of intelligent witnesses accompany the information. The delegates have also been instructed to represent to the Government the refusal of the police to act on authentic information relative to violations of the Act, and to enquire if the removal of their names from the list of constables is not possible because of said refusal.

Honour Worthily Bestowed.

At the annual session of the Masonic Grand Lodge at Brockville, Mr. Benj. Shortly, of this town, P. M. of Peterborough lodge, was elected District Deputy Grand Master for Ontario District, No. 12. The intelligent and active attention which Mr. Shortly is known to have given to the promotion of the interests of the craft in this district, amply vindicates the wisdom of his selection for an important office. The EXAMINER has no doubt that Mr. Shortly will wear his new official harness with credit to himself, the craft, and the town.

Excursion to the Northwest.

The Rev. D. Hunt, of Millgrove, Ont., has made arrangements with the Canada Pacific Railroad for a cheap excursion to the Northwest, to start August 17th. Tickets to Winnipeg and return $30; to Killarney, near Turtle Mountains, return $35; good to start at any station on C.P.R., and good to return any time within forty days. The party goes by way of the Lakes, and berths on the boat and colonist sleepers will be provided. Persons wishing to take in this excursion should write to Mr Hunt at once, as we understand the party is limited to 150 people.

A Gladstone Terrace "Jubilee."

Wednesday evening Mr. John Babb celebrated the completion of Gladstone Terrace, Park street. This fine row consists of seven two story tenements with solid brick enclosing and fire walls, each containing seven rooms. At the northern end of the row is a tower, with the name "Gladstone Terrace" and above it a clock dial—the hands set a quarter to twelve, indicating, as Mr. Babb explains, the condition of Peterborough, which, in a city sense, is not quite at high noon but within a quarter of it. Every tenement in the row is occupied, and the inhabitants number about forty. Wednesday evening, in celebration of the completion of the terrace and of the third birthday of an orphan who has been in Mr. Babb's care, the latter entertained the children of the row, and the relatives of his foster child at a little lawn party. A booth was erected and tables spread with an excellent feast, which the youngsters greatly enjoyed. Then followed sports and games, and at night the grounds were lit with Chinese lanterns. Mr. Babb gave his delightful little entertainment in view of his going to England in about a fortnight on a visit of indefinite length. His home is at Truro, Cornwall, where his mother still lives.

The Bishop at Bobcaygeon.

The Right Reverend Thomas Joseph Dowling, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough, paid his first visit to the Bobcaygeon parish, on Saturday and Sunday last, says the Independent. His Lordship was accompanied by the popular priest Rev. F. McVay, and assisted by his Secretary, Rev. P. Rudkins, of Peterborough. On Saturday afternoon he personally examined the candidates for confirmation, some thirty in number, and instructed them in the catechism. In the evening he met the congregation and was presented with an address, to which His Lordship made a feeling reply. On Sunday morning, after Mass, during which the Fenelon choir assisted, the Bishop read the Epistle and Gospel, and delivered an address explaining very concisely the position he now holds in the church system of government, and also many of the leading doctrines. After that he had administered the rite of Confirmation, he concluded it by asking the boys to promise to abstain from intoxicants, until they were of age, 21 years, which they did. In the afternoon, the Bishop drove to Fenelon Falls, consecrating the Cemetery on his way, and being accompanied to that point by a large number of the congregation. The parishioners were much pleased with their new Bishop, and already look upon him as a man of good qualities and scholarly parts, a kind and considerate shepherd, a loving and honorable servant of the Master.

Counterfeit Bills.

A cleverly executed counterfeit of the late five dollar issue of the Bank of British North America is just appearing in Peterborough, though the Montreal Herald some months ago made the fact known that they were in wide circulation in the east. Three or four of these bills have recently been offered at a certain bank in town, but were detected by the teller. The following particulars will enable the public to detect the spurious bills:—The numeral of the date on the face of the bill and also the fine line under the accountant's signature, are omitted. The portraits are inferior. The pattern of the carpet over the throne of Her Majesty in the counterfeit is very indistinct and the border dark, while the ribbon on the shoulder is invisible. In the genuine bill these points are light and beautifully distinct. The ink in which the black is printed is much fainter, and the blue numerals on the face are pale, and in a longer, thinner type than those in the genuine. In the figure to the left the nose is of an unknown pattern, while in the genuine it is a pure Grecian or Roman type; the mouth in the former is like an ink spot, in the genuine it is clear and defined. In the genuine the hair falling on the shoulder front is curled, whereas it is straight in the false. The shield held in the right hand is clearly defined all around its circumference in the genuine; in the counterfeit only about one third of the circumference is visible, and this is marked by a white line. This white line and the fastenings of the sandal, which in the false bills are quite dark, though invisible on the genuine, constitute, with the absence of the date, the most marked differences. The plate is marked with the letter D.

Catarrh is not a Blood Disease.

No matter what parts it may finally affect, catarrh always starts in the head, and belongs to the head. There is no mystery about the origin of this direful disease. It begins in a neglected cold. One of the kind that is "sure to be better in a few days." Thousands of victims know it is by sad experience. Ely's Cream Balm cures colds in the head and catarrh in all its stages. Not a snuff nor a liquid. eodw58

Our August Visitors.

How the [illegible] two newspaper [illegible]

The merchants and business people of Peterborough generally have expressed their intention of decorating their premises with flags and bunting, and of illuminating with handsome designs in gas on the night of August 10th, Civic holiday, the chief day of the Oddfellows' Demonstration next month. The decoration and illumination will be general, which will show the visitors who are expected from all parts of Canada on the occasion of the Grand Lodge meeting that Peterborough is not only an enterprising community, but that they realize the benefit that will accrue to the town from the good impressions made on the visitors. All classes of citizens can join heartily in this, as the Society is a non-sectarian and non-political one, being a charitable and benefit institution that is doing a vast amount of good in relieving distress, and one expending millions of dollars a year in this laudable object. The grand bodies meeting here next month will be composed of representative men from all parts of the Dominion, who will bring with them a large quota of visitors from each section. Thousands of dollars will be left in the town by this vast influx of strangers, from which the entire community will reap a benefit. It must not be forgotten that the demonstration does not last for a single day only but for nearly a whole week. This enterprise on the part of the local Societies who have pluckily entered upon this onerous undertaking should be ably and cordially supported. Everyone can do his share, no matter how little, by decorating and illuminating his premises and assisting in various ways. Probably on no occasion has there ever been or will there be such an opportunity offered for bringing this town prominently before the whole country. Let the people vie with each in showing what they can do in this way. It is understood that Mayor Stevenson, as a beginning, in his official capacity as President of the Gas Company, has kindly consented to allow the gas arch erected in honor of the Queen's Jubilee to remain for this occasion, and that Mr. Breese, of Breese & Bain, has also very kindly agreed to suspend three links, severed, underneath the crown as an additional gas illumination. This will have an exceedingly pretty effect. And to the credit of Mr. T. G. Hazlitt be it said that he too has generously consented to continue in position the pole with seven electric lights on George street and the tower in the court house park with its ten lamps. Such generosity is deserving of the highest praise, and will, no doubt, be duly appreciated by the public as well as the Oddfellows. The two arches, opposite the Golden Lion and the market square, have been also handed over to the Oddfellows by the Orangemen, these will be re-dressed and decorated in an appropriate manner for the occasion. A large committee has been appointed under the direction of Mr. H. W. Watson, to look after that particular part of the work. Already the liberal and enterprising merchants and grocers have contributed largely towards the entertainment of the military branches, who will be billeted at the Charlotte street skating rink, this spacious building having been placed at the disposal of the committee by the Curling Club. The Cantons Militant together with their several bands will be the guests of the Oddfellows and citizens during their stay. The galleries of the rink have been set apart for dormitories, and the central floor as a dining hall. For this purpose the committee will be compelled to ask the ladies and the public generally to contribute from their larders. Just here it might be mentioned that the regular delegates, grand officers, and Past Grand Officers will be located principally at the hotels with their wives, who, of course, pay their own expenses entirely. It is only the military branch and bands that the local societies will provide for. From present indications some of the finest bands in Canada will be present.

Willow and Wicket.

"Old Timers" and "New Bloods" on the Cricket Field.

Yesterday afternoon's cricket match on the Ashburnham grounds was originally intended to have been one of mortal combat between the "old-timers" of Peterborough who have long since laid aside the willow for the more prosaic but perhaps necessary occupation of foraging after bread and butter, but as they did not muster in sufficient force for duplicate elevens, their ranks had to be reinforced by a number of the "young bloods" who are becoming familiar with the science of the game. Mr. W. H. Wrighton, who has not handled a bat for a number of years, played his old careful, steady game that secured runs and renown for himself and his club in days gone by, making 17 by his own batting, and stealing almost as many more on byes. Mr. W. J. Green made a couple of fine catches and stopped some difficult balls at point. Mr. J. R. Stratton also distinguished himself in the field by a brilliant catch of a rapid fly, for which he had to jump. Hartley's bowling was almost as good as his batting, which as will be seen by the score was "not to be sneezed at." Messrs. Jno. Burnham, Melville Millar, M. Sanderson, R. Muncaster, H. S. Macdonald and H. T. Strickland also renewed the cricketing dexterity of their more juvenile days, though with but indifferent success. For the "youngsters" the two Hamiltons topped the score. Dust from the Diamond.

[illegible] Baseball Match Monday.

Monday next the Cobourg baseball club will play the Peterborough club on the home grounds, the game to begin at 2:30 sharp. The managers assure the public that next Monday's game will be as fine an exhibition of ball playing as was ever seen in Peterborough, and those who attended Wednesday's game with all its disconcerting concomitants may rely upon having their "money's worth" at the Cobourg-Peterborough match. None more regret the most unsatisfactory exposition of the game last Wednesday on the part of the Peterborough players than the managers themselves, who faithfully promise the public that Monday's game will be quiet, interesting, and utterly devoid of those discordant elements which caused the trouble on Wednesday. Galley will twirl the sphere for Peterborough, and will probably be caught by Landy. Game will be called at 2:30 sharp. The Cobourg players will run an excursion, per steamer, from that town. Quite a number are expected to attend it.

The Belleville ball-tossers secured another victory at Lindsay yesterday, defeating the local club by 16 to 11. Keenan and Morris were Belleville's battery; Little and Bates for Lindsay. In one innings Lindsay made 6 runs and in another Belleville made 7. Otherwise the score was pretty well kept down. In the seventh innings Farrell, who pitched against Peterborough, was substituted for Keenan, and the Lindsays were about cut after that. The Bellevilles are billed to play Port Hope to-day, but the rain will likely prevent the game.

PASTEUR'S PROPER PLAN.

THE BRITISH COMMISSION ENDORSE THE FRENCHMAN'S METHOD.

A Valuable Testimonial for the Treatment of Hydrophobia by Inoculation—A Discovery which is Capable of Wide Development.

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—The Medical News, in its issue of this week, will contain a lengthy abstract of the report presented to Parliament last week by the British Commission appointed last year to enquire into M. Pasteur's treatment of hydrophobia. From this abstract the following paragraphs are taken:

"It may here be deemed certain that M. Pasteur has discovered a method of protection from rabies comparable with that which vaccination affords against infection from small-pox. It would be difficult to over-estimate the importance of the discovery, whether for its practical utility or for its application in general pathology. It shows a new method of inoculation, or, as M. Pasteur sometimes calls it, of vaccination, the like of which it may become possible to employ for the protection of both men and domestic animals against the most intense kinds of virus. The duration of the immunity conferred by inoculation is not yet determined, but during the two years that have passed since it was first proved there have been no indications of its being limited.

"The committee think it, therefore, certain that the inoculations practised by M. Pasteur have prevented the occurrence of hydrophobia in a large proportion of those who, if they had not been so inoculated, would have died of that disease, and his discovery shows that it may become possible to arrest by inoculation, even after infection, other disease besides hydrophobia. His researches have also added very largely to the knowledge of the pathology of hydrophobia and supplied a sure means of determining whether an animal which has died under suspicion of rabies was really affected with that disease or not."

The Medical News says editorially: "The report of the British Hydrophobia Commission constitutes the ablest defence of M. Pasteur's method which has yet been made, and it is cause for congratulation that men so competent to observe facts and weigh evidence have been able, after full investigations, to reach a unanimous conclusion as to the prophylactic value of the inoculations of Pasteur."

A TERRIBLE OCCURRENCE.

The Oil Explodes, Firing a Car Filled With Passengers—Many Charred Bodies Taken From the Wreck—The Names and Number of the Dead Unknown.

ST. THOMAS, July 15.—A terrible accident occurred at the crossing of the Grand Trunk Railway and Michigan Central Railway in this city about 7 o'clock this evening. An excursion tram on the Grand Trunk Railway from Port Stanley ran into a passing freight on the Michigan Central Railway with a number of cars loaded with oil. The engine crashed into one of these cars, when the oil instantly took fire and burned with great fierceness, communicating to the cars on both trains and extending to Griffin's warehouse, coal and lime sheds adjoining the track on the west, and John Campbell's dwelling on the east, all of which were burned to the ground with their contents.

Engineer Donnelly of the excursion train was burned in the wreck, but the fireman jumped and escaped with slight injuries.

The forward car of the excursion train was filled with passengers who made frantic efforts to escape from the burning car, but notwithstanding hundreds of brave and willing hands were immediately at work to assist in their rescue, it is feared a number have lost their lives and will be burned beyond recognition before their bodies can be got out of the wreck.

At 8 o'clock, when thousands of people were crowding around the burning pile one of the oil tanks on the cars suddenly exploded, throwing hundreds to the ground with great force and scattering fire in all directions, and severely, perhaps fatally, injuring many.

At 8.30 p. m. nine bodies were taken out burned to a crisp. It is almost impossible to ascertain with any certainty the names of those lost in the wreck until the arrival of the late train from Port Stanley. There are many conflicting rumors, but it seems almost certain that Engineer H. Donnelly, Mr. Zealand, clerk in J. & W. Micklebourough's dry goods store; Mr. Zealand's child, the wife and child of Mr. James Smithers, dry goods merchant, are among the victims. Mrs. Zealand was got out badly burned.

Among those injured by the explosion are: Herman Ponaford, bricklayer, it is feared fatally; Nelson Gadsby, blacksmith, burned in head; W. H. Joyce, engineer Grand Trunk Railway, badly burned on both arms; W. H. Walbourne, Chief of the Fire Department, burned on the neck; Charles Dake of the Dake House, hands and back; Richard Woodruff, back and neck; Oliver Norsworthy, neck and back burned; Archie Norsworthy, neck and arms; son of Mr. Potts, master mechanic Michigan Central Railway, burned on the neck, and scores of others who have sought or were taken to their homes before their names could be learned.

Gangs of men, under the direction of Superintendent Morford and Assistant Superintendent Moorehead of the Michigan Central Railway, and J. Stewart, agent of the Grand Trunk Railway, are hard at work removing the debris, and it is expected the track will be cleared by daylight. All the Michigan Central Railway and Great Northwestern telegraph wires were burned, with several poles, interrupting communication.

BY ORDER OF THE POPE.

The Province of Quebec Divided Into Three Ecclesiastical Provinces.

OTTAWA, July 15.—Information has been received here from Rome of the division of the Province of Quebec into three ecclesiastical provinces to be known as Quebec, Montreal and Ottawa. It is rumored that another bishop will shortly be appointed here to assist Archbishop Duhamel and Bishop Lorraine.

Vicar-General Routhier was seen this afternoon regarding the probable changes, but he declined to state anything further than that the Diocese of Pontiac had been added to Ottawa by order of His Holiness, and that it would be known as the Province of Ottawa in future.

ONE FOR THE AMEER.

After Many Reverses He at Last Scores a Victory.

BOMBAY, July 15.—News from native sources has been received to the effect that a battle between the troops of the Ameer of Afghanistan and the insurgents recently took place at Mashaki, south of Ghuzni, and that the Ameer's forces were victorious. They are said to have captured 160 Andars and Turakis, and have sent the heads of 200 of the slain to Cabul. A large force of Jaghuri and Hazarbs subsequently defeated the troops of the Ameer, who is now sending reinforcements to his army.

A $200,000 Railway Smash-Up.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 15.—This morning a west bound freight train on the Burlington and Missouri met an extra stock train four miles east of this city, and a disastrous collision ensued. The engines met on a small bridge which caught fire from the engines. Both engines were consumed and 13 loaded cars, including two cars of cattle. None of the train men was hurt. The damage will be about $200,000.

INSURANCE MEN WINCE.

A FIRE AT MONTREAL WHICH WILL MAKE A HOLE IN PROFITS.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery, a Seven Story Brick Building Filled with Machinery, Completely Ruined—Loss Over Half a Million.

MONTREAL, July 15.—Between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning what proved to be the most serious fire that has afflicted Montreal for some time broke out in the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery, situated on Queen-street and extending right through to King-street. The whole fire brigade was called, but were powerless to save the seven story brick building, which was soon burned to the ground. Brick dwelling houses adjoining and occupied by Messrs. Flynn, O'Brien, Coverston and Jones were also destroyed.

About 8.15 a large portion of the wall of the building fell. So far as is known no one was killed by the falling of the wall. A little earlier a man named Moore was coming down the fire escape on Queen-street, when a huge puff of flame shot out of one of the windows; he lost his hold and fell to the ground, expiring in great agony almost immediately. Another man who jumped from a window broke his leg. Others are reported missing and seriously injured. The immense pile of debris is being searched for the dead.

Many of the men escaped from the building naked, having nothing on but their shoes, and running along the gangway across the street into the office saved their lives. The loss is estimated at $500,000. The property is insured in a large number of companies, mostly American.

This is the third time that the St. Lawrence Refinery has been burned within a comparatively short time. This time comes at a most inopportune time, as the management were busy refining and sending out their usual summer supplies for preserving purposes. The president of the company, Mr. Baumgarten, is at the Pacific Coast at present, but it is likely he will return at once and order the rebuilding of the works. So far as the public are concerned, they are not likely to suffer by the fire, as it will be comparatively easy to start up the Halifax refinery to its full capacity and supply the market.

The Insurance Companies Affected.

The premises were insured in the following companies: Ætna $6000, British America $6000, Caledonian $6000, Citizens $10,000, City of London $10,000, Commercial Union $16,000, Connecticut $6000, Fire Assurance $10,000, Glasgow & London $10,000, Hartford $3500, Lancashire, $10,000, Liverpool & London and Globe $16,000, London & Lancashire $6000, London Assurance $6000, North British and Mercantile $10,000, Northern $6000, Norwich Union $6000, National of Ireland $6000, Phœnix of Brooklyn $30,000, Phœnix of London $15,000, Quebec $6000, Queen $7500, Royal Canadian $10,000, Royal $10,000, Scottish $7500, Western $7500, making a total of $240,000, in addition to which there is in companies in the United States $180,000, making a grand total of $420,000.

The entire loss is estimated at nearly $600,000, so that there is $180,000 not covered by insurance.

A fire occurred in these premises on Jan. 22, 1884, the insurance then being $167,357.49, and the loss to the insurance companies amounted to $124,696.61. Four hundred men will be thrown out of employment.

THE EGYPTIAN CONVENTION.

Sir Drummond Wolff's Departure From Constantinople Again Announced.

LONDON, July 15.—In the House of Commons to-night Sir James Ferguson, Parliamentary Secretary for Foreign Affairs, reported that the Egyptian Convention had not been ratified by Turkey, and that Sir Henry Drummond Wolff, the special envoy having the matter in charge, would leave Constantinople to-night.

ATTEMPT AT ASSASSINATION.

Russian Religious Fanatics Try to Kill the Wife of a Grand Duke.

LONDON, July 15.—A despatch from St. Petersburg, which has come by way of Gumbinnen, in Eastern Russia, states that on July 10 a band of religious fanatics attempted to murder the wife of the Grand Duke Nicholas-Constantinovitch, son of the Grand Duke Constantine, uncle of the Czar. The attempt at assassination was made at the palace, where the lady and her husband were stopping. The cause given for the attack was that the Grand Duchess, who is a Lutheran, refused to modify the terms of her marriage covenant, which accords her the privilege of remaining a Lutheran, and join the Greek Church.

The fanatics were all arrested, having been caught near the palace. While being removed to jail they cried to the Grand Duchess "we have already had enough of Maria Paulovona," referring to the Grand Duchess of that name, who is the wife of the Grand Duke Vladimir, brother of the Czar, whom the populace have suspected of making proselytes. It is stated that previous to the attempt religious fanatics also tried to kill the Grand Duchess Elizabeth, wife of the Grand Duke Serge. This lady is also a protestant, being a daughter of the Grand Duke Louis IV. of Hesse.

FIRE IN A SHIP YARD.

The New England Shipbuilding Company at Bath, Me., Suffer Great Loss.

LEWISTON, Me., July 15.—Fire broke out about 11 o'clock to-day in the New England Shipbuilding Company's yard at Bath. The Mayor telegraphed for aid to Portland, Lewiston and Brunswick, though it looks as if the fire department could prevent further spread of the flames. The loss will reach over $100,000.

The fire started in the oakum shop, which was instantly ablaze, and with acres of hard pine timber, ships and other inflammable material around, a great conflagration was imminent.

Three hulls of vessels were at once ignited, a schooner of 1000 tons, being built for Capt. Anderson of Long Island, valued at $15,000; an 800 ton schooner in frame worth $5000, and another worth $1000, were destroyed. Other vessels were more or less damaged. The wind was blowing a gale over the yard, but it afterwards changed toward the water.

ROBBED OF HIS EARNINGS.

A Shantyman the Victim of a Fleet-Footed Ottawa Thief.

OTTAWA, July 15.—A very bold robbery was committed on Sussex-street about 3 o'clock this afternoon. A shantyman named Gravelle, who had just been paid off, was counting his money, about $100, in front of McKay's Hotel, when a passer-by snatched it and made off, and before Gravelle was fully aware of what had happened the man had disappeared round a corner, and nothing has been heard of him or the money.

The Montreal Cat Crank.

MONTREAL, July 15.—In the case of Madame Morley, who was on trial for keeping a very large number of cats in her house to the injury of her neighbors, the Recorder to-day gave her a week to get the house cleared, and failing this, he would send her to jail with a heavy fine.

THE INSPECTION OF MILK.

STANDARD OF QUALITY TO BE FIXED IN EACH LOCALITY.

Canadians Reaping Benefit from the American Inter-State Commerce Law—Trade With the West Indies—Announcements in The Gazette.

OTTAWA, July 15.—Mr. MacFarlane, Chief Analyst of the Inland Revenue Department, stated in an interview to-day that the Government Milk Inspectors in Canada were engaged in obtaining samples of the milk, sold in cities, which were being sent to Ottawa for analysis. The object is to fix a standard for the milk of each locality, so that persons selling milk below that standard may be fined. Samples have so far been examined from almost every herd of cattle in the vicinity of Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, Quebec, Halifax and St. John, and the standards fixed.

The effect of the Inter-State law is being advantageously felt by Canadian railways. The manager of the Canada Atlantic Railway here states that since the beginning of the grain shipping season that road has taken over two million bushels of western grain to Boston. About two thousand cars are engaged in the traffic and another thousand has been ordered. The route of the grain is by lake boats from Chicago to Owen Sound, thence by the Canadian Pacific to Ottawa and from here to Boston or other New England ports by the Canadian Atlantic. The trade is increasing and promises to become permanent if the inter-state commerce law is not repealed or altered.

There will be a meeting of council to-morrow which will probably be the last full meeting for some time. Hon. Mr. Thompson will return in time to attend it. Sir Hector Langevin will leave for Rimouski on Monday. Hon. Mr. Chapleau goes to New York en route for Europe, on Tuesday. Hon. Mr. White will probably start for the Northwest on Wednesday or Thursday, and Sir John is expected to go to Dalhousie about the same time.

It is understood that the Government will not take any steps towards the establishment of steam navigation between Canada and the West Indies until the result of Sir Chas. Tupper's mission to Spain is learned. If his visit results in securing favorable facilities for trading, vessels will likely be placed on the route next year.

It is understood that the contract with Boissiere Bros. & Co. of Paris for the establishment of a line of steamers between Canada and France will not be carried out until next year.

Mr. Simon, who will be the Government candidate in Charlevoix, was in the city to-day. It is not probable that the election will take place before the middle of next month.

Cunningham Stewart, Superintendent of the money order and savings bank branch of the post office department has been commissioned to visit London for the purpose of investigating the English postal system. He will also visit other European capitals and Washington, if possible. The object of his trip is to see what improvements can be made in the Canadian system with a view to economy and, if possible, uniting some of the existing branches.

Thomas Chapais, editor of Le Courier Du Canada, Quebec, and son-in-law of Sir Hector Langevin, will be the Conservative candidate in Dorchester for the seat rendered vacant by the death of Mr. Duchesnay, Liberal. The Opposition candidate will probably be Mr. Cadrin, warden of the county.

From the Gazette.

OTTAWA, July 15.—Tomorrow's Canada Gazette will contain official notice of disallowance of the Red River Valley Bill and Public Works Accounts of Manitoba.

Orders-in-council have been passed placing the following articles on the free list: square reed and rawhide centres, textile, leather and rubber heads, thumbs, tips and steel, iron or nickel caps for whip ends, when imported by whip manufacturers for use in their own factories, also nails, the short wool which falls from the combs in worsted factories.

John Nugent Moore has been appointed District Inland Revenue Inspector for New Brunswick; W. C. Chisholm, Indian agent for Antigonish and Guysboro; Charles Dalmas of Annapolis, N.S., Sub-Collector of Customs, and Guy Lewis of Colchester, N.S., Preventive Officer of Customs.

The Sherbrooke postal division gazetted last week has been cancelled.

Application for letters patent has been made by the Windsor Tug and Wrecking Company, headquarters Windsor, Ont.; capital $150,000.

The American Surety Company has been licensed to do guarantee business in Canada; headquarters, Montreal.

The Marine Department has ordered a strict investigation into the cause which led to the wreck of the Merrimac at Little Hope Island.

WHY CANARSIE IS EXCITED.

A Report that the Drunken Captain of the Mystery Swam Ashore.

NEW YORK, July 14.—All Canarsie is excited over the report that Captain Hendrickson, the captain of the ill-fated Mystery, is alive and has escaped to Pennsylvania. A story which a German named Schleicht tells leads to the belief that Capt. Hendrickson after the capsizing of his boat swam ashore to Barren Island. Schleicht is employed in one of the factories on Barren Island.

He says that shortly after 8 o'clock on Sunday evening, the night of the accident, he was on the Island dock. A man with a pair of trousers and shirt on climbed upon one end of the dock and walked swiftly away into the darkness. He thought that it was some factory hand and did not pay much attention to him. When he heard of the accident which had occurred only a short time before it occurred to him that the man bore a strong resemblance to Captain Hendrickson, with whom he was slightly acquainted.

Give Them a Chance!
That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is, too. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.
When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.
Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. MUSICAL CULTURE.

We have before us the calendar and prospectus for 1887-8 of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, which opens its classes for the first time on Monday, September 5th. This is a gratifying fact to announce. Canada is well up in front, if she does not lead the van, in general educational culture and facilities, and it is pleasing to know that in the art of music she is now placed in a position to compete with the world. The founding and establishment of a thoroughly equipped conservatory of music is so important a matter that every citizen is concerned in it and will therefore be interested in its history, and therefore a few words respecting its origin and progress will be read with pleasure. Quoting from the calander thus:—

Although the inception of the idea of establishing a Conservatory of Music is by no means recent, and the matter had for some time been under private discussion by several gentlemen who are now members of the Company's Directorate, it was not until last year (1886) that it was deemed advisable to take definite steps towards organization. Then, however, for this purpose several meetings were held by those most interested in the project, among whom may be mentioned the Hon. George W. Allan, Hon. Chancellor Boyd, Hon. S. H. Blake, Messrs. George A. Cox (of Peterborough), A. Morgan Cosby, Edward Fisher, James Maclennan, Q. C., W. Barclay McMurrich, Robert Jaffray, D. A. O'Sullivan (formerly of Peterborough), A. T. Fulton, John I. Davidson, and others. Committees were appointed to draft a scheme of organization, to consider various plans submitted for carrying on the work of the institution, to ascertain as accurately as possible the nature and extent of the field of operation throughout the country, and the probable necessities of the Conservatory in the way of legislative authority, etc.

It was considered that a capital of $50,000 divided into five hundred shares of one hundred dollars each, would be sufficient for all immediate requirements. Of this stock, enough was at once subscribed to settle all possible question in regard to the degree of public confidence in the project. A Provisional Directorate, comprising the gentlemen mentioned above, were appointed to office, with power to increase their number to twenty-one, and in November, 1886, Letters Patent, incorporating the TORONTO CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC, were issued by the Government of the Province of Ontario. The objects of the Conservatory, as stated in its charter, are manifold, but those of chief public interest are as follows:—

"To furnish instruction in all branches of the Art and Science of Music, and to furnish instruction in such other subjects as may be considered necessary for the fullest development of the students' mental and physical faculties preparatory to their pursuing music as a profession, with full power to acquire and hold by lease, purchase or otherwise, all lands, buildings, instruments and appliances necessary for the thorough equipment and maintenance of a Conservatory of Music, and to exercise all such other powers as may be calculated to advance musical culture and appreciation."

Wherein the public are more particularly interested in the fact that one of the objects of the conservatory is to prepare "those (not necessarily regular students of the conservatory but teachers in schools, etc.,) who desire to teach singing in schools." It is laid down that musical instruction should be coincident with the earliest educational training. It is an error on the part of a parent to wait till a child develops unaided a marked taste for music, and is no more logical than it would be to defer teaching a child the alphabet until it began to manifest a genius for spelling and reading. Excellent authorities assert that in nearly all children there is a dormant capacity for singing or playing on some musical instrument, and to develop this capacity should, it goes almost without saying, be an invaluable part of the function of our public and private schools. The EXAMINER has heretofore given expression to its decided opinion in favor of the general and indeed universal teaching of music in schools, the advantages and importance of which we have more than once insisted on. Now that the Department of Education of the Ontario government has moved in the matter, and that the new conservatory is ready to give practical co-operation, the advocates of music in the schools can hopefully look forward to an immense and general advance in national musical culture within the present century. There is no reason why Canada should not supply some of the great musicians of the world. She has already done her share and the teaching of music in the public schools will tend to bring to light many unpolished gems. Thus will be discovered talent and perhaps even genius, and the conservatory is ready to give the culture and development. By a judicious and practical combination of the popular and perfecting departments of musical instruction and culture, Canada will become noted for her national musical condition, and her national happiness and contentment will be measured by her progress in the successful cultivation of the art of music.

ROYAL ARCH GRAND CHAPTER.

A Large Attendance at the Annual Convention at Brockville.

BROCKVILLE, July 15.—The annual convocation of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Canada began this morning, M. E. Comps. Thomas Sargeant, Grand Z., officiating, assisted by R. Ex. Comps. R. ANOTHER UNBACKED WARRANT.

TORONTO, July 15.

Chief Justice Baxter handed down judgment in the Police Court yesterday morning on the application of Detective Lapointe of Montreal to have His Lordship back a warrant for Mr. E. E. Sheppard's arrest for criminal libel. The Chief Justice promptly and peremptorily refused to endorse the warrant, much to the discomfiture of Detective Lapointe and his counsel, Mr. W. A. Merritt. During the time that elapsed between the application of the detective on Thursday and the time of giving judgment yesterday, Chief Justice Baxter had a lengthy consultation with Hon. A. S. Hardy, who is Acting Attorney-General during Mr. Mowat's absence in England. Mr. Hardy, it is understood, advised Chief Justice Baxter not to attach his elegant signature to the reverse side of Mr. Lapointe's warrant; and you bet the C.J. didn't do it. After giving this important advice, Hon. Mr. Hardy took the train for Brantford.

On Thursday, before asking Chief Justice Baxter to back the warrant, Detective Lapointe tried Ald. J. B. Boustead, J.P. Mr. Boustead attested the warrant, but refused to back it. This little incident helped to oulge Chief Justice Baxter on to his refusal.

Mr. Foster, Q.C., was in court while Mr. Baxter was giving judgment. Afterwards he said that probably the Montreal parties would strike the proper procedure before they got through. They are now working and issuing their warrants under the "Quebec system," and invariably go about it in the wrong way. Their Toronto counsel, Mr. Maclaren, evidently does not know how to put them right. If a proper warrant arrives the defence will go to Osgoode Hall and fight the matter out there on a writ of habeas corpus.

It is said Mr. Foster will advise Mr. Sheppard to go to Montreal in the fall when the Court of Queen's Bench meets, and surrender himself to answer all charges against him.

THE CRIMES BILL IN THE LORDS.

It Passes in Committee and will be Read a Third Time on Monday.

LONDON, July 15.—The Crimes Bill was discussed in committee in the House of Lords to-night.

Lord Northbrook (Liberal) expressed surprise at the summary disposal of the debate on the bill yesterday. Before proceeding further with Irish legislation he urged the party leaders to give the country definite assurance on three points. Were the Irish members to remain in Westminster? Was the Province of Ulster to be treated separately from the rest of Ireland? Was the duty to maintain law and order to be entrusted to an Irish parliament?

Lord Rosebery (Liberal) held that discussion on these points was outside the scope of the Crimes Bill. The Liberal party, he said, were in a hopeless minority and could do no more than protest against the bill. In conclusion, he said he still feared to warn the Government of the effect of the measure. Their administration in Ireland would have to be continued as a state of siege.

After further discussion the bill was passed in committee without amendment.

The bill will be read a third time on Monday.

THE CONDITION OF TRADE.

Wheat, Corn, Oil and Beef Much Lower in Price Than a Year Ago.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Dun, Wiman & Co.'s weekly review of business, among other things, says:

The present prices of stocks, less the assessments paid, are about 3 per cent. higher than a year ago. Pork is 33 per cent. higher, cotton 10 per cent. higher, coffee 26 per cent. higher, pig iron 12 per cent. higher, steel rails 16 per cent. higher, wheat 4 per cent. lower, corn 5 per cent. lower, oil 9 per cent. lower, and beef 13 per cent. lower. From all interior points trade reports are favorable, considering the season, and the collections fair.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co. to-day by telegraph, number for the United States, 149 and for Canada 20; or a total of 179, as compared with a total of 154 last week and 181 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were: United States 163, Canada 20; total 183.

McGLYNN'S REPLY.

A Four Column Answer to the Notice of Excommunication.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Dr. McGlynn's firs reply to the notice of his excommunication, aside from the impassioned address he delivered on Sunday night, appears in this week's Standard. It occupies over four columns of that paper. Dr. McGlynn has not changed in the least the defiant attitude he assumed on Sunday evening toward his former ecclesiastical superiors. There is a manifest effort throughout what he says to justify his course from the beginning.

He gives to the public, for the first time, his final summons to Rome, which was sent him in May, and denounces the way in which he was addressed in it by the Cardinal Prefect of the Propaganda, but attributes that prelate's feelings toward him to the "one-sided and numerous letters" sent to Rome against him by Archbishop Corrigan. He also attempts to prove what he and his friends have again and again asserted, that his case was prejudiced at Rome, and that he was called there to be disciplined rather than for trial.

SANCTIONED BY A PRIEST.

The Promoters of the Montreal Lottery Had Some Authority for Their Acts.

MONTREAL, July 15.—It now appears that H. Reade & Co. had some authority for projecting their lottery, as Cure Lemay of St. Mary's parish has a letter in this morning's Gazette, stating that Reade had undertaken the lottery on condition that the profits after the debt of $8000 on the parish church was paid were all to go to him and that Cure Lemay's authorization was only withdrawn after a higher ecclesiastical authority interposed objections. Reade is supposed to be in the States.

A TRAGIC AFFAIR.

While Announcing a Death a Member of the N.Y. Exchange is Himself Smitten.

NEW YORK, July 15.—At noon to-day Vice-President A. B. Hill of the Stock Exchange, apparently in full health, ascended the platform to announce the death of M. K. Deriva. He had hardly finished when he was taken with a sudden weakness. Friends assisted him to the main entrance, but he had just passed the flight leading to the door when he expired. The announcement of his death was immediately made, and the Governing Committee decided to close the exchange until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. Mr. Hill was a member of the firm of Houghton & Co.

HEATING

By Hot Water and Steam.

We desire to call special attention to their splendid Hot Water and Steam Boilers which are acknowledged to have no superior on the Continent of America. We have received orders from Ottawa and other places to replace other boilers with ours. This speaks for itself. McAndrew & Noble are prepared to back their own boiler against these or any other maker either in or out of Peterborough, and if not superior in every respect they will be removed without one cent of expense. We claim, and it has been acknowledged, that we have the best boiler for heating purposes in the world to-day; all we want is a fair test.

Quite Hot Enough.

"Well, is this hot enough for you," was the familiar salutation on the streets to-day. Yes, my friend, it is—quite warm enough. J. D. Tully's thermometer overtopped all its previous records this season by indicating 97° in the shade about 11 o'clock. Hartley's self-registering thermometer points to 95° as its highest altitude during the day. Other thermometers ranged from 95° to blood heat.

Cricket.

The Belmont Cricket Club, of Philadelphia, which is to play here next Thursday, started the first match of its tour with the Peninsulars, of Detroit, yesterday. A one innings victory for Belmont seems assured, the Peninsulars making only 86 runs in its first innings, while the Belmonts scored 227 for five wickets down. The game will be finished to-day. The Peterborough club will put on its strongest team next Thursday to meet the visitors. A rare exhibition of cricket is expected.

A Gardens Agent.

Yesterday afternoon a local agent for fruit and shade trees visited a resident of the north end on business, and tied his horse to a slender, young maple in front of a neighbor's residence. The horse in its flounderings jerked the stripling loose at the roots, and now it is doubtful if it will thrive or die. The matter will likely be ventilated in the police court. There is a heavy fine for this offence, and a free agent of all others should be the last to break a law which directly affects his own business.

Monday's Game.

There is nothing in the way of sport more exciting and recreative than a good baseball match, and lovers of play on the diamond are assured of a brilliant exposition of the game in next Monday's match between Cobourg and Peterborough clubs. The Peterborough club has been re-organized, and all troublesome elements eliminated, and the new club will take the field prepared to stand by each other (as the old club never did) and play "ball." From the well known reputation of Cobourg club a rattling game is expected. Game will be called at 2:30 sharp, as the Cobourg players have to leave early in the afternoon. They will run an excursion up the river from Harwood, and will bring along a considerable contingent of their own friends.

A Cruel Father.

The other day Acting Chief Adams came across a most pitiable case of cruelty toward a child on the part of its father, which will probably be investigated by the police magistrates. The fellow lives in the south end. Last Saturday the little fellow committed some misdemeanor, and to escape punishment ran away, returning home at night. The father, enraged at the boy's defiance of his authority, mercilessly beat the lad with a heavy broomstick, then driving a staple in the middle of a bedroom, securely fastened him to it by a heavy chain about his ankle. With nothing but bread and water as a diet, and the hard floor on which to rest his weary little frame, for four whole days and nights the boy was left there to atone for his wilful conduct, until released by order of constable.

The Chautauqua of Canada.

On July 28th the Peterborough Fire Brigade will run an excursion to Grimsby, "the Chautauqua of Canada," for the low fare of $2, children half price. The excursion will leave Peterborough at 6 a.m., on the 28th, by special C.P.R. train, to Toronto, where the steamer "Rupert" will convey the party across the lake to Grimsby. The fare to Toronto is only $1.50. Excursionists can return the same night or on any regular train next day. Tickets are good for two days. Grimsby Park comprises 100 acres, and has fine recreation grounds, hotels, bathing houses, plenty of small boats, beautiful spots for pic-nicking, and all the luxuries of modern civilization. Better still, prices are reasonable. The Firemen's excursion on the 28th should draw a large crowd.

Auburn Æsthetics.

Employment in a woolen mill is not so prosaic and dull an occupation as to suppress the exhibition of the finer tastes, such as a fondness for floriculture. The Auburn Woollen Mills Company, in conjunction with the employees, have arranged for the beautifying of the lawn in front of the main building. Mr. Charles Dredge was employed to level the lawn and prepare it for the mower. He has also constructed and filled five flower plots, one large central one, twelve feet in diameter, laid out and bedded after the manner of the large plot in Court House Park. Of the other four plots, one was put in by Mr. Frank Mason, Florest—in the literal design the words outlined being "God is Love." He supplied all the necessary plants, the company defraying the cost, while the employees have undertaken the care of the plants, Mr. Dredge, however, making occasional supervisory visits. These facts are indications of the rapid strides which the fondness for flower culture is making in Peterborough, and is evidence of the development of a higher and purer civilization.

Combination in Life Insurance.

Quite a commotion was caused among life insurance men in town when the news spread that Messrs. A. Wilson and Geo. A. Morrison had resigned the Inspectorships of their two companies and taken the joint managership of Eastern Ontario for the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company of Toronto. The change was made by these gentlemen from no personal dissatisfaction with their former connection, but because they had secured something better in the way of life insurance, for no Life Insurance Company has ever started in Canada with such a strong Directorate or so large a capital, which is $2,000,000, the largest on the continent. All modern plans of life and accident insurance will be carried on. The new firm has secured spacious office premises over Alexander's dry goods store, and have fitted them up in a manner second to none in town. The name and style of the firm will be Wilson & Morrison. Mr. Wilson takes charge of the agency department, and Mr. Morrison has charge of the office and town department. Attention is directed to an extract, in another column, from the Globe respecting the organization of this new and strong candidate for insurance business.

Police Court.

SATURDAY, July 16.

John Foley got very drunk yesterday and was run into the cooler. This morning he was fined $2 and costs.

Wm. Anderson, a mulatto, Thursday night entered the C. P. R. hotel and stole a coat, vest and hat belonging to Mr. Roddy. Yesterday he re-visited the hotel, was recognized, and arrested by Acting Chief Adams. The stolen articles were on him. This morning he was committed to gaol for six months by the police magistrate.

The Brighton Horse Wins.

"Fanny B." Scooped by "Bessie K."—Crooked Work Alleged.

About two hundred sports assembled on the Driving Park Friday afternoon to witness the long-talked of race between "Fanny B.", owned by Mr. F. J. Daly, of Peterborough, and "Bessie K.", the property of Ketcham & Lawson, of Brighton. The race was for $200 a side, and was an outcome of the unsatisfactory judging at the Port Hope races on Dominion Day. "Fanny B.", the gray, was driven by Tom McEwen; "Bessie K.", a sorrel or chestnut of neat appearance, by Mr. Forster. The judges were Messrs. H. Calcutt, Peterborough; Brown, of Hamilton; and Maguire, of Port Hope. Betting was about even, though "Bessie K." was slightly the favorite. Considerable money was put up.

In the first heat "Fanny B." was given the pole and took the lead from the start, "Bessie K" loosing by breaking at the word go. The gray led for the first round, but at the quarter of the second round the chestnut passed her. Another break by "Bessie," however, gave the gray the lead again, but by the time the third quarter was reached, the sorrel had crept up close, when she broke again. Once more "Fanny B." took the lead, the chestnut horse gradually creeping up till within a few feet of the wire, when they were neck and neck. "Bessie K." pushed to the front though, and won by a nose. time, 2.50½.

After half a dozen starts, at last the two horses got off together, "Fanny B." again leading from the start, and maintaining her position till the last half of the second round, when she broke and "Bessie K" went ahead by a length. The break was only momentary though, Tom handling her nicely, and on the last quarter "Fanny B." again edged to the front, trotting beautifully, and the two horses came in at a steady pace, the gray a good half length ahead. Time, 2.50¾. Loud were the remonstrances when the sorrel came in second, her backers claiming that the race had been sold, and that her driver on the last quarter had reined in purposely to let "Fanny B." wire. Forster however claimed that he had to do it, one of the horses' toe weights dropping off and cutting her ankle. After a good deal of loud talk matters were smoothed over for the present. Mr. Calcutt had left the judges' stand, refusing to act in such a race, and his place was by mutual consent taken by Mr. Harry Winch. In the third heat "Fanny B" once more took the lead and held it for the first round, when she broke, and the sorrel forged slightly ahead. Here "Fanny B" did excellent trotting, and slowly creeping up, passed the sorrel, but again broke. On the home stretch the space between her and "Bessie K" was lessening rapidly, and she had about tied her leader when another disastrous break put her back and she came in half a length behind. Time, 2:48.

In the fourth heat "Fanny B" got an easy victory. Ned Brown handled the reins and drove her without a break, while the chestnut made three or four bad ones. "Fanny B" got a big lead at the start and maintained it to the finish, and as she passed under the wire about two lengths in advance a hearty cheer went up from a portion of the crowd. Time, 2:48.

Then "kicking began in earnest. "Bessie K's" supporters demanded that either all bets should be declared "off" or that another driver should be substituted. To the first of the propositions "Fanny B's" backers wouldn't listen, nor would Forster allow anyone to replace him, claiming that he was running the race on the "square." Harry Winch then refused to start the race, and for about half an hour the crowd got together near the Judges' stand and did some tall talking (and swearing too) the chestnut horse's backers claiming the race had been sold oughtright. Finally Forster, to show, as he said, that he was acting squarely, yielded, and allowed Mr. Lawson himself to drive "Bessie K." Harmony once more prevailed.

After several starts at last the horses got off together, "Fanny B." again to the front. On the first quarter though, she was passed by the sorrel, who trotted beautifully without a break, and won easily by two or three lengths, thus evidently verifying their suspicions. Her victory was greeted by a hearty cheer from her backers, who presented Mr. Lawson with a nice little sum for his "honest work." "The ring's busted," they shouted, and departed for home gleefully, while the other crowd separated considerably sadder, if not wiser, from their experience.

The circumstances of the above events indicate that those of the spectators who went to see a square trotting race were disappointed, and those who went to see a first-class "hippodrome" got the worth of their money. It will be remembered that on July 1st, at Port Hope, "Bessie K" won the trot over Morgan's "Gray Ned." Owing to dissatisfaction arising from the decision of the judges a matched trot was arranged between "Bessie K" and "Fanny B" for $200 a side, which was ostensibly trotted out in the above race. After the Port Hope race it was said that the chestnut—"Bessie K"—was sold to a Hamilton party—a Mr. Forster. The Hamilton sports seemed to feel confident that the chestnut could easily out trot the gray, but doubtless thinking that they could collar a bigger pot by a little "fakir" business, began yesterday by laying two to one bets that "Fanny B" would win, while other members of the Hamilton party laid a few small bets, evidently for appearance sake, on the chestnut, always making sure, however, that the big bulk of the Ambitious City's money was carried by "Fanny B," the game apparently being, to pool the winnings and losses and to make a "divvy" of the pot at the close of the race. A number of Peterborough sports "got on to the racket," began loading down the gray mare with wagers and, unfortunately, they got severely "left" owing to the honesty of one of the judges, Mr H. Calcutt refusing to countenance crooked business and retiring from the judges stand and thus blocking the game. Mr. Harry Winch was induced to take his place previous to the third heat, which he started. The complants, begun to be made after the second heat, proved to be justified by subsequent events. On the fourth heat some parties on the back stretch heard the chestnut mare's driver say slyly "Hold her down, hold her down!"—evidently meaning to prevent the gray from breaking so that he would not have to pass her. Needless to say the gray won this heat. It was after this heat that Mr. Winch refused to start the last heat with the same driver, and the result showed that he was aiming at having the best horse win, for, another driver being substituted, "Bessie K." won, in a jog, both the heat and race. The result lost the Hamilton sharps, who thought they had "fixed" the race, a pot of money; they are not at all to be pitied, but it is shameful that such trickery should cause others who were not in the ring serious loss. Racing of this description is not sport and cannot be too severely denounced. The managers of the Peterborough Driving Park have, by a course of square management in the past, won a good name for it, and they will consult the interests of the park and of the sport of racing by taking special pains in the future, to see that no skin games like that attempted yesterday are allowed to be played out on the park. Spectators patronize the park and pay their admission fee to see a square, honest contest of speed between two or more of the noblest beasts made for the use of man—one of the finest events in the whole sporting calendar, but they will not, if they know it, go there to see horses "pulled," "jockeyed" and "ourbed" in the interests of a ring of "fakirs" thirsting for dishonest gain.

A New Life Insurance Company.

The Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company Starts on Its Active Career.

The meeting for the organization of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company was held yesterday at the company's offices, 28 King street east. A large number of stockholders were present, comprising many of the most extensive manufacturing and business houses in the Dominion, and the work of the election of officers and directors was entered on and concluded satisfactorily to those present. Right Hon. Sir John Macdonald, P. C., G. C. B., was elected President; Sir Alex. Campbell, K. C. M. G., Lieut.-Gov. of Ontario, Mr. Geo. Gooderham, President of the Bank of Toronto, and William Bell, manufacturer, Guelph, Vice-Presidents; and Mr. J. B. Carlile, Managing Director. The directors number many leading names in business circles. The capital stock is $2,000,000. It was announced that the business of the new company was so far advanced that everything was ready for work, the field being covered with agencies. The stock certificates were signed by the president and issued. Mr. Carlile was highly commended for his activity and great success in organising the company, but three months being occupied in bringing it to the successful issue here recorded. The company publishes two new and copyrighted methods of insurance, which have received the approval of the highest insurance authorities in the United States. One is called the "Modified Natural Premium Endowment Plan," in which the earlier premiums are very low and all policies are made payable at the age of 65. The advantage claimed for this system is that the insured can for the same amount of outlay make a larger immediate provision for his family in the event of his death than he could by ordinary endowment insurance. The other copyrighted plan is the "Modified Natural Premium Life Insurance," which is expressly adapted to those who require a large amount of insurance during their productive period of life, or to those who outlive the needs of insurance.

The Managing Director, Mr. J. B. Carlile, is well known as an insurance man, while his right-bower, Mr. J. D. Henderson, for eleven years was city agent of the Canada Life.—Toronto Globe. 1d1w

Harry's Donkey.

Mr. Harry Rush, of Peterborough, sent a letter to Mr. R. J. Winch, of Cobourg, an old friend of his, asking him to attend the mail boat arriving there, to receive a donkey being sent to Mr. Rush from England. Mr. Winch has wended his way to the boat several times, but no donkey has awaited him. The result has been the following epistle from the pen of Stanley Howell, of Cobourg, (for Mr. Rush) which is reproduced from the Cobourg Star:—

Harry Rush, Esq., Peterborough:—

In reply to your 'etter, dear Harry,
I've been waiting, sure, day after day,
For that donkey, a ship was to carry
From England across the salt say.

But niver a donkey has landed,
Nor mule, nor a jackass at all:
"Perhaps the good vessel has stranded,"
They're telling me now when I call.

If he comes I will niver reject him,
But as one of your kin I'll bestow
Attintion and kindness—protect him,
And best hospitality show.

Then let your poor head, sure, be aisy,
Clear the mule question out of your mind,
'Bout the loss of this friend, don't be crazy,
When you've other relations behind.

THE Toronto Mail thus trumps an article appearing in the EXAMINER a few days ago. Our contemporary says: "Because the Mail has told the truth about the finances of Canada and the United States, it is met with such criticism as the following: 'If certain Canadian newspapers were in receipt of American gold they could not labour more zealously in the work of crying down the credit of their own country and of puffing the States than they are doing. Who ever read in American newspapers editorial articles reflecting upon that country? Nobody; for Americans are too patriotic to indulge in reflections upon the land over which float the Stars and Stripes. To their discredit, be it said, the work of running down their own country is monopolized by Canadians.' If no better answer than this can be given to the statement that we are piling up a huge debt while the Americans are wiping out a huge debt, the apologists for the Government should be silent. The truth is as the Mail has stated it, and our case must be bad indeed if the truth regarding it must not be printed."

Hon. Allen Francis is now supposed to be in danger. The hose cart in passing over him bruised his abdomen internally. He was struck by the shaft and badly bruised in the region of the eye.

Cause of the Disaster.

The coroner's jury viewed the charred remains of the victims and adjourned till Monday evening when the evidence will be taken.

An investigation will be held in regard to the cause of the accident. It is reported that the engineer had been drinking, but it is claimed the main cause of the disaster was the failure of the air-brakes to work. The track is now clear, and the wires will be in working order shortly.

The Firemen's Story.

George Angles, the fireman of the wrecked train, is a resident of this city. In speaking of the disaster he said: "Just as we came in plain sight of the semaphore at the Michigan Central Railway crossing we saw that it was up and a Michigan Central Railway freight train was running slowly across the Port Stanley track. We were running smartly. Donnelly reversed his engine and put on the air brakes. He was calculating, I thought, to stop just inside the semaphore. Apparently the brakes did not work, and the next minute we struck between a couple of oil cars, but not before I asked Donnelly to jump, which he refused to do. He told me to jump, which I did. As soon as our engine struck the oil tank a big blaze went up and the baggage car was immediately wrapped in flames. The end of the first passenger car tipped up and caught also, and was soon ablaze. Then the second oil tank caught and exploded with a terrific crash, the flames raised fully 100 feet high, catching the freight sheds on the south side of the track. I saw Donnelly taken out. He was badly burned and disfigured. I also saw several children taken out and a couple of grown persons."

Notes and Incidents.

The excitement at Port Stanley was terrible, many persons having friends and relatives aboard the train. The railway could not send down a train and the crowd could not leave the place till 2. People paid large prices to be driven home.

A young lady, Miss Thompson of London, was so frightened that she fell off the pier and was drowned.

The railway authorities are being blamed for not sending a train to take the people home.

Reports as to the rate at which the excursion train was traveling vary from eight to twenty miles. Citizens residing in streets near by do not agree, but the majority say it was going very fast. Those who were on the train and escaped say they remarked how fast the train was traveling, and say that the distance from the Port, nine miles, was made in from fifteen to twenty minutes.

The report that Engineer Donnelly was under the influence of liquor is now believed to be without foundation. He remained at his post to the last, endeavoring to bring his train to a standstill, and lost his life in so doing.

AN HOUR OF TERROR.

A Steamboat Struck by a Squall—Great Excitement Among the Passengers.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The steamboat Eliza Hancock, which left East River at 7.40 this evening, met with a fearful experience while on her way to Bay Ridge. She was about to enter her slip when she was struck by a squall which blew her out again in the stream, throwing her on her beam ends. The scene which follows beggars description. Women fainted, men grasped life-preservers and the crew lost their heads. The steamboat was blown out among the anchored yachts and came within a foot of colliding with the steam yacht Radha. The windows were blown out, and it is reported that the smokestack fell. The steamer had drifted almost to the Staten Island shore before the captain got control of her.

STOLEN CHINESE CERTIFICATES.

Holders of Them to be Denied Admission to the United States.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The Treasury Department is informed that a number of blank Chinese certificates were recently stolen from the custom house at Port Townsend, W. T., that many of them have been sold or otherwise disposed of for the purpose of enabling Chinamen to enter the United States in violation of law. Instructions have been sent to customs officers at Ogdensburg, Suspension Bridge, Burlington, Plattsburg, Port Huron, and other border points to carefully scrutinize all certificates presented by Chinamen entering their districts by way of the Canada Pacific Railway, and if any of the stolen certificates are found among them to deny entry to the holder.

Prohibition in the South.

CHICAGO, July 16.—At the National Convocation of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at Lake Bluff to-day Senator Colquitt of Georgia gave some very interesting details of what prohibition has done and is doing in the South. In the twelve Southern States, he said, there were fewer saloons to the population than in any other dozen States, not excepting Maine and Kansas. Local option had been adopted in Georgia and Alabama and prohibition was a complete and permanent success.

Burned by Hot Iron.

CHICAGO, July 16.—A horrible accident occurred this morning at the Union Steel Works, by which three men are likely to die. The men were pouring hot iron into a large mould that was damp, when it exploded and the metal scored them dreadfully. Two of the injured are Poles and the third a Hungarian.

Run Over and Killed.

MONCTON, N.B., July 16.—To-day, while Chauncey Sears of Sackville Parish was driving a team loaded with timber, he fell from the load and a wheel passed over his body and head, killing him instantly. He belonged in Midgic, and leaves a wife and eleven children.

Shot His Wife in the Back.

JACKSON, Tenn., July 16.—News of a deplorable shooting affair has just reached here from McNary County. Thursday night G. S. Whitten, a respectable citizen, shot his wife. Whitten picked up a pair of saddlebags and took out his navy six-shooter, which he pointed behind the front gate and fired. A scream was heard and he walked toward the front gate. Whitten caught his wife as she was falling. She had been shot in the side and died without uttering a word. The unfortunate event has cast a heavy gloom over the community.

AGAINST GERMAN BAITING

BERLIN PAPERS SAY THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT MUST STOP IT.

Some of the Fatherland Dismissed by Wholesale—Rismarck Insists on their Protection — Depreciation of Russian Stocks.

BERLIN, July 16.—The tension of feeling toward France has relaxed since the French fete day has passed without any anti-German demonstrations. Accounts in the German papers of the incidents in Paris on Thursday represent that the repression of popular outburst was solely accomplished by the pressure of such masses of troops all along the route traveled by President Grevy and his Ministers, on their way to the review at Longchamps, as had never been seen in Paris since the days of the Empire; and the papers seemed to prove that the populace were in reality unable to make a demonstration and that the extraordinary precautions taken by the Government, although successful in paralyzing the Chauvinists, had given a factitious aspect to the calmness which characterized the day. The German Embassy in Paris was specially guarded. There was no appearance of troops in front of the building, but a body of cavalry was kept on the alert and moving in the vicinity from early morn till midnight.

The return to the German people of a calmer mood toward France can be assured however only by the cessation of the systematic persecution of German residents in French towns, yet the tendency seems all the other way. The Chauvinist press continue to publish the names and addresses of Germans who have places of business in France, and warns members of the Patriotic League not to have any dealings with them. Minor German employers are being hunted out of their places at the rate of hundreds weekly, and it is estimated that the Germans holding situations in France who last year numbered 80,000, have decreased one-half during the past six months.

The Kreuz Zeitung, Tageblatt, North German Gazette and Cologne Gazette, papers of every party, concur in the opinion that the situation is intolerable and that it is absolutely necessary for the French Government to interpose resolutely to stop German baiting.

Count Von Munster will take a holiday to recruit his health and to give Minister Flourens a breathing space and time to prepare a reply to the German remonstrance. But it is considered certain that Prince Bismarck will insist upon a practical response in the nature of an assured protection for Germans in France.

Depreciation of Russian Stocks.

BERLIN, July 17.—The chief topic of interest in Berlin after the French situation is the increasing depreciation of Russian stocks. The fact is now recognized by both political and financial circles that the movement is not led by the speculators, but has definite official inspiration and is part of the government campaign of retaliation against the Russian anti-German economic policy. Official advices give expression to the exasperation of the ministers of the Czar at the decisive check which Russian credit has experienced. It has even put a stop to the negotiation of a new conversion loan which was contemplated on a gigantic scale and which the Government hoped to effect through German capitalists.

The return of economic friendship will not be assisted by the latest Russian order dismissing all Germans employed in commercial and banking firms in Riga, St. Petersburg, Moscow and elsewhere in Russia nor by the Government's refusal to adopt the concurrent edict of the professors of the Dorpat University that it would be unwise henceforth to exclusively use the Russian language in the classes, which refusal caused the professors without exception to resign. The enforcement of the Government's edict will be postponed for three years, but after that the last German school in the Baltic provinces will be extinguished.

BOULANGER'S OTHER AIM.

Frenchmen Must Raise Their Heads and be a Great People.

PARIS, July 16.—Gen. Boulanger has written to Deputy Laur, thanking him for his expressions of attachment and friendship which he says are becoming rare. The General says he will do his duty despite the hatred and defection of former friends. It is sufficient for him to remain friends with those who wish France respected and who place their country above party intrigue. He himself has but one aim, and that is to proclaim to Frenchmen that they can and must raise their heads and assume the only attitude becoming a great people.

General Boulanger's letter to Deputy Laur has caused a sensation in the Chamber of Deputies. It is reported that the General will be called to account for it. Mr. Laur states that the letter was confidential, and that the responsibility for publishing it rests with him.

SWEPT BY A STORM.

Great Damage at New York and Other Places Along the Atlantic Coast.

NEW YORK, July 17.—A terrible wind and rain storm set in at noon to-day and lasted half an hour. It was accompanied with lightning and heavy thunder. Trees, fences, telegraph and telephone wires were prostrated on every side. The police patrol boats rescued many occupants of capsized sailing skiffs. The storm did great damage at St. George, Staten Island. Buildings were blown down in Brooklyn. The storm swept Rockaway Beach, L.I., with terrific force. Two persons were struck by lightning but not killed. It is feared many people were drowned.

The schooner Minnie Irving had a narrow escape. The crew, under command of Capt. Thomas, were preparing for a voyage to Porto Rico. In the cargo was a quantity of baled hay and 150 kegs of powder. Lightning struck a carboy of vitriol on the deck and exploded it. The blazing liquid flowed into the hold and crept toward the powder and hay. The panic-stricken crew took to the boats, leaving Capt. Thomas, his mate and a colored female cook on board. The captain and mate succeeded in quenching the flames before the powder was reached.

Late reports from St. George state that the scenery of the "Fall of Babylon" was completely destroyed. The Town of Babel was levelled, and nothing remains of the rest except the central tower. A large force of men were at once put to work to repair damages.

In Brief, And To The Point.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

THE CLAIMS OF THE ODD-FELLOWS.

It is not necessary to remind readers of the EXAMINER that the annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Oddfellows and the Grand Encampment will be held in Peterborough next month. For the credit of the town the local Oddfellows invited their brethren of the Dominion to assemble in Peterborough, and of course they have to bear the brunt of the burden of entertaining the visitors, and maintaining the reputation of the town for generous hospitality. They are working hard and energetically, and it is pleasant to notice that the citizens generally are actively co-operating with them and rendering valuable assistance. To carry out their programme, the local Oddfellows will be put to no small expense, and in return there will be no direct or indirect pecuniary advantage to them as a body. On the other hand the town and every citizen of the town will reap no inconsiderable benefit from the presence here of a very large number of outsiders and the large number of daily transient visitors their presence will attract. This, of course, means the direct expenditure of a large sum of money, which, but for this occasion, would not be left here. The benefit of the distribution of this large amount, thousands of dollars, will be felt by everybody. Those directly receiving it will, of necessity, distribute it to others, who, in turn, will be able to meet obligations and make expenditures, which would not be possible or practicable under other circumstances. In view of this fact, it will be a graceful act on the part of the Town Council, to favorably consider the application for a grant of a sum of money which, we understand, will be made to-night. Apart from the substantial considerations just advanced, we may, perhaps, be allowed to repeat considerations which the EXAMINER has more than once urged in this connection. During the second week in August there will be present in town from every part of the Dominion, hundreds of delegates, men of position and influence, representative, no doubt, as do the Oddfellows of Peterborough, the wealth, influence, enterprise, and commercial energy of their respective towns and cities. On the coming occasion Peterborough will appear at its best—and all the better for the assistance which it is proposed to ask the council to extend, and these visitors will take to their respective homes a favourable report of the town—of its wealth, enterprise, industrial facilities, etc—reports which will redound in no small manner to the practical benefit of the town in every respect. In view of all these considerations, we think that a generous and substantial recognition of the request of the Oddfellow committee which will be preferred to-night, will meet with the general approval of the ratepayers.

It is difficult to imagine what the present British government expects to accomplish in the direction of the pacification prosperity and happiness of Ireland by the passage of a perpetual Coercion Act. At the beginning of her majesty's reign there was no coercion statute enacted or in force. Since that time forty acts of a coercive nature have been directed against Ireland—and with what good result? "The last state of that country is worse than the first." Statesmen have, one would think, had tested the argumentum ad bacillum sufficiently to know that it is powerless to effect the desired result. Since all efforts to govern successfully and make happy a part of the British empire by British brute force have failed, it would, perhaps, be worth trying what result British justice, and British fairplay, and British constitutional liberty would have. If the Imperial parliament cannot go the length of giving Home Rule to Ireland, it should devise some other means of governing that unhappy country than club law, which has been applied not only unsuccessfully, but with the result of intensifying the chronic trouble, forty times in fifty years.

RED HOT.

TORONTO, June 16.

The weather for July has been unusually hot in Toronto, suggestive of the tropics. On Tuesday last the thermometer registered as high as 92°, on Wednesday 89°, Thursday and Friday were cooler, but the climax was reached on Saturday, when the register rose to 97°. Yesterday was also a very hot day, the maximum reached being 89°. The following are the records as taken at the Observatory: Saturday, July 16: 6 a.m., 67°; 9 a.m., 79°; 2 p.m., 96°; 4 p.m., 93°; 10 p.m., 73°; midnight, 77°. The highest point touched during the day was 97°. During the night a considerable quantity of rain fell, and lightning was frequent and very vivid. There was an absence of thunder.

Yesterday morning, despite the cooling influence of the rain, 69° were registered at 7 o'clock; at 8 this had risen to 72°; at 2 p.m. 85° was recorded, and shortly afterwards the register showed 89°. In the middle of the afternoon a grateful breeze sprung up and some smart showers fell, thereby lowering the temperature a little. The evening, however, was very close, and the 10 o'clock record showed 78°, precisely the same as on Saturday night at the same hour. At 11 o'clock last night rain again fell.

The highest temperature ever known in Toronto was 99.7° (close upon 100°) in 1859. Other memorable hot days occurred in 1868, when 94° were registered, and in 1881, 89°. On Saturday there was an excess of 13° over the hottest day of 1868, and 15° over the highest record of 1881. During the past six years the heat has been nothing nearly so great as in 1881, the highest record being 73° in 1882 and 1883, 76° in 1884 and 1886, and only 70° in 1885. The hot spell of July, 1868, reached 106° in Hamilton.

The water supply at the farm houses and in many other places besides Toronto is becoming a very serious question. Much suffering is caused to the week people and to the cattle by the great heat.

In Other Parts of Canada.

From all parts of Ontario come reports of the terrible heat. The readings of the thermometer were all the way from 90° to 98°. All the despatches say that Saturday was the hottest day known for many years.

BRANTFORD, July 16.—At noon the thermometer was 98° in the shade.

WOODSTOCK, July 16.—The highest the thermometer registered to-day was 98° in the shade.

LONDON, July 16.—To-day has been the hottest of the season. The thermometer ranged between 90° and 98° in the shade. Towards evening a heavy thunder-storm came up which had the effect of lowering the temperature to a considerable extent.

KINGSTON, July 17.—For the first time in a month heavy rain fell in this district yesterday. It was accompanied in places by hailstones and the weather is treacherously hot.

Over the Border.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Reports received at the Signal Office indicate that the day has been one of unusual and extreme heat in all that part of the United States lying east of the Mississippi and south of the lakes, the thermometer throughout the entire region registering ninety degrees or more. The heated term has apparently set in much earlier this year than heretofore, such a day as to-day being rarely experienced over such a large section of country until August.

A cool wave is on its way east from Nebraska, Dakota and the Lake Superior region, where the temperature has fallen 10 to 30 degrees, but its effect will not be felt on the Atlantic coast before Monday and it is probable will have lost much of its force on the way to the seaboard, so that the decline in temperature will hardly be more than five or seven degrees. Augusta was the hottest city in the United States to-day with the thermometer sizzling at 102 degrees, while Denver was the coolest at 58 degrees.

The maximum thermometric readings to-day, as reported to the Signal Office here at 3 p.m. at the principal points through the country are as follows:

Mt. Washington 54, Washington 100, Savannah (Ga.) 95, Boston 79, Lynchburg (Va.) 98, Atlanta (Ga.) 94, New York City 85, Norfolk (Va.) 98, Mobile (Ala.) 95, Philadelphia 98, Charleston (S.C.) 99, Montgomery (Ala.) 98, Baltimore 100, Augusta (Ga.) 102, New Orleans 94, Galveston (Tex.) 86, Louisville (Ky.) 93, Pittsburg 97, Cleveland 91, Chicago 97, St. Paul 91, St. Louis 97, Denver 85, Memphis 93, Indianapolis 97, Buffalo 81, Toledo 93, Milwaukee 98, Des Moines 98, Omaha 95, El Paso (Tex.) 93, Nashville 94, Cincinnati 83, Rochester (N.Y.) 83, Detroit 93, Duluth 92, Dubuque (Ia.) 101, Yankton (D.T.) 89, Salt Lake City 74.

DISASTROUS EFFECTS AT CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, July 16.—The maximum heat to-day was equal to that of yesterday, while the average was higher. A strong wind made the torrid temperature tolerable. Street car companies are changing horses every trip instead of every two trips. To-day for the first time during the hot term horses began to fall in the streets. There were many prostrations of dumb animals, but with few deaths. Sixteen persons were prostrated with heat in public places, and seven deaths to-day were reported. This makes to-day and yesterday twenty-eight prostrations and eleven deaths. The signal station thermometer registered 92 7-10 maximum, which means from 100 to 103 on the sidewalks.

HOTTEST EVER KNOWN IN MINNESOTA.

ST. PAUL, July 16.—It has been the hottest period ever known in Minnesota. For three weeks there has not been a cool, pleasant day. It has been the penetrating heat which bakes one. The air is superheated, and when the sun strikes a portion of the body it feels like a

PROSTRATIONS AND DEATHS AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, July 16.—Three deaths from sunstroke occurred in Chicago between noon and midnight, making the total for twenty-four hours eight. Altogether forty cases of insolation are reported. Several are expected to result fatally before morning. Most of the victims were laborers, a notable exception, however, being Dr. W. H. Dean, a well-known physician, who was found unconscious in his office. He died shortly after being conveyed to the County Hospital.

FOURTEEN DEATHS AT PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, July 17.—With the single exception of July 8, 1876, to-day has been the hottest in over thirty years. At 2 p.m. the thermometer registered 103° in the shade, being 1° less than that of July 8, 1876, and 11° greater than yesterday. Up to a late hour to-night there had been thirty cases of sunstroke reported, fourteen of which resulted fatally. At 11 o'clock to-night the thermometer stands at 87°.

MUCH SUFFERING AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, July 17.—The hot weather of Saturday was intensified to-day, and there was much suffering throughout the city. The thermometer registered 103° in the shade at 1 o'clock and remained nearly stationary until 5 o'clock. At that hour a furious squall swept down toward the lake, bringing with it heavy rain, which lasted half-an-hour, leaving behind it a fresh and delightfully cool atmosphere. The number of prostrations from the heat was not as large as yesterday, there being very few laborers at work, but up to 10 o'clock to-night the records of the Police Department show that not less than forty-five persons were stricken down to-day. Of this number eighteen have already died and probably more will die before morning. Saturday's list was appalling. The total number of cases cared for by the police was over 100, and of this number 30 or more have resulted fatally.

International League Games.

BUFFALO, July 17.—The following despatch was received from Wilkesbarre last evening: The introductory game between the Wilkesbarres and Torontos to-day was interrupted by rain in the fourth inning, when Wilkesbarre had made one run, had one man on second and but one out. About 1200 people were present, but the threatening weather kept fully a thousand away. The batteries were Buell and Hallman for Wilkesbarre, and Baker and Oldfield for Toronto. If the rain had not interfered the visitors would have been badly beaten, as the home club were playing a strong game and were pounding the Toronto pitcher. Score:

How the Land Bill Stands.

LONDON, July 16.—The Government have postponed the committee stage of the Land Bill for several days. Meanwhile they are seriously considering their position. The Unionists are standing pretty firm. There are already 130 amendments to the bill, one of which is Mr. Morley's proposal that tenants whose judicial rents date from Jan. 1, 1886, should be allowed revision. The Government will not secure a majority of more than thirty or forty against it. They have, however, first to settle their own internal difficulties before they can present any front to the Unionists and Gladstonians. Salisbury is believed to be standing to his guns. He favors dropping the bill altogether rather than to make concessions which will reduce it practically to a leasehold—enfranchisement—bill.

Heat and Cold

is a never-failing cause of disease. At this season of the year neuralgia, toothache, and a host of similar diseases are rampant. The great question, then, is to find the quickest, surest, and most economical remedy. Polson's NERVILINE exactly fills these requirements. It is prompt, efficient, and most economical, for it exceeds in power every known remedy, and is as cheap as inferior articles. A 10 cent sample bottle will give every person a chance to test it. Large bottles only 25 cents. 6d w29

The Triumphant Three.

"During three years suffering with dyspepsia I tried almost every known remedy but kept getting worse until I tried B.B.B. I had only used it three days when I felt better, three bottles completely cured me." W. Nichols, of Kendal, Ont. 2w27d

SEVEN FIREMEN INJURED.

A New York Storage Warehouse Burned—Flames in an Orphan Asylum.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Fire was discovered about 3 o'clock this morning in the five-story brick building of the Metropolitan Storage warehouse in Thirty-eighth-street, between Broadway and Sixth-avenue. In a few moments the flames mounted up through the structure, finding ready food in the stuff stored therein. Before the firemen arrived the whole place was a raging furnace. The warehouse formed an L with the Casino building and for a while it was feared that the beautiful temple of light opera would be in ashes, but it was saved by the strenuous efforts of the firemen. The Hotel Normandie is quite near, and soon the sparks descending on this building set it on fire, and the guests were hurriedly summoned to leave. The porters rushed through the halls and knocked at every door. The guests were told there was no immediate danger, packed their trunks and carried them down stairs. The fire on the roof of the Hotel Normandie was soon extinguished, however, and the guests, being reassured, went back to their rooms.

Soon after the firemen had got to work at the storage warehouse building a terrific explosion occurred, and seven firemen, who were at work on the first floor, were blown through the windows to the streets. All of them were very severely burned about the hands and feet and an ambulance called was immediately sent out.

The firemen injured during the fire are:

Foreman Peter Vedder, head, face and hands severely burned; Edward Curley, head and face burned; John Conway, face and hands burned; John Trainor, face and hands burned; John Douglass, face and hands burned; James Delancy, face burned and cut; Patrick D. Breen, severely burned; he was outside the building on a ladder and was blown down and fell twenty feet. He sustained a concussion of the spine. Several policemen were cut by flying glass. The loss, it is thought, will exceed $500,000. It is stated that the big building was full from cellar to roof. The furniture stored in the building was the property of wealthy families mostly. Many valuable oilpaintings were burned. It is thought that the individual losses will aggregate more than $1,000,000.

Fire in a New York Orphan Asylum.

NEW YORK, July 16.—An hour before daybreak a fire broke out at St. Joseph's Asylum at Eighty-ninth-street and Avenue A. The main building was ablaze and the colony of children within in an uproar. The outbreak had occurred in the basement. Nearly 200 children, the full complement of the institution, were asleep within the walls. The sisters in charge, who throughout the scene of terror and confusion that followed struggled with great heroism to preserve order and to facilitate the work of rescue, aroused the sleepers promptly and sped them on their way to the street. A police roundsman luckily came to the rescue and gave valuable assistance in removing the little ones. With his aid the building was soon cleared and the children directed to the police station in Eighty-eighth-street, where they were marshaled by the sisters. None were missing. Hubert Butze, a 9-year-old orphan, was severely burned in escaping. His clothes caught fire and his face and limbs were badly scorched.

The firemen made short work of the fire. It damaged the building $2500. How it broke out is not known.

NOTHING TO BE ASHAMED OF.

Mr. Gladstone on the Alliance Between the Liberals and Nationalists.

LONDON, July 17.—Mr. Gladstone, at a banquet given by the Scottish Commoners of the National Liberal Club, in responding to a toast to his health, said one effect of the exhaustive discussion of the Irish question in Parliament was the bringing before the Welsh and Scotch people the necessity for local legislation in accordance with their national wants and traditions. He denied that there was any alliance between the Liberals and Nationalists of which either party need be ashamed, and declared that whatever alliance existed was independent. The Parnellites were free to join the Tories if they thought such a union would be to their advantage.

Mr. Gladstone said he would endeavor to promote any settlement that would fulfil two absolute conditions, the first of which was to satisfy the Irish people and the second to have nothing to do with a settlement that would in any way threaten the greatness of the Empire.

The Hand of Affliction.

The sympathy of the whole community will be extended to Mr. Thos. Blezzard, M. P.P., for East Peterborough, in his heavy affliction by the death of his wife, which sad event took place on Saturday evening last, July 16th. The deceased lady bore the long and tedious illness incidental to that dread disease, consumption, with exemplary Christian patience, and in her last hours tested the reality of the religion she had lived, by a triumphant entrance to the joys of the better land. The funeral took place this afternoon from the family residence to Westwood cemetery.

War Steeds.

There is a chance for everybody to lend his assistance. So many mounted officers, among the number being the Lieut.-General in command, four Lieut.-Colonels, from the different sections of the Athliemic division, with their aide-de-camps, etc., comprising the staff, will be present at the grand military demonstration August 9th-10th, that the resources of the committee will be greatly taxed to supply sufficient suitable mounts. They will be greatly obliged to any persons who will make known their ability and willingness to place good-appearing quiet horses, for use on that occasion, at the disposal of the committee. These horses will only be required for the one afternoon.

The Coming Militant Demonstration.

From a letter received this morning by a member of the Oddfellows' Demonstration Committee, it is more than probable that the magnificent band of the Seventh Battalion, Fusileers of London, Ont., numbering about 45, will accompany the London Canton to Peterborough on August 9th—10th. The London contingent are jealous of their standing and prestige in the military branch of the order, and will not be outdone without a brilliant effort on their part. The custom is that each canton will be played to the exhibition square at the grounds by its own band which also furnishes music for the evolutions for each such canton. One of the most striking features incident to the exhibition will be the rendering of "The Marseillaise Hymn" by the band of the Victoria Rifles, of Montreal, at the time when the Montreal canton headed by their pipers in full Highland costume, are summoned to the square by the Lieut.-General in command.

In the Niche of Time.

One evil, it is said, is sometimes necessary to correct another; and sometimes it is necessary when a party of inexperienced youths desecrate the Sabbath by going in swimming along the river bank for a party of Sunday pic-nickers to be camped on the opposite shore to save an unwary one from drowning. Such happened yesterday near Robinson's Island. About four o'clock in the afternoon three or four small boys and a couple of men went in bathing on the left hand side of the river, while directly across some half dozen young men from Peterborough were lolling indolently beneath the shade trees. Suddenly a splash and scream are heard, and the water a few feet from the other shore is being churned into foam by the frantic exertions of a little lad who had got beyond his depth and is being slowly drawn out further by the current. None of his companions can swim a stroke, and they shout for aid. The little fellow continues his struggles for life, his head one moment disappearing beneath the water but rising again the next, while those on the shore, stripped to the pelt, are powerless to help. One of the so-called Sabbath desecrators on the opposite bank sees the danger in an instant, jumps into a canoe and paddles over at a speed that outrivals any exhibition at a regatta, arriving just in time to catch the little fellow by the hair of his head as, thoroughly exhausted and half drowned, he is sinking beneath the surface to rise no more. A mile is as good as a mile, but it will be safe to venture the assertion that this particular youth will have no intense hankering for Sunday bathing after this—or any other kind, for that matter.

A Railway Smash-up.

Two Trains Collide at Myrtle.—A Station-Master Killed.

This morning about three o'clock a C.P.R. freight train, bound eastward, was standing at the station at Myrtle, about 22 miles west, where the engines had stopped to take water. Another freight train from the east came bowling into the station yard, and before anything could be done to prevent it, a terrific collision ensued. Both engines were wrecked, and several cars badly damaged. A brakesman on the west-bound train, named McIntosh, was killed. The engineer and foreman of the same train saw the danger, jumped and escaped. Fortunately there was no one on the locomotive of the other freight. The wreckage has been cleared off without much delay.

Personal.

Rev. Mr. McEwen, of Lakefield, officiated in St. Paul's Church on Sunday in the absence of Rev. Mr. Tempest.

Mr. W. E. Gallen, of Lindsay, stopped in town Sunday afternoon. He is making a bicycle tour eastward.

Mr. Herb. Dixon returned from Albany, N.Y., Saturday where he has been spending a few weeks holiday.

Sergeant M. Hamilton and Private J. A. Charter, of the 57th Battalion, have been granted certificates from "C" school of infantry.

The Other Side of the Story.

Mr. Panter, of the South Ward, has called to correct a paragraph in Saturday's issue in reference to the ill-usage of a boy by his father. He desires us to state that although the boy was chained up as alleged he was not ill-treated or beaten in an inhuman manner. The boy was so disobedient and had got into such bad company that he had to take such summary measures as to impress upon him the error of his ways, and he challenges the informants of the press to prove the statement published that he had mercilessly beaten his son. The EXAMINER willingly makes public Mr. Panter's statement.

Merit Recognized.

Every day Porter Bros. are receiving fresh encouragement on all sides from those who have tested the qualities of the buggies, phaetons, etc., manufactured by them. Not only at home are their vehicles well known, admired and eagerly purchased, when once their true value is understood, but orders are frequently received from a distance for conveyances of the finest description. This morning Porter Bros. shipped a beautiful buggy of unique pattern and possessing every desirable quality in the way of durability, lightness and ease in running, to the proprietor of the Brunswick Hotel, Ottawa, who evidently knows where to place his order for fine work.

A Sad Incident.

A young couple, man and wife, got off the 8:15 train this morning and were walking up George street, when the woman broke away from her husband and ran fiestly across the road. He followed and caught her, but she refused to be pacified and became almost unmanageable. The woman, young, handsome, and well dressed, was suffering from violent dementia. Upon the suggestion of a level-headed gentleman among the crowd who were quickly attracted by the unusual commotion, she was conveyed to the police station. There the circumstances of the case were made known. It seems that the young woman, whose parents live in Enniscrone, was married last year to the young man who was with her this morning. They made their home in New York. Last May a little baby was born to them, and as not unfrequently happens, symptoms of insanity supervened. There being no amendment in her condition after several months, her parents urged the young husband to hurry her home. This advice he acted upon, but while en route from New York the baby sickened and died, and was buried yesterday at Port Hope. The couple arrived in town this morning, when the scene above mentioned was enacted. At the police station the unfortunate woman shivered both the gas globes to atoms, scattering them all about the place, and paced incessantly around the room, her husband keeping a strict watch over her. Gradually she calmed down, and was taken to her parents in the country in a buggy.

A Good Act.

"As a cure for all summer complaints I highly recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, having often used it with the best results. I have often been thanked for recommending it." William Haw, Anaster, Ont. 2w29d

Reasons why you should purchase Fluid Lightning in preference to all other remedies are: Rapid result—cures instantly. It is easily applied—no trouble—no lost time. It does not require constant use—one application is effectual. One bottle will remove more pain than any other remedy in existence. Try it for Neuralgia, Toothache, Headache, Rheumatism. Sold at 25 cents a bottle by John McKee, Druggist eodw28

After Long Years.

"I was troubled with liver complaint for a number of years, finding no cure. I tried B.B.B. I took four bottles, and am perfectly cured, strong and hearty." Mrs. Maria Askett, Alma, Ont. 2w29d

In Good Repute.

James McMurdock, writing from Kinsale, says: "B. B. B. as a remedy for diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, has an excellent reputation in this locality. I have used it, and speak from experience, as well as observation. It is the only medicine I want, and I advise others afflicted to try it." 2w29d

A Source of Danger.

The frequent source of danger attending bowel complaints during the summer and fall is the liability to check the diarrhœa too suddenly. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will not do this. Inflammation of the bowels does not follow its use, as is often the case with powerful opiates and astringents. It cures promptly and in a natural manner. 2w29d

The Queen's Proclamation of Pardon Published in the Official Gazette.—A Deaf Mute Killed on the Canadian Pacific Railway Near Ottawa.—Capital Notes.

OTTAWA, July 17.—The Queen's proclamation pardoning all deserters from the land forces of the British army, was published in yesterday's Official Gazette.

Speculators are said to be endeavoring to purchase for trifling amounts the policies of Canadians insured in the National American Life Association of New York, which ceased to do business in Canada several years ago. The enterprising gentlemen have spread a story to the effect that the company is also about to withdraw its guarantee deposit in the possession of the Government.

A private despatch from Digby says that Jones is elected by a small majority as far as heard from, which will probably be increased by fuller returns, as all Robichaud's strongholds have been heard from, but returns are incomplete from Digby Neck which usually gives

A deaf mute named La Hayes was run over by a Canadian Pacific Railway train near Skead's Mills, four miles from Ottawa, yesterday morning, and had both legs cut off, dying in a few minutes. He was walking on the track and could not be made to hear the train, although the whistle was blown frequently and an attempt made to stop the engine, but not in time.

Mr. Courier, M.P.P. for Ottawa county, will not be able to resign his seat as the law does not allow a member to resign while an election petition is pending. The case against him will therefore have to proceed unless his opponent likes to withdraw the petition, after which Mr. Courier could resign.

THE ST. THOMAS DISASTER

THE SICKENING DETAILS OF THE AWFUL HOLOCAUST.

The Coroner Opens an Inquiry With a Jury of Sixteen Men—The Jury Refuses, at Present, to Hear the Statement of a Railway Employe.

ST. THOMAS, July 18.—The excitement is still intense over the awful calamity of Friday night. Large numbers from the country and a distance visited the city yesterday to view the scene of the accident and to attend the funerals of the victims. The remains of all victims have been identified. The remains of Mrs. Smither and child were taken to Toronto on Monday morning.

The funeral of five other victims took place here yesterday. All were largely attended; that of H. Ponaford was over a mile long.

The physicians report all of the patients doing well excepting Mrs. Zealand, whose condition is very critical, but there is now faint hopes of her recovery. It is now ascertained that 150 to 200 persons were injured by the explosion. Physicians' and apothecaries' offices are crowded with patients and many persons on the streets have heads, necks and hands bandaged. The extreme hot weather of yesterday tended to increase the agony of those suffering from wounds, but the cool weather of to-day is a blessed relief.

The Inquest.

The adjourned inquest on Engineer Donnelly and the ten passengers who perished in the collision was resumed at the City Hall this evening before Coroner Vanbusack and sixteen jurymen.

The Grand Trunk Railway was represented by Superintendent Stiff, Solicitor Bell, Division Superintendent Larmour, C. McDougall, Q.C., and County Crown Attorney Donohue. The City Hall was packed with witnesses and spectators.

The first witness, A. B. Remy, testified that the train was running twenty-five miles an hour when the collision occurred. He was on the first car and jumped, and afterwards assisted in rescuing the imprisoned passengers. It was thought all had been got out until the corpses were found.

The evidence of Mr. A. A. Drake was similar in many respects to that of Mr. Remy. He graphically described the removal of the passengers from the coach.

Jos. Mickleborough testified to the identification of the remains of S. G. Zealand, one of the victims, who was employed by witness.

In view of the sharp criticism of the heartlessness of the officials of the Grand Trunk Railway in keeping the relatives of the victims in agonizing suspense at Port Stanley until 1.30 next morning, Mr. Larmour, the Division Superintendent, asked to be heard.

The jury declined to allow him to make any statement, however, until such times as they felt inclined to hear it.

Rev. Mr. Munroe's evidence was exclusively as to the identification of the remains. He positively identified the charred remains of Mrs. Frane, Mrs. Smither, Mr. S. G. Zealand and one or two of the children.

The inquest was then adjourned.

Full Details of the Disaster.

The London Advertiser of yesterday gives the following description of the railway disaster at St. Thomas on Friday night:

Shortly after 12 o'clock Friday night an Advertiser reporter was dispatched to St. Thomas via a special, which train carried to the scene of the accident about 25 men anxious to learn whether any of their relatives suffered by the calamity. From the information gained and sights beheld the complete story of the wreck was learned by our representative.

The special excursion train of light passenger coaches, one baggage car, engine No. 754, left Port Stanley for London at 6.40, in charge of Conductor R. Spettigue and Engineer Harry Donnelly. On board the train were over 300 Londoners, including the children of the Talbot-street Baptist Sunday School, who were enjoying their annual picnic. The party was increased to almost 400 by a number of residents of St. Thomas, including the Knox Church choir and several personal parties.

On the return trip the train made [illegible] between Port Stanley and St. Thomas in seventy minutes. The two [illegible] in St. Thomas yard were turned again[illegible] excursion train, the one on the Michigan Central crossing and the one on the Pacific crossing. Eye-witnesses state that [illegible] came down at a very rapid rate [illegible] ton-street, and that in passing [illegible] intervening the wheels of the locomotive [illegible] as if the engines had been [illegible] name time a west-bound [illegible] Railway freight train was moving [illegible] charge of Conductor Price and [illegible] O'Shea. The freight had left the [illegible] Central [illegible] and the accident happened [illegible].

On the train were several all [illegible], one of which stood [illegible] Stanley [illegible] along [illegible] oil each [illegible] the semaphore or the brakes would not work [illegible] is not certain. However, the [illegible] of the excursion crashed into one of the oil tanks. The excursion train engine was not checked enough by the force of the collision to prevent it crossing the Michigan Central tracks and running about twenty feet further north, when it left the rails and fell over on the west side of the track. The oil cars left the Michigan Central rails and fell on the north side of the track. Right in between the oil cars the baggage car and the north end of the first passenger were precipitated, and were wedged in tight. The oil poured out from the broken tanks and soon the whole heap was in flames. The passengers streamed out of the coaches, and the brave[illegible] turned their attention to the first coach, the north end of which was in flames, the fire rapidly spreading to the other parts of the car. Women who were imprisoned by broken seats were pulled out; children dripped with fear were dragged from the blazing cars, and as the work of rescuing was carried on until the terrific heat were driven from the scene by the terrific heat and blinding smoke. In the wreck of course many were injured by being pulled through windows or thrown to the ground, but their lives were saved, and none were very seriously injured in their transportation from the burning coaches to the ground.

It soon became known from Fireman Angles that Engineer Donnelly had perished at his post, and that there was no hope of saving any one who might be under the flaming wreck. By this time two freight cars, the baggage and the first passenger car of the excursion train were completely wrapped in flames, which were being fed by the oil that flowed from the tanks. The conflagration was a terrible sight in itself.

The fire had been burning for an hour, and a vast [illegible] crowd had gathered about, including the full [illegible] St. Thomas firemen, when a detonation was heard resembling the discharge of a cannon, and a mass of flame and smoke rolled up fully 100 feet in the air—the second oil tank had exploded. The concussion knocked scores of people down, breaking the windows of stores and residences within four blocks in every direction. The blazing oil that went up with the explosion came down again on the assembled spectators with terrible, and in several cases, with fatal effect.

Over 100 people were injured by the explosion, about 20 of whom are severely burned, and two fatally injured, one having already died. Coincident with the explosion was a general stampede of horses on Talbot, Moore, Railway and other adjoining streets. Among the horses that ran away were those attached to the hose reel and hook and ladder trucks belonging to the fire department.

The hose reel knocked down Mrs. Howarth, who died a few hours afterwards from the injuries she then sustained. For two hours the firemen fought the flames as best they could, and all were by that time more partially brought under control. The G.T.R. steam wrecker was sent to the scene and set to work.

During this time the search for bodies had been going on continually, large gangs of men with lanterns and crowbars were carefully moving charred timber, and rail was torn about in the search for traces of human beings. As each spadeful was turned over pale faces watched intently what it contained. Pieces of charred flesh, bones, dresses, spoons and other horrible traces of the tragedy were turned up with almost every shovelful. A stream of water was steadily thrown upon the mass, until the blackened frames and wheels began to show. One by one the charred limbs of victims of the fire and wreck were pulled from the debris, until in a ghastly pile they lay upon a few boards, hastily collected, a strong odor prevailing. The remains of seven bodies were taken out and conveyed to a vacant space in the vicinity and covered with a sheet, while the search went on for other victims, and soon three more were taken out. Then three children and Engineer Donnelly were added to the number. Mayor Midgely ordered that the remains be taken to the undertaker's and thence to the fire hall, where they were taken in charge by Coroner Guestin.

List of the Killed.

MRS. JOHN W. HAYNES, London.
EDNA FLORENCE HAYNES, " VERNA ADELINE HAYNES, " LEILA ROSALIND HAYNES, "
MRS. SAMUEL FRAINE, St. Thomas.
FRANKIE FRAINE, " "

ANNIE ZEALAND, " "
MRS. J. SMITHER, " "
ROBBIE SMITHER, " "
MRS. W. K. HOWARTH, " "
HERMAN PONSFORD, " "
An unknown child.
Two bodies unidentified.

Description of the Explosion.

"The train was fifteen minutes late in leaving London. About four miles from St. Thomas Conductor Allison came into the car and said to me: 'There is a big fire in St. Thomas.' The black smoke was seen without difficulty. On coming nearer the flames could also be seen leaping high in the air. The train stopped just north of the station, and I ran up the track to the scene of the accident. My first thought was that the entire train was on fire. I walked up very close, and the heat was terrific. At this time the firemen had a number of streams playing on the fire. The passengers were all out of the cars, and the train had been backed a considerable distance. The large sash house and creamery and the residence on the opposite side were a mass of flames. The oil was running out of one of the tanks while the other was a few feet from it. A furious flame was blazing out of the bung-hole at the top. When the explosion occurred I was standing on the sidewalk on the west side. I was in the front of the crowd and turning to run found it almost impossible to do so. The heat on my back was as if I was on fire, and I ran full a block. All the time I was feeling my back, thinking I was on fire. I ran two blocks without stopping. Coming back over the same ground I saw a number of women who had fainted or had been thrown down. I shall never forget it. The east side felt the explosion the worst. I saw a number of men with their coats burned and split up the back. Ponsford was in the Duke House, and I went in the room and looked at him. He was covered from head to foot with flour and batting. People were going around with their hands wrapped up, their necks bandaged and covered with flour. I remained at the wreck until the late train came up, and during that time saw them find the different bodies."

A Passenger's Experience.

Mr. George Jeffrey, of No. 137 St. James-street, with Mrs. Jeffrey and three children, were on the ill-fated excursion train, and occupied seats close to the unfortunate Baynes family. On the opposite side of the car from where they sat were three women, two children and a man, who Mr. Jeffrey is convinced were burned to death. When the crash came the forward end of the car dropped down, and almost before the train stopped the entire car was in a blaze. The Baynes and the persons referred to by Mr. Jeffrey slid down the incline to the forward end of the car where the blaze was fiercest. There was no possibility of escape by the door. The car was one of the rough "excursion" class, with small windows, and by these narrow openings the frantic inmates struggled to escape from their fiery prison. The sight was truly awful. At the forward end of the car a party of women and girls had been thrown together in a heap by the shock, and were endeavoring to tear off their burning clothing, while the flames licked their faces and set their hair in a blaze, their frantic screams for help mingling with the crackling of the fast-consuming woodwork around them. Mrs. Jeffrey helped the little Baynes boy out of the window—the only one of that family on board who escaped—and then threw herself out. How she managed to get through the narrow opening is a mystery to herself. Mr. Jeffrey's eldest daughter is trying to escape became wedged fast in the window and could move neither way, when someone from the outside pulled her through. Miss Jeffrey was badly burned about her hands and limbs. Mr. Jeffrey, after getting out his own children, assisted the two little daughters of Mr. Stokes, of London West, and a number of others whose lives were saved, sustaining some slight injuries himself. He states that before the train left the Port he saw somebody, whom he supposed to be a railway man, go up to Engineer Donnelly, who was then in his cab, and warned him "to be careful, very careful." Donnelly's manner left the impression on Mr. Jeffrey's mind that he had been drinking, although, of course, that impression might have been groundless.

THE NIAGARA CENTRAL.

The Dominion Government Controls the House by Restrictive Bench.

HAMILTON, July 18.—Regarding the proposal to run the line of the Niagara Central Railway across the Beach, it appears that while the Ontario Legislature claims the right to grant permission to the road to run their line over the Beach, it lies with the Dominion authorities to say whether it shall or not cross the canal, so virtually the federal authorities control the whole matter. The question will come up before the Privy Council about July 28, and a deputation from Hamilton will be heard.

TANNER'S HEARTY DAMNS.

He Launches Them Freely at the Tory Party—Called to Account.

LONDON, July 18.—Walter Hume Long, Conservative, called the attention of the House of Commons this afternoon to the breach of privilege committed on Friday last in the lobby by Dr. Tanner, Parnellite, in calling him (Mr. Long) "a damned snob." Continuing, Mr. Long said he had by letter warned Dr. Tanner of his determination to bring the matter before the House. Notwithstanding this, Dr. Tanner was now absent, although he had full knowledge that his presence was required to defend himself.

The facts of the case were: Mr. Long having heard that Dr. Tanner had complained that his vote had not been recorded in a certain division, and, meeting him in the lobby, asked him what was the matter, and if anything was wrong in the record of the division. Dr. Tanner replied, "You're a Tory, aren't you? I wish to God, then, you would not speak to me. I have told you damned Tories never to speak to me [Irish cheers.] Talk to your own damned lot." Mr. Long answered "I wasn't aware you didn't wish to be spoken to." Dr. Tanner then went on: "Keep your damned tongue in your mouth. Don't make a blasted fool of yourself." [Laughter by Parnellites]. As Mr. Long was hurrying away Dr. Tanner called out: "There goes a damned snob."

Mr. Long, after giving this history of the incident, said he would rather have passed over the affair with contempt, but as it occurred within the precincts of the House and in the presence of several members, he felt it to be his duty to bring the whole matter before the House.

W. H. Smith, the Government leader, said that in view of the necessity to maintain decorum, he would move that in consequence of his disorderly words Dr. Tanner be suspended for a month.

Mr. Sexton said he considered such a proceeding scarcely less disgraceful than the language complained of. Dr. Tanner had frequently requested Conservative members not to address him. Mr. Long would have acted wisely if he had not spoken to Dr. Tanner. At the time the doctor was excited over his exclusion from a division. The incident did not deserve the treatment it was accorded and Dr. Tanner did not deserve the severe penalty proposed. As to his absence he was in Ireland keeping a public engagement. He would meet the accusation any day appointed for him to do so. Mr. Sexton moved to adjourn the debate until a time when Dr. Tanner should be present.

Mr. Smith reminded the House that no request for delay nor any apology had been offered by Tanner. He had had ample notice that his conduct was to be brought before the House.

Mr. Parnell submitted that there was no precedent for suspending a member for a month without giving him a chance to be heard to repel the charges against him.

Mr. Gladstone said that he thought that the proposed punishment for the offence, supported by ex parte evidence only, was disproportioned to what was usually administered.

Mr. Smith, after hearing Mr. Gladstone, said he would not press his motion, and instead would propose that Dr. Tanner should attend next Thursday and respond to Mr. Long's charge. This was agreed to.

The Crimes Bill Read a Third Time.

LONDON, July 18.—In the House of Lords today the Crimes Bill was read a third time.

DAVITT DEFIANT.

He Tells Mr. Redmond He will Not be Dictated To.

DUBLIN, July 18.—Mr. Redmond, Nationalist member of Parliament, speaking at Conlgraney, said he deeply respected Mr. Davitt's services, but regretted his latest speech, which amounted to a charge that was little short of folly against the advice given the Irish leaders and a charge of cowardice against the people. The tenants, Mr. Redmond said, ought not to engage in an unequal struggle against the hatred of their enemies.

Mr. Davitt, replying to Mr. Redmond, said he would act in accordance with Mr. Parnell's advice, but would not be dictated to by any subleader of the Irish people.

Mr. Dillon, speaking at Arklow, thanked the people of Coolgraney for their admirable adherence to the Plan of Campaign. He was unable to refrain from expressing regret at Mr. Davitt's speech, finding fault with the advice of the Dublin executive. He desired to defend Mr. Harrington, whose official position precluded him from replying personally. He hoped that in the future their petty differences would be settled in the council chamber.

The Oddfellows get a Grant of $200—Regular Meeting of the Town Council—The Matter of Scott Act Fines Settled—Half an Hours' Talk Over $5.

When the town council was first convened a bare quorum assembled in their seats, but before the meeting adjourned the "councillors came in one by one' till all put in an appearance except Mr. Yelland.

A communication from Mr. H. Rossiter demanded that the charges preferred by him against R. H. Adams, Acting Chief of of Police, be investigated. Referred to the Committee on Supervision of Police.

The following letter was read :—

The members of the Society indulge the hope that every member of your Council and every civic official, will do them the honor to be present at that hour, to extend the Corporate hospitality to the guests of the town.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

E. E. HENDERSON.
District Deputy Grand Master of the Oddfellows of Peterborough.

From the County Clerk, informing the council that Mr. H. T. Strickland had been appointed by the county council as arbitrator, and objecting to the appointment of Mr. T. Cahill as arbitrator on behalf of the town.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

The Mark street Methodist church people objected to paying a license for running an eating house on July 12th. Half an hour was spent by the councillors in discussing the principle of the case and the meaning of the by law. Some held that the Methodists had ran an "eating-house" on the Twelfth, while others contended that an eating-house was constituted by the owners taking out a license for a year. Finally the refund was voted.

A number of ratepayers petitioned that the Electric Light Co. extend the system on George street from King street to the C. P. R. station, and from McDonnell to Smith streets.—Referred to the Water and Light Committee.

The Secretary of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association sent in a request that a guarantee be given that two horses at least be kept in the fire hall, that a couple of chemical extinguishers be purchased, and four to six public call boxes. The communication was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The Uxbridge Organ Co. declined with thanks the offer of Peterborough to have them locate here.—Received.

The Secretary of the Board of Health notified the council that in the interests of the public health Rink street must be filled in across Spaulding's Bay.—Received.

Mr. W. Henderson, Superintendent of the Water Co., wrote the Council to say that the work of placing hydrants would be proceeded with at once. Referred to the Fire Water and Light Committee.

The Commissioners of the town trust sent in a demand for $5590 to meet the town and miscellaneous debenture interest.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

The License Commissioners for West Peterborough demanded $491.96 as the town's share of expenses for enforcing the Scott Act.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. E. B. EDWARDS, town solicitor, called attention to a legal matter of no public interest, which was referred to the Finance Committee.

THE ODDFELLOWS' DEMONSTRATION.

A deputation composed of Messrs. Stratton M.P.P., Henderson, Macfarlane, Errett and Mills was present to request the Council for a grant to assist in defraying the expenses of the Oddfellows in connection with the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge here next August.

Mr. Stratton spoke first and referred to the immense benefit which would accrue to the town from the vast influx of visitors on the occasion, from 15,000 to 20,000 being expected. The Oddfellows were going to the expense of about $2,500, and it was hoped the Council would make a grant of at least $200 for the purpose.

Mr. HENDERSON, District Deputy Grand Master, also addressed the Council, and was followed by Mr. Errett.

Mr. KELLY moved, seconded by Mr. Stinson, that the request be granted.

Mr. MENZIES moved in amendment that the sum be $200 instead of $200.

The question was raised as to the legality of the grant, and to the principle of the thing, making a precedent for the other societies to act upon in petitioning for similar grants; and that the town's finances could not well stand the pressure. It was urged pro contra that the grant would not be lost, as the merchants would receive immense benefit from the crowds of visitors. The amendment was carried.

An account of Laban Kent was referred to the Finance Committee.

SCOTT ACT FINES.

Mayor Stevenson brought up the matter of the demand of the county for the amount of fines collected in the town in county Scott Act cases. He deemed it best, in face of the county council's determination to take action, that the sum demanded, $550, be handed over to save further litigation.

Mr. MOORE moved that the sum of $550 be handed over to the county in full discharge of all obligations in the matter. The motion was carried, the councillors being of opinion that it was the county's due, and litigation would only lead to further expense on the town.

MOTIONS.

Mr. CAHILL moved, seconded by Mr. Davidson, that the street inspector be instructed to rebuild the bridge on George Street at the intersection of Townsend Street, and in doing so to build to the south line of Townsend Street and the west line of George Street.—Carried.

Mr. KENDRY introduced a motion accepting the invitation of the Oddfellows to attend the reception of Grand Lodge delegates next August, and that the Mayor prepare a civic address for the occasion.—Carried.

Mr. HARTLEY moved, seconded by Mr. Kendry, that Mr. Sherwood be allowed to take quarry stone out of the street on the boundary line at the quarry, to be used in the Simcoe street bridge, Mr. Sherwood to leave the street in as good a condition as at present.

Mr. MCNAUGHTON, in referring to the Simcoe street bridge, for the stonework of which Mr. Sherwood had the contract, called attention to the recent letters in the EXAMINER on the subject of the contract for the iron work. If these letters were right the matter demanded the investigation of the council. Mr. McNaughton said his interest had been aroused and he had gone to the town clerk's office to look at the by-law, but it was not there. He was told Mr. Belcher had it, and that gentleman could not be found. He thought there was something very queer about the whole thing. He wanted Mr. Belcher to give bond, to the town as other officials have to do, so that nothing underhand could be done.

Other councillors spoke to the question, Mr. MOORE claiming that if the stone was taken it would utterly ruin the street. Anyway the stone should be sold, not given away.

Mr. HARTLEY supported his motion. The removal of the stone would improve rather than ruin the street, he said, and in that case he didn't see anything to be gained by charging for it when its removal would benefit the town.

The motion was lost.

THE C. P. R. SWITCH.

Mr. CAHILL, in introducing the following motion, said he had been informed it was the intention of having the C. P. R. switch to the iron works raised several feet over the level of the streets, and he thought the company should be obliged to lower the grade.

Moved by Mr. CAHILL, seconded by Mr. Davidson, that the town engineer be authorized to strike the grade on Water street south from Sherbrooke to Dalhousie street, and on Sherbrooke and Dalhousie streets from Aylmer street to the Otonabee river; and that he communicate with the engineer of the C. P. R. and request him to make the grade of the switch to the Central Iron Works harmonize with the grade of the streets.—Carried

Mr. MOORE introduced a motion to have a sidewalk placed on the east side of Downie street, from London street south, with a crossing. The motion carried.

A motion by Mr. Davidson to comply with the request of the Board of Health for the town to fill in Rink street full width, was carried.

Mr. Moore called the attention of the council, to the position of certain property on Murray street, at the creek, which was every spring flooded by freshets. The proposed work to improve the premises by cribbing, etc., should be begun at once.

After some discussion on the question, the noise of the town clock striking eleven caused a hasty adjournment for three weeks.

SMOKERS,

TORONTO TOPICS.

Two C.P.R. Freight Trains Come Together With Fatal Results—Strike Ended.

TORONTO, July 19.

As foreshadowed in a late despatch, the conference between representatives of the Master Plasterers' Association and the Operative Plasterers' Union has resulted in a settlement of the differences that existed between them. The bosses will pay the men the rate of wages they demanded, 30½ cents per hour, and the men on the other hand have made concessions to the bosses regarding apprentices and other matters. The conference that ended in the settlement lasted seventeen hours—seven hours on Saturday and ten hours yesterday.

Two freight trains collided at 2 o'clock yesterday morning at Myrtle Station, on the Ontario and Quebec division of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The east bound train, No. 78, was standing on the main line taking water when the west freight, No. 71, dashed into it with terrible fierce, wrecking both engines and demolishing several cars. Brakeman William McIntosh of 71, who was on top of one of the cars, was instantly killed, and James Andrew, the engineer of the same train, was somewhat injured. The crew of the other train noticed their danger in time to escape by jumping. McIntosh's body was taken to Pickering, where he lived, and Andrew was brought home to West Toronto Junction by a passenger train yesterday. Superintendent Wilson left for the scene of the accident with a wrecking train to clear the line. The cause of the accident is not known, but the man in charge of the semaphore is said to have been remiss in his duty. The morning express from the east was delayed five hours by the accident.

THE HEAT'S HARVEST.

EIGHTEEN DEATHS IN CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, July 18.—There were reported up to midnight forty-eight cases of sunstroke here yesterday of which eighteen were fatal. The mercury during most of the day ranged from 100 to 104.

CONVICTS OVERCOME.

JOLIET, Ill., July 18.—Fourteen convicts at the prison were overcome by the heat yesterday morning, and had to be taken from galleries to the idle house where it was cooler; fifteen went to the hospital, two died. The thermometer registered 100 at daybreak and 11 in the middle of the day.

ELEVEN VICTIMS AT ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, July 18.—The thermometer yesterday registered 104 in the shade; eleven fatal cases of sunstroke were reported.

Heat and Cold

is a never-failing cause of disease. At this season of the year neuralgia, toothache, and a host of similar diseases are rampant. The great question, then, is to find the quickest, surest, and most economical remedy. Polson's NERVILINE exactly fills these requirements. It is prompt, efficient, and most economical, for it exceeds in power every known remedy, and is as cheap as inferior articles. A 10 cent sample bottle will give every person a chance to test it. Large bottles only 25 cents. 6dw29

Like Magic.

"It always acted like magic, I had scarcely ever need to give the second dose of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaints." Mrs. Walter Gooselook, of Ethel, Ont. 2w27d

The Triumphant Three.

"During three years suffering with dyspepsia I tried almost every known remedy that kept getting worse until I tried B.B.B. I had only used it three days when I felt better, three bottles completely cured me." W. Nichols, of Kendal, Ont. 2w27d

EVICTIONS AT COOLGRANEY.

The Tenants Offer No Resistance to the Evictors.

DUBLIN, July 18.—The evictions at Coolgraney were resumed today. Many spectators were present, including Mr. Dillon, John and William Redmond, Mr. Crilly, Michael Davitt, Ald. Brennan of Providence, R.I., and Roger Forster of New York. Twenty policemen and a military guard assisted in the eviction of several tenants. All the evictions were accomplished quietly.

Subsequently a meeting was held at which Mr. Dillon congratulated the tenants upon the fact that they had the backing of the whole national organization and the support of all civilized peoples.

Mr. Brennan urged unity among Irishmen and obedience to Mr. Parnell and the Irish parliamentary party. He promised that America would send the sinews of war as long as the struggle in Ireland continued and until victory was achieved.

THE EGYPTIAN CONVENTION.

The Sultan Refuses to Sign and the English Envoy Leaves Constantinople.

LONDON, July 18.—Sir Henry Drummond Wolff, the special English Envoy, who was ordered to leave Constantinople because the Sultan refused to sign the Egyptian Convention, has started for London.

The Grand Vizier Resigns.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 18.—Kiamil Pasha, the Grand Vizier, has resigned. The resignation was in consequence of a violent article published in The Misam attacking the Grand Vizier, the Cabinet and the whole administration, which was inspired by the Sultan in order to excite public indignation against them, and thus cover his own responsibility in connection with the Egyptian Convention.

BUSOC, THE BELGIAN.

The Embezzler to be Handed Over to the Brussels Authorities.

OTTAWA, July 18.—The Minister of Justice today issued his warrant for the extradition of Busoc who is now in Montreal Jail, and who is wanted in Brussels on a charge of fraudulent bankruptcy and embezzlement. The terms of the extradition treaty with Belgium require that the criminal should be delivered by the officers of the country from which he is extradited at the Belgium frontier. Busoc will, therefore, be taken over in the custody of Commissioner Sherwood of the Dominion Police, who will sail for Liverpool with his prisoner this week.

MORE THAN MERE COURTESY.

The Tender of a U.S. Vessel to the Hawaiian Queen Means Something.

NEW YORK, July 18.—A Washington despatch says the tender of a United States vessel as a convoy to the Queen of the Hawaiian Island is more than mere courtesy. The Government will send trusted officers with the ship, and undoubtedly new instructions to the commander of the United States naval vessel which should now be at Honolulu.

FRENCH ARMY MOBILISATION.

The Experiment to be Made with Twenty Thousand Men.

PARIS, July 18.—The Chamber of Deputies to-day passed the bill relating to direct taxes. The Chamber then proceeded to discuss the experimental Mobilization Bill.

M. Cavaignac attacked the measure on the ground that the experiment would be useless.

Gen. Ferron, Minister of War, in defining the bill explained that only 20,000 men would be employed in the experiment.

A Sufferer From Hydrophobia.

CLEVELAND, O., July 18.—Howard L. Nachtrieb, a young man employed in the barns of the Brooklyn Street Railway, was stricken with what appears to be a genuine case of hydrophobia yesterday. While at work he complained of headache, and shortly afterward fell to the ground in convulsions. He was taken home, when frothing at the mouth, violent struggles, inability to swallow water, and other acute symptoms of rabies rapidly developed. Ten days ago he attempted to rescue his dog from the jaws of a strange cur and received a trifling scratch on the back of the hand from the teeth of the latter. The wound soon healed and he thought nothing of it.

The Afghan Insurgents.

SIMLA, July 18.—Thirty thousand insurgent tribesmen have gathered at Ataghal to oppose the Ameer's general, Gholan. The mutineers who escaped from Herat have joined the insurgents, and there has been a renewal of disturbance at that place. It is reported that the Ameer has summoned four Badakspan regiments to reinforce the garrison at Cabul.

The Vatican and the K. of L.

ROME, July 18.—The Congregation of the Propaganda is awaiting the report of a meeting of eleven American bishops, presided over by Cardinal Gibbons, before pronouncing finally whether the Vatican approves or condemns the Order of the Knights of Labor.

A Cyclone Stricken Town.

MILWAUKEE, July 18.—A cyclone struck the town of Waupaca yesterday evening. The opera house and two hotels, a church and numerous private houses were either totally or partially wrecked. No one was injured.

"What is McGregor's Speedy Cure for?"

It is for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Biliousness, and it is the finest blood purifier in the known world to-day.

Oddfellow Cards.

The EXAMINER has the necessary emblematic cuts for the cards of members of the Oddfellow Order and Encampment. Gentlemen requiring cards will do well to place their orders at once to save disappointment and a rush of orders towards the last.

Arsenical Poisoning.

Monday morning Immediately after breakfast Mrs. D. G. Hatton and Mrs. Geo. W. Hatton, mother and wife respectively of Mr. Geo. W. Hatton, barrister, were suddenly taken violently ill. The physician who was called in pronounced the symptoms to be those of arsenical poisoning. It is presumed the arsenic was taken during breakfast, but as they had often partaken before of the same food that constituted their breakfast, they are at a loss to account for the strange presence of the poison. Both ladies are now out of danger, though still confined to their beds by weakness.

The Railway Smash-up.

The collision between two freight trains on the C. P. R. at Myrtle which occurred on Saturday morning last, as briefly noted by the EXAMINER yesterday, is one of the most disastrous affairs of the kind that has happened on the line for some years. It appears that the first train was standing, waiting for the other to pass, the engine standing with the semaphore indicating "danger." The engineer of the train from the east recognized the signal, whistled down brakes, but apparently got no response from the crew. He was unable to stop his train, which crashed into the other with the speed of a small earthquake, while going at the rate of 30 miles an hour. The sound of the collision was heard miles away. The runaway train was an almost total wreck. The engine front was driven in, and the great iron monster mounted on top of the other locomotive. The tender was smashed in a box car, which it had completely telescoped, to the great destruction of a large quantity of freight. Behind this were two or three cars, which suffered but slightly. Further to the rear about ten cars were thrown over the embankment. They were completely smashed by the force of the shock. About a hundred yards before the stationary train was reached Engineer Andrews and Fireman Thompson jumped for their lives. Andrews took the right side of the engine where the sliding was, and Thompson jumped down the embankment into a field. Both former escaped with a bad shaking up. The rest of the train crew were found to be all right except James McIntosh, brakesman, who was missing. An effort was immediately made to recover the missing brakesman. The broken cars and merchandize were overhauled. At the bottom of the embankment beneath the top of an overturned car the body of McIntosh was found. It presented a horrible sight, being almost unrecognizable from the mass of blood which covered it from head to foot. Exactly how he met his death is a mystery. He may have jumped from the car and been killed in doing so, or he may have been thrown over with the car, and passed into eternity while bravely sticking to his post. The latter theory is considered more probable, as the body was found near the end of the car where he would be standing when applying the brakes. McIntosh boarded at West Toronto Junction, which most of the railway hands do. He had a mother in Pickering, a widow, chiefly dependent upon him for support. He was about twenty-one years of age and unmarried. Wrecking trains immediately went to work, and the line was cleared in a few hours. The loss to the company will be considerable. One of the directors estimated it yesterday at between $25,000 and $30,000. This is only on the rolling stock. In addition to this the company will be held liable for the injury to freight, which will amount to a considerable sum.

Swamped.

Lizzie Dolan, a young girl not long out from the Old Country, left town Monday evening with the very erroneous impression that she would arrive at the Nassau Mills if she walked down the Grand Junction Railway track. Three miles from town she left the railway to enquire at the house of Mr. John Graham Weir where the mills were, but in her attempt to reach the house she encountered a marsh. Having put her hand to the plough she decided not to turn back, and struggled on till she was completely wearied out and unable to move an inch farther. Fortunate was it for Miss Dolan that she owned a healthy pair of lungs. She awoke some very forcible echoes, which happened to catch the ears of Messrs. J. J. Wright and J. Miller, who were returning from Keene, who, having secured a lantern and being enforced by Mr. Weir, entered the swamp, and by their exertions rescued the unfortunate from a muddy bed. She received shelter for the night at a neighboring farm house.

Base Ball Strikes.

The Lock Works and Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co's. Works baseball teams intend playing a return match probably next week. Then they will join forces and unite in defeating the Oshawa Moulders club, who will visit Peterborough August 10th.

The Port Hope club are off on a tour. They played in Belleville yesterday, in Kingston to-day, and are to play Ogdensburg ball-tossers Thursday, Park Nine of Kingston on Friday, and Ottawa on Saturday.

The Peterborough club gave a good account of itself yesterday, and it is to be hoped the managers will keep the ball rolling by getting on more matches right away.

The Belleville nine play the Park Nine at Channel Grove on Wednesday, and the Kingston nine at Kingston on Thursday. On Friday the Kingstons play at Belleville.

The Port Hope baseball club played a match with the local club at Belleville yesterday afternoon. Belleville won by 21 to 9.

Attempted Suicide.

The Port Hope Guide has the following concerning the unfortunate woman suffering from violent dementia, whose case was referred to in yesterday's issue:—"A young married couple with an infant a few weeks old came over on the Norseman on Saturday evening, and while on the steamer the wife attempted to take her own life. She had become hopelessly insane and neglected her infant, which was cared for by the lady passengers. While being drawn to the Royal Hotel the poor woman attempted to jump out of the cab. The child died during the night in Miss Garbutt's arms, and was buried yesterday. The woman was taken to the lock-up for safe keeping; her husband chose to be locked up with her. They took the morning train for Peterborough, where the unfortunate lady has friends. It is indeed a sad case; she is only 22, and her husband about the same age."

A Delightful Trip.

On Thursday of next week, July 28th, the firemen's excursion goes to Grimsby Park, the prettiest and most comfortable summer resort on Lake Ontario. One has only to get a "Guide to Grimsby", a small book supplied free by the firemen, to become acquainted with its attractions and long for them. The fare is very cheap—only $2; $1.50 to Toronto; children half price. A special C.P.R. train will leave at 8 a.m., for Toronto, where the steamer Rupert will be taken for the Park. Tickets are good for two days, and excursionists can return on any regular train within that time. Remember the date, save up a few dollars, and take a trip to the "Chatauqua of Canada" on the 28th. The band will accompany the excursion.

A Win at Last.

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club Senior team defeated the Cobourg team on the Cobourg grounds on Saturday last by 11 to 9. The "boys in blue" "liked" [illegible] defeated the Cobourg club by 11 to 9. The game was exciting [illegible] of the Reidfield or more spectators, who applauded vociferously [illegible] the Cobourgites play a good game, and though once or twice there was decided "kicking," the game passed off pleasantly.

Cobourg's battery, Wood and Mulhall, particularly the latter, played well indeed, better in fact than the outfield, to whose credit several errors are scored. Wood throws a puzzling curve, but is rather erratic, though not at all wild, in his pitching.

Galley pitched an admirable game for Peterborough, and was ably supported by Billings, who, though a little unsteady at first, soon got down to work and played well. Galley's balls are straight, but very swift, and almost as difficult to strike as Wood's curves. Even when struck, they appeared to have a decided inclination to climb high in the air and fall into the fielders' hands, very few grounders being struck. In fact, the game was remarkable for the number of high flies which were sent up. Brennan was the "slugger" of the day, he always striking the ball, and making two three-baggers—the only ones of the day. Moore had plenty of chance at left field to distinguish himself, and he accepted every opportunity but one—a high fly, for which he had to jump, but which passed through the fingers. Metherall also at first played a faultless game. Kincaid will make a good ball player.

Mr. W. Watson umpired fairly as can be in a ball game, only one decision, in the eight innings, being open to dispute.

THE GAME.

Cobourg went first to bat, Wood dropping the ball right in front of himself and scouring safely to first. Pickering hit to the fence on the left and let Wood in. Doyle struck out to third, and on a wild throw to first Pickering scored. Mulhall was neatly caught by Landy, and was followed by York, who made a short hit which let Doyle in. Cann also scored, but Ross and Kennedy were put out on strikes, the innings closing for five runs.

Landy opened for Peterborough, took his base on balls and stole second and third. Metheral was caught out at third, Moore was struck out, Callahan took first on balls, but Cahill struck right into the pitchers hands and was put out at first—and the Peterboroughs were Chicagoed.

In Cobourg's next, the Peterboroughs, after the shaking up of the first, got down to business. Maguire went to bat and took first on a dead ball, second and third on passed balls, and scored on another. Wood was given first on balls, while Pickering was neatly caught by Metherall. Doyle hit a grounder to left for first, but Moore collared it and a fine throw home stopped Wood before he scored. Mulhall hit to second, but Cahill's muff let Doyle to second. In stealing third, Doyle was put out, and the side went down for a single.

Wood's pitching in this innings, as in the first, was loose, but his curves were puzzling, and the home team did not reach him very well. Brennan, though, broke the rule with a fine three-bagger to the the fence. Billings was given first on balls, and Galley was struck out. Brennan scored on Kincaid's fly to centre, and Billings on Landy's run to first on strikes, but the ball was thrown from the catcher's hands ahead of the latter and he retired. Metherall was given first on balls, but Moore was struck out, leaving Kincaid and Metherall stranded on third and second bases respectively. Two runs were put down as the result of the innings.

York opened for Cobourg with a two-bagger to left, and stole home on Billing's muff. Cann was put out on strikes, and Ross followed with a gentle grounder into Metherall's hands, on which he was easily retired. Kennedy was also struck out, and the innings closed for one.

Callahan plugged the ground in front of him with a heavy hit and started for first, but the ball crossed his path and touched his foot and he was given out. Cahill hit right to the pitcher, and was also easily put out. Brennan took first on a dead ball, but was too venturesome in stealing second and was collared there. Another "duck" for the third innings.

In Cobourg's fourth Maguire was struck out, and Metherall collared a high hit by Wood. Pickering hit to centre field for first, and was followed by Doyle with a grounder to left. Another fly to centre was neatly captured by Brennan, and the Cobourgs scored their first whitewash.

For Peterborough Billings hit to short, and secured second on a muff at first. Galley followed with a hit to second base on which he was easily put out, and Kincaid was equally unlucky, being caught on a foul by the catcher. Landy took first on a dead ball, and Metherall flew right into the first baseman's hands. And so another goose-egg was laid by, to be counted in at the final reckoning.

York then toed the home plate for Cobourg and was caught out by Moore on a high fly to left. Cann had no better luck, Billings catching him on a foul. Ross followed suit with a short fly to third, which Callahan collared, and the Cobourgs were retired for nothing, without even reaching first.

Peterborough's fifth was the banner innings. Moore, apparently, had forgotten his batting powers, for he was struck out in quick order. Callahan took first on a dead ball, stole second and third, and came home on Brennan's three-bagger, which was loudly cheered. Meanwhile Cahill had been struck out. Billings followed with a hit which let Brennan in, and on Kincaid's hit to short Billings also scored. Landy hit to right and let Kincaid in, and came in himself on a series of errors. Tremendous cheers went up as the five home players passed over the home plate in succession. Metherall was put out on strikes, and closed the innings for Peterborough.

Cobourg then went to bat, Kennedy getting to first on a short hit, on which he stole second and third. Maguire was struck out, Galley and Billings getting warmed up to their work, Wood and Pickering being given "foul and out." The balls were sent in red-hot, just ticked the bat and were collared by Billings without a murmur. Result—Cobourg again Chicagoed.

Moore again opened the innings for Peterborough, but was caught out on a foul. Callahan hit just beyond the reach of the pitcher and got first but was put out in stealing second. Cahill was struck out and another whitewash resulted.

Doyle opened the seventh for Cobourg with a hit to short, which travelled back from Landy's hands to Metherall at first before the striker got there, and out he went. A hit by Mulhall was nicely caught by Cahill, York following with a grounder to third on which he got to first. Cann then hit a two-bagger to centre, which let York in, but Ross was collared on a short hit into Galley's hands, the innings closing for one.

Brennan then whistled the bat and hit high to centre, York making a fine catch of it, but Landy hit to third and ran first safely though narrowly, afterwards stealing second and third. Galley flew away to right, but Cobourg's right field was there and caught it. Kincaid hit to short, and Landy to [illegible] bases was terminated. One more [illegible]

In Cobourg's [illegible] Kennedy for Cobourg hit to second, but Cahill nimbly threw it to first ahead of him. Galley did [illegible] stealing, standing in four shots [illegible] ally for first, dash second, and was given out in stealing third. The umpire's decision was manifestly a mistake, and after the Cobourg players had threatened to quit play the game was resumed. Wood going back to second. Pickering hit a two-bagger to centre and let Wood score, but before Pickering got in Doyle was caught out by Callahan at third, and the side went down for a single.

Peterborough's eighth was equally as productive. Landy hit high and was caught by Wood, Metherall then taking first on balls. Moore hit to first and was put out, Metherall meanwhile stealing second and third, and scoring on a passed ball by Mulhall. Wood's loose pitching gave Callahan first on balls, but a fly by Cahill was caught at second, and the side retired for one.

Mulhall opened Cobourg's last innings with a high hit to right, which was collared by Metherall. York followed with a fly to left, which was neatly taken by Moore. Cann followed suit, and again Arabia made an excellent running catch, which called for loud cheers.

The score was now one in favor of Cobourg with Peterborough an innings to go. Excitement ran high, and the last innings was played amidst a pandemonium of shouts and applause from the spectators.

Brennan opened for Peterborough with a short hit to centre, which carried him safely to first. Billings followed with a grounder into York's hands, on which Brennan was put out. Billings scored on Kincaid's grounder, the latter reaching first and stealing second. Galley followed, secured first, and ran to second base while Kincaid was yet there. It looked as though one must be put out, and Ross, evidently thinking Galley must return to first, threw to Doyle. Instead of that however, Kincaid stole third, and both were safe. This little coup was loudly applauded. Both Galley and Kincaid scored on Metherall's and Landy's hits, but these two were left on bases, Moore being put out at first. The innings closed for three—and victory was ours.

The crowd cheered tumultously and congratulated the home boys heartily on their fine playing. Score:—

Personal.

For the past few days Mrs. J. P. Howland, of Philadelphia, has been staying in town the guest of Mr. Justus B. Dunn, Charlotte street. Last night, being the eve of her departure for home, Mr. and Mrs. Dunn improvised a farewell party for Mrs. Howland and her nephew, Mr. David Porter, who accompanied her. A pleasant party assembled and a pleasant evening was spent in social intercourse, enlivened with music. During the evening Mr. William Baptie catered to the wants of the company by serving a handsome collation.

Mr. W. S. Eberman, of Minneapolis, secretary of the State of Minnesota Dairy Commission, and nephew of R. W. Errett, Esq., Clerk of the First Division Court, is in town visiting his relatives. Mr. Eberman's duties involve the inspection of milk and cream. He finds that in Minnesota the cream and milk in the rural districts is generally free from adulteration and impurities but that in cities and towns the cupidity of dealers gets the better of their honesty. During his visit to Ontario Mr. Eberman will investigate the dairy and creamery system of Ontario, and his visit will include a visit to the Agricultural College and Experimental Farms, Guelph.

Mr. L. Goldman, secretary of the North American Life Assurance Company, is at the Oriental Hotel.

Mr. J. W. Jenkins, of Toronto, an old Peterborough boy, is in town for a few days.

In Good Repute.

James McMurdock, writing from Kinsale, says: "B. B. B. as a remedy for diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, has an excellent reputation in this locality. A Source of Danger.

The frequent source of danger attending bowel complaints during the summer and fall is the liability to check the diarrhœa too suddenly. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will not do this. Inflammation of the bowels does not follow its use, as is often the case with powerful opiates and astringents. It cures promptly and in a natural manner. 2w29d

Address and Presentation.

An Old Class Leader Remembered.

Rev. Mr. Wallace was last night treated to the greatest surprise of his life. On arriving in town on the evening train from Lakefield, having spent the day at Stoney Lake, he was politely requested to call, if convenient, at the Charlotte street Methodist church and visit once more his former class of young people, now in charge of the new pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. Tovell. He went, and after some friendly discussion the surprise took place, Mr. O. C. Rowse stepping up and presenting him on behalf of the class with a handsome gold-headed cane, accompanying the gift with the following address:—

REV. MR. WALLACE.—A very pleasing duty devolves upon me this evening. The members of the Young People's Monday Evening Bible Class desire through me to convey to you their high appreciation and regard for the zeal and earnestness that have characterized your efforts as leader of this class for the past two years. Your words of wisdom and counsel will not soon be forgotten by us, and we trust they may be embodied into our hearts and lives that we may be better prepared for the performance of life's great work.

We feel that we cannot allow this opportunity to pass, without expressing in a more tangible form than words, the regret that we feel in the severance of your connection with this church as pastor and with this class as leader. We therefore ask you to accept this cane as a small token of the high regard and esteem in which you are held by the Young People's Monday Evening Class.

We have also to convey to you our sympathies in the recent affliction that you have been called upon to bear, and have often remembered you at the Throne of Grace.

We trust that He, who is the Rewarder of all good deeds, will ever reward and prosper you through the journey of life and that we may all meet at length in that place where there are many mansions, and where there is bliss forever more.

The address concluded, Rev. Mr. Wallace, as soon as he recovered from his surprise, feelingly expressed his thanks for this kind expression of their good will and esteem. The cane was suitably inscribed, and was purchased from W. A. Sanderson.

An elevator with a capacity of 4,000,000 bushels was recently built in Chicago, from foundation to rooftree, in fourteen days.

A BOODLER TAKES FLIGHT.

EX-ALDERMAN M'CABE OE NEW YORK SAFE AT HAMILTON.

On the Insanity Plea He Was Given into Custody of His Wife, She to Produce Him When Called Upon—How the Escape Was Effected.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The District Attorney's office was demoralized to-day over the escape of ex-Alderman McCabe. While the officials there are endeavoring to hide their chagrin, Inspector Byrne's detectives are engaged in a hunt for the fugitive. McCabe is at present in Hamilton, Ont. His wife is with him, and his lawyers have already successfully complicated his finances so that his creditors are left out in the cold. Mrs. McCabe is credited with engineering the whole scheme.

The story, as told by a friend of the alleged insane boodler, is as follows:—When McCabe was called to trial for bribery his counsel claimed that he was not of sound mind. A sheriff's jury so decided, and Recorder Smith committed him to his wife's care until such time as he might recover his reason. John E. Farley and Robt. McCafferty put up $20,000 as a guarantee that McCabe would be on hand whenever he was wanted. McCabe's creditors put a watch on his movements and came to the conclusion that if he was insane he could not legally transfer his property to his wife and thus defraud them. They have accumulated evidence to show that he is sane and when Mrs. McCabe learned that a motion would be made to test his sanity unless he paid up she made arrangements to save her husband. The scheme was to have a commission decide that McCabe was of sound mind, then the District Attorney would have to try him. His bondsmen have been taken care of and McCabe will reside in Canada hereafter.

THE ST. THOMAS HOLOCAUST.

Continuation of the Enquiry into Friday's Disaster.

ST. THOMAS, July 19.—At the adjourned inquest on the bodies of the victims of Friday's holocaust this evening William Baynes of London, aged 7, whose mother and three sisters were burned to death, testified that when the crash came his mother and three sisters were crushed by falling seats and were unable to escape, although they endeavored strenuously to do do. He was rescued by the conductor, having been thrown from his seat on a cushion.

J. W. Baynes, father of the last witness, testified to the recognition of the remains of his wife and daughters Liona, aged 6, Verna aged 3, and Lila aged 11 months.

Geo. Jeffries of London described the scenes which followed the explosion. His story has already appeared in The World in the shape of an interview. He said the ten passengers who were burned slid down to the end of the car when the crash came and were speedily enveloped. Witness said he believed the engineer was intoxicated.

Wm. Friend of London, another passenger, also testified that he believed the engineer was intoxicated. He thought from the silly features, etc., of the man when the train was pulling up at the Port that he had been drinking considerably.

The inquest was adjourned until Thursday.

AN INSANE WOMAN'S CRIME.

Detected in the Act of Killing one of Her Children.

MONCTON, N.B., July 19.—An unmarried woman named Rose, the mother of three illegitimate children, all of whom are now dead, has been arrested at Carnquet charged with infanticide. On Saturday night the landlady of the house where the Rose woman boarded heard cries of pain issuing from the latter's room. On investigating she found the mother with the child on her knees, apparently feeding it with a spoon. The landlady was horrified to find that the spoon had been forced down the child's throat by the mother, and when she attempted to extricate it it broke, one part remaining in the child's mouth. The child died three hours afterwards in terrible agony. It is now suspected that the woman made away with her other two children, who died a short while ago.

She first tried to suffocate the third child by wrapping it up in blankets, but failed, and marks found on the little one indicate that she tried to choke it and only used the spoon as a last desperate resort. An inquest was held, and the jury rendered a verdict that the woman was insane. She is to be removed to the insane asylum at St. John, but the Carnquet people do not believe the insanity plea, and say the woman should be criminally prosecuted.

The Ravages of Cholera.

CATANIA, July 19.—Forty-two cases of cholera and 25 deaths from the disease were reported to-day. Of 117 soldiers already attacked 62 have died. An exodus of the inhabitants is beginning.

THE CRIMES ACT IS LAW.

The Royal Assent Given to the Measure in the House of Lords.

LONDON, July 19.—The House of Commons went formally in a body to the House of Lords this afternoon, when the Royal assent was given to the Irish Crimes Act Amendment Bill, and it was thus made the law of the realm.

REV. DR. MACBETH'S MISSION.

What the Irish Society's Representative Expects to Accomplish in America.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Rev. Dr. John Macbeth of Wexford, Ireland, who came here on the Celtic last Friday for the purpose of raising funds for the Irish Society, which has been established for seventy years, and which labors for the religious education of the Irish people who speak the Celtic language, addressed two congregations Sunday. In the morning he spoke in Ascension Chapel in West Forty-third-street, and in the evening at Grace Church Chapel in West Fourteenth-street. In both places his sermons were earnest appeals for funds to aid the society in its work, and he said if funds were not forthcoming from some quarter the work of the society would have to be suspended for a time.

"The only possible remedy for the country disturbed by social conflict," said Dr. Macbeth, "is the better acquaintance with the Word of God. I am here to-day to ask you to aid us in our work. With politics I have nothing to do and with politics the Irish Society has nothing to do. It carries on its work with only one object in view and that is the welfare of the people. The reason we educate the people in Celtic is that 946,809 of the people of Ireland speak the language and 64,000 of that number speak no other. The work is carried on in the most remote parts of the island, and it was the Irish Society that first gave them the Scriptures in their own language. The American people are interested in Ireland, and I come to you for help. Irishmen believe that in America there is free speech and free thought, although some recent events may disabuse their minds of that idea."

To a reporter Dr. Macbeth said that he proposed to go to Canada, but his mission had nothing to do with politics, and was determined upon long before the trip made by Editor O'Brien was thought of. He is anxious to have it known that he is neither a Home Ruler nor an Orangeman.

FRENCH ARMY MOBILISATION.

Urgency Voted for the Measure—The Increase in the Army.

PARIS, July 19.—At the demand of Gen. Ferron, Secretary of War, the Senate to-day, by a vote of 137 to 92, voted urgency for the mobilizing bill. The Senate also passed his bill for increasing the army by adding four new cavalry regiments and eighteen new infantry regiments.

The Chamber of Deputies voted urgency for the bill authorizing the Government during the parliamentary recess to take protective measures against the excessive import into France of German spirits, and the bill was referred to the Custom Committee.

IRONCLADS IN COLLISION.

Naval Officers Liable to be Hauled Over the Coals by the Admiralty.

LONDON, July 19.—A collision occurred at Spithead to-day between the British ironclads Ajax and Devastation. The Devastation was considerably damaged and is leaking fast. The Devastation is a double screw iron turret ship, armor plated, of 9330 tons and 6650 horse power. The Ajax is a double screw iron, armor plated turret ship of 8960 tons, 6444 horse power. Both vessels are in the coast guard service.

ENGLISH TORIES CONFER.

The Concessions to the Liberal-Unionists Protested Against.

LONDON, July 19.—At the meeting of Conservatives to-day at the Carlton Club it was decided that if general hostility should be manifested in the House of Commons against the bankruptcy clauses of the Irish Land Bill the Government would find a substitute for them. Difference of opinion was developed as to the advisability of meddling with Irish rents, but it was finally decided to provide for a reduction on a sliding scale and upon certain conditions.

The Marquis of Salisbury informed the assemblage that the differences between the Liberal-Unionists and the Government regarding the Land Bill had been satisfactorily adjusted, concessions having been made which removed the chief objections that had been entertained by Mr. Chamberlain and his friends.

Major Edward James Saunderson, Conservative, followed Lord Salisbury, and expressed thorough disapproval of the policy of the Tories in surrendering to the Liberal-Unionists. The Conservatives in doing this, he contended, were paying too high a price for the Liberal-Unionists' support.

The Earl of Kilmorry said he concurred in the sentiments uttered by Major Saunderson, and protested against the Government's proposed interference with judicial rents in Ireland. Without that amendment the Land Bill was a most liberal measure.

The Rt. Hon. Henry Chaplin said he would support the Marquis of Salisbury's proposals on condition that the landlords should be compensated for any interference with judicial rents. The majority of the assemblage gave entire approval to the Premier's proposals.

The meeting favored an early prorogation of Parliament, expediting the passage of the Land Bill and the Allotments Bill, and the devotion of the remainder of the session to the consideration of the Supply Bill, so that adjournment might take place not later than the third week in August.

The Hampshire Election.

LONDON, July 19.—The election in the Basingstoke Division of Hampshire to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation to the peerage of G. S. Booth (Conservative), was held to-day. Mr. Jeffreys (Conservative), was elected, receiving 3138 votes, against 2426 for Mr. Eve (Liberal). The Conservative vote shows a falling off of 600, and the Liberal vote a gain of 100 as compared with the election of 1885.

Two Conservatives Returned.

LONDON, July 19.—In the election for Member of Parliament for the Brixton Division of Lambeth to-day, Mr. Carnathan (Conservative) received 3307 votes, and Mr. Hill (Gladstonian) 2569. At the last election Mr. Bagally (Conservative) polled 3300 votes and Mr. Cookson (Home Ruler) 1880.

A Parliamentary election was also held to-day in the Hornsey Division of Middlesex, resulting in the return of the Conservative candidate, Mr. Stephens, who polled 4476 votes, against 2488 for his Gladstonian opponent, Mr. Bottomley. At the last election at Hornsey Sir J. McGarel Hogg (Conservative) was returned without opposition.

Seeking for Satisfaction.

LONDON, July 19.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. T. M. Healy (Parnellite) asked the Speaker if the time was not opportune for bringing before the House the conduct of Sir Robert Nichols Fowler (Conservative), ex-Lord Mayor of London, and now a member for London, in calling Mr. George Howell, Home Rule member for Northeast Bethnal Green, "a damned liar."

The Speaker said Mr. Healy was not entitled to put such a question. The incident occurred in March and peace had since been made between Mr. Howell and Sir Robert Fowler.

Mr. Sexton gave notice that he would move for the suspension of Sir Robert Fowler for one month. (Parnellite cheers.)

Tanner Summoned to Appear.

LONDON, July 19.—The Speaker of the House of Commons has sent a messenger to Ireland to notify Dr. Tanner that it is imperatively necessary for him to be present in the House on Thursday to answer the charges that he used violent language toward Mr. Long in the lobby of the House last week.

TORONTO TOPICS.

An Attempt to Cut a Wife's Throat With a Razor—Fatal Horse-Car Accident.

TORONTO, July 20.

John Corrigan, living at No. 126 King-street east, was yesterday arrested on a charge of attempting to cut his wife's throat with a razor. For some time past Corrigan and his wife have not been living on good terms, and yesterday morning they had one of the usual rows, which have made the immediate district a most unenviable one in which to live. Mrs. Corrigan was heard shrieking "murder," but as the cry was nothing unusual emanating from No. 126, the neighbors did not attach that importance to it which they doubtless would had it come from another quarter. Shortly afterwards the cry was again raised, and the terrified woman seen running out of the house with her hair dishevelled and her clothing torned. She called loudly for the police, and in this instance they were at hand. A policeman hastened to the house, and as he entered found Corrigan with an open razor in hand in pursuit of his wife. He was much agitated, but apparently sober. The wife swore an information against John, on the strength of which he was arrested and locked up in the East End Police Station.

An accident which, according to medical opinion, is bound to result fatally, occurred on Saturday night in King-street west. On the previous Wednesday Mr. Abbett, a feeble gentleman, traveling for the benefit of his health, arrived in Toronto with his wife, his son and daughter from New Jersey and took apartments at 251 King-street west. On Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Abbett were returning to their residence by a King-street car, and while getting off near the house the lady fell from the platform and sustained such serious injuries that there are no hopes whatever of her recovery. The hip bone is broken, the spine and brain injured, and the whole system severely shaken. She was at once carried into the house, where she still lay in an unconscious state up to 11 o'clock last night, when your reporter called. At that time her death was expected every hour. It is alleged that the car was not in motion whilst Mrs. Abbett was stepping off, and hence the occurrence. She is a lady of 60 years, and all that medical skill can suggest is being done for her.

A POST OFFICE ROBBERY.

A Bold Thief Gets Away with the Cash in a Nova Scotia Office.

HALIFAX, July 19.—News was received in the city late to-night of a bold and successful attempt to rob the money order office at Mahone Bay. About day break this morning, while the postmaster, Simon Burgoine, was cutting wood in his yard, he was approached by a heavy built individual who stated that he was going to leave the place at once and wished to transmit a money order to Halifax. Bourgoine took the stranger into his office, opened the safe and took out his cash box and some blank orders. The man produced a $39 bill to pay for an $8 order. The stranger pretended to fill out the order and the postmaster was engaged counting out the change, when suddenly the former attacked the official, knocked him insensible with some heavy instrument and, seizing all the money in the cash box, fled up the road.

The postmaster was not discovered for several hours, by which time the thief had a good start with his booty, which amounted to nearly $300. At latest advices the postmaster was suffering great pain and the extent of his injury could not be ascertained. His assailant is believed to be a stranger in Nova Scotia.

HAMILTON BOARD OF TRADE.

The Election of Officers—The President Favors Commercial Union.

HAMILTON, July 19.—The annual meeting of the Board of Trade was held this afternoon. W. H. Gillard was re-elected President, J. W. Murton, Vice-President, and R. Benner Secretary-Treasurer. President Gillard, in thanking the Board for re-election, expressed himself in favor of commercial reciprocity between Canada and the United States on a broad basis of fair play. He suggested that at the next general meeting of the Board the question be discussed.

Give Them a Chance!
That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.
When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.
Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. eodw

THE BACK LAKES ROUTE.

The tide of tourist travel and of traffic to our back lakes and over the route thereto is now at its height, and this fact, taken in conjunction with the circumstance of Stony Lake having been selected as the site of the camp of the Northern Division of the American Canoe Association, as well as other circumstances, render it important that the utmost freedom of access should be permitted. The islands of Stony Lake are also being rapidly possessed and occupied, and the dwellers thereon find it necessary to pass between their summer houses and business places with the greatest facility and least possible delay. But complaints are made that the conditions of traffic do not admit of this. We have it on excellent authority that the government boom in Lake Katchewanooka, placed to keep a channel clear of logs, etc., dragged its anchors last winter and has remained in that displaced condition ever since. In some places the barest space is left for the passage of steamers between the boom and the weed beds, and in a place like this the steamer is either liable to have her screw stopped with weeds, or, on the other hand, to strike against the boom. And the latter would be likely to cause not only delay but considerable serious damage. Work on the booms has been done so efficiently (?) that the bolts through the timbers stick out in many places some two or three inches, presenting the most excellent chance in the world for a boat to tear a hole in her side or bottom. All this tends to make travel tedious, slow and unsatisfactory, to make tourists disgusted with boat, or route, or both, and to engender no small amount of grumbling and dissatisfaction. We are informed that the Government officials have been notified of this condition of affairs with a view of having them remedied. But so far it seems no attention has been paid to the matter. The policy of the Dominion Government seems to be to discredit the route to the back lakes as much as possible, so that they may have an excuse for not proceeding with the work of the construction of the Trent Valley Navigation Works. Whatever the reason, these matters are unattended to, and, consequently, great dissatisfaction exists. It is due to the public that the route in question should be put into the most efficient condition. It is also the duty of the government and its officials to see that capital invested in steamers to ply on this route is not rendered unremunerative. If the boom referred to remains as it is, the traffic will be destroyed altogether and the boats will have to stop running. This would be no less than a public calamity at the present time. The stoppage of the boats would destroy the success of the canoe meet next August, would put a stop to summer travel to the back lakes, and, thus, the outing place and pleasure resort of hundreds and thousands of our citizens would be rendered practically inaccessible. It is to be hoped that the attention of the government official in charge of these waters, having been called to this matter, the government will permit him to see that the route complained of is put into the very best possible shape for the present and coming season of travel.

The Ottawa Government is not developing much new strength in the by-elections. In Digby, Nova Scotia, in the election held on Monday, Mr. Jones, the Conservative candidate, backed by the concentrated influence of the government, and by the fact that at last session of parliament, the sum of $551,500 was voted for Digby in the way of railway bounz and navigation improvements, was returned by the slender majority of 31, a loss of a clean hundred, the government candidate at the February elections, Mr. John Campbell, having carried the riding by 131.

"Mr. Blake is authority" according to the Mail, "for the statement that a proposition has been made to him by his opponents to have the protest in West Durham withdrawn if the petition against Sir John Macdonald's election in Kingston is abandoned. The offer, Mr. Blake says, has been rejected.

Ottawa News.

The Seizure of a British Steamer in Behring Sea—The Halifax Commission—The Cedardenk Sections—Shipping Statistics for the Year.

Ottawa, July 19.—An extra of The Canada Gazette published to-day contains notice of the disallowance of another Manitoba act, "an act for further improving the law." This is the act which contains the extraordinary clause that all contractors, sub-contractors and laborers, engaged on any railway or other work approved by the Commissioner of Public Works, shall ipso facto become a servant of the Crown and be entitled to all the protection of such provision. This is another of the acts intended to give the Local Government exceptional powers to assist it in building the railway to the boundary, the presumable object of this act being apparently to save contractors for the trouble from being served with injunctions not to proceed.

A telegram was received by the Department of Fisheries to-day confirming the statements from San Francisco, which appeared in the Associated Press despatches this morning, that the British steamer Annie Beck, from Victoria, B.C., had been seized in Behring Sea by the United States revenue cutter Richard Rush. Further particulars have been telegraphed for by the Department.

A meeting of council was held this afternoon lasting over four hours. Sir John, White, Thompson, Caron, Catling and Costigan were present. It is understood that a great deal of routine business was cleared off.

Sir John leaves for Dalhousie on Thursday and expects to have a rest of about ten days there. He may afterwards visit Sir Leonard Tilley at St. Andrew's and Sir Stephen at Grand Metis, but this is doubtful, and the probability is that he will be back in Ottawa in about two weeks. It is not likely that any meeting of council will be held during his absence.

Advices have been received here that the Halfbreed Commission has visited Qu'Appelle, St. Laurent and Prince Albert, but very few claims were presented, which is taken as an indication that very nearly all the Metis have been settled with. The commissioners are now on their way down the Saskatchewan River.

It is not likely that the Labor Commission appointed some time ago will meet until the Fall.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has entered a big claim against the Government in reference to the Cedardenk section on the ground that the contract was not finished according to contract. It has been decided to refer the matter to arbitration, which will take place either at Victoria or Kamloops, B.C., next month. The visit of Mr. Pope and Mr. Schreiber to the Pacific Province is understood to be in connection with this matter.

The imports at the Port of Ottawa increased over $100,000 last year, the exports $670,000 and the duty collected nearly $23,000.

The shipping statistics for the year show that the number of Canadian vessels entered inwards and outwards increased 2500, and the tonnage 300,000 tons. This phenomenal increase is, however, more due to the greater strictness in having entries made than to any great increase of shipping.

The Hull waterworks will be completed in September. Up to the present the City of Rooks has had no water supply except by carts.

BOULANGER'S LETTER.

The French Prime Minister Wishes to Call the General to Account.

Paris, July 18.—M. Laur, the Deputy to whom Gen. Boulanger wrote the letter which has caused so much talk, is the man who went to Berlin at the time M. Schnaebelee was arrested by the German police as the frontier, and interested himself in behalf of the prisoner. Many people are convinced that Gen. Boulanger knew that the letter would be published.

The Cabinet are divided on the advisability of taking official notice of the letter. Gen. Ferron, Minister of War, contends that as the letter was a private communication no action against Gen. Boulanger is possible. M. Rouvier, the Prime Minister, wishes to call Gen. Boulanger to account for the letter. It is stated that Deputy Lasaurt received from Gen. Boulanger a similar letter to that published by M. Laur, but he refuses to divulge its contents.

Gen. Boulanger has censured M. Laur for publishing his letter.

From the Pastor of the Olivet Baptist church, Philadelphia, Pa: I have been troubled with Catarrh so badly for several years that it seriously affected my voice. BINGHAMTON, N.Y., July 19.—Baker was mainly responsible for Toronton' defeat to-day, as he was terribly wild. Trafley was unable to hold his ernatic delivery, and the home team therefore had no difficulty in defeating the Canucks, whose fielding was decidedly amateurish. Score:

HOPPER AND DACEY.

The Lightweight Pugilists Have a Terrible Battle of Four Rounds.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The glove fight to a finish between Jack Hopper and Billy Dacey, the lightweight pugilists, for stakes and a purse of $100, took place early this morning on Hunnpstead Beach, Long Island. Hopper was out of condition, but was the favorite before the contest. The fighters wore kid gloves with the ends of the fingers cut off.

In the second round Hopper received heavily in the face and banged away at Dacey's ribs. The bodies and necks of each showed big welts, bruises and scratches. Hopper got a left-hander in on Dacey's right eye towards the finish. Both fought desperately. Dacey had found Hopper's weak point—his stomach—and in the third round sent four hot shots with his left, one after the other. Hopper then knocked Dacey over the ropes.

When the men came up for the fourth round both showed heavy punishment. Hopper looked weak and had a lot of ugly marks on him. Dacey had a big lump on his neck, another on his left cheek, his lips and nose were swollen and his right eye looked bad. Dacey made play for the pit of Hopper's stomach, but Hopper hit him a tremendous counter on the neck. Hopper was then knocked down three times and was unable to come to the scratch in time. His condition told on him badly.

Carver's Wonderful Skill.

TRENTON, N.J., July 19.—Dr. W. F. Carver, the celebrated rifle shot, to-day broke all previous records by breaking 1000 glass balls in 14 mins. 20 secs. He will receive the $1000 prize from the Spencer Arms Company.

It is reported that the Niagara Falls Association will give a stake at their September meeting for Canadian 3-year-olds.

Heat and Cold

is a never-failing cause of disease. At this season of the year neuralgia, toothache, and a host of similar diseases are rampant. The great question, then, is to find the quickest, surest, and most economical remedy. Polson's NERVILINE exactly fills these requirements. It is prompt, efficient, and most economical, for it exceeds in power every known remedy, and is as cheap as inferior articles. A 10 cent sample bottle will give every person a chance to test it. Large bottles only 25 cents. 6dw29

Like Magic.

"It always acted like magic, I had scarcely ever need to give the second dose of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaints." Mrs. Walter Gooseloch, of Ethel, Ont. 2w27d

The Triumphant Three.

"During three years suffering with dyspepsia I tried almost every known remedy but kept getting worse until I tried B.B.B. I had only used it three days when I felt better, three bottles completely cured me." W. Nichols, of Kendal, Ont. 2w27d

THE SULTAN'S REFUSAL.

Paris Journals Say the Porte Referred to French Sentiment.

PARIS, July 19.—The Temps, Voltaire and other Parisian papers regard the failure of Sir Henry D. Wolff's mission as a victory for French diplomacy. They say the Sultan awaited the result of the French national fete before refusing to ratify the Egyptian Convention.

The London Standard's View.

LONDON, July 19.—The Standard says: If France should again importune us on the evacuation of Egypt the non-ratified convention provides us with a conclusive answer. We have henceforth only to consult our own convenience as to how we owe Egypt and Turkey our services.

Negotiations Will Not be Resumed.

LONDON, July 19.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, concerning the Egyptian question, Sir James Ferguson, Parliamentary Secretary of Foreign Affairs, said no negotiations were proceeding and it was unlikely that the suspended negotiations would be soon resumed for the Sultan's ratification of the convention. Sir Henry Drummond Wolff, British Special Envoy, not having given England's ratification, no withdrawal of the ratification could take place.

A MONASTIC SCANDAL.

NEW YORK, July 19.—A Philadelphia despatch to The Herald says the Provincial of the Hermits of the Order of St. Augustine in the United States has been formally deposed from his high office on grave and scandalous charges, and a former Provincial, defeated by a bare majority vote through alleged crooked means at the last quadrennial election, has been appointed his successor. As a consequence all the appointees of the deposed superior will shortly, it is stated, be removed from office, and every member of the order in the United States must forthwith acknowledge in due form the authority of the new Provincial and solemnly promise obedience and reverence.

THE MURDERER OF PRELLER.

An Effort to be Made to Save Maxwell's Life.

ST. LOUIS, July 18.—The father of Brooks, alias Maxwell, who killed C. Arthur Preller at the Southern Hotel two years ago, is now on his way to St. Louis. The execution is set for Aug. 26, and it is thought that the old gentleman's presence here may secure for the doomed man at least a stay of execution. His attorneys expect to take the case before the United States Supreme Court, but desire first to consult his father.

A BUG-RIDDEN STATE.

The Chinch Variety Threatening Widespread Havoc in Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 19.—An alarming letter was received here to-day from Prof. Forbes, State Entomologist, in which he states that chinch bugs have obtained a foot-hold in the northern portion of Illinois to such an extent as to assure an immense number of them next year, unless weather unfavorable to their development should intervene.

He says that the danger from this source threatens to damage the wheat crop of 1888 to a extent in comparison with which the pleuro pneumonia and other recent outbreaks of contagious diseases among domestic animals will be insignificant.

CANADIAN HORSES.

The British War Department Think Them Good, But Too Dear.

LONDON, July 19.—In the House of Commons to-day Right Hon. E. Stanhope, Secretary for War, intimated that the Government did not think it desirable to continue importing army horses from Canada. Those which had already been imported from Canada he said were good, but the price required for them was too high. Henceforth the War Department would get the horses it needed at home.

THE ARTILLERY COMPETITION.

An English Team Cannot Come, but a Scotch One May.

OTTAWA, July 19.—The executive of the Dominion Artillery Association cannot send over a team from England this year to take part in the Canadian Artillery competitions, which commence on the Isle of Orleans, below Quebec, on Sept. 5. A Scotch team may yet come, however.

Burned to Death.

OTTAWA, July 19.—Clara Demers, aged nine, was burnt to death in New Edinburgh last evening, her light muslin dress catching fire while she was playing with some matches. She was on a visit here from St. Anne De Bout De Isle, P.Q., where her father lives

The EXAMINER has the necessary emblematic cuts for the cards of members of the Oddfellow Order and Encampment. Every Oddfellow will feel the need of personal cards in his exchange of courtesies with the visiting brethren next month. Gentlemen requiring cards will do well to place their orders at once to save disappointment and a rush of orders towards the last.

Kitchen Gardens.

All those interested will please take notice that, owing to the extreme heat, it has been deemed advisable to suspend operations until the first Thursday in September, when the children's class will be formed, and preparations made for the exhibition to be held before Christmas.

To-Morrow's Game.

Remember the cricket match on the Ashburnham grounds, to-morrow, between Peterborough Cricket Club, and the Belmont Club, from Philadelphia, which is making a Canadian tour, so far having won every match. The Peterboroughs will put their strongest team in the field, and a good game is expected. Following is the team:—C. J. Logan, S. Ray, R. B. Rogers, W. A. Stratton, E. Stratton, B. T. A. Bell, M. Hamilton, G. W. Hatton, N. Thomas.

Willow and Wicket.

An interesting cricket match was played on the P.A.A.A. grounds Tuesday afternoon, quite a number of old-timers putting in an appearance. Some good playing was done. Interest in cricket is increasing in Peterborough, as was shown by the attendance at yesterday's game of many who have not played cricket before for years.

Four Pairs of Children's Hose in Six Sizes for 25c. Call Early if you want any, at Turnbull's.

Camp Supplies.

Messrs. Elliott & Tierney have now everything ready for their store at Stony Lake where camping parties can have all their wants in the grocery and provision line supplied, and save themselves the trouble of carrying their supplies from town. The goods will be sold at Peterborough prices. The store will be in running order, particularly for the A. C. A. meet, but it will be continued as long as there are sufficient campers at the lake to make it a paying investment.

Otonabee Voyageurs.

Two enthusiastic young canoeists, members of the Otonabee club, went to Lakefield Monday evening with their canoe and descended the rapids of the Otonabee river in their craft as far as Nassau, which distance, seven miles, was covered in twenty minutes. They report the trip just dangerous enough to be intensely exciting, but beyond a thorough drenching from spray and the water they shipped, not the least discomfort was experienced. They landed as darkness had begun to settle on the land, but finished the voyage to town early this morning.

Cottage and Camping Notes.

Mr. John Kincaid, of Kincaid & McWilliams, with several men, went to Stony Lake on Tuesday, to erect two cottages, one for Mr. G. M. Roger and the other for Mr. E. H. D. Hall.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane, has in course of erection a lodge on Eagle Mount, Stony Lake.

Mr. R. J. Lee is putting up a cottage on a commanding site on the main shore near Mount Julian.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams has built a cottage south of Burleigh Falls and directly north of the A.C.A. camp, on his own property.

Messrs. Bertram, Stevenson and Dumble chartered a steamer and made a tour of Stony Lake, to secure a suitable island for a summer residence. They have not yet decided.

Almost two car-loads of provisions and camping utensils went north by train yesterday morning.

When one sees a citizen on the street sunburnt to the color of an old boot, with the skin dropping from his nose, the inference is that he has been out camping.

Harry's Reply.

A while ago Mr. Harry Rush, of this town sent a request to his friend, Mr. R. J. Winch, of Cobourg, to meet a donkey which he was expecting on the mail boat from England. Mr. Winch anxiously awaited every steamship arrival, but the donkey never came, and Mr. S. Howell, Cobourg's poet, wrote a very humorous rhyme on the subject which was sent to Mr. Rush and published in the EXAMINER the other day. To it Harry has sent the following reply:—

To R. J. Winch, Esq., Cobourg:

Dear Richard I thank you sincerely,
For befriending my immigrant moke,
Fellow feeling towards this poor stranger,
Must surely your kindness invoke.

By depriving yourself of the pleasure,
Of gaining Ned's friendship yourself,
You have favored a friend who will treasure,
Such a compliment more than base pelf.

Are you not, Dick, too modest in shrinking,
Yourself from becoming Ned's host?
But you may be perhaps right in thinking,
Stanley Howell more fit for the post.

Most frankly I make the avowal,
Though far from old friends he may roam,
With you or with S. Stanley Howell
My Jackass will feel quite at home.

I hope he'll come soon, that beside him
Your brotherly kindness may gush,
To your sympathy I can confide him,
Believe me, Yours truly—H. Rush.

Peterborough, July 16th, 1887.

A Rare Chance for Investment.

A placard, reading "This Lot for sale—apply to the Town Council," affixed to a vacant lot on Simcoe Street, opposite the Phelan House Hotel Building, announces that it is in the market. This is a most desirable property. The lot has been vacant since the spring freshets last April, and has been undergoing considerable improvements. A fine grove of evergreen trees has sprung up on the south and east and west sides of the property. It is well watered, a never-failing creek flowing through the middle of it. It has the unusual merit of having three fronts. The lot was originally intended—in the dim past—as the site for a bridge, but owing to the fact that a bridge works adjoins the property, the Town Council, from very commendable motives of economy, did not see their way clear to incurring the necessarily heavy expenditure for railway freights. The property has, however, been increased in value considerably—to the value of over three thousand dollars—a contract awarded to the highest tender having been entered into for improvements on the property to about this amount. The site is, among other purposes, admirably adapted for the manufacture of "corners" in contracts. The property will be sold by tender. Acting on an established principle,—to give the town the worst of the bargain—the lowest tender, if the right party—will necessarily be accepted. Parties desiring to purchase require no information, which may be had by application on the premises or to any policeman who may be found in the neighborhood of a street fight or any other occasion requiring his services. The chance is open for five years, the term during which, according to present indications, the property will remain vacant. N.B.—The flag staff and the elegant fence surrounding the property will be included in any sale made.

The Insurance Question.

The Town to be Placed in Class "B".—A Letter on the Subject.

For some time past Mr. A. McNeil, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, has been in communication with the Fire Underwriters' Association respecting the raising of insurance rates in Peterborough from class "C" to "B". A good deal has been written about the matter before, and it will be remembered that the town has gone to a considerable expense to have the fire system brought up to the required standard. Tuesday afternoon a meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee was held to consider the following letter:—

A. McNeil, Esq., Chairman Fire, Water and Light Committee, Peterborough:—

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your's of 9th inst., I beg to state that in reference to a guarantee that two horses at least should be kept in the stable at all times, a letter from the Mayor to that effect would be quite satisfactory. I think you misunderstood what I meant by "fire extinguishers". I did not mean a chemical engine, but what are known as "fire king" or "Babcock" extinguishers which can be bought for about $40, and when kept properly charged will prove effectual at an incipient fire. With regard to the public "call-boxes", what I meant was that there should be from four to six places at which any person may give the alarm of a fire, these places being conveniently situated and their location known to the public. As to the location I would suggest that one would be placed in each ward with a transmitter connected with the central fire station. When a fire takes place in Ward 1, a continuous toll of one, pause, one, pause, one, pause; in Ward 2, there should be a toll, thus, one-two, pause, one-two, pause, one-two, pause; and so on with each of the other wards. The plan you propose yourself I think would meet the case. Kindly let me know, at once, if the improvements suggested in reference to the fire alarm will be made. As I before stated the secret of extinguishing a fire is to be early on the spot. This can only be accomplished by having the fire alarm system as perfect as it is possible to be made under existing circumstances. I can assure you that the Association is anxious to meet the wishes of places like Peterborough, who are making a laudable effort to improve and perfect their fire appliances.

Pressure of business prevented an earlier reply.

I am, dear Sir, Yours truly,
ROBERT MCLEAN,
Secretary.

At the meeting it was decided to meet the final demands of the Association, the Mayor being instructed to write as per suggestion in the letter, and the chairman to procure the necessary alarms and engines. These will be got at once. The alarm boxes will be fixed on residences in convenient quarters, where the key will always be kept. Special arrangements were made for keeping two horses constantly at the fire station. Everything is now prepared necessary for the reduction of insurance rates here, and in a short time it is expected Peterborough will be classed in "B." The change will effect a saving of from 5 to 15 per cent. on the premiums of insurance of our citizens.

Peterborough's Prime Cheese.

At Tuesday afternoon's meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board there was a large attendance, and the bidding was spirited. Among those present were, Messrs. Cook, Fitzgerald, Brintnell, Hodgson, Leary, Flavelle, Greene, Baird, Cluxton and Wrighton. The following Cheese, all colored, first half of July make (except 90 boxes of Downerville) was offered:—

PETERBOROUGH.

Keene	190	Glenthorne	50
Warsaw	95	Pine Grove	60
Lakefield	84	Westwood	100
Warminster	158	Lilly Lake	60
Norwood	197	North Smith	130
Trowerne	117	S. Dummer	136
C. Smith	76	Central	44
C. Grove	56	Shearer	87
Otonabee Union	70	Myrtle	65
Melrose Abbey	78

VICTORIA.

Starr	111	Downerville	100
Reaboro	90	Robcaygeon	100
North Ops	42	West Ops	60
Cambray	60	Mariposa	90

Total number of boxes 2509

The Liverpool quotations were 48 shillings. Mr. Cook opened with an offer of 9c. for Peterborough section, followed by Mr. Fitzgerald with one of 9½c. for Peterborough. Mr. Cook advanced to 9¼c., and Mr. Leary then bid 9½ for the whole board. After an offer of 9¾c. for Peterborough by Mr. Fitzgerald quickly came one of 9¾c. by Mr. Cook. Mr. Flavelle bid 9¾c. for Victoria and Mr. Fitzgerald 9¾c. for the whole board. Next came Mr. Cook with 9¾c. for Peterborough; then Mr. Brintnell bid 9¾ for selections of Peterborough section. 9¾ for Peterborough was next held out by Mr. Cook, on which Mr. Brintnell advanced to 9¾c. Finally an offer of 10c. for Peterborough section by Mr. Fitzgerald and 9¾c. for Victoria section by Mr. Flavelle closed the bidding.

The Peterborough men sold, but those from Victoria declined, and after some discussion were given the privilege of selling their cheese between this and the next meeting of the board.

Before any business was done a representative from Cambray and West Ops rose to enquire if it was right for a buyer to give orders to deliver cheese at a certain place and hour, and then not be there to receive it. Such had been the action, he said, of one of the purchasers present at the meeting. He had bought the product of these two factories, said the Cambray man, tested it, given orders to have it delivered the morning of the 13th, and then was not at the appointed place to receive it, thereby putting the makers to a great loss.

The President expressed his regret that anything of that nature had occurred. If so, he ought to be expelled from the board.

Mr. Brintnell rose and remarked that as he was the black sheep referred to it might be well to explain. He then went on to say that the cheese delivered at the station was inferior to what he thought it to be when he bought it, and it could not be expected that he would keep it. He denied having tested it at the factories. The cheese was poor, he said, because the patrons of the factories were in the habit of drawing whey in the milk cans and not properly cleaning them afterwards. That would destroy any cheese, and he was very sorry that any persons did it.

The Secretary endorsed Mr. Brintnell's remarks in the latter respect, urging all present to lay it deeply to heart. It was a most important matter. The charge preferred against Mr. Brintnell, he thought, demanded investigation. Mr. Cook and a few others present also endorsed the remarks about drawing whey in milk cans.

After some more discussion, the Victoria men pushing their charge against Mr. Brintnell and the latter as resolutely denying and explaining, the matter was dropped, the President remarking that he hoped it would never occur again.

In Good Repute.

James McMurdock, writing from Kinsale, says: "B. B. B. as a remedy for diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, has an excellent reputation in this locality. I have used it, and speak from experience, as well as observation. It is the only medicine I want, and I advise others afflicted to try it." 2w29d

A Source of Danger.

The frequent source of danger attending bowel complaints during the summer and fall is the liability to check the diarrhœa too suddenly. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will not do this. Inflammation of the bowels does not follow its use, as is often the case with powerful opiates and astringents. It cures promptly and in a natural manner. 2w29d

Personal.

Mr. George Read, of Keene, who has been clerk and treasurer of the township of Otonabee for the past 40 years, has resigned the position. He has most efficiently filled the two offices for that period up to the present time, but the advance of years makes it desirable that he should be relieved, and accordingly his resignation was tendered and accepted. Mr. Read was appointed to the offices he held for so long a time with such satisfactory results, at the first meeting of the first municipal council of the township of Otonabee. This corporation seems to be fortunate in its selection of municipal officials and they have shown their wisdom by appointing Mr. J. M. Drummond to occupy Mr. Read's positions. A better selection could hardly have been made. Added to the clerical qualifications for the position, is Mr. Drummond's sterling integrity, the public confidence in which, is attested by the fact that he has had yearly the custody of $10,000 of cheese funds without a bond, will give the highest confidence to the people in the efficient and honest discharge of his duties. Mr. Drummond will at the Town Hall, Keene, every Thursday for the purpose of meeting any one requiring his services in his official capacity. The EXAMINER has much pleasure in congratulating both the township and Mr. Drummond on his appointment, and extending to Mr. Read its wish that the declining years of his life may pass pleasantly and peacefully.

He is off on a few month's furlough.

It is recorded with much pleasure that the Queen has already recognized Dr. Massie's jubilee poem and accompanying letter sent to her on the 18th of last month from here, as he has received a letter of thanks from Her Majesty, dated Buckingham Palace, July 6th.

AFFAIRS AT THE CAPITAL.

Miners to be Brought from Pennsylvania to Work the Northwest Coal Mines—The Deposits in Post Office Savings Banks—Bank Statistics.

OTTAWA, July 20.—Mr. Scarth, M.P., who was recalled suddenly from Winnipeg on account of the death of one of his children, arrived here this afternoon. Mr. Scarth and family will leave for Dalhousie to-morrow, as will Sir John and Lady Macdonald.

Hon. Mr. White, Minister of the Interior, left for the Northwest to-night. He has changed his program, and instead of going through to the coast will spend five or six days in Winnipeg, and visit Brandon, Regina, Calgary and Banff before proceeding to the Pacific coast. He will be absent about four months.

Hon. Dr. Harrison, Minister of Public Works, Manitoba, had an interview with the Minister of the Interior yesterday, discussing immigration matters. The Doctor is sanguine of a large influx of population into Manitoba this year. Although the interview lasted nearly two hours no reference was made to the boundary railway.

Mayor Stewart and Mr. Scarth had an interview with Hon. Mr. White with reference to securing sites at Anthracite, the new mining town near Banff, for some fifty or sixty miners from Pennsylvania, who are expected to arrive shortly, to work the coal mines there. These men will bring their families with them and want to secure homes. The Minister entertained the proposal favorably, and the miners and their families will be brought on at once.

The Canadian Anthracite Coal Company, Banff, will shortly try the experiment of shipping coal from their mines to Victoria and San Francisco via the Canadian Pacific Railway. If the experiment pays a large trade will no doubt be developed.

The Mail and other papers have lately stated that the deposits in the Postoffice savings banks will not increase as rapidly in the future as in the past, because the Government has reduced the amount which one person may deposit from $1000 to $300. This is a mistake. No such change has been made. The maximum amount allowed to remain at the credit of one account is the same as it has been for several years, $1000. The only change made recently, and that was made some time ago, is that the amount depositable in one year is limited to $300, but that does not prevent deposits accumulating until they reach $1000.

The United States fisheries schooner Grampus, Capt. J. D. Collins, is going to Labrador on a scientific mission. The Dominion Government has advised all Canadian officials to further the voyage in all possible ways, and waive in its favor all customs regulations.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau left for New York last night, en route for Paris. It is understood that prior to his departure the location of the proposed printing office was changed from the canal basin to Nepean Point.

An extra of The Canada Gazette, published to-night, containing the bank statement for June, shows that the volume of trade has considerably increased over the same month last year, and that overdue debts have been decreased 23 per cent. in the same time. The total liabilities are $149,413,632, being $1,865,949 more than in June last year, and the total assets $239,241,464, being an increase of $819,110 over last year. The note circulation has increased about $1,300,000, and discounts to the general public are six and three-quarter millions more than last June. The deposits have increased nearly six millions, about five and a half of which are in the savings department, showing that the public have that much more than last year to save up, in addition to the largely increased sums deposited in the Post Office and Government Savings Banks. The best feature in the statement is the decrease of overdue debts by about $370,000, being twenty-five per cent. of the amount outstanding at this time last year.

A special from Cornwall says the second case of criminal libel brought by P. Purcell, M.P., against Mr. Stilwell, editor of The Alexandria Glengarrian, was up at the Police Court to-day, the accused pleading not guilty. The charge was in connection with the publication of a letter signed "Flora MacDonald." After hearing the witnesses both Stilwell and Purcell were bound over to appear at the next assizes.

The French Republic Preparing for a Sanguinary Struggle.

LONDON, July 20.—According to letters received from Bucharest, M. Theodorescu, the French Minister there, in a speech at a banquet on July 14 said that the French Republic was preparing for a sanguinary struggle, which would be the most terrible the known, and which would be the means of giving the Russian Minister, whereupon all people shouted, "Russia for Russia, the friend of France."

A FIRE AMONG OIL TANKS.

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY SUFFER SEVERE LOSS.

Two Large Warehouses, Three Immense Tanks, Four River Piers and About Ten Thousand Barrels of Oil Fall a Prey to the Flames.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Half a million dollars' worth of property of the Standard Oil Company disappeared in smoke early this morning. One of the largest fires that has yet visited the gigantic corporation at Constable Hook, N.J., broke out fifteen minutes after midnight. Two large warehouses, three immense tanks, four big docks and about 10,000 barrels of oil were licked up by the destroying element, leaving nothing but a smouldering mass of ruins. Soon after midnight residents of the City of Bayonne, which includes the former villages of Pamrops, Bayonne, Centreville and Bergin Point were startled by the continuous blowing of the large whistle at the works of the Oil Company. Those who looked in the direction of Constable Hook saw a mass of red flame shoot skyward, and realized that the oil works were on fire. There was one man, however, who had probably seen it before anyone else. He was the lookout in the bell tower of the fire department. Comprehending at once the terrible import of a blaze among such inflammable material, he rang out a general alarm on the big bell. Soon the members of the eight companies had their apparatus out and the hook and ladders, hose carts and engines were tearing from all parts of Bayonne City to Constable Hook.

When the firemen arrived at the oil works they found that the large frame house at the lower end of the works was on fire. The flames had been discovered by the watchman who had given the alarm to the foreman of the yards. As work is carried on by night as well as by day there was a strong force of men about the place, and these were summoned. As fleet of hose are always kept at the fire pumps about the place, several streams of water were soon playing on the fire. The arrival of the firemen was, however, none too soon as the flames were making great headway, being carried by the wind in the direction of half a dozen large tanks that intervened between the burning structure and a large warehouse. As the building in which the fire broke out was of wood it was not long before it was a mass of flames.

The firemen and others on the scene realizing that there was no hope for it turned their attention to saving the oil tanks and other property in the neighborhood. The heat from the burning oil and barrels was intense. Apparently not minding this in the least, the firemen approached as near to the threatened tanks as they could, and erected barricades of empty barrels, behind which they concealed themselves, throwing volumes of water, the pressure for which was supplied by the stationary engines in the yard upon the tracks. At the same time the oil was being pumped out of the tanks by means of the underground pipes. Despite the efforts of the firemen the tank nearest the fire became overheated and a column of flame burst from the top of it. This drove the fire-fighters back so that they had to abandon a second tank which was separated from the burning one by only a few feet. It was not long before this was a mass of flames also.

Things then began to assume a threatening aspect. It looked as if the office, several warehouses, the dozen or more banks in the neighborhood, a large brick storehouse, the docks along the river front and the manufactories of the Bayonne Chemical Works, the Orford Copper and Sulphur Company and the Standard Match Company and the large lumber yard of A. W. Booth & Brother, would be destroyed. The Standard people, seeing their danger, telegraphed to their works at Greenpoint for assistance. Five powerful tugs were sent from that place, and they arrived at Constable Hook at 1.40 o'clock. Though the firemen kept throwing powerful streams upon it, a large frame warehouse, used also as a cooper shop, caught fire and was soon blazing. For about half an hour the firemen kept the destroying element from crossing the dozen feet that still intervened, and they might have saved the threatened building had not a pipe at the base of the tank burst and hurled burning fluid in against the structure and fired it. As it was stored with inflammable material it was speedily licked up by the flames, which then got beyond control and swept down the river.

At the docks there had been a large number of vessels. These had, however, been towed out into the stream, but none too soon. First one pier took fire, then another and another until the four large piers were also in flames, casting a lurid glare upon the waters of New York bay. By this time the tugs had arrived, and they fought the fire from the water. Each of them threw several streams upon the burning piers, and it was only the efforts of the men on the tugs that checked the spread of the flames, and saved the factories and lumber yards along the water front. On the land side the fire had also been got under control, and the office, storehouse and neighboring tanks were saved.

By 6 o'clock the fire was under control, and by 10 o'clock, with the exception of two tanks that were still ablaze, had burned itself out.

The loss is estimated at about $3,500,000.

GEN. SHERMAN'S CRUISE.

QUEBEC, July 20.—The steam yacht Meteor, having on board Gen. W. T. Sherman, Commodore A. E. Bateman and wife, and Chas. E. Coone, ex-Assistant Secretary of the Treasury under President Arthur, arrived in this port at 5 this evening. The Commodore explained that the party left New York City direct for Newport, where they were most cordially received. From Newport they steamed to Boston, meeting with slight detention from fogs. Their reception in Boston was most enthusiastic. The General's old comrades, the bankers and citizens generally uniting in a spontaneous welcome. From Boston to Bar Harbor, where they spent one day, thence to Halifax, where they were most hospitably entertained by the yacht club of that city. From Halifax they steamed through the Cut of Canso to Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, where they remained for one afternoon. Thence to Gaspe Bay, where they spent one day.

All the points of interest in the Gulf were taken in up as far as Tadousac where they disembarked to receive dispatches. They then set sail for Saguenay River, going up as far as Haha Bay, which place they left this morning at 6 a.m., arriving here at 5 p.m., a distance of 190 miles.

Upon arrival in port they had the distinguished honor of being saluted by a volley of 17 guns from the American frigate Galena, Commander Chester. They were also visited by Commander Chester and his staff of officers as a mark of honor to the distinguished hero of the rebellion. The yacht leaves to-morrow afternoon for Montreal, thence to Upper Ontario. All parties on board were in excellent health throughout.

Keep cool, and enjoy the hot weather.

TORONTO TOPICS.

July Mortality—A Boy Drowned—John McCord Tells of a Burglary at His House.

TORONTO, July 21.

The hot weather of July has had the effect of greatly swelling the death rate of the fairly healthy City of Toronto. Adults have experienced inconvenience, exhaustion and illness in many cases, but infants have been the great sufferers, especially those not more than a year old. Out of a total of 239 interments in the first twenty days of July, no less than 157 were infants, the greatest proportion of whom were but a few months old.

The police have in hand a rather peculiar case of burglary reported to them by John McCord, a tanmaster living at 79 Dufferin-street, St. Andrew's Ward. McCord says he was awakened about 12.10 yesterday morning by a noise in the house. He got up, struck a light and found his trousers lying in the hall, minus $216 which had been in them when he retired. His silver watch was also missing. McCord says he looked out and saw three men going away whom he could not describe and would not be able to identify. Then he went over to St. Andrew's Market Station and reported the occurrence.

A detective saw Mrs. McCord yesterday. She could tell nothing about the amount of money her husband had. She slept in another room and thought she heard a noise during the night, but did not get up. Last night the same officer found McCord at home. McCord told him the burglars burst in the back door. Mrs. McCord said the door had not been locked for months. The detective examined the door. There was no key; the bolt was rusty and evidently had not been used in a long time. McCord and his wife disagreed on other points, but the man stuck to his original story as to being robbed and seeing the burglars get away.

Tuesday evening a colored youth named William Thomas Davies, 16 years old, son of Jacob Davies, furrier, of King-street east, was drowned whilst bathing in the Don. A party of four entered the water, the other three being boys of about 10 years of age. The deceased who could not swim, got out of his depth, and one of his youthful companions in vain tried to save him. His clothes were brought to his parents' home, and three-quarters of an hour elapsed ere the body was recovered. No inquest was held, and the body was interred yesterday in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

PRANSINI IN PRISON.

How the Paris Murderer Passes His Time in His Cell.

PARIS, July 20.—Pransini occupies the cell in the La Roquette Prison in which Rossel, the murderer of the landlady of the Gaz-Lusnac Cafe, was until lately incarcerated. On his arrival at the jail the Governor told him that the rules were very severe, but that if he had any complaints to make they would reach him at once. Pransini immediately replied that he would give no trouble. He is watched day and night by two officials, and every precaution is taken against the possibility of his committing suicide. His meals are cut up for him in the kitchen and he is only allowed the use of a wooden spoon. Pransini passes the time in smoking and reading, and in walking in the grounds of the prison. His favorite author is Eugene Sue, with whose works he has asked to be regularly supplied.

PARNELL ENTERTAINED.

A Gathering at the Liberal Club Decorously Drink the Queen's Health.

LONDON, July 20.—Mr. Parnell and many of his colleagues were entertained this evening at a banquet by the National Liberal Club. The health of the Queen was proposed by Mr. Dillon and the guests all rose decorously and drank the toast. Mr. Parnell eulogized Mr. Gladstone for having put his shoulder to the wheel, and said that before many months the ex-Premier would carry his policy, and be recognized as the only great man in British politics.

Organizing a New Campaign.

CORK, July 20.—Five hundred delegates and 150 priests attended a National League convention here yesterday. William O'Brien presided. He said the object of the meeting was to organize a campaign for the assistance of tenants. The seven members of Parliament for County Cork, John Dillon and other commoners were present. Resolutions were adopted in accordance with the object of the convention as stated by Mr. O'Brien.

CHICAGO'S BUM BOATS.

The Disreputable Resorts in the Harbor Will Be Cleaned Out.

CHICAGO, July 20.—The United States officials have decided to purge Chicago Harbor of the dens known as "bum boats." Steps were taken to-day to prosecute the keepers and remove the boats from the lake. The most available method was to inflict the full penalty for not carrying lights at night, and accordingly a fine of $200 was assessed against each of the boats. Most of them were owned by "Black Jack" Yattaw, who, with the other proprietors, will have until 1 p.m. to-morrow to pay the fines assessed and remove the boats. If this is not done, the revenue cutter Andrew Johnson, which was ordered down from Milwaukee to-day, will seize all of the vessels.

Collector Seeberger says no mercy will be shown to the owners of these boats until their dens are driven from the harbor. Every night fifty to sixty disreputable women and an equal number of men can be found on Yattaw's principal boat engaged in the wildest orgies.

FUNDS FOR THE DEFENCE.

A Collection Started in aid of Publisher Ridgway.

LONDON, July 20.—The Earl of Dartrey, a Liberal, and Baron Ardilaun, a Conservative, have started the collection of a fund to defray the expenses of Mr. Ridgway, the Piccadilly publisher, in defending himself against the action for libel brought against him by Mr. Edward St. John Brenon.

The action was begun last October. It is based on the allegations contained in a pamphlet issued and circulated by Ridgway in the interests of the Conservatives in the political campaign of 1886. The pamphlet was entitled "The Repeal of the Union Conspiracy," alleged that the Irish National League and the Fenian Brotherhood were identical, and accused Mr. Brenon of being a go-between from London to Paris and of thwarting police searchers for dynamite conspirators.

In Brief. And To The Point.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

THERE AND HERE.

The Hamilton Times thus refers to the Dr. Tanner-Long ruction in the British House of Commons, and draws a comparision with cis-Atlantic methods: A naughty Irishman named Tanner, a Home Rule M.P., has been acting very badly in the lobby of the British House of Commons. He called a Tory member named Long "a d——d snob." Mr. Long brought the matter up in the House, and the leader of the Tory Government moved to suspend Mr. Tanner for a month. After debate, the question was adjourned to hear Mr. Tanner's explanations. We do these things better in Canada. It was in the lobby of the House of Commons at Ottawa that Sir John Macdonald told Mr. Donald Smith he could lick him "quicker than h—ll could scorch a feather." It was on the floor of the House that the same Sir John called Hon. O. Mowat "a d——d pup," and added, "I have a notion to slap your chops." On the hustings at Kingston, the same Sir John did strike Mr. W. Robinson, and told him to go back to his paint pots. Little Landry, of Montmagny, a Tory M.P., hit a constituent of his in the corridor with a whip, and Dr. Orton, still another Tory M.P., endeavored to thrash a reporter, but came out second best in the encounter. None of the Canadian blackguards were suspended for a month. They used to have some lively settos in the capitol at Washington. Perhaps the most memorable was that of Preston S. Brooks, of South Carolina, who in 1856 assaulted Charles Sumner, of Massachusetts, on the floor of the Senate Chamber, beating him over the head with a cane. A Committee of the House reported in favor of the expulsion of Mr. Brooks, but the report failed to receive the requisite majority of two-thirds. He was indicted for assault, pleaded guilty, was sentenced to pay a fine of $300, and resigned his seat in Congress, but was re-elected without opposition. The profane Irishman has hardly yet reached the standard of this side of the Atlantic.

THE present population of the United States is placed, by the latest estimates, at sixty-one millions, seven hundred thousand persons.

WRITS for the local election in the County of Laprarie name the date for nomination as Saturday, July 23rd, and polling Saturday, July 30th. The candidates are Dr. Brisson, Conservative, and Mr. Govette, Liberal.

THE Bobcaygeon Independent has uttered its opinion in part on the trade relations of Canada and the United States. As the utterance is an important one, no apology is required for reproducing it in full. Our contemporary says:—"Is it not simply asinine to have a law passed which prevents the Canucks from selling and the Yanks from buying our raspberries? If it were not so blazing hot this journal would have something more to say on this subject."

THE immigration question, says the Kingston Whig, is attracting widespread attention. The working classes are complaining that "while they are protected by tariff against the competition of foreign products, they have to meet in the labour market the competition of a vast body of foreigners, who, landing with only a few dollars in their pockets, are glad to accept work for any wages that may be offered to them." This is the grievance of the American labour unions; it is the grievance of Canadian labour unions as well, expressed in the resolutions they have passed from time to time. The governments have not, however, seen fit to alter their policies. The working classes can, however, force a recognition of their demands. They made the minister of justice at Ottawa turn a sharp corner anent the longshoremen's bill at the last session of parliament, and they can, if they will, make the head of the immigration department see to it that the country gets what it wants, agricultural labourers, not pauperized city labourers and incompetent mechanics, the burden of whom is ever increasing and never decreasing.

The Bridge Contract Again.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I noticed that at the council meeting on Monday night, Councillor McNaughton made some inquiries and called for information respecting the manner of letting the contract of the Simcoe street bridge. I also noticed, and I cannot say with surprise, considering the circumstances, that the members of the committee, instead of courteously supplying information, which a representative of the people is entitled—nay, bound—to demand, went out of their way to snub and bulldoze Mr. McNaughton, so that, presumably, under cover of the ill-feeling aroused, any information respecting a peculiar and suspicious transaction, might be suppressed. The committee evidently lost the truth of the motto, as applied to the Simcoe street bridge contract—"Silence is golden"—speech a give-away. But they may rest assured that the thing cannot be disposed of in so summary a manner. The contract may have been smuggled through the committee, but the people will have something to say about providing the funds.

Yours, etc.,
JOHN BLANK.

TROUBLE AT SOFIA.

It is Reported that the Army Intends to Proclaim Alexander as King.

BUCHAREST, July 20.—It is reported from Russian sources that the Bulgarian Government has arrested M. Radostavoff, Premier and Minister of the Interior in the cabinet just superseded. The arrest is said to have been made on a charge of treason. The new ministry, it is reported, will not at present venture to enter Sofia. The ministers are said to be afraid of the opposition of the army to the new government. It is also reported that the troops intend to proclaim the independence of Bulgaria and Prince Alexander of Battenburg as king.

A Scheme Which Failed.

VIENNA, July 20.—The Fremdenblatt, discussing the mission of the delegates sent by the Sobranje to officially apprise Prince Ferdinand of his election to the Bulgarian throne, says it is certain that the attempt made by the delegates to induce the Prince to go to Sofia, take the throne without waiting for the powers to approve of his selection, and confront them with the accomplished fact of his occupancy, has definitely failed.

GONE WITH A PRETTY GIRL.

A Wealthy Young Man of Indianapolis Disappears.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 20.—Fletcher Hines, a young man of high social standing living on an extensive farm near this city, and Alice Hunter, a pretty girl of 18, have disappeared. It is believed they have eloped. Hines is the son of Judge C. C. Hines, formerly law partner of Senator Harrison. The young man is worth upward of a half million dollars and his wife, a Vermont lady, to whom he was married five years ago, is also wealthy. Miss Hunter in Sunday school and religious work has been thrown into Mr. Hines' company a great deal.

Suicide of a Farmer.

LONDON, July 20.—On Sunday morning a farmer named John Nicholls, residing on the 12th concession of East Zorra, swallowed a dose of Paris green in a fit of temporary insanity, and died from the effects last night. An accident four years ago, by which he and two of his children were nearly drowned during a freshet, followed by the death of a son last winter, had operated so strongly on his mind as to render him subject to periods of mental derangement. He was a highly respected farmer, and was about 60 years of age. He leaves a wife and six children.

Fixing the Responsibility.

MONTREAL, July 20.—The inquest on the body of Moore, killed in the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery fire, was concluded to-night, when the jury brought in a verdict censuring the refinery authorities for not having sufficient means of escape from the building, and censuring the city for not enforcing the bylaw with regard to fire escapes.

Fire at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, July 20.—At 10.30 fire broke out in Booth's ice cream freezer works and Ridgely box factory at Court and Sycamore-streets.

The building which is four stories high was gutted. In the box factory were sixty-five and in the laundry thirty-five girls, all were rescued. Loss $120,000.

The Burial of Herr Krupp.

BERLIN, July 20.—The funeral of Alfred Krupp took place at Essen yesterday and was very imposing. The Prince of Reuss represented the Emperor. There were 12,000 workmen present. Letters of condolence were received from the Emperor William, the Crown Prince, Prince Bismarck and Count Von Moltke.

French Army Mobilization.

PARIS, July 20.—The Finance Committee of the Senate, to which the Mobilization Bill was referred, report that if they regarded financial reasons alone they would reject the bill, but in view of the opinions of the Military Commission they will not oppose it.

The Whisky Trust.

CHICAGO, July 20.—A large number of distillers met here yesterday to discuss the organization of a whisky trust on the plan to the Standard Oil Company, the plan being of unite all distilleries west of the Ohio River.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS.

The Baseball Scores—Other Affairs in the World of Sports.

BINGHAMTON, July 20.—The game between the Toronto and Binghamtons to-day was rather loosely played on both sides. The visitors scored six runs in the first inning; one of them a home run by Decker, and this appeared to discourage the home team to some extent. Only three more hits were made off Jacobs than off Crane, but the latter was more effective at critical points. Score:

Trotting at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, June 20.—The meeting at James' track ended to-day, the attendance being again large. The unfinished local trot for a purse of $60 was won by W. Dryden's b.g. Dryden. The 2-minute trot went to J. Lawson's (Hagerville) ch. m. Lady Amber in three straight heats, and the 2.30 trot was captured by Geo. Briggs' (Toronto) b.g. Dan O'Connell.

A Summer Convention of Curlers.

CHICAGO, July 20.—The twenty-first annual convention of the Grand National Curling Club of America began at the Sherman House this afternoon. The Executive Committee met during the morning, and according to their report 33 clubs, numbering 900 members, were represented. The delegates were tendered a banquet this evening by the Chicago and Lincoln Park Clubs of this city. The Bell medal will be contested for by a match game of quoits between different clubs to-morrow afternoon.

Canada Second for the Kolapore Cup.

LONDON, July 20.—The rifle contest for the Kolapore Cup took place at Wimbledon to-day. The English team won the cup with an aggregate score of 716. The Canadian team were second with 668.

Gossip of the Turf.

The steeplechaser Capt. York was sold at auction on Saturday last at Buffalo, for $105, the purchaser being F. A. Jones, the owner of the jumper Aurelian.

D. & W. Messenger of Guelph township, have lost their valuable heavy draught stallion Ace of Trumps, which died of sunstroke recently. The animal was valued at $1500.

T. Kent's (Lachine) George Hait won the 2.30 trot at Montreal on Tuesday, his time being 2.30, 2.26½ and 2.26. H. Pope's (Montreal) Kent was second.

Heat and Cold

is a never-failing cause of disease. At this season of the year neuralgia, toothache, and a host of similar diseases are rampant. The great question, then, is to find the quickest, surest, and most economical remedy. Polson's NERVILINE exactly fills these requirments. It is prompt, efficient, and most economical, for it exceeds in power every known remedy, and is as cheap as inferior articles. A 10 cent sample bottle will give every person a chance to test it. Large bottles only 25 cents. 6dw29

To Avoid Baldness or Grey Hair.

Use Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic. It keeps the scalp clean and free from Dandruff, and promotes the growth of the hair. It prevents premature grayness and stops all falling out of the hair. On bald heads, where the roots have not perished, it will invigorate them and force a new growth of hair. Ask for Hair Magic. It is the only reliable. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists.

AN OLD MAN WITH SPECS.

How He and His Partner Betrayed Certain Hamilton Liquor Men.

HAMILTON, July 20.—Two whisky informers named George E. King and Charles Davenport have been operating among the saloonkeepers and grocery stores for the past three weeks with considerable success. At the Police Court this morning Thomas Armstrong, Hood Bros., Alex. Dunn, Peter Meegan, Luke Doyle, John Staunton, Richard Irwin, Andrew Dillon and Daniels & Wilson were charged with selling liquor during prohibited hours. Armstrong, Hood Bros., Dunn, Meegan, Doyle, Dillon and Daniels & Wilson (two charges) pleaded guilty and were each fined $20 and $2 costs. Staunton was only fined $20, as it was five minutes after the hour for closing that the informers got the liquor. The charge against Richard Irwin was adjourned until to-morrow morning.

George Heilig and John Hunter, grocery storekeepers, were charged with allowing liquor to be sold on their premises. Heilig pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and $2 costs. Hunter pleaded not guilty. King swore that he got liquor in the defendant's store on July 2 and drank it in a back room. Hunter called the witness a liar and the magistrate committed him to the cells for contempt of court. As soon as the other cases were disposed of Hunter was brought into court and apologized for his hasty remarks. He said he was not the first man that had been made a martyr of. The magistrate found him guilty and imposed a fine of $20 and costs.

King, the informer, is an elderly man, with gray hair and whiskers. He wears spectacles. Davenport, the other informer, was not put in the witness box. The fines imposed aggregate $260.

A DISPUTED DOCTOR'S BILL.

When Princes Want Medical Attendance it Comes High.

LONDON, July 20.—There is some trouble over the bill of Dr. Morell Mackenzie for medical attendance upon the Crown Prince. The German papers say that Dr. Mackenzie submitted to the Emperor a bill of £3500 for his services up to July, and that he should expect as much more upon the complete cure of the Prince. The same authority asserts that the Emperor only allowed £500 on the bill as submitted. The Crown Prince continues steadily to improve. He is now considered as good as cured. He has begun to go out, and is occasionally seen at London dinner parties and receptions.

The Crown Prince Rapidly Mending.

BERLIN, July 20.—Advices regarding the condition of the Crown Prince of Germany say that his throat affection is being rapidly cured. Dr. Mackenzie thinks that no further operation will be necessary. The cicatrix in the larynx, which is oblong in shape, does not affect the vocal chords. After visiting Ems the Crown Prince will go to the Riviera to pass the autumn.

THE FUGITIVE BOODLER.

Ex-Alderman McCabe of New York not at Hamilton as Reported.

HAMILTON, July 20.—It is now said that Ex-Ald. McCabe of New York is not in Hamilton as reported, nor has he been here. His relatives in this city declare that he and his wife sailed from New York last Saturday for Europe.

McCabe's Whereabouts.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Lawyer Richard S. Newcombe, counsel for ex-Alderman Francis McCabe, whose trial as a boodler was averted by his being judically pronounced insane, says that the story that McCabe had fled to Canada was without foundation in fact.

"McCabe" said Mr. Newcombe, "has gone with his wife to Hunter, Greene County, New York—in the Catskills—and I suppose he will stay there till the hot weather is over. I received a letter from Mrs. McCabe on a business matter this morning. There is no reason why McCabe should go to Canada. All this talk about his 'flight' is absurd."

Declared a Little War of His Own.

PARIS, July 20.—Zangerle, the German who stabbed a French customs officer yesterday, was expelled from France in 1880. He presented himself to the Minister of Interior on Monday, and it is supposed now that his purpose was to assassinate M. Fallieres. He used abusive language and was ejected from the building.

Zangerle has been imprisoned at Nancy. A crowd tried to lynch him. In his examination Zangerle declared he desired to kill a French official. It is believed he is insane.

A Large Sum Lost in Speculation.

MONTREAL, July 20.—Robert Logie, of the firm of McDougall, Logie & Co., was examined to-day in the case of the contestation of abandonment made by the firm on the ground of fraud. Mr. Logie admitted a loss of $48,000 by the firm by speculation.

Our Brave Volunteers

endured the severe marching of the Northwest campaign with admirable fortitude. The Government should have supplied them with a quantity of the celebrated Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. It never fails to remove corns painlessly, and the volunteers and everybody else should have it. Beware of substitutes. Get Putnam's Extractor and take no other. 6dw29

A Great Gain.

"I used a good deal of doctor's medicine for kidney complaint during five years, was getting worse all the time until I tried B. B. B. I took three bottles, gained in weight from 130 to 159 lbs. I can highly recommend Burdock Blood Bitters to be a good medicine." Thus testifies John Walton, of Springfield, N.B. 2w29d

The Age of the Horse.

The average age of the horses in Germany is eighteen years, in England twenty-five, while in France and Belgium it only amounts to twelve years.

A Source of Danger.

The frequent source of danger attending bowel complaints during the summer and fall is the liability to check the diarrhœa too suddenly. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will not do this. Inflammation of the bowels does not follow its use, as is often the case with powerful opiates and astringents. It cures promptly and in a natural manner. 6w29d

After Long Years.

"I was troubled with liver complaint for a number of years, finding no cure. I tried B.B.B. I took four bottles, and am perfectly cured, strong and hearty." Mrs. Maria Askett, Alma, Ont. 2w29d

In Good Repute.

James McMurdock, writing from Kinsale, says: "B. B. B. as a remedy for diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, has an excellent reputation in this locality. I have used it, and speak from experience, as well as observation. It is the only medicine I want, and I advise others afflicted to try it." 2w29d

LOCAL NEWS.

Going out by Scores.

A carload of campers and pic-nickers for the back lakes took the train for Lakefield this morning.

From Ottawa.

The C. P. R. Company will run an excursion from Ottawa to Peterborough at the time of the I. O. O. F. demonstration here next August. The rates are very low, and it is expected to be well patronized.

Lawn Social

On Thursday evening, July 21st, at the residence of Mrs. Margaret Dixon, Smithtown Hill. There will be a sale of both useful and fancy articles, also ice cream, etc., on the grounds. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance. Busses will convey parties from the Post Office corner to the grounds from 7 o'clock—fare 10c. Admission 10 cents.

Oddfellow Cards.

The EXAMINER has the necessary emblematic cuts for the cards of members of the Oddfellow Order and Encampment. Every Oddfellow will feel the need of personal cards in his exchange of courtesies with the visiting brethren next month. Gentlemen requiring cards will do well to place their orders at once to save disappointment and a rush of orders towards the last.

The Attraction of the Season.

To-morrow (Friday) evening night sports will be held in the P.A.A.A. grounds, Ashburnham. Four electric lamps have been erected on the grounds, which will furnish the grounds plenty of light. Posters are out announcing details. The sports begin at 7.30. This is something new in the line of athletics, which, it is hoped, will be liberally encouraged and patronized by the public.

Camp Supplies.

Messrs. Elliott & Tierney have now everything ready for their store at Stony Lake where camping parties can have all their wants in the grocery and provision line supplied, and save themselves the trouble of carrying their supplies from town. The goods will be sold at Peterborough prices. The store will be in running order, particularly for the A. C. A. meet, but it will be continued as long as there are sufficient campers at the lake to make it a paying investment.

Hymenial.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Frank L. Somerville, of the Engineer's Department, G.T.R., Peterborough, was married to Miss Emma Jenkins at the family residence, Stewart street, by Rev. J. W. R. Beck. The bride was supported by Miss Flora Davidson and the groom by Mr. Chas. Forbes, a fellow-employee. Only a few relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties were present. The gifts to the bride were valuable, handsome and numerous. Mr. and Mrs. Somerville left last evening for a short honeymoon trip in the west.

The "Riversides".

At a meeting of the Boston, Mass., Lacrosse Club on Friday night a manof correspondence relating to the Bostons' proposed Canadian trip was read, and, acting on the favorable nature of the same club voted unanimously to make the journey. Replies from Peterborough, Brockville and Ottawa have been received; Montreal, Toronto and Cornwall await their regular meetings before writing officially. Owing to the disbandment of the Peterboroughs that place will not be visited. The trip as now planned includes matches with Montreal, Brockville, Ottawa, Cornwall and Toronto in the order named, assuming that no unfavorable answers are received.—Mail.

There must be a mistake somewhere. The secretary of the "Riversides" says the club has not been disbanded. Probably the old "Peterboroughs'" of two years ago are meant.

Cobourg's Predicament.

Cobourg's electric light scheme has fallen through. The Ball Electric Light Co. made a contract with the town but at the last moment refused to sign it, claiming that the terms were too stringent. The town authorities have decided to advertise for tenders from other companies for the lighting of their streets, and proposes in the meanwhile to do away altogether with the street lighting by gas, so that the town will be left in darkness till the electic light shines forth. Cobourg pays more for gas probably than any other place in Ontario.

Remnants of Prints and Muslins must all be cleared out this week, at Turnbull's; for Genuine Bargains call at Turnbull's.

The Trip to Grimsby.

One week from to-day the greatest excursion of the season, under the auspices of the Fire Brigade, will leave Peterborough for Grimsby Park, the finest summer resort in Canada, comprising 100 acres, on the west shore of lake Ontario, midway between Hamilton and Niagara Falls. Boating, bathing, fishing, lacrosse, lawn tennis, baseball and cricket grounds. Grimsby has no rival in Canada. It is pleasantly cool by day, and brilliantly lighted by electricity at night. A special C. P. R. train will leave the depot here at 5:45 a.m. for Toronto, where the steamer Rupert will be taken for the Park, arriving early in the forenoon. The band will accompany the excursion. Fare to Grimsby Park and return, only $2; Toronto and return, $1.50; children half price. Tickets in all cases are good for two days, and return on any regular boat or train. Tickets to be had from the bookstores and any members of the Brigade.

A Crazy Horse.

Mr. Daniel Kennedy, who draws milk for the Ennismore cheese factory, Monday morning left his team untied. They ran away, and one of them, a chestnut horse, struck the end of a rail which was protruding over a fence, breaking the bones of its nose between the eyes. The pressure of the bones on the brain brought on violent mania, the animal for a time being uncontrollable. It was first thought better to kill it, but in the afternoon the suffering beast was calmed down sufficiently to bring to town, and it was placed in a large box stall in Dr. Stephenson's stables, where it roamed around incessantly without evidently knowing what it did, just as a human being of unsound mind would do. Dr. Stephenson is treating the horse. At first it could only eat soft feed, the wound affecting the back of the mouth, but it is beginning to chew a little hay now, and will, it is expected, be all right in a day or two.

Base Ball Notes.

Dyson, Belleville's efficient third baseman, who played against Peterborough last week, is captain of the Salvation Army Corps in that city, and he has got himself into trouble with headquarters because of his playing baseball. He says he took the trip with the Belleville team to give his throat and lungs, which were troubling him, a rest, and also to make some money to help pay off the debts of the Army. His case is being investigated.

A remarkable game of baseball was played in the County of Frontenac on Saturday between the Calumets and Clippers, teams of picked Kingstonians. Some good playing was done, and at the end of the ninth inning the score stood 11 to 11. In the tenth inning the Calumets ran up the score from 11 to 49, while their opponents were whitewashed.

The Cobourg World, referring to the Cobourg-Peterborough match of Monday, says: —The umpire (Watson) should write a book, entitled, "What I don't know about baseball." Sour grapes!

The Kingstons defeated the Port Hopes yesterday by a score of 28 to 4. The Port Hopes' pitcher was seriously hurt in the second innings.

The Port Hopes have abandoned their tour and nearly all the players have returned home.

Port Hope Cheese Board.

A largely attended meeting of those interested in the sale and manufacture of cheese, was held in the Town Hall, Port Hope, says the Times, on Wednesday, the 14th. After considerable discussion, it was deemed essential in the interest of the trade that a Board should be formed for the sale of the products of the factories in Northumberland and Durham, to be known as the "Port Hope Cheese Board." The following officers were duly elected for the ensuing year:—President, S. Caldwell, Perrytown; Vice-President, S. Parsons, Cambourne; Secretary and Treasurer, M. C. Rosevear, Port Hope; Ass't Sec'y, J. G. Honey, Garden Hill. After the Board was duly organized, it was moved and seconded that all cheese bought at the Board shall be inspected at the factory, and paid for at the station where delivered for shipment.—Carried. Moved and seconded that any dispute arising between buyer and seller, in regard to grade and inspection of cheese under control of this Board, shall be referred to Mr. Whitten, whose decision in all cases shall be final, both in regard to expenses that have been incurred through such dispute, and otherwise. Carried. It was moved and seconded that fortnightly meetings be held at the Town Hall, for the sale of cheese, the next sale to take place on Wednesday, 3rd day of August. The following are the results of the sales that took place on Friday, the 15th inst.:—The offerings, consisting of 500 boxes, make of the first half of July, and 320 boxes last half of June make. The bidding was spirited and resulted in the sale of the entire offering, at the very good figure of 9c. per lb., to Mr. Brentnell, of Orono.

A Scoundrel's Scheme.

A Circular That May Do Much Mischief. —New Counterfeit Bills are Warned.

The following circular was received by a gentleman in town yesterday. It is something similar though more elaborate than the one received here and published by the EXAMINER some months ago. The public cannot be warned too strongly against having any truck with the scoundrel. It is a bad business, and will lead to ruin. The following slip comes first:—

DEAR SIR,—Enclosed find terms and full particulars; read them carefully and you will see that you have here a great chance of making a safe fortune; whether you deal with me or not, I will ask one favor of you, and that is, do not class me as one who means to swindle you, for I swear I mean honest by you and I will be happy to see you make money so as to get my goods into your State at the same time. Pay me a visit and let me prove that I will be a true and profitable friend to you.

Then comes the circular proper as follows:—

DEAR SIR,—No doubt when you first read this letter you may think I mean you harm, but I swear to you such is not my intention; if my confidential agent (who sent me your name) has made a mistake, then please let matters drop and do not harm me, for I write this in good faith meaning to help you out of any money troubles you may be in; my business can be carried on by anyone who will devote a little time and attention to it, and I will guarantee that if you enter into this with me you will never regret it as long as you live; I deal in goods that are not exactly legitimate, but hurt no one but a powerful government that can stand it; my stock is in sizes, $1, $2, $5, $10, and they are so perfect that they cannot be detected by the best experts in the world; there is plenty of money to be made and if you will only be guided by my advice and experience you will make a sure and quick fortune and no one on the face of the earth need be the wiser unless you betray me; my terms are as follows:—2,000 cost $250.00, 3,000 cost $300.00, 5,000 cost $400.00, 10,000 cost $650.00, 20,000 cost $1,000.00, 35,000 cost $1,500.00 and so on, the more you invest the cheaper you get them, and if you buy from $650.00 and upwards I will give you the right of your State; 2,000 in the goods for $250 is the smallest lot I will sell; the above terms are only for our first deal so as to give you a good start for afterwards I will charge at the rate of 25c. on the dollar; now my friend if you wish to enter into this it will be absolutely necessary for you to come here to get the goods for I only deal face to face with my customer, which is the only fair way of doing business of this kind, for then you see what you are buying and I see who I am dealing with, so do not ask me to meet you any other place for I cannot do so, as I have to be in New York at all times to supply old customers who are continually coming here for a new stock; I know it is a long journey for you to take, but look at the immense profits with no risks, and as far as the expense is concerned I always make a liberal allowance to cover that when we meet; if my goods are not perfect in every respect and if they cannot be handled and passed as safely as the genuine then I will pay all your expenses and give you $1000 in gold for your trouble. Make up your mind to come here and I will prove to you that I am willing to assist others while benefitting myself, and to show you that I mean right by you I will not ask one dollar of you until you have seen my whole stock, picked out what you want and have the goods in your possession, then you can pay me. When you answer this letter be sure and send me your name and post office address for I may lose the one I now have before hearing from you again; do not call at my address as I have a friend collecting my mail who knows nothing of my business, and as a mark of confidence I ask you to return this letter, and I will positively return yours; make up your mind to answer this and I will prove a profitable friend, and in my next I will name a hotel for you to stop at and also full instructions how to know me, etc. I have never done business in your State before, so you see it is to your advantage to answer this at once; if you receive any other letters of this kind send them all to me for I alone manufacture these goods, and the others are only agents. Do not ask me for any samples, as it is against my strictest rule to send any.

Trusting that you and I will become better acquainted,

I remain yours in honor and confidence,

A. BRAHAM,

care of Toy Store, 881 Eighth Avenue, New York City, N. Y.

THURSDAY, July 21st.

Wm. Leray, Jno. Irwin, John Pym, and M. Brousseau were each fined $50 and costs for first offences against the Scott Act; Wm. McGregor and T. Dunn $100 costs each for second offences. The defendants pleaded guilty. Inspector Cochrane was the complainant.

A GREAT EXPLORER DEAD

Stanley Africanus Meets His Fate—Killed or Drowned.

(Special to the Examiner.)

LONDON, ENGLAND, JULY 21st.

A despatch from St. Thomas, Africa, reports Mr. M. Stanley killed by natives.

Another report says he was in the steamer which sank and he was drowned. This comes from a native. There is nothing direct from the expedition.

Capital Cricket.

The Belmont and Peterborough Cricketers on the Field.

The long expected match with the Belmonts of Philadelphia began on the Association grounds at ten o'clock. Ray sent his team to the bat, but the total scored was only 52 runs, all of which, however, were off the bat, the sharp fielding of the visitors reducing the chance of stray scoring to nil. The fielding was exceptionally sharp and some magnificent catches were made. The bowling was also superior. The swift delivery of Pacey, (professional) with its erratic and surprising break being singularly deceptive and destructive, while the slow puzzling delivery of Scott was hard to play without producing a catch, which was seldom refused. Those fortunate enough to get double figures were Rogers 13, Rutherford 11, and Miles Hamilton 12.

The Belmonts went to bat and at two o'clock had piled up 156 runs for seven wickets down, when an adjournment was made for lunch. The rain prevented further play. The game will be resumed if the rain ceases in time.

Demonstration Dots.

A meeting of the Oddfellows' Demonstration Committee was held last evening, and it was finally decided to bring the Victoria Rifles' Band of Montreal, comprising 45 pieces, to Peterborough next August. The band will accompany Montreal Canton of Oddfellows, arriving here on the 5:31 C.P.R. train the morning of August 9th. At 9 a.m. that day they will conduct the representatives of the Grand Encampment to the Court House where its annual session will be held. Tuesday evening the band will give a promenade concert in the grounds of the P. A. A. A., which will be brilliantly illuminated by electric light, and the Montreal Canton will give an exhibition drill. Other attractions will be added as the date approaches. On Wednesday, Aug. 10th, the band will participate in the parade and demonstration at the driving park, and will in the evening give another promenade concert, with an entire change of programme. The Victoria Rifles' Band is considered the best in Canada, and plays a superior class of music to that attempted by any other. They have a number of original descriptive pieces, such as "Shooting the Lachine Rapids," which are gems of music. Col. Jackson, of the Montreal Canton, was in town last week negotiating in this respect, and a bargain has finally been made. This is a large undertaking of the Committee, entailing an expenditure of $500, and it is to be hoped the public will liberally patronize the promenade concerts, the admission fee to the grounds being placed at a low figure.

The Patriarchs of Mount Hebron Encampment have decided to establish a Canton Militant in Peterborough. Already some 25 promised members have been enrolled. The charter will be kindly furnished by Mr. R. Nimmo, and advantage will be taken of the session of the Grand Encampment here in August to have the members of Canton Peterborough formally installed.

Mr. H. W. Watson, the decorative artist, who has charge of the Oddfellows' arches and decorations, promises something original and beautiful beyond anything yet seen in that line. From Mr. Watson's well known reputation something grand is expected.

Port Hope's Position.

The Grand Trunk Railway authorities are demolishing the Midland round-house in Port Hope and removing the material to Lindsay, where the necessities of the Company's business require that provision be made for the stabling of engines, &c. All remonstrance on the part of the town authorities are useless—the fiat has gone forth and must be obeyed. Port Hope, which gave a heavy bonus and every encouragement to the road, is to be laid aside. First the offices went, then the work shops, and now the round-houses are following suit. The town authorities, though, are looking in another direction for redress. At a joint meeting of the Town Council and Harbor Board, the following resolution was carried:—"That a committee consisting of the Mayor, the Chairman of the Harbor Board (Mr. Chisholm), and Messrs. Long, Stevenson, Mulligan, H. A. Ward, M. P., and T. D. Craig, M.P.P., be appointed to interview the Directors of Canada Pacific Railway, for the purpose of urging upon them to build a branch of their railway to this town. And if the Company are willing to construct a branch to this town, to pledge our town to give them the use of all the yard now occupied by the Grand Trunk Railway, and also assist them by giving them every facility we possess as far as the harbor and town can do so."

Mr. J. J. Turner has just supplied the front of the Cox block, on George street, with handsome new awnings. Mr. Turner does his work well and has secured the trade not only of the town but the whole Midland District.

Mr. Wm. Moyse, formerly of Cobourg, but now of Peterborough, says the World, has rallied from his illness and is now able to sit up. This is the second time that Mr. Moyse has risen from what appeared to be his deathbed. The physician in attendance says that he is liable at any moment to succumb to the fell disease which has fastened itself upon his constitution. His mother has returned to her home in Cobourg, and we trust she will not be again called to attend the bed-side of her son for a long time to come.

Mr. D. J. Scollard, of Ennismore, gave the EXAMINER a call on Wednesday. His numerous friends are pleased to to see him in good health after the severe study incident to his course at St. Michael's College, Toronto, which he has completed most creditably. He took a high position in the college, having carried off several prizes and medals.

THE BONUS CRAZE.

The Mayor of Oshawa, Mr. John Cowan, has, it is stated on good authority, resigned his office because he will not be a party to the granting of a larger subsidy than he thinks the business is worth to locate an industry in the town. This is a most practical condemnation of the evil to which indiscriminate yielding to bonus-hunters, is likely to lead. Under certain exceptional and extraordinary circumstances it may be expedient to give inducements to manufacturers to establish their business in a town, but in the vast majority of cases the advantage is altogether with the parties who receive the bonus, and the loss and disappointment fall upon the ratepayers. Almost every town in Canada can count itself among the victims of the bonus-hunter, yet there are some towns so anxious to secure the establishment of manufacturing industries that they are willing to discount their future prosperity—to incur heavy and certain obligations to secure extremely problematical benefits. Any industry of sufficient merit—with a management of sufficient energy—with a capital of sufficient amount—will be successful, provided there is a paying demand for its products. In the absence of these conditions, no reasonable amount of bonusing and corporate coddling can make it pay. A bonus cannot supply brains and business ability, a bonus cannot create a market, and without these two essentials there is no hope of success, and without these any bonus will be thrown away. The extent of the duty of a corporation in encouraging industrial enterprises, as a rule should, be the removal of all restrictions which are necessary to place them on a par with established industries. But it is not fair to the latter to establish industries by the payment of the people's money in the way of burdensome bonuses. Any manufacturing project which can be of permanent benefit and a credit to any town, must have the power of being self sustaining. If it is not thus, no hampering and petting will make it do. No corporation can afford to indulge in speculation; it needs all its funds for legitimate improvements; it should be just to itself before it is generous to peripatetic hunters of capital to enrich themselves at other persons' expense. Exceptional circumstances sometimes suggest the wisdom of a departure from this course of action, in the way of exemption from taxation or some similar mild form of encouragement, yet the general principle holds good, as applicable to a general course of action.

Whitby has been somewhat severely scorched with the bonus blaze, yet it has not the prudence of the proverbial cat—it still plays with fire. That town has given $100,000 in bonuses to secure permanent railway shops and an organ factory, on the condition that each employ fifty hands. Now, it is said that there is one man employed in the railway works, while the organ factory is tenanted by a cow. Port Hope bonused the railway workshops to the amount of $30,000. Now the disgusted citizens can only stand by and witness the work of demolition of the round house and railway works which are being removed to Lindsay. These instances are not surprising. No establishment will be decided by the consideration of a bonus to stay in a place against its interest, and no industrial enterprise which has not within itself the elements of success will allow bonus considerations to influence it in denying itself the luxury of failing.

Bucolic Consistency.

The Norwood Register indulges in a good deal of bucolic eloquence to endeavor to demonstrate the incorrectness and partiality of the EXAMINER's report of the lacrosse match on July 12th. The Register is merely "blowing"—it doesn't mean a word it says. If it really believed that the EXAMINER's reports were incorrect it would not steal its local news and publish them without credit. In the same column of the Register in which is printed its castigation, appears a long item stolen outright from the EXAMINER and published as original with the Register without a tint of credit; in the next column another and longer one, and in the next, two others. A "country-village weekly" should not be so crushingly severe on an urban daily cotemporary, from which it steals, as in the last issue, half the contents of its local news page.

WHO FIXED THE BALLOTS?

A BREAK IN HARMONY BETWEEN MEN OF THE PESTLE AND MORTAR.

An Interesting and Perhaps a Sensational Law Suit Against the Council of the Ontario College of Pharmacy—Ballots Said to Have Been Tampered With.

TORONTO, July 22.

There is trouble, may even dissension, among the druggists of the province, and it all arises out of the election on July 6 of the Council of the Ontario College of Pharmacy. Writs are flying through the air and directed at the Council which, because of the length of time the majority of its members have held office, is regarded as rather mildewed, and these same writs are fired at the instance of other members who claim that their rights have been grievously outraged.

President Edmund Harvey of Guelph, Registrar George Hodgetts of Toronto, and Mr. Charles Love of Toronto, who with Mr. Hodgetts acted as scrutineers, are, with the others of the Council, the three principal defendants in a suit brought by Mr. J. M. Pearen, druggist at Carlton and Bleeker streets, to recover $2000 damages from each on the ground that at the recent Council election, in which Mr. Pearen was a candidate, they wrongfully deprived him of votes; and the law will be invoked to have the members of the Council restrained from acting as such, and to have the election declared void because of irregularities which if proved will certainly cause a sensation. Mr. Pearen really represents the Druggists' Associations of Hamilton, Brantford, St. Thomas, Kingston, Ottawa, London, Ontario and Durham.

The trouble arose thusly: A large number of the druggists considered that since the great majority of the Council had been in office fifteen years it was time that new blood should be introduced; and although it was not intended that all the new councilmen should be new blooders the young men in the profession took the initiative and were the most active. Of course the old councillors determined to oppose any effort to close them out and they were mainly successful, for this year's election resulted in the return of all the old Council except three, viz.: C. K. McGregor, Brantford; G. W. Harkness, London; and W. O. Foster, St. Thomas. This Council was elected:

N. C. Love, Toronto.	W. F. Sanders, Stayner.
E. Harvey, Guelph.	G. W. Harkness, London.
Hugh Miller, Toronto.	W. O. Foster, St. Thomas.
R. W. Elliot, Toronto.	J. D'Avignon, Windsor.
C. K. McGregor, Brantford.	R. Brierley, Hamilton.
N. C. Polson, Kingston.	L. W. Yeomans, Belleville.
	R. Wightman, Owen Sound.

In general the claim of the druggists who pose as part plaintiffs is that, in order to prevent the election of the new blooders and to retain themselves, certain members of the Council, assisted by the scrutineers, caused the fixing of the ballots so that the Council was not honestly elected.

On each ballot paper were the names of twenty-nine Council candidates, and of these each voter could select only thirteen by putting a cross opposite the names of the men of his choice, each ballot being signed by the voter. In the case of Mr. Pearen great injustice and dishonesty is claimed to have been done, he being one of the candidates. There are two candidates ready to swear that they "plumped" for Pearen by putting a cross opposite only his name; but, so it is alleged, when the ballots were counted the slips of these two members had crosses opposite the names of 5 other candidates, thus destroying the Pearen "plumpers."

Again it is charged, and a great effort will be made to uphold the charge, that in more than one case where crosses were marked opposite the names of 13 candidates—all that a member could vote for—other crosses were put opposite the names of other candidates, thus making these ballots valueless. The plaintiffs, it is said, have positive proof of at least six palpable alterations. Unfortunately the ballots have been destroyed although the "kicking" druggists requested that they should be kept.

Last night there was a rumor to the effect that in the hope of balking the plaintiffs it had been decided that seven, a majority of the council, should resign and another election be held. But of course this would not prevent the lawsuit which, all things progressing, will be tried at the Fall Assizes. Mr. B. B. Osler, Q.C., will shove the charges.

THE EGYPTIAN QUESTION.

Comments of the Paris Press Regarding the Convention.

PARIS, July 21.—The Republique Francaise, commenting on the Anglo-Egyptian Convention, pronounces it a masterpiece of duplicity, intended to transfer Egypt entirely to England. "France," the paper continues, "does not dream of seizing Egypt. She only asks that Egypt shall be inviolable to all the powers—to England equally with France."

The Journal des Debats says: "We are received to offer England a complete guarantee that we do not think of taking any position on the Nile that she may vacate, but we are determined to maintain France's incontestable rights."

Chickens Hatched by the Heat.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 21.—A novel sight was witnessed here yesterday as the result of the high temperature of the past three weeks. Some time ago a firm received a consignment of eggs packed in boxes after the usual manner. The eggs were placed in storage and yesterday morning the consignee opened the case. When the lid was removed the low call of chicks sounded in his ears. One entire layer of eggs was found to be hatching out and in a few minutes after the eggs were brought to the light fifteen well-developed "orphans" picked their way through the shells. Another layer began to hatch out about noon and it now looks as though the entire consignment will hatch.

"He Never Smiled Again."

No "hardly ever" about it. He had an attack of what people call "biliousness," and to smile was impossible. Yet a man may "smile and smile, and be a villain still" still he was no villain, but a plain, blunt, honest man, that needed a remedy such as Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" which never fail to cure biliousness and diseased or torpid liver, dyspepsia and chronic constipation. Of druggists. 1d

LATEST SPORTING NEWS.

Dyson, third baseman of the Belleville club, is a Salvation Army captain, a great athlete and a wonderful baseballer. But his recent conduct has created alarm, and the Salvation Army leaders are seriously considering the cancellation of his commission. Capt. Dyson says that he has not offended, that he asked for a furlough for two reasons: (1) To secure a rest for his throat and lungs, which he found was absolutely necessary, and (2) to earn a little money whereby he could pay off the army's indebtedness, for which he felt that he was personally liable. "I intend to apply the money I earn," said he, "towards the few debts against the army. I saw that with other heavy liabilities the local corps could not pay the bills, and the lieutenant was badly in need of clothes. This is my only object, and I feel that in making an honest endeavor to pay debts honorably contracted I was committing no sin against any one."

Gossip of the Turf.

The Saratoga races were postponed yesterday on account of rain.

At the Montreal trot Wednesday, Mr. Shap's b.m. Bessie H. captured the 2.28 event. Her best time was 2.40¼.

It is reported that Edward Corrigan has telegraphed from Saratoga to Chicago an appeal for his interference with the Washington Park judges, and that the suspension has been removed.

Mr. Leonard W. Jerome of New York says the statement that he is negotiating for the property of the Saratoga Racing Association is true and there is a reasonable prospect of success.

English Yearling Sales.

The sale of yearlings at Newmarket during the July meeting was a very poor one, contrasted with some of the previous years. On the first day thirty head were sold, of which only one brought four figures, viz., bay filly Hampton's, by Hampton, out of Faronia, bred by the Earl of Rosslyn, bought by Mr. Douglas Baird for 1200 guineas. On the second day, at the morning and evening sales, there were fifty-two head sold, of which the best sold by Barcaldine, out of Lady of the Lea, and the bay colt by the same sire, out of Gehelmnise, bred by Lady Stamford were taken by Mr. R. Peck, the first for 1800 guineas and the second for 1900 guineas. The Prince of Wales, with the Kingsclere trainer, John Porter, was at the ringside. He was a bidder, but not a buyer. On the third, the most important day of the sale, fifty-two head were sold, including the Meantmore lot, bred by Lord Rosebery, and the Blankney lot, bred by Mr. Chaplin. Of these only three sold up to four figures, of which the chestnut colt, by Foxhall, out of Myra, by Doncaster, bred at Meantmore, was sold to Mr. Freeman for 1600 guineas. From the Blankney lot Capt. Machell took the chestnut filly, by Hermit, out of Stray Shot, for 1600 guineas, and Mr. Benson a brown colt, by Galopin, out of Hazeldean, for 1100 guineas, while of the Yardley lot (bred by Mr. Richard Botterill), Mr. Douglas Baird paid 2000 guineas for the chestnut colt, by Sterling, out of Cherry Duchess, and 1050 for the brown colt, by Sterling, out of Brunette.

Rest and Cold

is a never-failing cause of disease. At this season of the year neuralgia, toothache, and a host of similar diseases are rampant. It is prompt, efficient, and most economical, for it exceeds in power every known remedy, and is as cheap as inferior articles. A 10 cent sample bottle will give every person a chance to test it.
